PROFOUND JOY

Meaning Of Christmas

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Religion Writer

Routinely, we wish one another a "Merry Christmas."

It is a good wish, but not good enough.

Christmas is meant to be more than merely merry. It is meant to be joyous.

There is a difference between merriment and joy.

To be merry is to have fun; to be mirthful, convivial, jolly, festive. It is a pleasant and wholesome thing to be merry.

Joy is a rarer and grander emotion. To be joyful is to be profoundly glad, to experience a deep and abiding inner happiness. Joy is a feeling of exultation which has elements of peace and rapture and gratitude and wonder.

. Joy has been associated with Christmas in a special way since the silent night when awe-stricken shepherds heard a choir of angels proclaim "glad tidings of great joy."

That was the first Christmas carol. And joy has renained the keynote of Christmas carols ever since.

"Joy to the world! The Lord is come ..."

"O come, all ye faithful, joyful and triumphant ..."

"Joyful, all ye nations, rise, join the triumph of the skies. . ."

"Good Christian men, rejoice, with heart and soul and voice ..."

Why is Christmas an occasion for joy?

The answer can be expressed in many different ways.

For some, there is comfort and security in repeating the familiar verbal formulas. Christmas represents the coming of the Messiah, the birth of Christ, the event in which the Eternal God became incarnate in a human life in order to save men from the bondage of sin.

But the joy of Christmas need not be confined to those who are able to understand and accept orthodox theological definitions of its significance.

"I bring good news of a great joy which will come to ALL people," said the Herald Angel.

"ALL people" surely includes those who boggle at the claim that "the Word was made flesh."

Perhaps the best way to phrase the good news for them is simply to say that Christmas signifies that God loves us enough to dwell among us incognito, sharing our pains and frustrations, striving with us and through us to bring about peace on earth and good will among men.

Some, of course, cannot accept even that, because they have been persuaded that belief in God is an archaic superstition.

If they are to experience the joy of Christmas, they will have to let go the checkreins which a skeptical culture has placed on their minds, and allow their hearts to run freely toward the rapturous hope that maybe, just maybe, it is all true.

The good news of Christmas is that God is, and that He cares. Neither His reality nor His love are contingent on our awareness of them. He goes right on existing and caring, however little attention we pay to Him, and He loves the militant atheist no whit less than the devout believer.

To believe this is to be joyous. To acknowledge it as a possibility is to approach the threshhold of joy.

U.S. Denies POWs List Is Complete

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Pentagon officials said today they are certain Hanoi left at least 26 names off its latest list of Americans held prisoner in North Vietnam. It is possible, they said, that even more were omitted.

Officials said they were puzzled by the omissions from a list the North Vietnamese described as final and complete. Some of those left off have appeared in prisoner of war photographs released by North Vietnam.

Because of this the Defense Department refuses to accept the new list as official and complete, said Brig. Gen. Daniel James Jr., deputy assistant secretary of defense for public affairs.

James refused to name the men who failed to appear on the list because "we do not

Spies Put Under Civilian Control

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has ordered the Pentagon's spy operation to report directly to him, in an effort to put armed forces intelligence activities under stronger civilian control.

A Pentagon spokesman, in announcing the changes Wednesday, denied the shakeup was a response to charges the Army had spied on national political figures; it did appear, however, that the change was at least partly motivated by evidence the Army's surveillance of racial organizations had gotten out of hand.

Laird ordered the head of the Defense Intelligence Agency (DIA) to report directly to him after Feb. 1 instead of to the Joint Chiefs of Staff. And he ordered the joint chiefs not to establish another intelligence gathering organization of their own.

"These activities must be conducted in a manner which recognizes and preserves individual human rights," Laird said in his order. "Policy determinations governing such activities must be retained under civilian cognizance and control."

Laird said he was particularly concerned about intelligence operation "involving the use of investigative and counter-intelligence personnel."

Coldest Day Of Season

Clear, crisp weather sent the thermometer dipping into the 20s in some areas of Marin today, ending a week of sporadic rainfall. It was the county's coldest day of the season.

Icicles were reported at some Northern and Central Marin locations, while commuters broke from their usual early morning routine to scrape ice from windshields.

National Weather Service promised today the crisp, fair weather would continue through Christmas day with only early morning and late evening fog.

Marin's lowest temperature was reported in Novato, where the mercury fell to 27 degrees. In Southern Sonoma, Petaluma reported its coldest reading thus far this season at 28 degrees. Elsewhere in California clear, cold weather also is expected to prevail. The Sierra Nevada will be clear and cold through Friday with lows tonight at Lake Tahoe expected to range between 10 below zero and 10 above.

Southern movement of a high pressure system over the Pacific Northwest was credited for the fair weather by the weather bureau.

San Rafael's 35 degree temperature equalled the low for the season set on Sunday.

Angela Davis Due Visit From Family

To Have A Yule Dinner

By MARY LEYDECKER

Black revolutionary Angela Y. Davis is expecting a Christmas visit tomorrow in the Marin County Jail from her family, sheriff's officers said today.

She will also dine on a special holiday menu which includes turkey and all the trimmings and will be given, along with other jail inmates, a Christmas package from the Salvation Army.

Sheriff's Capt. Harvey Teague said today that Miss Davis has made arrangements by phone for her family to come tomorrow from Alabama, and that he believed her father, mother, brother and sister would be here.

Although Fridays are not visiting days at the jail, (visiting is allowed on Thursdays and Sundays), Teague said it is standard jail procedure for inmates to be allowed to visit with relatives who have come a long distance, regardless of the day.

Miss Davis was partially arraigned yesterday by Superior Court Judge E. Warren McGuire on charges of murder, kidnapping and conspiracy stemming from the Aug. 7 shoot-out at the Hall of Justice.

She is accused of providing the guns which were used in the abortive escape attempt in which Judge Harold J. Haley and three others died.

The 26-year-old former philosophy instructor was returned to Marin from New York Tuesday after her efforts to block extradition failed. Her next court appearance will be on Jan. 5 when her co-defendant, San Quentin convict Ruchell Magee, will be brought to court with her.

Teague today expressed anger over statements made by attorneys that Miss Davis has been mistreated by Marin officials.

San Francisco attorney Terence Hallinan claimed yesterday that Miss Davis was returned to Marin "in an old propellor plane with 25 armed male guards and a couple of

Cost Of Living Goes Up Slightly, At Lower Rate

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The inflationary pace of the cost of living slowed slightly in November but still showed an increase of 0.3 per cent, the government reported today.

The Labor Department said the rise in the consumer price index was half the rate of climb in October and about equal to that recorded in June, July and August when the administration expressed belief that inflation had been checked.

Food prices declined in November but the cost of consumer services, clothing, shelter and automobiles advanced.

The index for November stood at 137.8 per cent of the 1957-59 average. That meant it cost $13.78 to buy the same goods and services that could have been obtained for $13.74 in October and $10 a little more than a decade ago.

The national cost of living showed a 5.6 per cent increase over a year ago.

Morhouse Free

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller Wednesday commuted the prison sentence of former state Republican Chairman L. Judson Morhouse, central figure in a bribery scandal involving a liquor license for the New York City Playboy Club.

Rockefeller said he was commuting Morhouse's sentence only because he is in poor health and prison might hasten his death. The governor emphasized that Morhouse's conviction still stood.

Morhouse in 1966 was sentenced to two to three years in prison for his part in a $100,000 bribery in connection with the Playboy license involving Martin C. Epstein, then chairman of the state Liquor Authority.He lost his final appeal last month in the Court of Appeals.

Seattle 7 Bail

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Ninth Circuit Appeals court has ruled that the defendants in the Seattle Seven conspiracy case must be set free on bail.

U.S.District Judge George H. Boldt had jailed the seven on contempt charges after he declared a mistrial Dec. 10 because of their outbursts in his courtroom.

Bail will be set by Judge Boldt when he receives a copy of the order, the three-man panel said Wednesday.

The seven went on trial in Tacoma, Wash., on charges of conspiring to damage Seattle federal buildings during a riot Feb. 17.

Art Returned

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two stolen works by Pablo Picasso, valued at $110,000, were returned by mail Wednesday to the Guggenheim Museum.

One, an ink study "Woman with an Open Fan," was torn in half. But museum director Thomas M. Messer told anews conference he believed it could be patched up and displayed again.

The other, a watercolor titled "Table Before the Window," was not damaged and was put back on display.

Berlin's Signal

BERLIN (UPI)—West Berliners placed lighted candles in the windows of their homes tonight to show their ties to relatives in East Berlin whom the Communists would not let them visit.

For the fifth consecutive year the East German government refused to open the wall to allow Christmas reunions for families split by the wall. About 500,000 West Berliners have close relatives in East Berlin.

The candles flickered in the windows in response to a call by West Berlin Mayor Klaus Schuetz to demonstrate their solidarity.

Chavez Released

SALINAS (UPI) —Farm Labor leader Cesar Chavez was released Wednesday night from the jail cell he occupied for 20 days after defying a judge's order to halt a boycott against lettuce grower Bud Antle.

About 400 persons, many of them participants in a vigil carried on since Chavez was sentenced, greeted him when he was released.

The State Supreme Court in San Francisco earlier Wednesday ordered his release pending that panel's hearing into his appeal of contempt of court charges.

Boat Capsizes

JAKARTA (UPI) —A 90-ton service vessel bringing 44 foreign and Indonesian offshore oil workers home for Christmas, capsized and sank early today in a collision in the Java Sea with 26 dead or missing.

Eighteen persons were rescued and 14 bodies had been recovered by late afternoon. The 12 others missing were feared drowned in the disaster area 30 miles northeast of Jakarta harbor.

Aspokesman for the U.S. Embassy reported six Americans were aboard the boat, the Northern Star, and three had been rescued. The bodies of two others were recovered and one is listed as missing, he said.

Pope To Ask World Peace

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI is likely to call for church-state collaboration in the cause of world peace when he officiates Christmas Eve mass for the diplomatic corps in the Sistine Chapel tonight, Vatican sources said.

The mass for diplomats will be the first of three Christmas services officiated by the Pope. The Vatican has said he will say another mass in his private chapel early Friday and descend into St. Peter's Basilica at 11 a.m. for the day's main mass, followed one hour later by a televised address and blessing "to the city and the world" from the Basilica's main balcony.

Swordfish Imports Halted, Stocks Banned: Mercury Found

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Most stocks of swordfish will be removed from grocery shelves because the government found samples to contain poisonous mercury.

The Food and Drug Administration said the discovery of mercury in swordfish, coupled with earlier similar findings for tuna, constituted no immediate health hazard, but as a safety measure all contaminated shipments were being recalled.

Shipments of swordfish from Japan, a major supplier, have been halted pending an arrangement for pretesting swordfish before it is sent to this country.

More than a million cans of tuna were recalled earlier.

The FDA said 62 samples of frozen whole swordfish steaks, filets and chunks were found to contain an average of 0.93 parts per million (ppm) of mercury, ranging from 0.18 to 2.4 ppm.

The maximum allowed by the FDA is 0.5 ppm.

The FDA said there was no health hazard from eating a reasonable amount of contaminated swordfish, which accounts for only a small part of American food consumption. Total annual swordfish consumption is 25 million pounds with 400,000 pounds produced domestically.

However, the amount of mercury found in the swordfish was much higher than that found in tuna.

"Irrespective of the source of the mercury and the relatively small amount of swordfish consumed in the United States, it is considered that the regular consumption of foods known to contain mercury above guideline levels is an unnecessary and avoidable risk," the FDA said.

The immediate task now facing the FDA, the fishing industry and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration is to analyze the rest of the stock on hand — about 2 million pounds —and to begin regular testing at U.S. ports and fisheries.

Then would come a testing program for other types of fish to determine how widespread mercury contamination has become.

Spring Semester Registration Set

Registration for the spring semester of evening college at Santa Rosa Junior College will start Jan. 4, according to dean John J. Healy.

Registration will close Jan. 22. Brochures listing all classes will be mailed next week to households in Sonoma County. Registration may be made weekdays in Bailey Hall from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The spring semester begins on Feb. 3. The evening college is open to Sonoma residents over the age of 18 who are high school graduates and have been out of school for at least one semester.

Colleges Raise $491 Million

NEW YORK (UPI)—The American Associetion of Fund-Raising Council says 117 colleges raised a total of $491.6 million drives this year, compared with $443 million in 1969.

The University of Cincinnati was the most successful, the organization said Wednesday, exceeding its goal of $26.5 million by $7.5 million,or 28 per cent.

The colleges included in the report—those with projects of $10 million or more have raised $2.25 billion of their long-range goals of $4.17 billion.

Plenty of Hogs

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Agriculture Department says hog production this year reached its highest level since 1943, indicating that pork supplies will continue to be heavy well into 1971.

Poles See Gains In Riots' Wake

WARSAW (UPI) — Poles hailed today the ouster of Premier Jozef Cyrankiewicz and party chief Wladyslaw Gomulka as a positive outcome of the Baltic coast riots.

"We have to thank those who sacrificed their lives in Gdynia and Szczecin," a Warsaw woman said. "If only the tragedy could have been avoided."

The government shakeup Wednesday, following close on the heels of a major reshuffle in the Communist party, helped to restore a Christmas mood burdened by the bitterness of last week's riots.

Piotr Jaroszewicz, a former schoolteacher and army general with experience in economics, took over as premier from Cyrankiewicz, who moved up to the largely honorary position of president.

Changes in the cabinet laid emphasis on economic and technological abilities, an encouraging sign for Poles that the new leadership team is keen to put right the economic discontent that bred the worker's revolt.

Edward Gierek, the rugged former coalminer who took over leadership of the party Sunday, promised a two-year freeze on the food prices which were put up by 20 per cent on Dec. 13, setting off the violent battles between shipyard workers and police in the seaports of Szeczecin, Gdansk and Gdynia.

Gierek made it clear, however, the increase would not be rescinded.

He told the Polish Parliament at a session approving the cabinet changes there would be meetings in plants and factories throughout the country, starting today, to give workers and trade unions a change to discuss pay increases.

The Szczecin shipyard workers have already won a pay increase of 15 per cent by holding out with their occupation of the shipyards in the face of an Army siege, well-informed sources said.

Jaroszewicz said the new regime will seek better relations between church and state —a move interpreted by some diplomatic observers as a sign that the authorities are anxious about the reaction of the church toward the bloodshed on the Baltic coast, where feelings ran high on both sides during the fighting.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Morhouse Free

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller Wednesday commuted the prison sentence of former state Republican Chairman L. Judson Morhouse, central figure in a bribery scandal involving a liquor license for the New York City Playboy Club.

Rockefeller said he was commuting Morhouse's sentence only because he is in poor health and prison might hasten his death. The governor emphasized that Morhouse's conviction still stood.

Morhouse in 1966 was sentenced to two to three years in prison for his part in a $100,000 bribery in connection with the Playboy license involving Martin C. Epstein, then chairman of the state Liquor Authority.He lost his final appeal last month in the Court of Appeals.

Seattle 7 Bail

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Ninth Circuit Appeals court has ruled that the defendants in the Seattle Seven conspiracy case must be set free on bail.

U.S.District Judge George H. Boldt had jailed the seven on contempt charges after he declared a mistrial Dec. 10 because of their outbursts in his courtroom.

Bail will be set by Judge Boldt when he receives a copy of the order, the three-man panel said Wednesday.

The seven went on trial in Tacoma, Wash., on charges of conspiring to damage Seattle federal buildings during a riot Feb. 17.

Art Returned

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two stolen works by Pablo Picasso, valued at $110,000, were returned by mail Wednesday to the Guggenheim Museum.

One, an ink study "Woman with an Open Fan," was torn in half. But museum director Thomas M. Messer told anews conference he believed it could be patched up and displayed again.

The other, a watercolor titled "Table Before the Window," was not damaged and was put back on display.

Berlin's Signal

BERLIN (UPI)—West Berliners placed lighted candles in the windows of their homes tonight to show their ties to relatives in East Berlin whom the Communists would not let them visit.

For the fifth consecutive year the East German government refused to open the wall to allow Christmas reunions for families split by the wall. About 500,000 West Berliners have close relatives in East Berlin.

The candles flickered in the windows in response to a call by West Berlin Mayor Klaus Schuetz to demonstrate their solidarity.

Chavez Released

SALINAS (UPI) —Farm Labor leader Cesar Chavez was released Wednesday night from the jail cell he occupied for 20 days after defying a judge's order to halt a boycott against lettuce grower Bud Antle.

About 400 persons, many of them participants in a vigil carried on since Chavez was sentenced, greeted him when he was released.

The State Supreme Court in San Francisco earlier Wednesday ordered his release pending that panel's hearing into his appeal of contempt of court charges.

Boat Capsizes

JAKARTA (UPI) —A 90-ton service vessel bringing 44 foreign and Indonesian offshore oil workers home for Christmas, capsized and sank early today in a collision in the Java Sea with 26 dead or missing.

Eighteen persons were rescued and 14 bodies had been recovered by late afternoon. The 12 others missing were feared drowned in the disaster area 30 miles northeast of Jakarta harbor.

Aspokesman for the U.S. Embassy reported six Americans were aboard the boat, the Northern Star, and three had been rescued. The bodies of two others were recovered and one is listed as missing, he said.

Pope To Ask World Peace

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI is likely to call for church-state collaboration in the cause of world peace when he officiates Christmas Eve mass for the diplomatic corps in the Sistine Chapel tonight, Vatican sources said.

The mass for diplomats will be the first of three Christmas services officiated by the Pope. The Vatican has said he will say another mass in his private chapel early Friday and descend into St. Peter's Basilica at 11 a.m. for the day's main mass, followed one hour later by a televised address and blessing "to the city and the world" from the Basilica's main balcony.

Swordfish Imports Halted, Stocks Banned: Mercury Found

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Most stocks of swordfish will be removed from grocery shelves because the government found samples to contain poisonous mercury.

The Food and Drug Administration said the discovery of mercury in swordfish, coupled with earlier similar findings for tuna, constituted no immediate health hazard, but as a safety measure all contaminated shipments were being recalled.

Shipments of swordfish from Japan, a major supplier, have been halted pending an arrangement for pretesting swordfish before it is sent to this country.

More than a million cans of tuna were recalled earlier.

The FDA said 62 samples of frozen whole swordfish steaks, filets and chunks were found to contain an average of 0.93 parts per million (ppm) of mercury, ranging from 0.18 to 2.4 ppm.

The maximum allowed by the FDA is 0.5 ppm.

The FDA said there was no health hazard from eating a reasonable amount of contaminated swordfish, which accounts for only a small part of American food consumption. Total annual swordfish consumption is 25 million pounds with 400,000 pounds produced domestically.

However, the amount of mercury found in the swordfish was much higher than that found in tuna.

"Irrespective of the source of the mercury and the relatively small amount of swordfish consumed in the United States, it is considered that the regular consumption of foods known to contain mercury above guideline levels is an unnecessary and avoidable risk," the FDA said.

The immediate task now facing the FDA, the fishing industry and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration is to analyze the rest of the stock on hand — about 2 million pounds —and to begin regular testing at U.S. ports and fisheries.

Then would come a testing program for other types of fish to determine how widespread mercury contamination has become.

Spring Semester Registration Set

Registration for the spring semester of evening college at Santa Rosa Junior College will start Jan. 4, according to dean John J. Healy.

Registration will close Jan. 22. Brochures listing all classes will be mailed next week to households in Sonoma County. Registration may be made weekdays in Bailey Hall from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The spring semester begins on Feb. 3. The evening college is open to Sonoma residents over the age of 18 who are high school graduates and have been out of school for at least one semester.

Colleges Raise $491 Million

NEW YORK (UPI)—The American Associetion of Fund-Raising Council says 117 colleges raised a total of $491.6 million drives this year, compared with $443 million in 1969.

The University of Cincinnati was the most successful, the organization said Wednesday, exceeding its goal of $26.5 million by $7.5 million,or 28 per cent.

The colleges included in the report—those with projects of $10 million or more have raised $2.25 billion of their long-range goals of $4.17 billion.

Plenty of Hogs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department says hog production this year reached its highest level since 1943, indicating that pork supplies will continue to be heavy well into 1971.

Poles See Gains In Riots' Wake

WARSAW (UPI) — Poles hailed today the ouster of Premier Jozef Cyrankiewicz and party chief Wladyslaw Gomulka as a positive outcome of the Baltic coast riots.

"We have to thank those who sacrificed their lives in Gdynia and Szczecin," a Warsaw woman said. "If only the tragedy could have been avoided."

The government shakeup Wednesday, following close on the heels of a major reshuffle in the Communist party, helped to restore a Christmas mood burdened by the bitterness of last week's riots.

Piotr Jaroszewicz, a former schoolteacher and army general with experience in economics, took over as premier from Cyrankiewicz, who moved up to the largely honorary position of president.

Changes in the cabinet laid emphasis on economic and technological abilities, an encouraging sign for Poles that the new leadership team is keen to put right the economic discontent that bred the worker's revolt.

Edward Gierek, the rugged former coalminer who took over leadership of the party Sunday, promised a two-year freeze on the food prices which were put up by 20 per cent on Dec. 13, setting off the violent battles between shipyard workers and police in the seaports of Szeczecin, Gdansk and Gdynia.

Gierek made it clear, however, the increase would not be rescinded.

He told the Polish Parliament at a session approving the cabinet changes there would be meetings in plants and factories throughout the country, starting today, to give workers and trade unions a change to discuss pay increases.

The Szczecin shipyard workers have already won a pay increase of 15 per cent by holding out with their occupation of the shipyards in the face of an Army siege, well-informed sources said.

Jaroszewicz said the new regime will seek better relations between church and state —a move interpreted by some diplomatic observers as a sign that the authorities are anxious about the reaction of the church toward the bloodshed on the Baltic coast, where feelings ran high on both sides during the fighting.

Labor Union Locals Guilty Of Contempt

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A U.S. District Court judge yesterday found three labor union locals and their officers guilty of criminal contempt for secondary boycotts against Independent-Journal advertisers.

The judge also found a fourth union local and an official of San Francisco Typographical Union Local 21 guilty of civil contempt for the secondary boycotts. The typographical union struck the I-J last Jan. 7.

Judge William T. Sweigert's decree came after almost eight weeks of trial on complaints by the National Labor Relations Board that the unions had violated three of the court's injunctions prohibiting secondary boycott activities.

Judge Sweigert set compliance fines in the civil contempt decree at $7,500 a day against International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union Local 10, and $100 a day against John De Martini of Mill Valley, vice president of Local 21. The fines will be imposed under the decree if either fails again to comply with the injunction against secondary boycotts.

The judge set Jan. 21 for setting fines or sentences in the criminal complaints. He also will hear motions on both the civil and criminal decisions that date.

The typographical union local also was found guilty of criminal contempt, as was its organizer, Don Abrams. Others found guilty of criminal contempt were Teamsters Union Local 70 of Oakland and its president, James R. Muniz, and Teamsters Union Local 85 of San Francisco, Timothy J. Richardson, its business manager and recording secretary.

The NLRB said that the secondary boycott activity by the unions was "aimed at forcing various neutral employers to cease doing business with the Independent-Journal."

The NLRB complaints grew out of picketing Marin stores in October and threatening drivers of delivery trucks going to the stores.

The NLRB's complaints cited 28 specific instances in which truck drivers in Marin were harassed or threatened or where I-J advertisers were illegally picketed. During the hit-run intimidation of drivers, tires on trucks and other vehicles were slashed, including tires on the cars of two U.S. marshals serving notices on members of the Teamsters Union ordering them to cease their activities.

San Francisco labor officials have announced their intention to file complaints with President Richard M. Nixon and California congressmen about alleged "bias" of the NLRB against the unions in connection with the strike against the I-J.

Pentagon Cites 26 Names Missing From Hanoi's List

want them (the North Vietnamese) to know who we know or think they have."

"It could endanger the lives and safety of men they might hold that we don't know about," James said.

Another Pentagon official said if the United States made public a list of all the men the Pentagon believes are prisoner of war, then North Vietnamese jailers might tell other prisoners not on the list "your government doesn't know you exist."

"They could bring tremendous pressure this way to get those men to talk. They might even kill them and never say anything about it," he said.

There were 368 names on the list given Tuesday in Paris to representatives of Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., and Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark. Of these, 339 were listed as alive and 20 as dead. The other nine have been released

The Pentagon believes North Vietnam has captured 378 Americans and that at least 20, and possibly 22 of these have died in the hands of their captors. Most of those captured were pilots of U.S. fighters or fighter-bombers shot down over North Vietnam —aircraft that carry one or two men.

In addition to the 378 identified as prisoners, another 412 are listed by the Pentagon as missing in action in North Vietnam.

Officials said this means the ultimate fate of these 412 men is unknown; they may have been captured, or they may have died in the crash of their aircraft.

"We don't know how many of the missing were captured," one official said. "But of the 20 dead on the new list, only 13 were among those we listed as definitely prisoners. The other 7 were on our missing in action list."

In addition the North Vietnamese government told New York pacifist Cora Weiss in 1969 that 2 men had died in captivity, but relayed word through the Swedish government in November that this was a mistake and those two men had never been captured.

Pentagon officials tend to believe these men really were captured and died, and that the North Vietnamese later accidentally left their records. Neither of their names was on the latest list.

"I don't think they would lie about this," one official said. "I personally think their records system was pretty loose and that somewhere along the way they lost the cards on these men."

Added up, the 26 omitted names include:

—The two men Hanoi first said had died in captivity and later denied knowledge of.

—Seven men the Pentagon is sure died while in captivity, but whose names were not anywhere on the latest list.

—Another 17, the Pentagon has identified as captured and presumed still alive through various intelligence methods of its own.

"There may be more," one official said. "The fact that they identified as captured seven men we carried only as missing indicates this possibility."

The Pentagon has identified 331 of the 378 men on its own list through letters they have written home. The others were identified through studying photographs of prisoners made public by Hanoi and by interviewing the nine prisoners North Vietnam has released to find out what men they saw as fellow prisoners while in captivity.

reported that the purchasing power of the nation's factory workers declined last month because of the increase in the cost of living and a drop of average hours worked.

Gross weekly earnings of production and nonsupervisory workers fell off 66 cents between October and November to $121.07.

When adjusted for price increases, purchasing power was 0.8 per cent below October and 2.3 per cent below the level a year ago.

The report showed that food prices declined 0.5 percent. Prices declined for beef, pork and poultry. Prices of fruits and vegetables also declined instead of increasing as they usually do in November.

Yet prices of restaurant meals and other food consumed away from home increased 0.4 per cent.

The cost of consumer services increased 0.6 per cent. The biggest increases in services were for gas, water and sewage.

Medical costs continued to advance, increasing 0.5 percent. The cost of transportation increased 0.7 per cent, mostly because of increases in auto insurance premiums and local transit fares.

On a seasonally adjusted basis, the cost of living rose at an average rate of 0.5 per cent a month for the first five months of this year. The rate of increase declined to 0.3 per cent to June and July and to 0.2 per cent in August. But it escalated again to 0.5 per cent in September and October before dipping back to the 0.3 per cent mark in November.

Employed By Janitor Service

Louis Cervantes, 39, of Petaluma, who suffered two self-inflicted wounds Tuesday, is not employed by Pacific Gas and Electric Co., as reported yesterday in the Independent-Journal, but by a janitorial service that serves the company.

Community Hospital of Sonoma County reported today that Cervantes remained in poor condition. Sonoma County sheriff's deputies said he shot himself in the head and chest because of reported despondency over low wages.

No Marriage Plans For Tricia Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Tricia Nixon plans to spend a good part of the Christmas weekend with her beau of six years, Ed Cox, but the White House said today there is "no clearcut" indication that they will soon be going down the aisle together.

There definitely is no engagement announcement in the offing during the Christmas holiday period, a spokesman for Miss Nixon's mother said.

But White House denials of any imminent announcement notwithstanding, there is little or no doubt that there will be another White House wedding before President Nixon's first term ends.

There have been persistent reports that Tricia and Edward Finch Cox will marry, and Knight Newspapers reported in today's editions that an announcement of their engagement would be made during the holidays,

To this, one of Mrs. Nixon's aides said; "We absolutely deny it. There is no imminent engagement to announce."

Speaking of Miss Nixon's and Cox's long-time dating, Connie Stuart, the first lady's staff director, said "If and when it happens" —referring to a possible engagement —"it will be announced by President and Mrs. Nixon."

"At this time I see no clearcut announcement of an engagement for these two young people," she added. "I don't see any announcement this holiday season."

abuses incident to such activities," he added, "but further corrective actions are necessary as a matter of urgent priority."

An example of action that has already been taken, a spokesman said, was that last June 9 the Army ordered its spy files on radical organizations destroyed. The Defense Department felt these files were "not appropriate for the Department of Defense and the Department of the Army to retain," the spokesman said.

Laird said that in the new set-up the head of the DIA would be able to delegate various types of investigations and counter intelligence—combatting foreign intelligence activities—to the individual military services.

"This delegation will be accomplished on a function-by-function basis," said Laird, who also ordered a full public report on his new plans after they are established.

"The secretary's studies (already conducted) into this whole field have indicated that in some cases there is a lack of clear-cut responsibility and authority—in some cases there is some fragmented responsibility and there is duplication, and that it may be possible to achieve further economy (by the changes)," the spokesman added. "One of the things he wants to do is strengthen civilian control of military intelligence."

Protection Due Reef Area

Beginning March 1, Agate Beach and Dubury Reef in Bolinas will be protected by state law against souvenir hunters who have been depriving the area of plants and fishlife.

Pierre W. Joske, director of county parks and recreation, said protection of the areas was being written into the state fish and game code and will become law on March 1.

The county parks and recreation commission had worked for a year to get state protection. The state fish and game commission, meeting in Los Angeles earlier this month, agreed to add a section in the fish and game code to protect Duxbury and Agate Beach.

Under the new law, no fish or wildlife may be removed from the area except abalone, market crabs, mussels, rockfish and other sports-fish normally taken by hook and line.

matrons."

Teague said there were seven male officers and two matrons who accompanied Miss Davis on the flight from New Jersey aboard an Air National Guard plane.

One of the matrons on the flight said that Miss Davis was quiet but pleasant on trip and that she was not handcuffed until just before the plane landed.

She said that Miss Davis was airsick but added that several of the others on the plane also were.

Hallinan also said that Miss Davis was placed in solitary confinement after she arrived in Marin. Jailers said a young woman, serving a sentence for sex perversion, was in the cell unit with Miss Davis, although both are in separate cells.

Teague said he has spoken to Miss Davis several times and that she had not expressed any dissatisfaction.

He said the Christmas menu also would include mashed potatoes and gravy, a vegetable, porterhouse rolls and butter, pickles and olives, cranberry sauce, pumpkin and mince pie and milk and coffee.

Each inmate also will be given little cups of candy and nuts, he said. The gift packages provided by the Salvation Army will include a toothbrush, tooth paste, comb and candy, as well as reading material.

The jail will provide cigars, cigarettes and candy canes for thos who want them.

Supporters of Miss Davis have said they plan a "Christmas vigil" outside the Hall of Justice tomorrow.

Shortly after Miss Davis's arraignment yesterday, the sheriff's office received a threat a bomb would go off at noon in the Hall of Justice. No device was found.

Miss Davis and other county jail inmates remained in their cells, but County employees were evacuated during the search.

Labor Union Locals Guilty Of Contempt

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A U.S. District Court judge yesterday found three labor union locals and their officers guilty of criminal contempt for secondary boycotts against Independent-Journal advertisers.

The judge also found a fourth union local and an official of San Francisco Typographical Union Local 21 guilty of civil contempt for the secondary boycotts. The typographical union struck the I-J last Jan. 7.

Judge William T. Sweigert's decree came after almost eight weeks of trial on complaints by the National Labor Relations Board that the unions had violated three of the court's injunctions prohibiting secondary boycott activities.

Judge Sweigert set compliance fines in the civil contempt decree at $7,500 a day against International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union Local 10, and $100 a day against John De Martini of Mill Valley, vice president of Local 21. The fines will be imposed under the decree if either fails again to comply with the injunction against secondary boycotts.

The judge set Jan. 21 for setting fines or sentences in the criminal complaints. He also will hear motions on both the civil and criminal decisions that date.

The typographical union local also was found guilty of criminal contempt, as was its organizer, Don Abrams. Others found guilty of criminal contempt were Teamsters Union Local 70 of Oakland and its president, James R. Muniz, and Teamsters Union Local 85 of San Francisco, Timothy J. Richardson, its business manager and recording secretary.

The NLRB said that the secondary boycott activity by the unions was "aimed at forcing various neutral employers to cease doing business with the Independent-Journal."

The NLRB complaints grew out of picketing Marin stores in October and threatening drivers of delivery trucks going to the stores.

The NLRB's complaints cited 28 specific instances in which truck drivers in Marin were harassed or threatened or where I-J advertisers were illegally picketed. During the hit-run intimidation of drivers, tires on trucks and other vehicles were slashed, including tires on the cars of two U.S. marshals serving notices on members of the Teamsters Union ordering them to cease their activities.

San Francisco labor officials have announced their intention to file complaints with President Richard M. Nixon and California congressmen about alleged "bias" of the NLRB against the unions in connection with the strike against the I-J.

Pentagon Cites 26 Names Missing From Hanoi's List

want them (the North Vietnamese) to know who we know or think they have."

"It could endanger the lives and safety of men they might hold that we don't know about," James said.

Another Pentagon official said if the United States made public a list of all the men the Pentagon believes are prisoner of war, then North Vietnamese jailers might tell other prisoners not on the list "your government doesn't know you exist."

"They could bring tremendous pressure this way to get those men to talk. They might even kill them and never say anything about it," he said.

There were 368 names on the list given Tuesday in Paris to representatives of Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., and Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark. Of these, 339 were listed as alive and 20 as dead. The other nine have been released

The Pentagon believes North Vietnam has captured 378 Americans and that at least 20, and possibly 22 of these have died in the hands of their captors. Most of those captured were pilots of U.S. fighters or fighter-bombers shot down over North Vietnam —aircraft that carry one or two men.

In addition to the 378 identified as prisoners, another 412 are listed by the Pentagon as missing in action in North Vietnam.

Officials said this means the ultimate fate of these 412 men is unknown; they may have been captured, or they may have died in the crash of their aircraft.

"We don't know how many of the missing were captured," one official said. "But of the 20 dead on the new list, only 13 were among those we listed as definitely prisoners. The other 7 were on our missing in action list."

In addition the North Vietnamese government told New York pacifist Cora Weiss in 1969 that 2 men had died in captivity, but relayed word through the Swedish government in November that this was a mistake and those two men had never been captured.

Pentagon officials tend to believe these men really were captured and died, and that the North Vietnamese later accidentally left their records.

Neither of their names was on the latest list.

"I don't think they would lie about this," one official said. "I personally think their records system was pretty loose and that somewhere along the way they lost the cards on these men."

Added up, the 26 omitted names include:

—The two men Hanoi first said had died in captivity and later denied knowledge of.

—Seven men the Pentagon is sure died while in captivity, but whose names were not anywhere on the latest list.

—Another 17, the Pentagon has identified as captured and presumed still alive through various intelligence methods of its own.

"There may be more," one official said. "The fact that they identified as captured seven men we carried only as missing indicates this possibility."

The Pentagon has identified 331 of the 378 men on its own list through letters they have written home. The others were identified through studying photographs of prisoners made public by Hanoi and by interviewing the nine prisoners North Vietnam has released to find out what men they saw as fellow prisoners while in captivity.

Employed By Janitor Service

Louis Cervantes, 39, of Petaluma, who suffered two self-inflicted wounds Tuesday, is not employed by Pacific Gas and Electric Co., as reported yesterday in the Independent-Journal, but by a janitorial service that serves the company.

Community Hospital of Sonoma County reported today that Cervantes remained in poor condition. Sonoma County sheriff's deputies said he shot himself in the head and chest because of reported despondency over low wages.

PRICES

reported that the purchasing power of the nation's factory workers declined last month because of the increase in the cost of living and a drop of average hours worked.

Gross weekly earnings of production and nonsupervisory workers fell off 66 cents between October and November to $121.07.

When adjusted for price increases, purchasing power was 0.8 per cent below October and 2.3 per cent below the level a year ago.

The report showed that food prices declined 0.5 percent. Prices declined for beef, pork and poultry. Prices of fruits and vegetables also declined instead of increasing as they usually do in November.

Yet prices of restaurant meals and other food consumed away from home increased 0.4 per cent.

The cost of consumer services increased 0.6 per cent. The biggest increases in services were for gas, water and sewage.

Medical costs continued to advance, increasing 0.5 percent. The cost of transportation increased 0.7 per cent, mostly because of increases in auto insurance premiums and local transit fares.

On a seasonally adjusted basis, the cost of living rose at an average rate of 0.5 per cent a month for the first five months of this year. The rate of increase declined to 0.3 per cent to June and July and to 0.2 per cent in August. But it escalated again to 0.5 per cent in September and October before dipping back to the 0.3 per cent mark in November.

No Marriage Plans For Tricia Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Tricia Nixon plans to spend a good part of the Christmas weekend with her beau of six years, Ed Cox, but the White House said today there is "no clearcut" indication that they will soon be going down the aisle together.

There definitely is no engagement announcement in the offing during the Christmas holiday period, a spokesman for Miss Nixon's mother said.

But White House denials of any imminent announcement notwithstanding, there is little or no doubt that there will be another White House wedding before President Nixon's first term ends.

There have been persistent reports that Tricia and Edward Finch Cox will marry, and Knight Newspapers reported in today's editions that an announcement of their engagement would be made during the holidays,

To this, one of Mrs. Nixon's aides said; "We absolutely deny it. There is no imminent engagement to announce."

Speaking of Miss Nixon's and Cox's long-time dating, Connie Stuart, the first lady's staff director, said "If and when it happens" —referring to a possible engagement —"it will be announced by President and Mrs. Nixon."

"At this time I see no clearcut announcement of an engagement for these two young people," she added. "I don't see any announcement this holiday season."

abuses incident to such activities," he added, "but further corrective actions are necessary as a matter of urgent priority."

An example of action that has already been taken, a spokesman said, was that last June 9 the Army ordered its spy files on radical organizations destroyed. The Defense Department felt these files were "not appropriate for the Department of Defense and the Department of the Army to retain," the spokesman said.

Laird said that in the new set-up the head of the DIA would be able to delegate various types of investigations and counter intelligence—combatting foreign intelligence activities—to the individual military services.

"This delegation will be accomplished on a function-by-function basis," said Laird, who also ordered a full public report on his new plans after they are established.

"The secretary's studies (already conducted) into this whole field have indicated that in some cases there is a lack of clear-cut responsibility and authority—in some cases there is some fragmented responsibility and there is duplication, and that it may be possible to achieve further economy (by the changes)," the spokesman added. "One of the things he wants to do is strengthen civilian control of military intelligence."

Protection Due Reef Area

Beginning March 1, Agate Beach and Dubury Reef in Bolinas will be protected by state law against souvenir hunters who have been depriving the area of plants and fishlife.

Pierre W. Joske, director of county parks and recreation, said protection of the areas was being written into the state fish and game code and will become law on March 1.

The county parks and recreation commission had worked for a year to get state protection. The state fish and game commission, meeting in Los Angeles earlier this month, agreed to add a section in the fish and game code to protect Duxbury and Agate Beach.

Under the new law, no fish or wildlife may be removed from the area except abalone, market crabs, mussels, rockfish and other sports-fish normally taken by hook and line.

matrons."

Teague said there were seven male officers and two matrons who accompanied Miss Davis on the flight from New Jersey aboard an Air National Guard plane.

One of the matrons on the flight said that Miss Davis was quiet but pleasant on trip and that she was not handcuffed until just before the plane landed.

She said that Miss Davis was airsick but added that several of the others on the plane also were.

Hallinan also said that Miss Davis was placed in solitary confinement after she arrived in Marin. Jailers said a young woman, serving a sentence for sex perversion, was in the cell unit with Miss Davis, although both are in separate cells.

Teague said he has spoken to Miss Davis several times and that she had not expressed any dissatisfaction.

He said the Christmas menu also would include mashed potatoes and gravy, a vegetable, porterhouse rolls and butter, pickles and olives, cranberry sauce, pumpkin and mince pie and milk and coffee.

Each inmate also will be given little cups of candy and nuts, he said. The gift packages provided by the Salvation Army will include a toothbrush, tooth paste, comb and candy, as well as reading material.

The jail will provide cigars, cigarettes and candy canes for thos who want them.

Supporters of Miss Davis have said they plan a "Christmas vigil" outside the Hall of Justice tomorrow.

Shortly after Miss Davis's arraignment yesterday, the sheriff's office received a threat a bomb would go off at noon in the Hall of Justice. No device was found.

Miss Davis and other county jail inmates remained in their cells, but County employees were evacuated during the search.

Convicted Felon Is Found Sane

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — A 26-year-old Alameda County man, convicted of nine felonies in a 1966 crime spree which included a Marin auto chase in pursuit of a topless dancer, has been found to be sane by the same jury which convicted him of the crimes.

The jury returned its verdict in the case of James Reece Tuesday in Alameda Superior Court. Judge George W. Phillips set Jan. 12 for sentencing.

Reece, who attended the two-and-a-half-week trial under heavy sedation, was ordered to stand trial by Phillips after psychiatrists found him capable of participating in his defense.

The charges on which he was convicted included two counts of kidnapping, three robberies, two burglaries and two escapes.

During an escape from Highland Hospital in Oakland in June of 1967, he was recaptured after pursuing the car of San Francisco entertainer Yvonne D'Angier of Fairfax into Marin County. The pursuit, in a stolen car, ended in a two-car crackup into Fairfax Creek.

Russia A-Bomb Blast Detected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission says it has detected seismic signals indicating an apparent underground nuclear blast in the Soviet Union.

It said the signals, originating south of the Urals in the Kazakh desert, were equivalent to an underground explosion with a yield in the range of 200 kilotons to 1 megaton.

Pay Hike For Water District Employees

The Marin Municipal Water District yesterday granted a 7.3 per cent across-the-board pay hike to water district employees, effective Jan. 1.

It was the highest increase since a 6.5 per cent raise in 1956. Last year's increase was 6 per cent.

The increase will hike the total district payroll from almost $1.8 million to $1.92 million.

The raises, voted unanimously for the district's 197 employees, were determined by comparison with wage increases in Bay Area industries and municipalities.

The industry wage was found to have risen 7.5 per cent while the municipal rate had increased 7.2 per cent. The water district normally determines its increase by averaging the two percentages, Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger said.

The wage report used as a basis for the increases 16 jobs in various industries surveyed in October by the Bay Area Salary Survey Committee.

The committee surveys 259 private firms and 38 public agencies, but only 16 of the jobs were considered comparable for determining salary increases, Seeger said.

The district traditionally grants increases in December instead of at the beginning of the fiscal year.

The Marin Municipal Water District board also:

PRAISES — Passed resolutions commending retiring directors William A. Marcus and dr.Leo L. Sanley for their long service on the board. Marcus joined the board in 1944. Stanley followed in 1947.

HIKE — Approved a request by a teacher at Bernard Hoffman School in San Rafael to lead a field trip of30 students and five adults to Kent Lake Jan. 21.

CALCULATOR — Approved purchase for $506 of a calculator manufactured by Singer.

RIGHT-OF-WAY — Accepted a right-of-way for construction of a fireline extension at Kappas Yacht Harbor in Sausalito.

FIRELINE — Agreed to a new plan for installation of a fireline extension at Centro East and Centro West streets in Tiburon that will be financed by $6,010 from the water district and $9,734 from Tiburon. The project had to be altered when it was learned Centro West Street recently had been resurfaced.

JUMPIN' BEAN — Heard a report that termination-of-lease papers have been served on the Jumpin' Bean Restaurant at Second Street and Grand Avenue, San Rafael, giving the restaurant until Jan. 15 to pay almost $7,000 in back rent and $9,000 in back taxes owed Marin County. If the sum is not paid, the lease will be terminated, according to a letter from the district's attorney, Robert W. Elliott.

Candles Shine For E. Berlin

BERLIN (UPI) — Mayor Klaus Schuetz asked West Berliners to place lighted candles in their windows tonight as a sign of solidarity with Germans on the other side of the wall.

For the fifth successive Christmas the East Germans refused to open the wall and West Berliners could not make holiday visits to their East Berlin friends and relatives.

Schuetz asked them to put candles in their windows again to show the wall has not made them forget those on the other side.

"In this way we will show our ties to each other and to those who can not be with us tonight," Schuetz said. "The candles will be a light of hope that expresses the desire for more humanity."

2 Highway Contracts Awarded

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Construction contracts totaling more than $750,000 have been awarded two firms for highway improvements in Marin and Southern Sonoma counties, the state Department of Public Works has announced.

The biggest job, to widen four miles of Highway 116 at Petaluma, was awarded Arthur B. Siri Inc. of Santa Rosa. It totals $705,881.

The department said the two-lane highway will be widened to 40 feet. Bridges over Adobe and Stage Gulch creeks also will be widened, while crossings at Ellis and Wheat creeks will be replaced. The project, expected to take six months, is scheduled for completion during fall 1971, the department said.

E. A. Forde Co. of Greenbrae was awarded a $44,474 contract to install new and modify existing guardrails along Highway 101 between Novato and Rohnert Park. The project will take about 50 days, the department reported.

Minor Delays In Airport Slowdown

LONDON (UPI) — Airline passengers experienced only minor delays in flights from London's Heathrow Airport Wednesday despite a decision by union leaders to continue a nine-day old rulebook slowdown by airport workers.

Many of the workers ignored the call to work to the rule and to refuse overtime because they needed the extra cash for Christmas spending.

Convicted Felon Is Found Sane

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — A 26-year-old Alameda County man, convicted of nine felonies in a 1966 crime spree which included a Marin auto chase in pursuit of a topless dancer, has been found to be sane by the same jury which convicted him of the crimes.

The jury returned its verdict in the case of James Reece Tuesday in Alameda Superior Court. Judge George W. Phillips set Jan. 12 for sentencing.

Reece, who attended the two-and-a-half-week trial under heavy sedation, was ordered to stand trial by Phillips after psychiatrists found him capable of participating in his defense.

The charges on which he was convicted included two counts of kidnapping, three robberies, two burglaries and two escapes.

During an escape from Highland Hospital in Oakland in June of 1967, he was recaptured after pursuing the car of San Francisco entertainer Yvonne D'Angier of Fairfax into Marin County. The pursuit, in a stolen car, ended in a two-car crackup into Fairfax Creek.

Russia A-Bomb Blast Detected

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Atomic Energy Commission says it has detected seismic signals indicating an apparent underground nuclear blast in the Soviet Union.

It said the signals, originating south of the Urals in the Kazakh desert, were equivalent to an underground explosion with a yield in the range of 200 kilotons to 1 megaton.

Pay Hike For Water District Employees

The Marin Municipal Water District yesterday granted a 7.3 per cent across-the-board pay hike to water district employees, effective Jan. 1.

It was the highest increase since a 6.5 per cent raise in 1956. Last year's increase was 6 per cent.

The increase will hike the total district payroll from almost $1.8 million to $1.92 million.

The raises, voted unanimously for the district's 197 employees, were determined by comparison with wage increases in Bay Area industries and municipalities.

The industry wage was found to have risen 7.5 per cent while the municipal rate had increased 7.2 per cent. The water district normally determines its increase by averaging the two percentages, Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger said.

The wage report used as a basis for the increases 16 jobs in various industries surveyed in October by the Bay Area Salary Survey Committee.

The committee surveys 259 private firms and 38 public agencies, but only 16 of the jobs were considered comparable for determining salary increases, Seeger said.

The district traditionally grants increases in December instead of at the beginning of the fiscal year.

The Marin Municipal Water District board also:

PRAISES — Passed resolutions commending retiring directors William A. Marcus and dr.Leo L. Sanley for their long service on the board. Marcus joined the board in 1944. Stanley followed in 1947.

HIKE — Approved a request by a teacher at Bernard Hoffman School in San Rafael to lead a field trip of30 students and five adults to Kent Lake Jan. 21.

CALCULATOR — Approved purchase for $506 of a calculator manufactured by Singer.

RIGHT-OF-WAY — Accepted a right-of-way for construction of a fireline extension at Kappas Yacht Harbor in Sausalito.

FIRELINE — Agreed to a new plan for installation of a fireline extension at Centro East and Centro West streets in Tiburon that will be financed by $6,010 from the water district and $9,734 from Tiburon. The project had to be altered when it was learned Centro West Street recently had been resurfaced.

JUMPIN' BEAN — Heard a report that termination-of-lease papers have been served on the Jumpin' Bean Restaurant at Second Street and Grand Avenue, San Rafael, giving the restaurant until Jan. 15 to pay almost $7,000 in back rent and $9,000 in back taxes owed Marin County. If the sum is not paid, the lease will be terminated, according to a letter from the district's attorney, Robert W. Elliott.

Candles Shine For E. Berlin

BERLIN (UPI) — Mayor Klaus Schuetz asked West Berliners to place lighted candles in their windows tonight as a sign of solidarity with Germans on the other side of the wall.

For the fifth successive Christmas the East Germans refused to open the wall and West Berliners could not make holiday visits to their East Berlin friends and relatives.

Schuetz asked them to put candles in their windows again to show the wall has not made them forget those on the other side,

"In this way we will show our ties to each other and to those who can not be with us tonight," Schuetz said. "The candles will be a light of hope that expresses the desire for more humanity."

2 Highway Contracts Awarded

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Construction contracts totaling more than $750,000 have been awarded two firms for highway improvements in Marin and Southern Sonoma counties, the state Department of Public Works has announced.

The biggest job, to widen four miles of Highway 116 at Petaluma, was awarded Arthur B. Siri Inc. of Santa Rosa. It totals $705,881.

The department said the two-lane highway will be widened to 40 feet. Bridges over Adobe and Stage Gulch creeks also will be widened, while crossings at Ellis and Wheat creeks will be replaced. The project, expected to take six months, is scheduled for completion during fall 1971, the department said.

E. A. Forde Co. of Greenbrae was awarded a $44,474 contract to install new and modify existing guardrails along Highway 101 between Novato and Rohnert Park. The project will take about 50 days, the department reported.

Minor Delays In Airport Slowdown

LONDON (UPI)—Airline passengers experienced only minor delays in flights from London's Heathrow Airport Wednesday despite a decision by union leaders to continue a nine-day old rulebook slowdown by airport workers.

Many of the workers ignored the call to work to the rule and to refuse overtime because they needed the extra cash for Christmas spending.

MIMI BENZELL
Opera, stage, radio

Opera Star Mimi Benzell Dies At 47

MANHASSET, N.Y. (UPI)—Mimi Benzell, who went from the Metropolitan Opera to her own radio show and to a starring role in a long running Broadway musical, died at North Shore Hospital Wednesday after a lengthy illness. She was 47.

Miss Benzell joined the Met as a lyric coloratura while in her early 20s in 1945 and continued with the renowned opera company for five seasons. She began appearing in supper clubs in the late 1940s and in 1951 started a weekly radio program.

She debuted on Broadway in a featured role in "Milk and Honey," a 1961 musical set in Israel which starred Molly Picon and Robert Weede.

Miss Benzell returned to radio in 1964 to host a daily radio talk program on WNBC, "The Mimi Benzell Show." She was director of the Nassau County Office of Performing and Fine Arts until August, when she resigned.

Regardless of her other show business appearances, Miss Benzell was known primarily for her operatic roles with the Met, the biggest of which was that of Gilda in Verdi's "Rigoletto." She also was Musetta in Puccini's "La Boheme" and Philine in Thomas' "Mignon."

She once said of her youth, "Long before I had any idea of singing for a living I earned my first dollar singing Christmas carols at the First Presbyterian Church. Six months later I won a scholarship for singing."

Miss Benzell did not sing at the Met after 1949 but continued to bill herself as a "Metropolitan Opera star." She was sued in 1956 by the opera company which denied she had been a star there and asked that she cease advertising herself as such. The Met won the case.

Born in Bridgeport, Conn., Miss Benzell moved with her family to Brooklyn when she was 13. She attended Hunter College before getting a scholarship to the Mannes School of Music where she did her major vocal study.

She married concert manager Walter Gould in 1949 and had two children, a daughter Jennifer, and a son Jonathan.

Riot Trial May Go To Jury By Jan. 4

I-J Special Report

FAIRFIELD — Trial of seven persons on 34 charges arising from the violent Feb. 14 rally outside the Independent-Jornal has been recessed until Tuesday.

Judge William E. Jensen told the Solano Superior Court jury yesterday that it probably will not begin deliberating the case until Jan. 4. He said prosecution and defense attorneys expected to take all of Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday to present their summation arguments, reviewing evidence and testimony in the 10-week-old trial.

Jensen warned the jury that once it does begin deliberations it will be sequestered. He suggested that jurors make arrangements to be absent from home at least three or four days.

Attorneys for both sides spent most of yesterday in the judge's chambers arguing legal matters. The jury sat in the courtroom only a few minutes during the afternoon.

Marin County Deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua W. Thomas had said Tuesday he might reopen the prosecution to present one more witness, but decided against it yesterday. The defense had rested late Tuesday.

The trial began Oct. 20 as a result of Marin County Grand Jury indictments against seven of the 12 persons arrested at the anti-I-J rally on Valentine's Day.

The rally was organized to support San Francisco International Typographical Union 21, which struck the I-J Jan. 7. During the rally, most of the I-J's windows were shattered by sticks or thrown objects, a delivery truck was set afire, stinkbombs were hurled, and demonstrators battled police and pelted them with picket signs and missiles. Fourteen persons were injured.

Auto, Credit Cards Stolen

A 38-year-old Ross man has been robbed of his auto, credit cards and $10 in cash by two houseguests he met the day before at a San Francisco bar.

Ross police said James Edward French told them he met two men late Monday in the Tenderloin and invited them to spend the night at his Laurel Grove Avenue home after they expressed interest in attending a rally in behalf of Angela Davis in Marin.

French told police that between midnight and noon yesterday, the two men took his black and white Toyota, credit cards and the cash. A .22-caliber rifle was in the trunk of the auto, police said.

War Halts; U.S. Deaths Hit New Low

SAIGON (UPI)—The Vietnamese War halted today under a Christmas cease-fire, and the U.S. command announced the lowest American death toll last week in five years of fighting—23 men. But in Cambodia Communist rockets and mortars smashed into the city of Kompong Cham with deadly effect.

The U.S. Command said Communist forces killed two Americans and wounded three others in an assault on a northern outpost in Vietnam early today less than one hour before the Communists began a three-day cease-fire. The Americans and South Vietnanese were observing a 24-hour truce.

Journalist Francis Bailly, reporting for UPI, said 82mm mortars and 122mm rockets hit Kompong Cham, 50 miles northeast of Phnom Penh and Cambodia's third largest city, Christmas Eve. The night before 82mm mortars hit Roka Thom, a ferry landing on the Mekong River.

Bailly said the attack on Kompong Cham killed nine persons and wounded 21 others. The Cambodians said 1,800 to 2,400 North Vietnamese are in the area surrounding the city, a provincial capital of 35,000 persons.

The Christmas truces did not apply to Laos or Cambodia, and Phnom Penh reports said there were brief clashes within 14 miles of the capital and that aircraft bombed Communist troops 12 miles northwest of Phnom Penh today. There were other clashes along the Mekong River.

Shortly before the 24-hour U.S. and South Vietnamese holiday truce was to begin, only the one incident involving U.S. forces had been reported. But the South Vietnamese Command said there had been two violations by the Communists of their unilateral three-day stand-down. One government militiaman was killed in the fighting, the officials reported.

The 72-hour Communist truce began at 1 a.m. Saigon time (noon EST Wednesday), 17 hours before that of the allies. The cease-fire was the 17th of the Indochina conflict since 1965.

U.S. military spokesmen said a reconnaissance team of the American Division came under small arms and hand grenade fire just after midnight near Duc Pho, 307 miles north-northeast of Saigon. The brief attack cost the unit of the 11th brigade two dead and three wounded. Communist losses were not determined, the spokesmen said.

The weekly casualty report issued on Christmas Eve showed that American war deaths last week dropped to their lowest level in more than five years.

The U.S. Command said 23 American servicemen were killed and 160 wounded in the seven-day period ending Dec. 19. The toll was the lowest since early in the massive U.S. troop buildup when 14 Americans were reported slain in the week ending Oct. 23, 1965.

Since Jan. 1, 1961, command records showed, 44,167 Americans have been killed in the Indochina conflict and 293,077 wounded. Another 8,950 U.S. servicemen have died from "non-hostile" causes.

South Vietnamese casualties last week were 266 dead and 886 wounded while Communist losses were placed at 1,404 dead.

Monitor Editor Wins Zenger Award

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—Erwin D. Canham, editor in chief of the Christian Science Monitor, has been selected as the 1970 winner of the University of Arizona's annual John Peter Zenger Freedom of the Press award.

More than 85 editors and publishers throughout the nation participated in the selection, said Donald Carson, acting head of the UA journalism department.

Driver Overpowers Would-Be Robbers

A pizza delivery driver knocked out two would-be robbers, left them senseless on a Northgate curb and drove off, the driver told San Rafael police.

Allen Lee Gragg, 22, a Nike missile base crewman working part-time for a pizzeria, said he was accosted by two long-haired men when he walked back to his truck at 10 p.m. Tuesday after delivering a pizza in the 900 block of Del Ganado. One produced a switchblade knife and demanded money, Gragg said. He said he felled them both with his fists, then drove off. Police found nothing at the scene.

Opera Star Mimi Benzell Dies At 47

MANHASSET, N.Y. (UPI)—Mimi Benzell, who went from the Metropolitan Opera to her own radio show and to a starring role in a long running Broadway musical, died at North Shore Hospital Wednesday after a lengthy illness. She was 47.

Miss Benzell joined the Met as a lyric coloratura while in her early 20s in 1945 and continued with the renowned opera company for five seasons. She began appearing in supper clubs in the late 1940s and in 1951 started a weekly radio program.

She debuted on Broadway in a featured role in "Milk and Honey," a 1961 musical set in Israel which starred Molly Picon and Robert Weede.

Miss Benzell returned to radio in 1964 to host a daily radio talk program on WNBC, "The Mimi Benzell Show." She was director of the Nassau County Office of Performing and Fine Arts until August, when she resigned.

Regardless of her other show business appearances, Miss Benzell was known primarily for her operatic roles with the Met, the biggest of which was that of Gilda in Verdi's "Rigoletto." She also was Musetta in Puccini's "La Boheme" and Philine in Thomas' "Mignon."

She once said of her youth, "Long before I had any idea of singing for a living I earned my first dollar singing Christmas carols at the First Presbyterian Church. Six months later I won a scholarship for singing."

Miss Benzell did not sing at the Met after 1949 but continued to bill herself as a "Metropolitan Opera star." She was sued in 1956 by the opera company which denied she had been a star there and asked that she cease advertising herself as such. The Met won the case.

Born in Bridgeport, Conn., Miss Benzell moved with her family to Brooklyn when she was 13. She attended Hunter College before getting a scholarship to the Mannes School of Music where she did her major vocal study.

She married concert manager Walter Gould in 1949 and had two children, a daughter Jennifer, and a son Jonathan.

Riot Trial May Go To Jury By Jan. 4

I-J Special Report

FAIRFIELD — Trial of seven persons on 34 charges arising from the violent Feb. 14 rally outside the Independent-Jornal has been recessed until Tuesday.

Judge William E. Jensen told the Solano Superior Court jury yesterday that it probably will not begin deliberating the case until Jan. 4. He said prosecution and defense attorneys expected to take all of Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday to present their summation arguments, reviewing evidence and testimony in the 10-week-old trial.

Jensen warned the jury that once it does begin deliberations it will be sequestered. He suggested that jurors make arrangements to be absent from home at least three or four days.

Attorneys for both sides spent most of yesterday in the judge's chambers arguing legal matters. The jury sat in the courtroom only a few minutes during the afternoon.

Marin County Deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua W. Thomas had said Tuesday he might reopen the prosecution to present one more witness, but decided against it yesterday. The defense had rested late Tuesday.

The trial began Oct. 20 as a result of Marin County Grand Jury indictments against seven of the 12 persons arrested at the anti-I-J rally on Valentine's Day.

The rally was organized to support San Francisco International Typographical Union 21, which struck the I-J Jan. 7. During the rally, most of the I-J's windows were shattered by sticks or thrown objects, a delivery truck was set afire, stinkbombs were hurled, and demonstrators battled police and pelted them with picket signs and missiles. Fourteen persons were injured.

Auto, Credit Cards Stolen

A 38-year-old Ross man has been robbed of his auto, credit cards and $10 in cash by two houseguests he met the day before at a San Francisco bar.

Ross police said James Edward French told them he met two men late Monday in the Tenderloin and invited them to spend the night at his Laurel Grove Avenue home after they expressed interest in attending a rally in behalf of Angela Davis in Marin.

French told police that between midnight and noon yesterday, the two men took his black and white Toyota, credit cards and the cash. A .22-caliber rifle was in the trunk of the auto, police said.

War Halts; U.S. Deaths Hit New Low

SAIGON (UPI)—The Vietnamese War halted today under a Christmas cease-fire, and the U.S. command announced the lowest American death toll last week in five years of fighting—23 men. But in Cambodia Communist rockets and mortars smashed into the city of Kompong Cham with deadly effect.

The U.S. Command said Communist forces killed two Americans and wounded three others in an assault on a northern outpost in Vietnam early today less than one hour before the Communists began a three-day cease-fire. The Americans and South Vietnanese were observing a 24-hour truce.

Journalist Francis Bailly, reporting for UPI, said 82mm mortars and 122mm rockets hit Kompong Cham, 50 miles northeast of Phnom Penh and Cambodia's third largest city, Christmas Eve. The night before 82mm mortars hit Roka Thom, a ferry landing on the Mekong River.

Bailly said the attack on Kompong Cham killed nine persons and wounded 21 others. The Cambodians said 1,800 to 2,400 North Vietnamese are in the area surrounding the city, a provincial capital of 35,000 persons.

The Christmas truces did not apply to Laos or Cambodia, and Phnom Penh reports said there were brief clashes within 14 miles of the capital and that aircraft bombed Communist troops 12 miles northwest of Phnom Penh today. There were other clashes along the Mekong River.

Shortly before the 24-hour U.S. and South Vietnamese holiday truce was to begin, only the one incident involving U.S. forces had been reported. But the South Vietnamese Command said there had been two violations by the Communists of their unilateral three-day stand-down. One government militiaman was killed in the fighting, the officials reported.

The 72-hour Communist truce began at 1 a.m. Saigon time (noon EST Wednesday), 17 hours before that of the allies. The cease-fire was the 17th of the Indochina conflict since 1965.

U.S. military spokesmen said a reconnaissance team of the American Division came under small arms and hand grenade fire just after midnight near Duc Pho, 307 miles north-northeast of Saigon. The brief attack cost the unit of the 11th brigade two dead and three wounded. Communist losses were not determined, the spokesmen said.

The weekly casualty report issued on Christmas Eve showed that American war deaths last week dropped to their lowest level in more than five years.

The U.S. Command said 23 American servicemen were killed and 160 wounded in the seven-day period ending Dec. 19. The toll was the lowest since early in the massive U.S. troop buildup when 14 Americans were reported slain in the week ending Oct. 23, 1965.

Since Jan. 1, 1961, command records showed, 44,167 Americans have been killed in the Indochina conflict and 293,077 wounded. Another 8,950 U.S. servicemen have died from "non-hostile" causes.

South Vietnamese casualties last week were 266 dead and 886 wounded while Communist losses were placed at 1,404 dead.

Monitor Editor Wins Zenger Award

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—Erwin D. Canham, editor in chief of the Christian Science Monitor, has been selected as the 1970 winner of the University of Arizona's annual John Peter Zenger Freedom of the Press award.

More than 85 editors and publishers throughout the nation participated in the selection, said Donald Carson, acting head of the UA journalism department.

Driver Overpowers Would-Be Robbers

A pizza delivery driver knocked out two would-be robbers, left them senseless on a Northgate curb and drove off, the driver told San Rafael police.

Allen Lee Gragg, 22, a Nike missile base crewman working part-time for a pizzeria, said he was accosted by two long-haired men when he walked back to his truck at 10 p.m. Tuesday after delivering a pizza in the 900 block of Del Ganado. One produced a switchblade knife and demanded money, Gragg said. He said he felled them both with his fists, then drove off. Police found nothing at the scene.

Soldier's Christmas Gift From Army: Early Release

A soldier from Lagunitas who left his post early in hopes of being discharged in time to spend Christmas with his family unexpectedly got his wish yesterday.

Sp—4 Gerald E. Sharpe, who has not been home for Christmas in three years, was discharged after the Army overlooked a little rule-bending on his part and also ignored one of its own regulations.

Perhaps moved by the Christmas spirit, the base commander at the Army Transfer Service, Fort Hamilton, N.Y., released the 21-year-old soldier, who was not technically eligible for release until Tuesday.

The commandant, Lt. Col. Charles Wood, had obtained permission from the Pentagon and authorized the release yesterday, Army officials said.

Sharp did not know of Wood's move and was anticipating a lonely Christmas at an unfamiliar base.

His mother, Mrs. Joanne Sharpe of 7220 Sir Francis Dake Boulevard, said he called Tuesday to say his chances of being home for Christmas were "very slim" although "he had been standing in the processing room for two or three days hoping."

Although soldiers due to get out in late December are routinely discharged before Christmas, Sharpe and several others at the base were technically ineligible for pre-Christmas release, the Army said.

Sharpe, originally due to be discharged March 29, had his duty time sliced three months to return to school, the Army said. He was therefore ineligible for any further reduction, officials said.

According to the Army, Sharpe was to have remained with his supply unit near Milan, Italy, until Dec. 29, but, instead, he had wrapped up his duties there and flown to New York.

There is a regulation against packing up early, but men are seldom punished for doing so, the officials said. However, they are not usually given early releases either, they said.

The early release will mean Sharpe can spend Christmas with his entire family in Fresno instead of watching television in a noncommissioned officers club, his mother said.

"We are all going up to my mother's. We haven't been together in three years," Mrs. Sharpe said.

Ominous Sound From Volcano

MANILA (UPI)—Filipino volcanologists warned today activity was building up in Taal volcano, 40 miles south of Manila. They said a major eruption might be imminent.

Since Wednesday morning, 1,669 volcanic tremors accompanied by rumbling sounds have been recorded by seismograph on the 15-square mile volcano island situated on the middle of Taal lake in nearby Batangas province, according to the volcanology commission.

The commission said "it is held likely that this crisis would lead to a resurgence of Taal's eruptive activities within a short while." It said the point of eruption could come from the main crater of the 984-foot high volcano.

Ominous Sound From Volcano

MANILA (UPI)—Filipino volcanologists warned today activity was building up in Taal volcano, 40 miles south of Manila. They said a major eruption might be imminent.

Since Wednesday morning, 1,669 volcanic tremors accompanied by rumbling sounds have been recorded by seismograph on the 15-square mile volcano island situated on the middle of Taal lake in nearby Batangas province, according to the volcanology commission.

The commission said "it is held likely that this crisis would lead to a resurgence of Taal's eruptive activities within a short while." It said the point of eruption could come from the main crater of the 984-foot high volcano.

Federal Deficit Tipped By Nixon

By NORMAN KEMPSTER

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon, who less than a year ago spoke almost reverently of the virtues of a balanced budget, has now adopted the "full employment budget" concept, a sure sign his next spending program will show a deficit.

The full employment budget idea enjoys a steady popularity with some economists but it seems to attract politicians mostly when they face red ink spending.

In brief, the full employment budget counts as revenue the amount the nation's tax system would yield if the economy were running at full blast. When business is sluggish —as it is today —the actual tax yield is substantially less.

Suppose, for example, that the tax structure yields $220 billion a year when the nation is experiencing full employment —currently defined as meaning that 4 per cent or less of those actively seeking work are without jobs.

But also suppose that unemployment is running at 5.6 per cent, as it did last month. In that case, the same levies would produce $205 billion.

Now assume the federal government plans to spend $218 billion during the fiscal year in question to provide necessary services —defense, welfare, farm subsidies, education, health and so on. With income at $205 billion, that would mean a deficit of $13 billion. Full employment would produce a $2 billion surplus.

On the surface, that doesn't sound much different from conventional economic theory which holds that the federal budget should be in balance when business is good and show a deficit when times are bad to stimulate the economy.

The full employment budget concept refines that approach by indicating how much red-ink spending is in order; that is, the difference between actual revenues and what your tax system would produce under full employment.

Politicians usually are less enthusiastic about the full employment budget because they realize they will be held responsible for any deficit, regardless of what they call it or how it came about.

The federal deficit for the current fiscal year which ends next June 30 may run as high as $15 billion, mostly because of the business slump. But there probably will be a full employment surplus.

The President has referred in recent speeches to his determination to keep spending below the potential yield of the tax system. George P. Shultz, the former economics professor who heads the Office of Management and Budget, is an advocate of the full employment budget.

When he sudmitted this year's budget to Congress last February, Nixon said: "I have pledged to the American people that I would submit a balanced budget for (fiscal year) 1971. This is particularly necessary because the cost of living has been rising rapidly for the past five years. The budget I send to you today —the first for which I bear full responsibility as President — fulfills that pledge."

He has not repeated that pledge recently.

The full employment budget was first advocated in 1947 by the private committee for Economic Development (CED). The concept was stressed in the economic reports of the Kennedy Administration when it was used to explain unbalanced budgets.

But the concept fell out of favor in 1965 when the economy heated up to full employment. When spending topped revenue by $25.16 billion in the 1968 fiscal year —the largest deficit since World War II —the full employment deficit was virtually the same.

Although Nixon has endorsed the full employment budget, the administration has never revealed its estimates of full employment revenues.

Arthur M. Okun, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers during the Johnson Administration and now a senior fellow at the Brookings Institution in Washington, recently estimated full employment revenue for this fiscal year at $217.5 billion.

Okun's estimate would provide a substantial full employment surplus over spending which the administration estimates at $205.6 billion. The spending total probably will turn out higher than that estimate, which has not been revised since May, but it is almost sure to be less than $217.5 billion.

Job Policy Suit Is Filed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Five San Francisco Chinese filed suit Tuesday charging the federal government with job discrimination because it will not hire aliens.

The federal court suit named various agencies of the U.S. government and said that the Chinese have been denied employment solely because they are not citizens of the United States.

It said that aliens are denied most federal jobs despite the fact they may be required to serve in the American armed forces.

The suit also alleged that the citizenship requirement for most federal jobs violates an executive order of President Richard Nixon.

The five asked that the various federal agencies be ordered to stop discriminating against aliens.

Astronaut On TV

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Gordon Cooper, one of the original seven astronauts, will appear in an episode of television's "The Courtship of Eddie's Father."

20 Days Given In Burglary

John Lauren Mott, 18, of San Rafael, charged with burglarizing Delong Chevrolet in San Rafael June 14, has been sentenced in Marin Superior Court to 120 days in jail.

Judge E. Warren Mcguire also ordered Mott to make restitution for damage to the auto dealership during the burglary and placed him on two year's probation. Barry Royal Hier, 17, of San Rafael, arrested with Mott, was booked into Marin Juvenile Hall.

Boating Change At Angel Park Planned

The Office of Architecture and Construction of the state department of General Services is calling for bids for alterations to boating facilities at Angel Island State Park.

Bids for the work in Ayala Cove are to be opened Jan. 5, the department said. Estimated cost of the work is $9,000.

PLANNING THEIR traditional Christmas Eve buffet dinner, Mrs. Delmar Friedrichsen, right, and her grandmother, Mrs. Emily Kissmann, left, set out the special German stollen, Pfeffkuchen and Pfeffernuesse at the Friedrichsen ranch in Petaluma. The children are eager for a visit from the Christmas Man, or Santa Claus. Both Mr. and Mrs. Friedrichsen are of German parentage and combine both German and American Christmas traditions.

LYNN AND her father, Delmar Friedrichsen, are busy daily making a check on their ewe, which just had triplet lambs at their Petaluma ranch home. Since Christmas time is also lambing time, the Friedrichsens are kept busy through the holidays running their ranch, adding more excitement for the two young daughters.

Christmas Is Exciting On The Farm

Marin Women

By DYANNE FORTNER

"Preparations for our favorite holiday, Christmas, began months and months ago," said the young woman. The fatted hog, the garden potatoes ("which my Daddy can make pop out of the ground," says the bubbly five-year-old) and the pumpkins planted in a patch and cultivated by the same youngster all substantiate that Christmas is a well planned, carefully prepared-for holiday for this farm family.

Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Friedrichsen of Petaluma agree that the only last minute thing to be done is more baking and wrapping packages.

Owners of 16,000 laying hens and 48 acres of land, the Friedrichsens expect their chickens to produce 25 cases of eggs daily, to meet the contract they have with Santa Rosa Feed. Holidays are no exception and because there is a minimum of hired help. "Our relatives and guests seem to enjoy helping us whenever they visit," says Delmar.

MISTLETOE, an advent, calendar and the advent wreath are but a few of the parts of Hannelore Friedrichsen's childhood Christmases in Germany she cares to remember. Born in Stettin on her father's ranch in what is now a part of East Germany, she found that the war rudely interruped any pleasant memories she and her family might have had during that time. Soon her family became refugees, separated from the father, a soldier on the Russian front.

After the war her father searched frantically for his family. Bicycling the entire length of Germany for more than a year, he financed his quest by doing whatever work he could find. When reunited their ranch was gone, and they realized they would always by branded as refugees.

"You cannot imagine the stigma of being a refugee," Hanne says softly. Soon the family found a sponsor in the Elim Lutheran Church in Petaluma and relocated in the United States.

"A position was waiting for my father at George Nielsen's ranch on Chileno Valley Road and our family settled in Sonoma County," relates Mrs. Friedrichsen. At this point she exclaimed, her bright blue eyes flashing with excitement, "That was our most thrilling Christmas! On Christmas Eve afternoon church members arrived at our home with a tree, boxes of ornaments and what seemed like hundred of packages . . . something for each of us. I thought they would never empty their cars. Dresses, all new, more than I had ever possessed in my whole life, were given to me. I was a sixth grader at the time and just beginning to become clothes conscious." Asked if she missed her homeland and the answer was an emphatic, "No! Not at all. I was never homesick. However, my mother missed Germany for many years.

"Very vaguely I can remember only one German Christmas," she remarked. "My older brother and I walking through the snow for the annual church program on Christmas Eve. I was wearing a pastel pink dress with embroidery across the bodice . . ., my 'good' Sunday and holiday dress. When we returned home the tree was decorated and everyone anxiously awaited the Weihnachtsman (Christmas Man). Upon his arrival, before any gifts were handed out we each had to recite: 'Lieber guter Weihnachtsman schau mich nicht so boese an packe Deine. Rute ein, ich will auchymmer schoen artig sein.' (Dear good Christmas Man, don't look at me so mad. Put away your stick and I'll promise to be good.)"

IN CONTRAST, Delmar, also born of German parentage but in Petaluma, remembers an entirely happy childhood full of many contented and gay Christmas holidays. Each was spent at the ranch where he lives today.

"It was always the happiest time. We sang carols with relatives and friends all day long doing what work which had to be done, but not letting it interfere with holiday pleasures. Highlight of the entire day was the Christmas dinner," he said.

This handsome couple have blended so well their backgrounds and are earnest in passing their happy and joyous anticipation of this holiday on to their children. The only area of disagreement is when to begin the festivities . . . Hanne prefers the old German custom . . . the element of surprise on Christmas Eve. However, her husband likes to cut the tree and display the household decorations as soon after Thanksgiving as feasible. "All the more time to enjoy what they represent," he says with a broad smile.

Following a traditional candle light service at their church on Christmas Eve the family visits her parents, Mr. and Mr.. Wilhelm Kehr, who live in Cotati. All is ready for the Christmas Man or as Lynn, 5 and Debbi, 2, know him, Santa Claus. Mrs. Kehr and her mother, Mrs. Emily Kissman, bake especially for this particular evening's buffet dinner the popular stolen, Pfefferkuchen, and Pfeffernuesse.

THE EXCITEMENT of Christmas is reflected in the eyes of Lynn, left, as her mother, Hanne Friedrichsen, reads the Christmas story from the "Children's Bible," and explains the advent wreath to Debbi, 2. Christmas is a holiday that the Friedrichsens prepare for months in advance. After their big dinner, served in the afternoon, some 25 friends come by to visit and enjoy group singing and sampling Henne's special fruitcake baked from an old and treasured recipe.

OWNER OF 16,000 laying hens, Delmar Friedrichsen gets help from daughters Debbi, 2, left, and Lynn, 5, as he runs the egg collection cart through the chicken house. Such work doesn't stop even on holidays, as the Friedrichsens have a contract to supply 25 cases of eggs daily to a feed company. Their Christmas dinner will be replete with pork, garden potatoes and pumpkins from their own farm. "Our relatives and guests seem to enjoy helping us whenever they visit," Delmar says about the work through the holiday season.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Now Quiet Students Blamed By Editorial For Being Apathetic

DEAR HELEN:

Last year adults were beating their little pointy heads against boarded-up buildings and wondering what youth was coming to — all this thrashing and violence on campus and off.

Seems they were scared out of their skins by the long-haired dope fiends and anti-war freaks with their bombs and torches, etc.

Yesterday I read in our paper an editorial titled "Return to Apathy?" It took out after students because they "weren't interested" again. It likened them to the "Flop-eared Fifties" when nobody squeaked and the most excitement any college could expect was an over-stuffed telephone booth.

The writer said we didn't even take interest in the recent elections, and we seem to react with a general shrug when once-hot issues are mentioned. Then he wondered, "Have drugs caused this apathy?"

Ye Gods! Can't we do anything right? Maybe, just maybe, we've learned that violence only hurts our causes — as in the few shoutdowns and egg-throwings that happened during October political speeches. Maybe we figure we've won the war against war, what with Vietnamization and troop pull-outs (though I question that). So now we're working more quietly toward other goals, but we need time to re-group and get our breath.

Instead of accusing us of apathy, why don't adults recognize we're coming into the Sensible Seventies, and hand out a little credit? — ANOTHER STUDENT

DEAR STUDENT:

Given a chance to get their breath— they will . . . they will.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm in love with Ann. But Betty, Ann's best friend, fell in love with me. Ann and Betty are still good griends, but now Ann won't speak to me because she apparently blames me for Betty's misery. Believe me, Helen, I had nothing to do with it.

Betty is still trying hard to get me to the altar, and I'm trying to get Ann there, with no luck. When even your own girl won't help you keep the competition down, who will? — JEFF

DEAR JEFF:

If your girl is more loyal to her friend than she is to you, think twice about this marriage thing. — H.

CHRISTMAS

their immediate family which numbers 12 gather at the Friedrichsen home for dinner. Ham is the usual entree, accompanied with the fresh, garden grown vegetables, potatoes and pumpkins. After dinner, served early in the afternoon, they are usually visited by more than 25 friends, a custom Delmar and Hanne like, and she serves a special fruitcake, baked from an old recipe which she cherishes.

"Enjoying our friends, group singing and playing with my childrens' toys is how the day passes," Delmar said.

"Because this is lambing season it is not surprising for any holiday plans to be interrupted by a dash outside to check on a lamb who might have wandered off or to assist a ewe in birth of twins! One year it was so intensely cold we kept the babies inside all during Christmas. And this year we have triplets on hand!" Hanne explained. "And," interjects Lynn, "don't forget Liz!" — the family sheepdog who just had her second litter . . . all roly, poly pups quite content to miss anything but a meal.

One of young Lynn's most important contributions this year is the catchy limerick she just learned at the Two Rock School kindergarten she attends.

"I just took a lick of my peppermint stick and I thought it tasted yummy. It used to be on my Christmas tree, 'cept it tasted better in my tummy."

Christmas is an exciting event for the Friedrichsens and the enthusiasm generated by this couple has spread to the children. As I prepared to leave them Lynn could not contain herself any longer and whispered in my ear, "Guess what Daddy bought Mommy for Christmas — bib overalls!" Hanne is tall and svelte and should look smashing.

"HAVING MY family together," says Delmar solemnly, "is what brings me the most satisfaction during Christmas. Petaluma is my home, the ranch is our life style and we hope to establish new traditions and remember the old."

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Newlywed Joseph Guthries Spend Holidays At Stinson

By MOLLY MARIN

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Guthrie (Jean Crotty), who were married Sunday at Lagunitas Country Club in Ross, have rented a home at Seadrift for the holidays and are "honeymooning" with her children, Jim, Craig and Russell Crotty, and his sons and daughter, Joseph, Frank and Pamela.

The bride is the former Mrs. Harry V. Crotty. A graduate of California College of Arts and Crafts, she teaches jewelry at College of Marin. She made her own wedding ring, which is gold with rubies, sapphires and emerald in an unusual cut out design resembling a stained glass window but very durable, according to the bride.

Attending the couple during the brief ceremony were Dr. E. Muriel Bennett of Kentfield and Dr. Guthrie's son, Joseph. Also at the wedding and reception which followed at the country club were the bride's mother, Mrs. James E. Stewart of San Rafael, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Joseph A. Guthrie of Huntington, W. Va.

MR. AND Mrs. Roger Crevier will be spending Christmas with her mother Mrs. H.C. Boyer of Corte Madera. The former Sandra Boyer and her husband, an international banker with Chase Manhattan Bank in Paris, have two sons Justin, three, and Christopher, two.

They have lived in Paris for two years.

URSULA McCARTHY and six of her seven children will be sightseeing and spending Christmas in New York. She and her four youngest Brian, Sharon, Chris and Regina left San Rafael Tuesday to meet Paul and Rob McCarthy in New York. They came up from Orlando, Fla., where both are working on the new Disney World. All plan to go to midnight mass at St. Patrick's Cathedral on Christmas Eve after seeing the holiday show at Radio City Music Hall. They plan Christmas dinner at the Central Park apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Daley and ice skating in the park on Christmas Day.

The McCarthys will visit friends in Philadelphia and Washington, D.C., and Williamsburg, Va., before traveling on to Orlando, Fla., to preview the progress of Disney World.

Sean McCarthy, Urula's oldest son who is due home from Vietnam this spring, will, of course, miss the holiday. Ursula plans to return Jan. 4.

A RECEPTION honoring Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Anderson was held at his parents' home in San Anselmo Saturday. Theresa Sayles and Thomas were married May 25 in Hawaii while he was in the Navy stationed on the USS Oriskany. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Anderson and he is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School. He also attended the College of Marin and is the brother of Mrs. Pamela Galetti of Novato.

Theresa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sayles of St. Joseph, Mo. The couple will take a wedding trip to Missouri before making their home in Fairfax.

THE ROBERT Dinsmores of the Marin Country Club Estates entertained 75 guests from the Marin County and the Bay Area at a buffet dinner Friday night. Mr. Dinsmore greeted the guests at the door in a formal Korean outfit that he brought back from Korea. The costume of silk organza had a flowing floor length coat in ice blue, lavendar pants, pink shirt, royal purple vest and black toe slippers and hat.

MR. AND Mrs. James Prudden and their 11 month-old son, Joseph, are visiting Mr. Prudden's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Prudden in Loma Verde for three weeks. He is a geologist and mining engineer in the British Solomon Islands. While they are here, Joseph, who was born in Melbourne, Australia, will be christened at St. Francis Episcopal Church in Novato.

MR. AND MRS. John Pritchard are visiting their parents during the Christmas holiday and will return to Oklahoma where John will be stationed in the Air Force. John's parents live in Lucas Valley and Holly's parents live in Lafayette. John's grandparents Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Lindauer entertained at a cocktail party prior to going to the Marin Country Club for dinner Sunday night.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Now Quiet Students Blamed By Editorial For Being Apathetic

DEAR HELEN:

Last year adults were beating their little pointy heads against boarded-up buildings and wondering what youth was coming to — all this thrashing and violence on campus and off.

Seems they were scared out of their skins by the long-haired dope fiends and anti-war freaks with their bombs and torches, etc.

Yesterday I read in our paper an editorial titled "Return to Apathy?" It took out after students because they "weren't interested" again. It likened them to the "Flop-eared Fifties" when nobody squeaked and the most excitement any college could expect was an over-stuffed telephone booth.

The writer said we didn't even take interest in the recent elections, and we seem to react with a general shrug when once-hot issues are mentioned. Then he wondered, "Have drugs caused this apathy?"

Ye Gods! Can't we do anything right? Maybe, just maybe, we've learned that violence only hurts our causes — as in the few shoutdowns and egg-throwings that happened during October political speeches. Maybe we figure we've won the war against war, what with Vietnamization and troop pull-outs (though I question that). So now we're working more quietly toward other goals, but we need time to re-group and get our breath.

Instead of accusing us of apathy, why don't adults recognize we're coming into the Sensible Seventies, and hand out a little credit? — ANOTHER STUDENT

DEAR STUDENT:

Given a chance to get their breath— they will . . . they will.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm in love with Ann. But Betty, Ann's best friend, fell in love with me. Ann and Betty are still good griends, but now Ann won't speak to me because she apparently blames me for Betty's misery. Believe me, Helen, I had nothing to do with it.

Betty is still trying hard to get me to the altar, and I'm trying to get Ann there, with no luck. When even your own girl won't help you keep the competition down, who will? — JEFF

DEAR JEFF:

If your girl is more loyal to her friend than she is to you, think twice about this marriage thing. — H.

their immediate family which numbers 12 gather at the Friedrichsen home for dinner. Ham is the usual entree, accompanied with the fresh, garden grown vegetables, potatoes and pumpkins. After dinner, served early in the afternoon, they are usually visited by more than 25 friends, a custom Delmar and Hanne like, and she serves a special fruitcake, baked from an old recipe which she cherishes.

"Enjoying our friends, group singing and playing with my childrens' toys is how the day passes," Delmar said.

"Because this is lambing season it is not surprising for any holiday plans to be interrupted by a dash outside to check on a lamb who might have wandered off or to assist a ewe in birth of twins! One year it was so intensely cold we kept the babies inside all during Christmas. And this year we have triplets on hand!" Hanne explained. "And," interjects Lynn, "don't forget Liz!" — the family sheepdog who just had her second litter . . . all roly, poly pups quite content to miss anything but a meal.

One of young Lynn's most important contributions this year is the catchy limerick she just learned at the Two Rock School kindergarten she attends.

"I just took a lick of my peppermint stick and I thought it tasted yummy. It used to be on my Christmas tree, 'cept it tasted better in my tummy."

Christmas is an exciting event for the Friedrichsens and the enthusiasm generated by this couple has spread to the children. As I prepared to leave them Lynn could not contain herself any longer and whispered in my ear, "Guess what Daddy bought Mommy for Christmas — bib overalls!" Hanne is tall and svelte and should look smashing.

"HAVING MY family together," says Delmar solemnly, "is what brings me the most satisfaction during Christmas. Petaluma is my home, the ranch is our life style and we hope to establish new traditions and remember the old."

Newlywed Joseph Guthries Spend Holidays At Stinson

By MOLLY MARIN

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Guthrie (Jean Crotty), who were married Sunday at Lagunitas Country Club in Ross, have rented a home at Seadrift for the holidays. and are "honeymooning" with her children, Jim, Craig and Russell Crotty, and his sons and daughter, Joseph, Frank and Pamela.

The bride is the former Mrs. Harry V. Crotty. A graduate of California College of Arts and Crafts, she teaches jewelry at College of Marin. She made her own wedding ring, which is gold with rubies, sapphires and emerald in an unusual cut out design resembling a stained glass window but very durable, according to the bride.

Attending the couple during the brief ceremony were Dr. E. Muriel Bennett of Kentfield and Dr. Guthrie's son, Joseph. Also at the wedding and reception which followed at the country club were the bride's mother, Mrs. James E. Stewart of San Rafael, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Joseph A. Guthrie of Huntington, W. Va.

MR. AND Mrs. Roger Crevier will be spending Christmas with her mother Mrs. H.C. Boyer of Corte Madera. The former Sandra Boyer and her husband, an international banker with Chase Manhattan Bank in Paris, have two sons Justin, three, and Christopher, two.

They have lived in Paris for two years.

URSULA McCARTHY and six of her seven children will be sightseeing and spending Christmas in New York. She and her four youngest Brian, Sharon, Chris and Regina left San Rafael Tuesday to meet Paul and Rob McCarthy in New York. They came up from Orlando, Fla., where both are working on the new Disney World. All plan to go to midnight mass at St. Patrick's Cathedral on Christmas Eve after seeing the holiday show at Radio City Music Hall. They plan Christmas dinner at the Central Park apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Daley and ice skating in the park on Christmas Day.

The McCarthys will visit friends in Philadelphia and Washington, D.C., and Williamsburg, Va., before traveling on to Orlando, Fla., to preview the progress of Disney World.

Sean McCarthy, Urula's oldest son who is due home from Vietnam this spring, will, of course, miss the holiday. Ursula plans to return Jan. 4.

A RECEPTION honoring Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Anderson was held at his parents' home in San Anselmo Saturday. Theresa Sayles and Thomas were married May 25 in Hawaii while he was in the Navy stationed on the USS Oriskany. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Anderson and he is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School. He also attended the College of Marin and is the brother of Mrs. Pamela Galetti of Novato.

Theresa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sayles of St. Joseph, Mo. The couple will take a wedding trip to Missouri before making their home in Fairfax.

THE ROBERT Dinsmores of the Marin Country Club Estates entertained 75 guests from the Marin County and the Bay Area at a buffet dinner Friday night. Mr. Dinsmore greeted the guests at the door in a formal Korean outfit that he brought back from Korea. The costume of silk organza had a flowing floor length coat in ice blue, lavendar pants, pink shirt, royal purple vest and black toe slippers and hat.

MR. AND Mrs. James Prudden and their 11 month-old son, Joseph, are visiting Mr. Prudden's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Prudden in Loma Verde for three weeks. He is a geologist and mining engineer in the British Solomon Islands. While they are here, Joseph, who was born in Melbourne, Australia, will be christened at St. Francis Episcopal Church in Novato.

MR. AND MRS. John Pritchard are visiting their parents during the Christmas holiday and will return to Oklahoma where John will be stationed in the Air Force. John's parents live in Lucas Valley and Holly's parents live in Lafayette. John's grandparents Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Lindauer entertained at a cocktail party prior to going to the Marin Country Club for dinner Sunday night.

MENORAH MAKERS

Day campers at the Marin Jewish Community Center, from left, Craig Levin, Judy Kimmelman, Lori Hoffmann, counselor; Paul Kimmelman, Gary Cole and Debbie Kotz, make menorahs of their own design out of potters clay to use as candle holders during the eight-day Jewish holiday of Chanukah. On the first night (the 25th day of the Hebrew month of Kislev, which this year coincided with Dec. 22) one candle is lighted in the menorah, two the second and on until the eighth night when all are lighted, commemorating the rededication of the Temple of Jerusalem defiled by Antiochus of Syria more than 2,100 years ago.

Women Gain In Capitol

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Be it liberation or whatever, women are invading some male sanctuaries in the nation's capital.

Items:

— Paulette Desell, 16, of suburban Alexandria, Va., has been selected by Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) to be the first girl page in the history of the Senate.

— At the White House, there now are four policewomen and five female military social aides.

In a spirit of solidarity, the policemen have welcomed females to the ranks because as one of them observed, "they can help the first family in ways that we can't."

THE MALE military presidential aides, who are required to be bachelors, also are saying that the young women in uniform have added a touch of charm to the White House parties where they stand and serve the President and the First Lady.

Mrs. Nixon also seems to particularly enjoy having the female social aides in uniform at her afternoon teas and receptions, helping to steer the hundreds of guests in the right direction.

N.Y. Taxpayer's Check Returned

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—State Comptroller Arthur Levitt has returned a $140 check to an upstate taxpayer concerned about the state's reported $100,000,000 budget deficit.

Levitt said Wednesday while he appreciated the intent of Robert P. Einsel of Syracuse, no word on the exact size of the deficit will be available until spring.

Therefore, Levitt announced the check was being returned with instructions to enjoy the holiday season but be prepared to do his part next year to make up whatever deficit exists in the state's $7.1 billion budget.

MENORAH MAKERS

Day campers at the Marin Jewish Community Center, from left, Craig Levin, Judy Kimmelman, Lori Hoffmann, counselor; Paul Kimmelman, Gary Cole and Debbie Kotz, make menorahs of their own design out of potters clay to use as candle holders during the eight-day Jewish holiday of Chanukah. On the first night (the 25th day of the Hebrew month of Kislev, which this year coincided with Dec. 22) one candle is lighted in the menorah, two the second and on until the eighth night when all are lighted, commemorating the rededication of the Temple of Jerusalem defiled by Antiochus of Syria more than 2,100 years ago.

Women Gain In Capitol

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Be it liberation or whatever, women are invading some male sanctuaries in the nation's capital.

Items:

— Paulette Desell, 16, of suburban Alexandria, Va., has been selected by Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) to be the first girl page in the history of the Senate.

— At the White House, there now are four policewomen and five female military social aides.

In a spirit of solidarity, the policemen have welcomed females to the ranks because as one of them observed, "they can help the first family in ways that we can't."

THE MALE military presidential aides, who are required to be bachelors, also are saying that the young women in uniform have added a touch of charm to the White House parties where they stand and serve the President and the First Lady.

Mrs. Nixon also seems to particularly enjoy having the female social aides in uniform at her afternoon teas and receptions, helping to steer the hundreds of guests in the right direction.

N.Y. Taxpayer's Check Returned

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—State Comptroller Arthur Levitt has returned a $140 check to an upstate taxpayer concerned about the state's reported $100,000,000 budget deficit.

Levitt said Wednesday while he appreciated the intent of Robert P. Einsel of Syracuse, no word on the exact size of the deficit will be available until spring.

Therefore, Levitt announced the check was being returned with instructions to enjoy the holiday season but be prepared to do his part next year to make up whatever deficit exists in the state's $7.1 billion budget.

Mexico's Labor Czar In Power Struggle

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Mexican labor czar Fidel Velazquez and a small electrical workers union with undisguised Marxist leanings appear to be heading for a clash in which Velazquez' 30-year reign may be at stake.

The Union of Mexican Electrical Workers (STERM), which has about 2,000 rank and file members, has launched an all-out attack against Velazquez, who was acclaimed "leader for life" of the Confederation of Mexican Workers (CTM) in 1966.

The STER began to critize Velazquez and the leadership of Mexico's labor movement last January in the pages of its official publication, "Solidarity."

"Solidarity" often includes texts and studies of Marx and Lenin and its editorials dwell on the concept of the "class struggle" and "the enemies of our class". Well-known Mexican leftists contribute articles.

It was only in recent weeks however, that Velazquez ordered a counter-attack. Within days 12 CTM unions had "broken relations" with the STERM, one of three unions representing electrical workers.

Prominent labor leaders called the STERM's attacks "divisionist" and said they "undermined the unity of the Mexican labor movement." Some inferred that the STERM's secretary general Rafael Galvan, a former senator, was personally ambitious.

The CTM convoked a special session of its labor congress Nov. 27 in Mexico City to analyze and decide what to do about the rebellious STERM.

In an interview, Galvan spoke of "democratizing" the labor movement, called the condition of Mexican workers "every day more deplorable", and added that the main reason workers don't rebel is because they "know their leaders would side with their employers".

But Velazquez and his "Mafia" were Galvan's real targets. "Velazquez subordinates the interests of the workers to the political convenience of the leaders," Galvan contended.

If the national stability has to rest on a labor movement controlled by Fidel Velazquez "we had better get ready for the funeral dirge of that stability," he said. Velazquez has been credited for Mexico's remarkable labor stability.

Asked about Galvan's affirmation that his days were numbered, Velazquez retorted: "We are the leaders of the workers and when they withdraw their support we will leave, but while we have that support, here we stay."

For Galvan, a veteran of Mexico's labor movement and leader of the STERM since 1960, it was not his first power struggle. He was accused by Michoacan state Gov. Augustin Arriaga in 1966 of helping instigate student disorders in the capital of Morelia.

Galvan, who was then senator from Michoacan, survived the accusation and finished out his term. Arriaga hasn't been heard from since he was replaced as governor.

The STERM was founded in San Luis Potosi in 1960 and includes among its members employes of the federal electricity commission (CFE). The union recently concluded a widely-praised new work contract with the CFE.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Parent's Magazine unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"Aristocats" — Very clever, delightful musical animated feature in the best Disney tradition about a high society cat who inherits a fortune and the villainous butler and his plans.

"Boy Named Charlie Brown" — Delightful story of Peanuts, the comic strip character enhanced by outstanding music and unusual creative animation.

"Cockeyed Cowboys of Calico County" — Amusing comedy about a "mail-order-bride" who fails to arrive and the clever hoax devised by the cowboys to make a happy ending.

"Scrooge" — Modern musical interpretation of Dicken's "A Christmas Carol". Even sophisticated viewers who know the story backwards will find this sumptuous British production in bright new wrappings with inspired talent and wit, clever songs and dance numbers a delight.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Dirty Dingus Magee" — Satirical bawdy western about a bad man who steals money from an old friend. His capture, escapes and double-double crosses along the way is the sum total of the plot. (Boxoffice Magazine).

"Kelly's Heroes" — A preposterous World War II satirical melodrama about a group of misfits who follow their leader in a theft of $16 million in gold bullion from the Germans.

"Monte Walsh" — That time in history when Eastern progress came rolling over the old West. Work for the cowboy disappears and hungry men turn to violence. It is a serio-comic study of two cowboys in this situation.

"Patton" — Excellent characterization by George C. Scott who portrays an indomitable spirit that could achieve its destiny onlyin wartime. A strong film makes use of violence and frequent profanity.

"Tell Me That You Love Me Junie Moon" — Three people with crippling defects meet as patients in a hospital and decide to share a house when released and attempt to adjust to the world. Well acted.

"Rio Lobo" — Atypical John Wayne vehicle, the story of an ex-Union Colonel out to uncover men under him who informed of Union activities to Rebel soldiers, causing several of his troops to be killed. Plenty of beatem-up, shoot-em down violence. (Motion Picture Daily).

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Catch 22" — Unusually biting antiwar film that graphically depicts the immorality and unreason war breeds. Grotesque details, bizarre, morbid and gruesome sequences show, in a series of flashback and flashforwards that adds to the confusion.

"Little Fauss and Big Halsy" — Contemporary motorcycle drama. Fast pace covers shallow content. Lots of nude girls, a Johnny Cash soundtrack and a predictable ending.

"Love Is A Funny Thing" — Very well done, sophisticated tale of a French actress and a musician, who fall in love, while away from their respective mates and families, during the making of a motion picture in America. English subtitles.

"There's A Girl In My Soup" — A kooky young girl moves in on a sophisticated gourmet columnist and disrupts his life.

ADULTS ONLY

"Diary Of A Mad Housewife" — Acidly funny look at the disintegration of a modern marriage. Good comedy with sex and dialogue very frank.

"Five Easy Pieces" — A compassionate and uncompromising story of a man's restless search for roots with no resolution. Acting, direction and photography very good. Explicit sex and frank dialogue.

"Tristana" — A study of corrupted innocence. The cynical development of a 16-year-old orphan who becomes the mistress of the man who pretends to be her protector. English subtitles.

Christmas Card Deal Draws Ire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission accused four firms today of illegally inducing children to sell their Christmas cards.

The FTC said the firms advertised extensively in children's magazines, sent unordered shipments of cards to many children, demanded payment for them and threatened to sue youths who did not pay.

The FTC complaint cited Sunshine Art Studios, Inc.; Junior Sales Club of America, Inc.; Sales Leadership Club, Inc.; and Trans-American Collection Agency, Inc., all located in Springfield, Mass. It also cited Ryland E. Robbins, whom it identified as an officer of all four firms.

Rivers Better

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S. C., showing "significant improvement" in his recovery from heart surgery, was "comfortable" today after a peaceful night in the intensive care unit of University of Alabama hospital.

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Mexican labor czar Fidel Velazquez and a small electrical workers union with undisguised Marxist leanings appear to be heading for a clash in which Velazquez' 30-year reign may be at stake.

The Union of Mexican Electrical Workers (STERM), which has about 2,000 rank and file members, has launched an all-out attack against Velazquez, who was acclaimed "leader for life" of the Confederation of Mexican Workers (CTM) in 1966.

The STER began to critize Velazquez and the leadership of Mexico's labor movement last January in the pages of its official publication, "Solidarity."

"Solidarity" often includes texts and studies of Marx and Lenin and its editorials dwell on the concept of the "class struggle" and "the enemies of our class". Well-known Mexican leftists contribute articles.

It was only in recent weeks however, that Velazquez ordered a counter-attack. Within days 12 CTM unions had "broken relations" with the STERM, one of three unions representing electrical workers.

Prominent labor leaders called the STERM's attacks "divisionist" and said they "undermined the unity of the Mexican labor movement." Some inferred that the STERM's secretary general Rafael Galvan, a former senator, was personally ambitious.

The CTM convoked a special session of its labor congress Nov. 27 in Mexico City to analyze and decide what to do about the rebellious STERM.

In an interview, Galvan spoke of "democratizing" the labor movement, called the condition of Mexican workers "every day more deplorable", and added that the main reason workers don't rebel is because they "know their leaders would side with their employers".

But Velazquez and his "Mafia" were Galvan's real targets. "Velazquez subordinates the interests of the workers to the political convenience of the leaders," Galvan contended.

If the national stability has to rest on a labor movement controlled by Fidel Velazquez "we had better get ready for the funeral dirge of that stability," he said. Velazquez has been credited for Mexico's remarkable labor stability.

Asked about Galvan's affirmation that his days were numbered, Velazquez retorted: "We are the leaders of the workers and when they withdraw their support we will leave, but while we have that support, here we stay."

For Galvan, a veteran of Mexico's labor movement and leader of the STERM since 1960, it was not his first power struggle. He was accused by Michoacan state Gov. Augustin Arriaga in 1966 of helping instigate student disorders in the capital of Morelia.

Galvan, who was then senator from Michoacan, survived the accusation and finished out his term. Arriaga hasn't been heard from since he was replaced as governor.

The STERM was founded in San Luis Potosi in 1960 and includes among its members employes of the federal electricity commission (CFE). The union recently concluded a widely-praised new work contract with the CFE.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Parent's Magazine unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"Aristocats" — Very clever, delightful musical animated feature in the best Disney tradition about a high society cat who inherits a fortune and the villainous butler and his plans.

"Boy Named Charlie Brown" — Delightful story of Peanuts, the comic strip character enhanced by outstanding music and unusual creative animation.

"Cockeyed Cowboys of Calico County" — Amusing comedy about a "mail-order-bride" who fails to arrive and the clever hoax devised by the cowboys to make a happy ending.

"Scrooge" — Modern musical interpretation of Dicken's "A Christmas Carol". Even sophisticated viewers who know the story backwards will find this sumptuous British production in bright new wrappings with inspired talent and wit, clever songs and dance numbers a delight.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Dirty Dingus Magee" — Satirical bawdy western about a bad man who steals money from an old friend. His capture, escapes and double-double crosses along the way is the sum total of the plot. (Boxoffice Magazine).

"Kelly's Heroes" — A preposterous World War II satirical melodrama about a group of misfits who follow their leader in a theft of $16 million in gold bullion from the Germans.

"Monte Walsh" — That time in history when Eastern progress came rolling over the old West. Work for the cowboy disappears and hungry men turn to violence. It is a serio-comic study of two cowboys in this situation.

"Patton" — Excellent characterization by George C. Scott who portrays an indomitable spirit that could achieve its destiny onlyin wartime. A strong film makes use of violence and frequent profanity.

"Tell Me That You Love Me Junie Moon" — Three people with crippling defects meet as patients in a hospital and decide to share a house when released and attempt to adjust to the world. Well acted.

"Rio Lobo" — Atypical John Wayne vehicle, the story of an ex-Union Colonel out to uncover men under him who informed of Union activities to Rebel soldiers, causing several of his troops to be killed. Plenty of beatem-up, shoot-em down violence. (Motion Picture Daily).

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Catch 22" — Unusually biting antiwar film that graphically depicts the immorality and unreason war breeds. Grotesque details, bizarre, morbid and gruesome sequences show, in a series of flashback and flashforwards that adds to the confusion.

"Little Fauss and Big Halsy" — Contemporary motorcycle drama. Fast pace covers shallow content. Lots of nude girls, a Johnny Cash soundtrack and a predictable ending.

"Love Is A Funny Thing" — Very well done, sophisticated tale of a French actress and a musician, who fall in love, while away from their respective mates and families, during the making of a motion picture in America. English subtitles.

"There's A Girl In My Soup" — A kooky young girl moves in on a sophisticated gourmet columnist and disrupts his life.

ADULTS ONLY

"Diary Of A Mad Housewife" — Acidly funny look at the disintegration of a modern marriage. Good comedy with sex and dialogue very frank.

"Five Easy Pieces" — A compassionate and uncompromising story of a man's restless search for roots with no resolution. Acting, direction and photography very good. Explicit sex and frank dialogue.

"Tristana" — A study of corrupted innocence. The cynical development of a 16-year-old orphan who becomes the mistress of the man who pretends to be her protector. English subtitles.

Christmas Card Deal Draws Ire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission accused four firms today of illegally inducing children to sell their Christmas cards.

The FTC said the firms advertised extensively in children's magazines, sent unordered shipments of cards to many children, demanded payment for them and threatened to sue youths who did not pay.

The FTC complaint cited Sunshine Art Studios, Inc.; Junior Sales Club of America, Inc.; Sales Leadership Club, Inc.; and Trans-American Collection Agency, Inc., all located in Springfield, Mass. It also cited Ryland E. Robbins, whom it identified as an officer of all four firms.

Rivers Better

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S. C., showing "significant improvement" in his recovery from heart surgery, was "comfortable" today after a peaceful night in the intensive care unit of University of Alabama hospital.

Riles Recipe For Better Teaching

WILSON C. RILES
Teacher changes

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

SACRAMENTO — California's superintendent of public instruction-elect believes the tenure law should be amended to make the first three years of a teacher's employment an actual probationary period.

That is one of the first things needed to put the doctrine of accountability into the state's public schools, Supt.-elect Wilson C. Riles said today.

"I believe the probationary period should be a real probationary period," Riles said. "A person should not be assumed to be a perfect teacher just because he has been graduated in education."

Under existing California law, dismissal of probationary teachers is so hedged with legal requirements that it often necessitates court action, which may drag on for years.

The new education graduate should not be "put cold" into a roomful of children and told, "Here you are — teach them," Riles believes.

"Some arrangements should be made for the probationary period to be served under a master teacher, or under close supervision — an apprenticeship period," he said in an interview at the temporary office he will occupy until becoming state superintendent on Jan. 4. "If, after a reasonable length of time, he can't cut it, he should be released. We must not freeze into the system those who are not cut out to be teachers."

Riles said he believed such an approach could mean greater security for qualified teachers, and better teaching for the children.

He emphasized that tenure revision is but part of the recipe for improving teaching. Also needed, he said, is improved teacher training, "with greater opportunity to serve as a teacher's aide or teaching assistant early during college education" — such an approach as is included in Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan's teacher licensing law, which was enacted by the Legislature this year to become effective in 1973. It is unfair to the teacher trainee and to the children when student teaching experience comes too late in the college career for the trainee to change his mind if he finds he does not like classroom teaching, Riles held.

Riles hopes to present his own legislative proposals jointly with the state Board of Education. He does not plan to seek many changes in the law this year.

"Sometime in January we will put forth some priorities as we see them," he said. "I'm going to try to get the board of education to agree on bills so we can support them together."

Some of his proposals will seek ways to put his doctrine of accountability to work, he indicated. He described this doctrine as being in two parts:

"First, we ought to get together on what our schools are expected to do, at the local level — just what is expected in student performance, both in behavior and subject matter. I don't mean day by day; but at least by the end of the third year of school, the pupils should be able to read, to compute, to perform at certain levels.

"Second, once we have set the goals, teachers and administrators should work out what is needed to meet the objectives.

"Then the teacher will be free to teach as he sees fit, knowing what results he is expected to get.

"Occasionally, you have a weak person. You try to rescue them. If you can't do that, you have to get rid of them.

"We can't afford to keep dead wood on the staff. It's not fair to the children."

Uranium Cost Plan 'Excessive'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., said Wednesday that a proposed increase in the cost of enriching uranium for use in nuclear powerplants is "excessive."

Holifield, chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, said the panel probably would hold hearings early next year on the Atomic Energy Commission proposal to increase the price to $32 per unit.

"Frankly, I think this is excessive," Holifield said. "I wonder if those who pressed for this increase met with the people in the administration responsible for controlling inflation."

Holifield noted that the new price increase would follow one announced in August. The earlier increase, not yet in effect, would raise the enrichment cost from $26 to $28.70 per kilogram unit.

In addition to enriching uranium for use in nuclear power plants, the AEC also provides enriched uranium for weapons and research reactors. Under a recent law, the AEC is supposed to charge prices that will recover the government's cost of providing the service.

The cost increase was approved by the AEC on Dec. 14, with Commissioner James T. Ramey dissenting. Ramey said prices for enrichment services should not be changed more than once a year to make it easier for electric utilities to plan their operations.

Crovello's Global Outlook

LONDON (UPI) William Crovello is one of the serious American artists who are quietly enhancing the reputation of the United States as the cultural birthplace of creative people with an international outlook.

He was born in New York City, studied in the United States and in Japan, lives in Madrid and exhibits in several cities. His most recent exhibition was at the Grosvenor Galleries here where his nonobjective sculptures and paintings drew much interest.

The first sale was to another important gallery which paid $750 for a black marble disc described as a study for a sun dial.

After the celebrities and critics who attended the opening night reception had departed Crovello explained that Japanese calligraphy was an important influence on his work. He joined the U.S. Air Force in 1952 and after his demobilization in 1956 he spent a year studying Japanese at Columbia.

"For the next four years I lived in Japan", he said, "painting, teaching and studying classical calligraphy with Taiun Yanagida. Calligraphy is a way of thinking about space and lines. At first the eye is drawn to the line, then it sees that it encloses space.

"Although my way of visualizing space and construction is founded on calligraphy, I don't want to do calligraphy. But it gives my work a different twist than it would get from strictly Western sources."

Hospital Plans Up In Petaluma

Plans for a 200-bed hospital and medical center in East Petaluma will be presented next month to the Petaluma Planning Commission.

Young America Homes Inc. plans to seek the rezoning of 37 acres behind McDowell school from single family residential to profession-medical zoning to provide the hospital.

The multimillion dollar complex is being planned in cooperation with Quantas Development Co., according to city officials. The rezoning request is expected to be heard by the commission on Jan. 5.

Petaluma Planning Director William C. McGivern said that only the rezoning request and a very rough set of plans have been submitted to his office. He said the planning commission would probably schedule a public hearing when full plans are submitted.

Joseph Horner, Hillcrest Hospital administrator, said he hoped a rezoning decision would be delayed until full details are made known and the total health care picture clarified.

Marinero Unit Gets Approval

Plans for a 23-unit apartment development on Tiburon's Marinero Circle, tabled Nov. 18 because the city's design review board could not justify the requested density increase, won approval last night.

Planning Director Wayne E. Moody said the applicant, Kurt Heath, submitted new drawings showing that views from uphill apartments would not be blocked and that the apartments would blend in with the hillside and other nearby structures.

Because of these factors, Moody said, the board granted Heath 23 units where the city's zoning ordinance permitted 20 units on the 1.5-acre parcel.

The Tiburon Design Review board also:

ECOLOGY — Approved a sign for the Tiburon Ecology Committee's recycling depot at Mar West Street and Paradise Drive. The depot will open Jan. 9.

HOMES — Approved two single-family homes to be built on Sugarloaf Drive.

DUPLEXES — Praised the design of two duplexes planned for 2310 and 2312 Mar East Street, but told applicant Raymond Handley to apply for a variance for sideyard setback requirements. The board will reconsider the plans Jan. 19.

Marinwood Fire Chief, Fireman Granted Raises

The Marinwood Community Services District board has granted Fire Chief Gaylord E. Bonfield a 5 per cent pay increase to $1,138 a month.

Directors also granted fireman Kenneth Fowlers a 5 per cent step increase to $828 a month at their Tuesday night meeting, reported Genevieve T. Bolding, district business manager.

Directors reappointed Boyd F. Wells, Kenneth Katz and alternate member Kirk Beales to the Marinwood Fire Commission.

There is an opening on the commission since Commissioner Dale Schmid didn't wish to be reappointed, Mrs. Bolding said.

Ralph E. Tischbern and Leland Spencer were reappointed to the Marinwood Park and Recreation Commission, but Henry Rugua wasn't reappointed, leaving one opening on the commission.

The Marinwood Community Services District board also:

EQUIPMENT — Approved purchase of equipment for the fire department at a cost of $850, and a swing set for Las Gallinas playground at $300.

STREET LIGHT — Denied a request for an additional street light at Mulberry and Kernberry drives.

RETIREMENT — Approved a study on the costs of utilizing the state retirement system, and scheduled a discussion at its February meeting on the Marin County and state retirements systems.

SPENDING — Amended the purchasing procedure to allow the fire and parks and recreation commissions to spend up to $200 an item, with a maximum of $400 a month, double the previous limits.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned until 8 p.m. Jan. 26 at the community center.

CARPETING — Agreed to check into the possibility of carpeting the community center lobby, office and women's lounge, with the cost estimated between $400 and $700.

Hospital Plans Up In Petaluma

Plans for a 200-bed hospital and medical center in East Petaluma will be presented next month to the Petaluma Planning Commission.

Young America Homes Inc. plans to seek the rezoning of 37 acres behind McDowell school from single family residential to profession-medical zoning to provide the hospital.

The multimillion dollar complex is being planned in cooperation with Quantas Development Co., according to city officials. The rezoning request is expected to be heard by the commission on Jan. 5.

Petaluma Planning Director William C. McGivern said that only the rezoning request and a very rough set of plans have been submitted to his office. He said the planning commission would probably schedule a public hearing when full plans are submitted.

Joseph Horner, Hillcrest Hospital administrator, said he hoped a rezoning decision would be delayed until full details are made known and the total health care picture clarified.

He said the health facilities planning commission has gone on record as supporting the concept of one large hospital facility in Petaluma, rather than several. On that basis, Hillcrest Hospital expansion plans were approved and money is presently being sought from the Hill-Burton Act funds.

Horner said that recent studies have shown that Petaluma needs no additional hospital facilities, except to replace the aging Petaluma General Hospital.

WAITING FOR ANGELA

Watched by sheriff's deputies, newsmen wait outside a Marin Superior Courtroom in a roped-off area reserved for members of the press. They were on hand yesterday to witness a court appearance by Angela Y. Davis, charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy stemming from the Aug. 7 shoot-out at the Civic Center which left Judge Harold J. Haley and three others dead. The stringent security measures included two body searches and use of a metal detector.

Friends Petition President For Total Vietnam Pullout

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — An outline for peace in Southeast Asia presented President Richard M. Nixon today calls for complete American withdrawal of men, money and supplies from the war during 1971.

Drafted by the American Friends Service Committee, the report maintains that peace will prevail in South Vietnam only when the United States has disengaged and when President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky have stepped down from office in Saigon.

The report, outlined today for newsmen by Philip Drath of San Rafael at the committee enter in San Francisco, claims that elections now projected for fall 1971 in South Vietnam would be "controlled by the Thieu-Ky regime" in the presence of a massive U.S. military force.

Drath, a Marin County contractor and one-time candidate for Congress, took part in the 1967 Phoenix voyage to deliver medical supplies to North Vietnam.

The 27-page Quaker document entitled "Indochina 1971" charges that the American government has both obscured and distorted the truth in order to "elicit public support for the war." It states Senate committees have disclosed that "our country's allies are hired, its official humanitarian agencies are fronts for clandestine military aggressions, and its statistics are calculated untruths."

The report says Filipino, Thai, and Korean troops, "widely hailed as a symbol of voluntary support . . ., " have been from the start secretly and expensively financed by the United States.

The report, divided into sections dealing with various aspects of the war, concentrates heavily on statistics: 50,000 American lives and $125 billion lost, U.S. armed forces have killed more civilians every six months that the other side has in 15 years, and since the U.S. invasion of Cambodia, approximately 1.5 million people have become refugees.

In South Vietnam, which the committee says is "the most militarized country in the world," one of every nine people is in the army, 75 per cent of the country's gross national product stems from war-related service industries with more than 70 per cent of the country's budget going to the military.

The report also charges that the Nixon Administration has exploited American fears of a bloodbath in Vietnam with the departure of U.S. troops and charges of cruel treatment of U.S. military men held captive for political purposes.

The implication of the Nixon policy, it says, is "let Asians fight Asians."

"On January 15, 1969," the report continues, "former Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford told Congress that 'an Asian soldier costs about 1/15 as much as his American counterpart.' This may appear to some to be good economics but it reflects the moral bankruptcy of present policy."

It concludes that Nixon's "persistent support for Thieu and Ky and his refusal to establish a timetable for complete U.S. withdrawal" makes continuation of the war inevitable.

Peace in Vietnam, it says, cannot be achieved by a decisive military defeat by one side or the other. If peace is to come to Vietnam — "esential for peace elsewhere in Indochina" — it will have to be a negotiated political settlement among the Vietnamese, the report says.

In addition to calling on the president to set a timetable for complete withdrawal, the reports asks Americans to "extricate ourselves from our involvement in this war. Regardless of how and when the government withdraws, let us each withdraw now as we are able."

Committee members and supporters were expected today to stand outside the White House in a silent vigil protesting the administration's policy in Indochina. They plan to maintain their watch until after midnight.

Maheu Firing May Get Appeal

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Robert A. Maheu, whose ouster as head of Howard Hughes' Nevada empire was upheld in court, will decide whether to appeal the firing "immediately following the Christmas holiday."

Maheu's attorney, Morton Galane, said Wednesday, "we have been in continual conference" since the ruling last Saturday.

"I have recommended further intensive study of all phases of litigation," Galane said. "Mr. Maheu will decide upon a firm course of action immediately following the Christmas holiday."

Maheu's firing by Hughes Tool Co. executives, based on a proxy signed by Hughes, was upheld by Judge Howard Babcock after a bitter, nine-day court fight.

Viet War Vet Asks Support With Lights

A Vietnam War veteran has called for Marin residents to leave their outdoor Christmas lights lit through next month in a show of support for the "men in Vietnam and the President's policy."

Chad Reichman of 29 Medway Road, San Anselmo, said the lights would be a "visual expression of the feeling" of support for the troops with hope they return as soon as possible.

The lights of Marin could be the first thing seen by servicemen returning from Vietnam as they headed for a landing at Travis Air Force Base, Reichman said.

Servicemen heading for Vietnam would see them as a show of support "to carry on," he said.

Reichman recalled that when he returned to Marin for Christmas leave in 1968, he "Felt no support" on the home front.

The idea to have Christmas lights remain on for another month occurred to him several days ago when he realized the warmth of feeling they generate.

Christmas season is the "peace season," he said.

"Why just one season tor peace? Why shouldn't it be extended, starting now?"

Reichman said he had an estimate from Pacific Gas and Electric Co. that the cost of leaving outdoor Christmas lights on for another 30 days would be less than $5 for the average display.

Dismissal Plea Under Submission

A Marin Superior Court judge has taken under submission a motion asking that charges against three men arrested in connection with a $350,000 drug raid in January 1969 be dismissed because the district attorney's office failed to prosecute the case within a reasonable time.

A fourth person arrested in the raid was Robert Franklin Black, 29, of Forest Knolls, who was sentenced Saturday in Greece to 10 years in prison for smuggling hashish.

Black's attorney, did not join in the motion, heard by Judge Joseph G. Wilson. A bench warrant is out for Black in the Marin Case.

Seeking dismissal of the charges are Richard Conrad Pace, 24, owner of the Resh Gallery in Tamalpais Valley where the raid took place; Richard Raymond Argento, 22, and Frederick Martin Engelhardt, 29. Another man, Charles Noel Hess, 27, was dismissed from the case earlier when it was ruled that there was not enough evidence to hold him for trial.

The district attorney's office said the long delay was due to a lack of being notified of a higher court decision on an appeal surrounding quashing of evidence in the case.

Sing Sing prison in New York was built by convicts in 1826.

Probation, Damages Fine For Beating

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A 39-year-old San Francisco man, who pleaded guilty earlier this month in superior court to beating a cocktail waitress from Mill Valley, was placed on three year's probation yesterday.

Lloyd J. Hartman, arrested in July after clubbing Patty Nolan, 32, with a tire iron during an early morning fracas outside a San Francisco bar, also was ordered by Judge Walter J. Calcagno to pay $1,000 restitution for damages and a $250 fine.

Hartman was told by Judge Calcagno the assault with a deadly weapon charge would be reduced to a misdemeanor upon satisfactory completion of the probation.

Police reported Hartman had been ejected from the bar but apparently waited outside until Miss Nolan, of 31 Millay Place, left shortly after 2 a.m.

Bandits Flee Food Store Empty

Two young men wearing stocking masks held a Petaluma grocer at gunpoint Tuesday, but left empty-handed.

Petaluma police said today that two men in their late teens entered Starns Grocery Store, 501 Petaluma Boulevard South, at 2:23 p.m. and pointed a .22 caliber revolver at owner M.R. Starns.

Starns told police he thought it was a joke until one of the men ordered, "open the cash register and stand away." Instead, Starns pressed a buzzer connected to his son's home next door.

Believing the device had alerted police, the men fled in a 1962 Chevrolet. Sgt. William Reed said a car matching that description later was found abandoned on Bantam Way and may have been stolen earlier in the day.

Health Directors Boost Mental Center's Rates

Rate increases of between $3.50 and $24 per day for partial care and 24-hour private patients at the Marin Community Mental Health Center have been approved by the Marin Hospital District board.

The increases, based on the amount of time patients spend at the center, were requested by the county, Jules Becker, hospital publicist, said.

Under a contract signed two years ago between the county and hospital district, the county agreed to pay the cost of treating county-referred patients and to make up any financial deficit incurred by the center.

At that time, Becker said, a $70 daily rate for 24-hour patients was established to cover private patient care.

The approved increase will hike that figure to $94 per day, Becker explained, adding the hike is needed to meet increased costs.

Other rate changes, he said, include an increase from $40 to $54 per day for eight-hour overnight patients, $20 to $27 for three-hour patients and from $10 to $13.50 for patients spending 90 minutes or less each day at the center.

Rates at other Bay Area mental centers, Becker noted, range from $72.50 per day at Ross General Hospital to $105 per day at Langley-Porter Clinic in San Francisco.

The Marin Hospital District board also:

OFFICERS — Reelected Dr. Gwendolyn M. Campion as board president; Thomas K. Procter, vice president, and George H. Folsom, secretary.

APPOINTMENT — Appointed Dr. William L. Clark of San Rafael as chief of staff for Marin General Hospital, replacing Dr. Bradford Simmons who has resigned.

PROGRAM — Approved two program changes at the Community Mental Health Center requiring private psychiatrists treating county patients to forward patient reports to the center and participate in reviews of patients, and deleted an unfilled social worker position and added a secretarial slot. The board tabled discussion on a third recommendation for personnel exchanges between center staff and other social agencies.

DIVORCE — Authorized the mental health center to apply to the Zellerbach Foundation for $14,900 grant to operate the center's divorce program.

REMODELING — Heard a report that remodeling of the hospital's laboratory was complete and that the intensive care unit and X-Ray room may be operational by February.

PRIVILEGES — Extended hospital privileges to Drs. John T. Bystrom, John J. Bagshaw, Jack M. Burnstein, Fred C. DeFrancisco, Robert F. Frederickson, Richard E. Friesendorf, Clarence J. Harper, Philip S. Hicks, Stephen M. McDade, Carlos F. Martinez, John Silver, Peter J. Walsh and George C. Wilson.

Watched by sheriff's deputies, newsmen wait outside a Marin Superior Courtroom in a roped-off area reserved for members of the press. They were on hand yesterday to witness a court appearance by Angela Y. Davis, charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy stemming from the Aug. 7 shoot-out at the Civic Center which left Judge Harold J. Haley and three others dead. The stringent security measures included two body searches and use of a metal detector.

Friends Petition President For Total Vietnam Pullout

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — An outline for peace in Southeast Asia presented President Richard M. Nixon today calls for complete American withdrawal of men, money and supplies from the war during 1971.

Drafted by the American Friends Service Committee, the report maintains that peace will prevail in South Vietnam only when the United States has disengaged and when President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky have stepped down from office in Saigon.

The report, outlined today for newsmen by Philip Drath of San Rafael at the committee enter in San Francisco, claims that elections now projected for fall 1971 in South Vietnam would be "controlled by the Thieu-Ky regime" in the presence of a massive U.S. military force.

Drath, a Marin County contractor and one-time candidate for Congress, took part in the 1967 Phoenix voyage to deliver medical supplies to North Vietnam.

The 27-page Quaker document entitled "Indochina 1971" charges that the American government has both obscured and distorted the truth in order to "elicit public support for the war." It states Senate committees have disclosed that "our country's allies are hired, its official humanitarian agencies are fronts for clandestine military aggressions, and its statistics are calculated untruths."

The report says Filipino, Thai, and Korean troops, "widely hailed as a symbol of voluntary support . . ., " have been from the start secretly and expensively financed by the United States.

The report, divided into sections dealing with various aspects of the war, concentrates heavily on statistics: 50,000 American lives and $125 billion lost, U.S. armed forces have killed more civilians every six months that the other side has in 15 years, and since the U.S. invasion of Cambodia, approximately 1.5 million people have become refugees.

In South Vietnam, which the committee says is "the most militarized country in the world," one of every nine people is in the army, 75 per cent of the country's gross national product stems from war-related service industries with more than 70 per cent of the country's budget going to the military.

The report also charges that the Nixon Administration has exploited American fears of a bloodbath in Vietnam with the departure of U.S. troops and charges of cruel treatment of U.S. military men held captive for political purposes.

The implication of the Nixon policy, it says, is "let Asians fight Asians."

"On January 15, 1969," the report continues, "former Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford told Congress that 'an Asian soldier costs about 1/15 as much as his American counterpart.'This may appear to some to be good economics but it reflects the moral bankruptcy of present policy."

It concludes that Nixon's "persistent support for Thieu and Ky and his refusal to establish a timetable for complete U.S. withdrawal" makes continuation of the war inevitable.

Peace in Vietnam, it says, cannot be achieved by a decisive military defeat by one side or the other. If peace is to come to Vietnam — "esential for peace elsewhere in Indochina" — it will have to be a negotiated political settlement among the Vietnamese, the report says.

In addition to calling on the president to set a timetable for complete withdrawal, the reports asks Americans to "extricate ourselves from our involvement in this war. Regardless of how and when the government withdraws, let us each withdraw now as we are able."

Committee members and supporters were expected today to stand outside the White House in a silent vigil protesting the administration's policy in Indochina. They plan to maintain their watch until after midnight.

Maheu Firing May Get Appeal

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Robert A. Maheu, whose ouster as head of Howard Hughes' Nevada empire was upheld in court, will decide whether to appeal the firing "immediately following the Christmas holiday."

Maheu's attorney, Morton Galane, said Wednesday, "we have been in continual conference" since the ruling last Saturday.

"I have recommended further intensive study of all phases of litigation," Galane said. "Mr. Maheu will decide upon a firm course of action immediately following the Christmas holiday."

Maheu's firing by Hughes Tool Co. executives, based on a proxy signed by Hughes, was upheld by Judge Howard Babcock after a bitter, nine-day court fight.

Viet War Vet Asks Support With Lights

A Vietnam War veteran has called for Marin residents to leave their outdoor Christmas lights lit through next month in a show of support for the "men in Vietnam and the President's policy."

Chad Reichman of 29 Medway Road, San Anselmo, said the lights would be a "visual expression of the feeling" of support for the troops with hope they return as soon as possible.

The lights of Marin could be the first thing seen by servicemen returning from Vietnam as they headed for a landing at Travis Air Force Base, Reichman said.

Servicemen heading for Vietnam would see them as a show of support "to carry on," he said.

Reichman recalled that when he returned to Marin for Christmas leave in 1968, he "Felt no support" on the home front.

The idea to have Christmas lights remain on for another month occurred to him several days ago when he realized the warmth of feeling they generate.

Christmas season is the "peace season," he said.

"Why just one season for peace? Why shouldn't it be extended, starting now?"

Reichman said he had an estimate from Pacific Gas and Electric Co. that the cost of leaving outdoor Christmas lights on for another 30 days would be less than $5 for the average display.

Dismissal Plea Under Submission

A Marin Superior Court judge has taken under submission a motion asking that charges against three men arrested in connection with a $350,000 drug raid in January 1969 be dismissed because the district attorney's office failed to prosecute the case within a reasonable time.

A fourth person arrested in the raid was Robert Franklin Black, 29, of Forest Knolls, who was sentenced Saturday in Greece to 10 years in prison for smuggling hashish.

Black's attorney, did not join in the motion, heard by Judge Joseph G. Wilson. A bench warrant is out for Black in the Marin Case.

Seeking dismissal of the charges are Richard Conrad Pace, 24, owner of the Resh Gallery in Tamalpais Valley where the raid took place; Richard Raymond Argento, 22, and Frederick Martin Engelhardt, 29. Another man, Charles Noel Hess, 27, was dismissed from the case earlier when it was ruled that there was not enough evidence to hold him for trial.

The district attorney's office said the long delay was due to a lack of being notified of a higher court decision on an appeal surrounding quashing of evidence in the case.

Sing Sing prison in New York was built by convicts in 1826.

Probation, Damages Fine For Beating

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A 39-year-old San Francisco man, who pleaded guilty earlier this month in superior court to beating a cocktail waitress from Mill Valley, was placed on three year's probation yesterday.

Lloyd J. Hartman, arrested in July after clubbing Patty Nolan, 32, with a tire iron during an early morning fracas outside a San Francisco bar, also was ordered by Judge Walter J. Calcagno to pay $1,000 restitution for damages and a $250 fine.

Hartman was told by Judge Calcagno the assault with a deadly weapon charge would be reduced to a misdemeanor upon satisfactory completion of the probation.

Police reported Hartman had been ejected from the bar but apparently waited outside until Miss Nolan, of 31 Millay Place, left shortly after 2 a.m.

Bandits Flee Food Store Empty

Two young men wearing stocking masks held a Petaluma grocer at gunpoint Tuesday, but left empty-handed.

Petaluma police said today that two men in their late teens entered Starns Grocery Store, 501 Petaluma Boulevard South, at 2:23 p.m. and pointed a .22 caliber revolver at owner M.R. Starns.

Starns told police he thought it was a joke until one of the men ordered, "open the cash register and stand away." Instead, Starns pressed a buzzer connected to his son's home next door.

Believing the device had alerted police, the men fled in a 1962 Chevrolet. Sgt. William Reed said a car matching that description later was found abandoned on Bantam Way and may have been stolen earlier in the day.

Health Directors Boost Mental Center's Rates

Rate increases of between $3.50 and $24 per day for partial care and 24-hour private patients at the Marin Community Mental Health Center have been approved by the Marin Hospital District board.

The increases, based on the amount of time patients spend at the center, were requested by the county, Jules Becker, hospital publicist, said.

Under a contract signed two years ago between the county and hospital district, the county agreed to pay the cost of treating county-referred patients and to make up any financial deficit incurred by the center.

At that time, Becker said, a $70 daily rate for 24-hour patients was established to cover private patient care.

The approved increase will hike that figure to $94 per day, Becker explained, adding the hike is needed to meet increased costs.

Other rate changes, he said, include an increase from $40 to $54 per day for eight-hour overnight patients, $20 to $27 for three-hour patients and from $10 to $13.50 for patients spending 90 minutes or less each day at the center.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Less Than Half Of Marin's Dineries Open On Christmas

Probably less than half of Marin County's dineries will serve Christmas dinners tomorrow - and most of those planning to be open on New Year's Eve have been taking reservations for several weeks.

In previous columns we have named a number of places and their holiday schedules. A few more are listed here today.

We suggest that you do not wait to make your own arrangements until the last moment when table space will be difficult to get.

ONE OF THE BIG PLACES that is open tomorrow is Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael. Advance reservations are recommended.

Be sure to put down Dominic's on your New Year's Eve list. It will be open and eserving its regular menu. Make reservations either with manager Mario Brenta or assistant manager Tom Sailus.

SHIPWRECK PETE'S at the Sportsman's Lodge in Novato will not serve tomorrow - but reservations are now being taken for the big New Year's Eve party to be held in the upstairs banquet room.

Principal offering is a package arrangement for overnight at $50. (This is for two.). It includes steak dinner. Ten drinks per couple, champagne at midnight, dancing to 1 a.m., hotel room and brunch the following morning. Check out time is 1 p.m. After 2 a.m. New Year's Eve a "hospitality room" will be open, serving hors d'oeuvres.

Since only 50 hotel rooms will be available for this combination, the price is reduced to $40 per couple without the room and New Year's Day brunch.

Regular dinner will be served New Year's Eve in the downstairs dining room.

LE CHALET BASQUE in Santa Venetia is one of the dineries that is open for Christmas dinner this year. I'd make reservations tonight.

And it is also open New Year's Eve. Don't look for a riotous program. Merry - but on the quieter side.

HERE'S ANOTHER RESTAURANT and a good one that's open for dinner tomorrow - Kublai Khan in Strawberry Town and Country Village.

Featured is a complete Christmas turkey dinner at $3.95. And with a coupon, if you're holding one, you can get two filet mignon or New York steak dinners for $6.95. Also Chinese food, of course.

LOUIS PEPPRAS, who made a name for himself when he was the last chef at Bob's of Marin before it went back into the hands of Compton's, is now heading the food operation at the Oakview in the Meadows, Terra Linda.

Don't look for a Christmas affair here tomorrow night, but count it in as a good New Year's Eve possibility. For that night or other nights you can get an introductory guest card from Lou by calling for reservations - and perhaps you'll even want to become a member of the club and enjoy its privileges.

New Year's Eve dinner will be from 9 or 10 p.m. After that there will be buffet service from 11 p.m.

Ordinarily dinners are from 6 p.m. - Sundays from 4 p.m., with an 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. brunch. Lou's menu includes New York and pepper steaks, top sirloins, medallions, tournedos and seafoods.

INNKEEPER-MANAGER R. J. (Dick) Immel is leaving Holiday Inn at Terra Linda next week. He's accepted a position as general manager of the hotel division of Fred Harvey Co., which presently has four hotels. These are Airport Marinas in San Francisco, Los Angeles and Fresno and the Ranch Inn in Valencia, Southern California. It's a good opportunity and he couldn't turn it down. He'll be based in San Francisco and live in Burlingame.

Replacing him, at the Terra Linda hostelry and restaurant will be Tom Devaus, who has been at the Carmel Holiday Inn and has had an extensive background in the hotel business.

TRADITIONALLY, Sausalito's haute dinery Ondine closes on Christmas and serves dinners New Year's Eve. The same will hold true again this year.

Although a big party is never planned on New Year's Eve, tables are always booked and advance reeservations are necessary. It's a place where end of the year fanfare is subordinated to chef Alfred Roblin's good food, served elegantly. The general mood is that of subdued gaiety.

CHRISTMAS DAY AND NEW YEAR'S DAY are always closing days for San Rafael Joe's, as Hector and Nancy Rubini and Guido and Teresa Farina have families of their own and like to be with them.

New Year's Eve, however, is always a busy one for this restaurant and a gala spirit pervades lounge and dining room. The practice here is to accept advance reservations until it's not practical to book up any more table space. After that you take your chances on a long wait. But the food is worth it.

RUBINI'S in Fairfax will have a special New Year's Eve dinner menu with eight entree choices. Dinners will be served on regular schedule, although hats and favors are planned for midnight. I would certainly make advance reservations.

Lowell Hawk will provide the entertainment, accompanied by the guests, during the evening.

ROMULUS in downtown San Rafael will be open tonight - but not tomorrow. It will be open New Year's Eve and New Year's Day from 2 p.m.

Regular menu will be served in its traditional style - plus weekend attractions of prime rib and crab cioppino.

THE LITTLE FRENCH RESTAURANT, Chez Madeleine out at Point Reyes Station has been closed since Dec. 14 and won't open again until Jan. 14.

LE TONNEAU in Corte Madera (formerly Gregory's) is now taking reservations for its New Year's Eve party, starting at 9 p.m.

From 5 to 8 p.m. that night the regular menu will be served. Then at 9 there's a special six-course dinner with favors and dancing to a three-piece combo. This runs $12.50 per person.

Le Tonneau will be closed tonight and tomorrow, but open Saturday and Sunday - and it will close on New Year's Day.

FLEUR DE FRANCE in San Rafael has reactivated its dinners with George Wills in charge of the food department. He's an experienced chef and has been at several Marin spots.

Dinners are being served from 5 to 10 p.m. Closing day is Monday.

No Christmas dinner will be served tomorrow. New Year's Eve is another matter. Champagne dinner will be served starting at 6 p.m. with a choice, I believe, of New York steak, prime rib or lobster. There will be live music and dancing - and an after-hours breakfast in the early hours of 1971.

Price for all this is $24.60 per couple.

OAK TREE INN at San Geronimo will be closed tomorrow but will have a New Year's Eve party and will be open New Year's Day.

Ray and Dee Brunal will have a champagne dinner New Year's Eve at $15 per couple with music, entertainment and favors and things should be lively here. Special menu will be served. Regular menu will be in force New Year's Day.

School Board Member Nabbed

FRESNO (UPI) —Robert Trotter, 22, California's youngest elected official, was arrested Monday night on a charge of reckless driving following a chase at speeds up to 100 miles per hour.

Trotter, elected to the Fresno County School Board last June, also was charged with driving without a valid license and carrying an open container of rum in his car.

Police said the car was spotted westbound on Shields Avenue at a high rate of speed and an officer gave chase.

Withdrawal Of Plea Allowed

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court has allowed Peter Alphonse La Rocca, 19, of San Francisco, to withdraw his earlier plea of guilty to a car theft charge.

That decision was made after a probation officer recommended a nine-month jail sentence, saying that La Rocca had had three adult convictions. La Rocca had been promised a sentence not to exceed three months when he entered the guilty plea.

A jury trial was set for the week of March 15.

Lights Vandalism

Akira Sonomura of 136 Fernwood Drive, complained to San Rafael police Tuesday that vandals pulled three strings of lights off an outdoor Christmas tree and smashed them.

And it is also open New Year's Eve. Don't look for a riotous program. Merry - but on the quieter side.

HERE'S ANOTHER RESTAURANT and a good one that's open for dinner tomorrow - Kublai Khan in Strawberry Town and Country Village.

Featured is a complete Christmas turkey dinner at $3.95. And with a coupon, if you're holding one, you can get two filet mignon or New York steak dinners for $6.95. Also Chinese food, of course.

LOUIS PEPPRAS, who made a name for himself when he was the last chef at Bob's of Marin before it went back into the hands of Compton's, is now heading the food operation at the Oakview in the Meadows, Terra Linda.

Don't look for a Christmas affair here tomorrow night, but count it in as a good New Year's Eve possibility. For that night or other nights you can get an introductory guest card from Lou by calling for reservations - and perhaps you'll even want to become a member of the club and enjoy its privileges.

New Year's Eve dinner will be from 9 or 10 p.m. After that there will be buffet service from 11 p.m.

Ordinarily dinners are from 6 p.m. - Sundays from 4 p.m., with an 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. brunch. Lou's menu includes New York and pepper steaks, top sirloins, medallions, tournedos and seafoods.

INNKEEPER-MANAGER R. J. (Dick) Immel is leaving Holiday Inn at Terra Linda next week. He's accepted a position as general manager of the hotel division of Fred Harvey Co., which presently has four hotels. These are Airport Marinas in San Francisco, Los Angeles and Fresno and the Ranch Inn in Valencia, Southern California. It's a good opportunity and he couldn't turn it down. He'll be based in San Francisco and live in Burlingame.

Replacing him, at the Terra Linda hostelry and restaurant will be Tom Devaus, who has been at the Carmel Holiday Inn and has had an extensive background in the hotel business.

TRADITIONALLY, Sausalito's haute dinery Ondine closes on Christmas and serves dinners New Year's Eve. The same will hold true again this year.

Although a big party is never planned on New Year's Eve, tables are always booked and advance reeservations are necessary. It's a place where end of the year fanfare is subordinated to chef Alfred Roblin's good food, served elegantly. The general mood is that of subdued gaiety.

CHRISTMAS DAY AND NEW YEAR'S DAY are always closing days for San Rafael Joe's, as Hector and Nancy Rubini and Guido and Teresa Farina have families of their own and like to be with them.

New Year's Eve, however, is always a busy one for this restaurant and a gala spirit pervades lounge and dining room. The practice here is to accept advance reservations until it's not practical to book up any more table space. After that you take your chances on a long wait. But the food is worth it.

RUBINI'S in Fairfax will have a special New Year's Eve dinner menu with eight entree choices. Dinners will be served on regular schedule, although hats and favors are planned for midnight. I would certainly make advance reservations.

Lowell Hawk will provide the entertainment, accompanied by the guests, during the evening.

ROMULUS in downtown San Rafael will be open tonight - but not tomorrow. It will be open New Year's Eve and New Year's Day from 2 p.m.

Regular menu will be served in its traditional style - plus weekend attractions of prime rib and crab cioppino.

THE LITTLE FRENCH RESTAURANT, Chez Madeleine out at Point Reyes Station has been closed since Dec. 14 and won't open again until Jan. 14.

LE TONNEAU in Corte Madera (formerly Gregory's) is now taking reservations for its New Year's Eve party, starting at 9 p.m.

From 5 to 8 p.m. that night the regular menu will be served. Then at 9 there's a special six-course dinner with favors and dancing to a three-piece combo. This runs $12.50 per person.

Le Tonneau will be closed tonight and tomorrow, but open Saturday and Sunday - and it will close on New Year's Day.

FLEUR DE FRANCE in San Rafael has reactivated its dinners with George Wills in charge of the food department. He's an experienced chef and has been at several Marin spots.

Dinners are being served from 5 to 10 p.m. Closing day is Monday.

No Christmas dinner will be served tomorrow. New Year's Eve is another matter. Champagne dinner will be served starting at 6 p.m. with a choice, I believe, of New York steak, prime rib or lobster. There will be live music and dancing - and an after-hours breakfast in the early hours of 1971.

Price for all this is $24.60 per couple.

OAK TREE INN at San Geronimo will be closed tomorrow but will have a New Year's Eve party and will be open New Year's Day.

Ray and Dee Brunal will have a champagne dinner New Year's Eve at $15 per couple with music, entertainment and favors and things should be lively here. Special menu will be served. Regular menu will be in force New Year's Day.

School Board Member Nabbed

FRESNO (UPI) —Robert Trotter, 22, California's youngest elected official, was arrested Monday night on a charge of reckless driving following a chase at speeds up to 100 miles per hour.

Trotter, elected to the Fresno County School Board last June, also was charged with driving without a valid license and carrying an open container of rum in his car.

Police said the car was spotted westbound on Shields Avenue at a high rate of speed and an officer gave chase.

Withdrawal Of Plea Allowed

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court has allowed Peter Alphonse La Rocca, 19, of San Francisco, to withdraw his earlier plea of guilty to a car theft charge.

That decision was made after a probation officer recommended a nine-month jail sentence, saying that La Rocca had had three adult convictions. La Rocca had been promised a sentence not to exceed three months when he entered the guilty plea.

A jury trial was set for the week of March 15.

Lights Vandalism

Akira Sonomura of 136 Fernwood Drive, complained to San Rafael police Tuesday that vandals pulled three strings of lights off an outdoor Christmas tree and smashed them.

Measuring The Tilt To Predict Quakes

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Scientists say that within "one or two years".. instruments measuring the tilt of the earth may be able to warn of impending earthquakes.

Dr. M. Darroll Wood of the Geological Survey's National Center for Earthquake Research reported Wednesday on research carried out during earthquakes last June at Danville, Calif.

He said computerized data analyzed after the quakes revealed the Hayward and San Andreas faults showed signs of movement 25 hours before the shake.

The regional slope wobbled normally until 29 hours before the temblor, Wood and center colleague Rex V. Allen reported.

The tilt then suddenly decreased and swung toward Danville where it increased until ten hours before the quake.

The tilt reversed when the mild earthquake struck, indicating the area had been relieved of strain.

Wood and Allen said the tilt was the first time such a phenomenon had been observed here.

They said Stanford computer science graduate student Stephen R. Levine ran data from survey sub stations into a computer and showed the movement on a TV-like screen.

Little X's, signifying minor temblors, showed up as expected on the screen.

What surprised the scientsts was the change of the "tilt vector," a measurement of the slant of the general earth mass, as recorded at the Berkeley and Presidio stations.

'The instruments indicated the entire bay area was involved in the quake," Wood said and predicted that within "one or two years" instruments could translate the tilt changes into warnings.

Angel Named As Killer By Witness

OAKLAND (UPI) —A prosecution witness has testified he saw Alan David Passaro stab Meredith Hunter during a Rolling Stones rock festival at the Altamont Speedway a year ago.

Paul Cox nervously testified Wednesday that he saw the accused Hells Angel come out of the huge crowd and leap on Hunter, who was "trying to catch his balance."

Cox told the jury that the 18-year-old victim did not have a gun out at the moment of the attack, but Cox added that when Passaro "brought the knife down," Hunter had a gun in his hand.

The Hells Angels were assigned to protect the stage during the concert.

But under cross-examination, the defense brought out statements Cox had made last March to the Alameda County Grand Jury describing his view of Hunter's last moments and also an interview he gave with Rolling Stone magazine.

Asked about seeming discrepancies, Cox said, "I was very nervous." He called the magazine interview "irrelevant."

A defense attorney asked him if he had been using drugs during the festival. He said, "no, but some people shared food with me."

Information on Cox's personal life is being withheld because he fears reprisals by the Hells Angels.

The defense hammered at details of Cox's testimony and once again ran portions of a movie allegedly showing the crime.

Students Haul Gifts To Mexican Orphans

TIJUNA, Mexico (UPI) —A group of 75 college and high school students from Oregon concluded a hard but successful trip Tuesday when they delivered Christmas presents to the door of Faith Orphanage.

Wrapped gifts, clothing, food, candy, toys and paint were given to the orphans to climax a trip of more than 1,000 miles.

"This is a statewide effort," Harry Detweiler, a special education teacher and one of 12 adult chaperones with the group, said.

Plans for the trip started last June when a group of handicapped children got together at Ashland, Ore., and it spread throughout the state. Fund-raising events such as car washes, clothing collections and baby-sitting were started.

"The kids themselves planned the whole thing," Detweiler said. "It was their summer project—to do something spectacular to prove they are not handicapped and to break down some of those myths about mental retardation."

They left Oregon in three buses, but one broke down 250 miles later and they squeezed into two.

A second bus blew out two tires near Santa Ana, Calif., Sunday and the youths were shuttled .to the San Diego' Calif., YMCA where they waited for the bus to rejoin them.

Their trip was halted by heavy rains which made the roads from here to the orphanage a veritable quagmire.

In 1942 Adm. Darlan, French administrator of North Africa, was assassinated there as a sympathizer of the French Vichy regime.

In 1949 the song "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" swept the country.

A thought for the day: James Thurber said, "You might as well fall flat on your face as lean over too far backward."

Use Your Holiday Gift For Best Return For The Season

THROUGH DUMMY

Stephen won the first trick in dummy with the queen of hearts in order to try a finesse with the queen of clubs. West won and led another heart.

Declarer won with the king of hearts, cleared the ace of clubs out of the way and led a heart to dummy's jack to knock out the jack of clubs.

East returned a spade to the king, and South led the queen of diamonds with his little speech about Christmas spirit.

FOR NINTH TRICK

East saw that taking the ace of diamonds would allow South to get to dummy with the king of diamonds. Then South could cash the ten of clubs as his ninth trick.

East took a second look and decided to refuse the first diamond trick. When South continued diamonds, East could take two diamond tricks and get out with a spade. South eventually gave up a spade trick for down one.

EARLY START

South tried to give away the wrong gift in the wrong suit. He should make an early start by taking the first trick with the king of hearts, cashing the ace of clubs and then giving up the queen of clubs to the king.

The heart return goes to dummy's jack, and declarer leads the nine of clubs to the jack. South wins the spade return, leads a heart to dummy's queen to cash the ten of clubs, and then leads a diamond to make sure of nine tricks.

Brothers Get 3 Years' Probation

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin Municipal Court has placed Kenny Ralph Zorn, 21, and Stephen James Zorn, 23, both of Fairfax, on probation for three years and given them six-months' suspended jail sentences.

The brothers had earlier pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge of theft stemming from the robbery of a San Anselmo man Nov. 7 in San Rafael.

'Red Power' Movement Growing

BY ROBERT STRAND

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — For American Indians, 1970 has been the year of the discovery of "red power." For many of their fellow Americans, it's been a year of discovery of the most invisible of the "invisible poor."

With Indians on Alcatraz thumbing their noses at the federal government since late 1969, numerous similar occupations occurred in 1970 at other sites.

And more can be expected in 1971, as can more Indian demands for the return of vast quantities of land, some held by the white man for nearly 200 years.

The land demands are enormous—the Pit River Tribe in California alone wants an area the size of Connecticut. The demands involve millions and millions of acres, plus millions of dollars for their development.

The Indians first attracted the attention of many Americans to their current plight with the invasion Nov. 20, 1969, of Alcatraz, the abandoned federal prison island in San Francisco Bay.

The Alcatraz adventure dramatized such facts as that among 700,000 Indians the average yearly income is $1,500; infant mortality is three times the national average, and the average life span is 42, one third less than the national average.

Jane Fonda was arrested in a demonstration seeking Indian possession of the surplus Ft. Lawton in Seattle, Wash.

Indians staged invasions of Rattlesnake Island in Clear Lake, Calif., Lassen National Park, a Pacific Gas & Electric Co. campground near Burney, Calif., and a couple of surplus federal installations.

Some of the invasions were speedily repelled, and the invaders prosecuted on various charges. Other occupations continued without interference, on grounds no harm was occurring.

A stream of lawsuits on behalf of Indians began in the federal courts. In Denver one suit attacks allotment of 72 million acres to non-Indian cattle and sheep growers.

In Omaha, Neb., the Winnebagos are fighting condemnation of Missouri River land for recreation purposes. In Reno, Nev., an Indian suit seeks to prevent diversion of water from Pyramid Lake for white man's irrigation.

"I believe we will see many more demonstrations by Indian groups next year," says Dr. Jack Forbes, a University of California professor who is also a Powhaten Indian.

Forbes is a leader in a group of Indians and Mexican-Americans seeking to establish a university of their own at a 640-acre surplus Army site near Davis, Calif., currently the scene of an occupation by 50 persons. The new institution would be called Deganawidah-Quetzalcoatl University, or D-QU for short. The name honors an Iroquois and an Aztec leader of the past.

Demands of Indians, exercising new-found "red power," include more self-determination on reservations where they now are wards of the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Also sought are dramatically improved health and education on the reservation, and the making good of government promises of job training for Indians who leave the reservation at the government's urging.

But a lawyer fighting the Indians' cause in court doubts the judges will rule much in their favor in efforts to regain land.

"What the court cases do—like all the occupations—is sharpen up the issue," he says. "Then I can see political solutions."

In this he echoed the words of a young Mohawk, Peter Blue Cloud, early in the Alcatraz invasion. He said, "We have shown Indians around the country and even in Latin America what can be done."

No small encouragement was given Indians in December by President Nixon's signing of a bill giving back 48,000 acres of Carson National Forest to the Taos Pueblo tribe of New Mexico.

Nixon said that when the land was seized in 1920 "an injustice was done and after all these years Congress returns the land."

The area included BLUE Lake sacred to the Taos who believe spirits dwell in the water, and a Taos religious leader, Juan de Jesus Romero, 90, told Nixon

"A new day begins not only for the Indians, but for all Americans."

Glenn Plans Gala Fund Party

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Former astronaut John Glenn, who went into debt in his losing campaign for the U.S. Senate, will try to cancel his bills next March with a gala party here.

Mrs. Ethel Kennedy, widow of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and a personal friend of Glenn's, is expected to appear in his behalf, as well as singer Andy Williams.

Glenn lost the Democratic Senatorial nomination last May to Howard Metzenbaum, who in turn lost the general election to Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio.

Guilty Plea To Reduced Charge

James Kardis Jr., 21, of Mill Valley has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to a reduced misdemeanor charge of being drunk in public.

Judge David Menary Jr. referred him to the probation department for a report Feb. 5.

Kardis had earlier been charged with burglarizing a Sausalito residence Nov. 24.

'Red Power' Movement Growing

BY ROBERT STRAND

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — For American Indians, 1970 has been the year of the discovery of "red power." For many of their fellow Americans, it's been a year of discovery of the most invisible of the "invisible poor."

With Indians on Alcatraz thumbing their noses at the federal government since late 1969, numerous similar occupations occurred in 1970 at other sites.

And more can be expected in 1971, as can more Indian demands for the return of vast quantities of land, some held by the white man for nearly 200 years.

The land demands are enormous—the Pit River Tribe in California alone wants an area the size of Connecticut. The demands involve millions and millions of acres, plus millions of dollars for their development.

The Indians first attracted the attention of many Americans to their current plight with the invasion Nov. 20, 1969, of Alcatraz, the abandoned federal prison island in San Francisco Bay.

The Alcatraz adventure dramatized such facts as that among 700,000 Indians the average yearly income is $1,500; infant mortality is three times the national average, and the average life span is 42, one third less than the national average.

Jane Fonda was arrested in a demonstration seeking Indian possession of the surplus Ft. Lawton in Seattle, Wash.

Indians staged invasions of Rattlesnake Island in Clear Lake, Calif., Lassen National Park, a Pacific Gas & Electric Co. campground near Burney, Calif., and a couple of surplus federal installations.

Some of the invasions were speedily repelled, and the invaders prosecuted on various charges. Other occupations continued without interference, on grounds no harm was occurring.

A stream of lawsuits on behalf of Indians began in the federal courts. In Denver one suit attacks allotment of 72 million acres to non-Indian cattle and sheep growers.

In Omaha, Neb., the Winnebagos are fighting condemnation of Missouri River land for recreation purposes. In Reno, Nev., an Indian suit seeks to prevent diversion of water from Pyramid Lake for white man's irrigation.

"I believe we will see many more demonstrations by Indian groups next year," says Dr. Jack Forbes, a University of California professor who is also a Powhaten Indian.

Forbes is a leader in a group of Indians and Mexican-Americans seeking to establish a university of their own at a 640-acre surplus Army site near Davis, Calif., currently the scene of an occupation by 50 persons. The new institution would be called Deganawidah-Quetzalcoatl University, or D-QU for short. The name honors an Iroquois and an Aztec leader of the past.

Demands of Indians, exercising new-found "red power," include more self-determination on reservations where they now are wards of the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Also sought are dramatically improved health and education on the reservation, and the making good of government promises of job training for Indians who leave the reservation at the government's urging.

But a lawyer fighting the Indians' cause in court doubts the judges will rule much in their favor in efforts to regain land.

"What the court cases do—like all the occupations—is sharpen up the issue," he says. "Then I can see political solutions."

In this he echoed the words of a young Mohawk, Peter Blue Cloud, early in the Alcatraz invasion. He said, "We have shown Indians around the country and even in Latin America what can be done."

No small encouragement was given Indians in December by President Nixon's signing of a bill giving back 48,000 acres of Carson National Forest to the Taos Pueblo tribe of New Mexico.

Nixon said that when the land was seized in 1920 "an injustice was done and after all these years Congress returns the land."

The area included BLUE Lake sacred to the Taos who believe spirits dwell in the water, and a Taos religious leader, Juan de Jesus Romero, 90, told Nixon "A new day begins not only for the Indians, but for all Americans."

Glenn Plans Gala Fund Party

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Former astronaut John Glenn, who went into debt in his losing campaign for the U.S. Senate, will try to cancel his bills next March with a gala party here.

Mrs. Ethel Kennedy, widow of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and a personal friend of Glenn's, is expected to appear in his behalf, as well as singer Andy Williams.

Glenn lost the Democratic Senatorial nomination last May to Howard Metzenbaum, who in turn lost the general election to Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio.

Guilty Plea To Reduced Charge

James Kardis Jr., 21, of Mill Valley has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to a reduced misdemeanor charge of being drunk in public.

Judge David Menary Jr. referred him to the probation department for a report Feb. 5.

Kardis had earlier been charged with burglarizing a Sausalito residence Nov. 24.

BIG REDWOOD HILLSIDER

Here's a terrific buy in a contemporary redwood home. The huge living room has a Swedish fireplace and sliding doors to a wide, sunny, view deck. Two bedrooms and a bath on the top floor. Drapes/luxurious carpeting included. Downstairs there are two bedrooms and a huge family room almost completely finished, and a roughed-in bath ready for installation. An inside stairway could easily be added to make this into an instant family home with terrific space. Priced way below replacement cost at a low $33,950. Our first ad.

Instructions to Land Buyers

First see the land which thou intend'st to buy
within the seller's title clearly lye,

And that no woman to it doth lay claime
by dowry, joynture, or some other name.

That may incumber, know if bond or fee
The tenture stand, and that for each feoffee

It be released, that th' sellers be soe old
That he may lawful sell, thou lawful hold.

Have special care that it not mortgaged lye,
Nor be entailed upon posterity.

Then if it stand in statute bound or noe,
Be well advised what quitt rent out must goe,

What custome service hath been done of old
By whose who formerly the same did hold.

And if a wedded woman put to sale
Deal not with her unless she bring her male,

For she doth under covert barren goe,
Although sometimes some traffique soe
we know

Thy bargain made and all this be done,
Have special care to make thy charter run

To thee, thy heirs, executors' assigns,
For that beyond thy life securely binds.

These things foreknow and done, you may prevent,
Those things rash buyers many time repent,

And yet when you have done all you can,
If youle be sure, deal with an honest man.

ASIA'S SEPARATISTS

Far East Dissent Has Long History

MANILA (UPI)—Separatist movements comparable to that of the French-speaking Canadians, who fight for a Quebec state separate from the rest of Canada, abound in Asia.

Asia's separatists, sometimes by shrill voices, occasionally by violence, are seeking their own states in which they hope to find their interests not taking second place to a ruling majority and their heritage not forgotten.

Pakistan, separated from INDIA WHEN THE SUBcontinent got independence from the British in 1947, has been faced almost from birth with political as well as geographical splits.

In a country divided by 1,000 miles of India, separatism has grown in Bengali-dominated East Pakistan, where its leaders claim government and business have been concentrated in the less densely-populated and Punjab-dominated west wing.

General Yahya Khan, president since Ayub Khan was forced to resign in March, 1969, amidst violence in the east, has tried to heal the political divisions with a series of steps which culminated in national elections on a one-man, one-vote basis this month.

Tribesmen in the northwest frontier provinces of Sind and Baluchistan further weaken Pakistan's political fabric by agitating for a separate Pakhoonistan state.

After India was torn with the formation of Pakistan, it has had some separatist problems, but none severe. A few insurgents demanding a separate nation for Nagaland,a hilly, jungled area of eastern India, still cause trouble. But the government has quelled the movement with military might and millions of rupees in economic aid to the area.

Within the predominantly Roman Catholic population (84 per cent of about 37 million) of the Philippines, the Moslem minority has found a loud voice in Datu (Chieftain) Udtog Matalam, who styles himself as leader of the Moslem independence movement.

Matalam claims his self-declared non-violent secessionist state in the southern Philippines encompasses 3 million people. But to date, no responsible government official has taken the movement seriously.

A Moslem separatist movement also operates in Thailand's southern provinces of Yala, Pattani, Narathiwat and Satul with a total population of about 1 million, mostly of Malay origin.

The separatists want an independent state linked with the neighboring Federation of Malaysia. The Kuala Lumpur government has disowned any ties with the dissidents.

Crack police units have been moved into the southern provinces to combat a resurgence of the separatist movement coupled with stepped up activities of bandits and Chinese guerrillas.

Burma is troubled by dissident tribes on its borders with Thailand, Laos and Communist China. The government estimates the total of dissidents at no more than 10,000, who generally support their aims for statehood with small guerrilla operations but control no territory.

As a nation created out of 3,000 islands and an estimated 300 different language groups, Indonesia has faced separatist uprisings since independence 25 years ago.

A group of bright young soldiers, intellectuals and administrators began a two-year revolt against the central government in 1957 and tried to found an independent nation. They complained the government used virtually all Sumatran produce earnings for projects in Java, returning nothing to help Sumatra's development.

The government has had to face a separatist movement among Papuan tribesmen in West Irian (Indonesian New Guinea), where natives armed with bows and arrows and stone axes have staged rebellions against Indonesian rule several times in the past five years. The tribesmen have been no match for the automatic weapons of paratroopers and bomber aircraft.

The longest-running separatist movement is the "Republic of the South Moluccas," a movement sponsored by colonial Dutch in 1948 as a last-minute effort to foil Indonesian nationhood and provide a retreat for Indonesians who supported the Dutch during revolution.

The "Republic" is based on Ambon Island. Young rebels captured world headlines earlier this year when they seized the Indonesian embassy in the Hague and killed a policeman on the eve of a state visit by President Suharto.

An estimated 30,000 Indonesians, many of whom support the "Republic," live in exile in the Netherlands.

Both Chinas —Nationalist and Communist —have separatist movements but in both cases they are relatively ineffectual and operate from bases abroad.

The most publicized is the band of Tibetan rebels still loyal to the exiled Dalai Lama, the Buddhist god king of the former Himalayan kingdom who fled to India in 1959 when Communist troops crushed a revolt by his followers.

Unconfirmed reports indicate some armed resistance is still being conducted by the Dalai Lama's followers.

The second most important involves the Mongolians, who keep their movement alive in Outer Mongolia and the Soviet Union. The inner Mongolian region of China is rapidly being colonized by the Han Chinese with the Mongolians being overwhelmed by sheer numbers.

Chinese radio broadcasts have made references to dissident movements among the Mongolians during the past several years, often accusing the Russians of fomenting them.

The Chinese also occasionally accuse the Soviet Union of aiding and abetting dissident movements among the minority groups in the Sinkiang region — site of China's nuclear and missile testing facilities —many thousands of whom have fled to the Soviet Union in the past

LAW IN ACTION
From the State Bar Of California

'Act Of God' Hard To Prove

Where Charles Frost lived winter temperatures often fell below zero. One day he scraped the frost from his windshield and headed to work. Near a bridge, he saw a car coming toward him. Braking to a slow down, he skidded his car into the oncoming car which Shirley was driving.

Shirley sued. Charles told the court that ice had made the road slick and through no fault of his own, he lost control of his car.

But the court awarded Shirley damages for her injuries. While in legal terms, ice, wind, and rain are "acts of God," winter ice where Charles lived was so common he should have allowed for it. Besides, Charles had often crossed the bridge and should have been prepared for a slick road. He'd have to pay for Shirley's injuries

For a defense of "act of God" to stand up in court, the defendant must show that the cause of the accident was extraordinary and unforeseeable, a hard thing to prove.

A hurricane where they are unheard of, an earthquake where they are unknown, a heavy snowfall where snow has been unknown before, might well be a defense against a suit for damages brought about by the "act of God."

Likewise, sometimes a person can claim "unavoidable accident" to defend a law suit. An apparently healthy young man who has a sudden heart attack and drives his car into another car is not likely to be held liable if he lives.

Sometimes, things are so unusual that no one could foresee an accident. In one case a woman was waiting on the platform to board a train near the scales Some distance away, trying to help a man catch a train, a conductor shoved him as he boarded a crowded train. The shove dislodged a package of fireworks from under the passenger's arm. When they landed the fireworks blew up and overturned the scales which fell and injured the waiting women.

The woman sued and lost. No one could possibly have foreseen such a chain of events, the court said. Plaintiff—poor woman was a victim of an "unforeseeable accident." Nobody was to blame. Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Instructions to Land Buyers

First see the land which thou intend'st to buy
  within the seller's title clearly lye,

And that no woman to it doth lay claime
  by dowry, joynture, or some other name.

That may incumber, know if bond or fee
  The tenture stand, and that for each feoffee

It be released, that th' sellers be soe old
  That he may lawful sell, thou lawful hold.

Have special care that it not mortgaged lye,
  Nor be entailed upon posterity.

Then if it stand in statute bound or noe,
  Be well advised what quitt rent out must goe,

What custome service hath been done of old
  By whose who formerly the same did hold.

And if a wedded woman put to sale
  Deal not with her unless she bring her male,

For she doth under covert barren goe,
  Although sometimes some traffique soe
    we know

Thy bargain made and all this be done,
  Have special care to make thy charter run

To thee, thy heirs, executors' assigns,
  For that beyond thy life securely binds.

These things foreknow and done, you may prevent,
  Those things rash buyers many time repent,

And yet when you have done all you can,
  If youle be sure, deal with an honest man.

ASIA'S SEPARATISTS

Far East Dissent Has Long History

MANILA (UPI)—Separatist movements comparable to that of the French-speaking Canadians, who fight for a Quebec state separate from the rest of Canada, abound in Asia.

Asia's separatists, sometimes by shrill voices, occasionally by violence, are seeking their own states in which they hope to find their interests not taking second place to a ruling majority and their heritage not forgotten.

Pakistan, separated from INDIA WHEN THE SUBcontinent got independence from the British in 1947, has been faced almost from birth with political as well as geographical splits.

In a country divided by 1,000 miles of India, separatism has grown in Bengali-dominated East Pakistan, where its leaders claim government and business have been concentrated in the less densely-populated and Punjab-dominated west wing.

General Yahya Khan, president since Ayub Khan was forced to resign in March, 1969, amidst violence in the east, has tried to heal the political divisions with a series of steps which culminated in national elections on a one-man, one-vote basis this month.

Tribesmen in the northwest frontier provinces of Sind and Baluchistan further weaken Pakistan's political fabric by agitating for a separate Pakhoonistan state.

After India was torn with the formation of Pakistan, it has had some separatist problems, but none severe. A few insurgents demanding a separate nation for Nagaland,a hilly, jungled area of eastern India, still cause trouble. But the government has quelled the movement with military might and millions of rupees in economic aid to the area.

Within the predominantly Roman Catholic population (84 per cent of about 37 million) of the Philippines, the Moslem minority has found a loud voice in Datu (Chieftain) Udtog Matalam, who styles himself as leader of the Moslem independence movement.

Matalam claims his self-declared non-violent secessionist state in the southern Philippines encompasses 3 million people. But to date, no responsible government official has taken the movement seriously.

A Moslem separatist movement also operates in Thailand's southern provinces of Yala, Pattani, Narathiwat and Satul with a total population of about 1 million, mostly of Malay origin.

The separatists want an independent state linked with the neighboring Federation of Malaysia. The Kuala Lumpur government has disowned any ties with the dissidents.

Crack police units have been moved into the southern provinces to combat a resurgence of the separatist movement coupled with stepped up activities of bandits and Chinese guerrillas.

Burma is troubled by dissident tribes on its borders with Thailand, Laos and Communist China. The government estimates the total of dissidents at no more than 10,000, who generally support their aims for statehood with small guerrilla operations but control no territory.

As a nation created out of 3,000 islands and an estimated 300 different language groups, Indonesia has faced separatist uprisings since independence 25 years ago.

A group of bright young soldiers, intellectuals and administrators began a two-year revolt against the central government in 1957 and tried to found an independent nation. They complained the government used virtually all Sumatran produce earnings for projects in Java, returning nothing to help Sumatra's development.

The government has had to face a separatist movement among Papuan tribesmen in West Irian (Indonesian New Guinea), where natives armed with bows and arrows and stone axes have staged rebellions against Indonesian rule several times in the past five years. The tribesmen have been no match for the automatic weapons of paratroopers and bomber aircraft.

The longest-running separatist movement is the "Republic of the South Moluccas," a movement sponsored by colonial Dutch in 1948 as a last-minute effort to foil Indonesian nationhood and provide a retreat for Indonesians who supported the Dutch during revolution.

The "Republic" is based on Ambon Island. Young rebels captured world headlines earlier this year when they seized the Indonesian embassy in the Hague and killed a policeman on the eve of a state visit by President Suharto.

An estimated 30,000 Indonesians, many of whom support the "Republic," live in exile in the Netherlands.

Both Chinas —Nationalist and Communist —have separatist movements but in both cases they are relatively ineffectual and operate from bases abroad.

The most publicized is the band of Tibetan rebels still loyal to the exiled Dalai Lama, the Buddhist god king of the former Himalayan kingdom who fled to India in 1959 when Communist troops crushed a revolt by his followers.

Unconfirmed reports indicate some armed resistance is still being conducted by the Dalai Lama's followers.

The second most important involves the Mongolians, who keep their movement alive in Outer Mongolia and the Soviet Union. The inner Mongolian region of China is rapidly being colonized by the Han Chinese with the Mongolians being overwhelmed by sheer numbers.

Chinese radio broadcasts have made references to dissident movements among the Mongolians during the past several years, often accusing the Russians of fomenting them.

The Chinese also occasionally accuse the Soviet Union of aiding and abetting dissident movements among the minority groups in the Sinkiang region — site of China's nuclear and missile testing facilities —many thousands of whom have fled to the Soviet Union in the past

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

'Act Of God' Hard To Prove

Where Charles Frost lived winter temperatures often fell below zero. One day he scraped the frost from his windshield and headed to work. Near a bridge, he saw a car coming toward him. Braking to a slow down, he skidded his car into the oncoming car which Shirley was driving.

Shirley sued. Charles told the court that ice had made the road slick and through no fault of his own, he lost control of his car.

But the court awarded Shirley damages for her injuries. While in legal terms, ice, wind, and rain are "acts of God," winter ice where Charles lived was so common he should have allowed for it. Besides, Charles had often crossed the bridge and should have been prepared for a slick road. He'd have to pay for Shirley's injuries

For a defense of "act of God" to stand up in court, the defendant must show that the cause of the accident was extraordinary and unforeseeable, a hard thing to prove.

A hurricane where they are unheard of, an earthquake where they are unknown, a heavy snowfall where snow has been unknown before, might well be a defense against a suit for damages brought about by the "act of God."

Likewise, sometimes a person can claim "unavoidable accident" to defend a law suit. An apparently healthy young man who has a sudden heart attack and drives his car into another car is not likely to be held liable if he lives.

Sometimes, things are so unusual that no one could foresee an accident. In one case a woman was waiting on the platform to board a train near the scales Some distance away, trying to help a man catch a train, a conductor shoved him as he boarded a crowded train. The shove dislodged a package of fireworks from under the passenger's arm. When they landed the fireworks blew up and overturned the scales which fell and injured the waiting women.

The woman sued and lost. No one could possibly have foreseen such a chain of events, the court said. Plaintiff—poor woman was a victim of an "unforeseeable accident." Nobody was to blame. Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Many Schools Cited For Lunch Plan Lag

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin said Wednesday at a year-end news conference that long strides have been made toward President Nixon's goal of eliminating hunger.

"Never in the history of mankind has any nation made as massive an attack on malnutrition as this administration in its first two years," Hardin said. Monthly spending on family food relief programs rose from $43 million in May 1969 to $146 million last October, he said.

The number of needy children getting free or token-priced lunches rose from three million two years ago to about six million at the latest count — still short of the goal of reaching all such youngsters.

"Yes, there are still areas that need major improvement ... still people not being reached," said Hardin. But he said complete victory over hunger can be won.

Hardin agreed, under questioning, that schools in "a great many areas" are not yet complying with his department's standards for qualifying needy children for free lunches. He said he planned to rely primarily on tactics of persuasion to close the gap.

Hardin also told the news conference the administration had made progress in environmental improvement, consumer services and rural development and development of a new farm support program.

Some farm groups have criticized the administration's new price support programs, but Hardin said he believes most farmers will feel it is "fair and constructive and will enhance farm income."

Hardin said he expected some big farmers probably would look for "loopholes" in a new $55,000 per crop ceiling on farm subsidies. "It is our responsibility to close as many of these loopholes as possible," he said.

Hardin also said he hoped Congress would enact the compromise food stamp bill, even though it includes some features more restrictive than the administration's original plans.

Many Schools Cited For Lunch Plan Lag

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin said Wednesday at a year-end news conference that long strides have been made toward President Nixon's goal of eliminating hunger.

"Never in the history of mankind has any nation made as massive an attack on malnutrition as this administration in its first two years," Hardin said. Monthly spending on family food relief programs rose from $43 million in May 1969 to $146 million last October, he said.

The number of needy children getting free or token-priced lunches rose from three million two years ago to about six million at the latest count — still short of the goal of reaching all such youngsters.

"Yes, there are still areas that need major improvement ... still people not being reached," said Hardin. But he said complete victory over hunger can be won.

Hardin agreed, under questioning, that schools in "a great many areas" are not yet complying with his department's standards for qualifying needy children for free lunches. He said he planned to rely primarily on tactics of persuasion to close the gap.

Hardin also told the news conference the administration had made progress in environmental improvement, consumer services and rural development and development of a new farm support program.

Some farm groups have criticized the administration's new price support programs, but Hardin said he believes most farmers will feel it is "fair and constructive and will enhance farm income."

Hardin said he expected some big farmers probably would look for "loopholes" in a new $55,000 per crop ceiling on farm subsidies. "It is our responsibility to close as many of these loopholes as possible," he said.

Hardin also said he hoped Congress would enact the compromise food stamp bill, even though it includes some features more restrictive than the administration's original plans.

JIM GILMARTIN

Bigger And Better, Says Bruno Banducci

Good old Bruno Banducci, charter member of the San Francisco 49ers as a guard in 1946 and now the new head coach of Marin Catholic High School's varsity football team, was comparing pro football between his days and the present in a gabfest the other day.

"The only difference," he grinned, nudging Roland Lakes, the big defensive tackle for the champion Niners of 1970," is the size of the paychecks. A lineman in 1946 was paid $5,000 a season. That's peanuts to what they get today."

In speaking to the Marin 49er Goal Rushers Club Monday at the Holiday Inn, Terra Linda, Bandooch said, "The size of the players today is tremendous. Our center, Dutch Elston, for example, weighed only 190. Forrest Blue, the present 49er center, checks in at 266. Heck, I couldn't even make the ball club today because the players are just bigger and better."

Banucci, All-Pro in 1947, 1953 and 1954, said he was quite excited by the 49er champsionship victory over Oakland last Sunday. "For years we've been listening to how great the Raiders were and that we (the 49ers) were only the second best team in the Bay Area," he said. "Now we can say we're the best! And his is a young, talented team. I'm looking forward with enthusiasm to many years of championships."

Besides being a great guard, Banducci also was known around the pro leagues as quite an actor. An injury would stop the clock, so any time the Niners needed a time out or a little rest Bruno would do an injury fake swan dive that would put John Barrymore to shame. I think Bruno won an Academy Award in 1946, but he denies it.

Incidentally, Bandooch is the second 49er alumnus to coachat Marin Catholic. The aforementioned Elston tutored grid at the Kentfield parochial school several years ago.

THE MARIN GOAL RUSHERS this week also voted Forrest Blue at center and Bruce Taylor, the rookie corner back, as winners of their "Serendipity Awards." That means the team's most pleasant surprises of the season.

Blue beat out guard Randy Beisler and tackle Cas Banaszek on offense in the voting while Taylor was an easy winner over tackle Earl Edwards and end Tommy Hart on defense.

SHARON WALSH, the 18-year-old tennis queen from San Rafael, must be having a lovely time in perth, Australia where she is preparing for the Women's Tennis Federation Cup Championships which begin Saturday.

A news dispatch from Perth says blistering heat, a plague of bush flies and upset stomachs are hampering nearly all the competitors. It was 108 degrees at noon yesterday and there's worse to come, says the weatherman, perhaps up to 115 on the courts.

Also, millions of small bush flies, common in the West Australian capital in the summer months, are upsetting the players. The flies stick to their perspiring bodies and force the girls into repeated practicing errors as they wave their arms and racquets across their faces.

Oh swell. Tennis anyone?

SPEAKING OF WEATHER, there's no truth to the rumor that the 49ers are practicing in the meat freezers at the Del Monte Meat Co. for their Sunday showdown with the cold-blooded Vikings at frigid Minnesota.

I just have a hunch those fired up Niners will warm up the old Bloomington Stadium.

It's New Season For The Raiders

OAKLAND (UPI) —For the eight survivors of the National Football League's championship series, it's a new season.

"The season starts all over again this weekend," coach John Madden told his Oakland Raiders Wednesday as they made preparations to meet the Dolphins at the Oakland Coliseum Sunday.

"Eight teams are left and the current standings are zero-zero," he said. "After this, the losers go home and the winners go on."

The Raiders got good news when fullback Marv Hubbard returned to work. "My ankle feels a little tender," he said of the injury suffered two weeks ago. "I'll be ready."

On the other side of the ledger, however, reserve defensive back Jimmy Warren pulled a muscle. The seriousness of the injury was not immediately determined.

Tam Cagers Romp To Win Over Mills

Tamalpais High School's basketball team romped to an easy 52-42 victory over Mills High School yesterday in Milbrae in a non-league encounter.

John Earl Huff led the way for Tam with 22 points as the Indians increased their record to 7-2. Tam got off to an early 10-point lead and remained in front all the way.

Terra Linda High School's Cagers fell to a late surge by Crestmoor High School Tuesday in San Bruno, 56-54, in a non-league game.

The Trojans, now with a record of 6-3, led at the half 33-26 and at the three-quarter mark 45-39, but a 17-point final quarter by Crestmoor finished them.

Joe Casteel scored 15 and Bill Barry 14 for the Terra Linda Quint.

Drake High School's Pirates beat their Alumni team by a 56-54 margin last night in their annual pre-season basketball game at the San Anselmo school.

However, most of the scoring honors went to the alumni, including a 14-point performance by John Campbell who played at Drake in 1951-52. Rod Keener also had 14 points while Reg Carolan, the former professional football star, tallied 12 for the old grads.

None of the Pirates scored in double figures.

Alumni	23	54
Drake	25	56

Alumni scoring: Stone, 2-1-5; Keener, 5-4-14; Brackett, 0-1-1; Carolan, 4-4-12; Samet, 1-0-2; Tobin, 1-2-4; Campbell, 5-4-14; Hain, 1-0-2. Totals: 19-16-54.

Drake scoring: Singh, 3-1-7; Shaw, 1-0-2; Young, 1-0-2; Purcell, 0-2-2; Gregg, 3-0-6; Foster, 3-0-6; Chaffee, 2-0-4; Daubenfeld, 3-0-6; Gomez, 2-2-2; Wilkinson, 0-1-1; Carlisle, 2-3-7; Harnsberger, 2-3-7. Totals: 22-12-56.

Gridders Visit Hospital

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Players from the East and the West teams knew that they were giving up their Christmases for today.

They visited the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children Wednesday and met the youngsters they will help by playing before a packed house Jan. 2 in the Oakland Coliseum.

"They cheer you up," said Santa Clara quarterback Dan Pastorini, holding six-month-old Greg, who had both his legs in casts.

"Instead of their thanking you for coming, it seems we should thank them."

Michigan tackle Dan Dierdorf, a fierce-looking 250-pounder, growled at Cassandra to make her laugh and later pushed Paul around the hospital, cheerfully taking orders from the little boy.

Leo Dillon of Dayton rocked six-month-old Melissa in his arms and talked softly to her.

"The way he handles her, I thought he must be married," said a nurse. "He isn't, but he's a real candidate."

Dillon put the infant down when the players switched sides in the hospital. She howled in displeasure until the wife of Grambling's Willie Armstrong came along to rock the infant to sleep.

Penn State's All-America linebacker, Jack Ham, helped a little girl with a coloring book. When nurses brought the children presents, the girl tried to give hers to Ham.

Barry Brink, a Bay Area native from Mill Valley who wound up at Dartmouth, said, "I've been watching this game for years. It's really a thrill to be playing in it. When you see these kids, you realize what a great thing it is. This visit makes it all worth while."

49ers Get Four In Pro Bowl

Four San Francisco 49ers will be playing in the National Football League's Pro Bowl game Jan. 24 in Los Angeles.

On the offensive team will be the great passing combination of quarterback John Brodie and wide receiver Gene Washington, while standouts Dave Wilcox, linebacker, and Jim Johnson, cornerback, will add their talent to the defensive team.

Clemente Suspended

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI) — Pittsburgh Pirate outfielder Roberto Clemente was suspended for a week Wednesday and fined $100 by the Puerto Rico professional baseball league for alleged disrespect toward umpire John Ross in a game last Saturday. Clemente is player-manager of the San Juan Senators in the island's winter baseball league.

John Brodie Wins NFL's Top Honor

NEW YORK (UPI) — San Francisco's John Brodie and Minnesota's Alan Page, who will be colliding Sunday at Metropolitan Stadium in Minnesota, finished 1-2 in the balloting for the United Press International National Football Conference "Player of the Year" in 1970.

Brodie became the fifth consecutive quarterback to win the award in voting by 36 sportswriters and broadcasters from the 13 NFC cities. The San Francisco quarterback received 12 votes to seven for Page while 10 other players received one or two votes each.

San Francisco plays Minnesota Sunday in an NFC playoff game in which Brodie will be trying to pass over the rush of the Minnesota front four, paced by the charging Page and Carl Eller.

Brodie is the third player from San Francisco to win the award since it was inaugurated in 1953. Joe Perry in 1954 and Y.A. Tittle in 957 were the other two.

The last time a running back took the award was in 1965 when Jimmy Brown of the Cleveland Browns received the accolade. Since then the winners have been Bart Starr of Green Bay in 1966, John Unitas of Baltimore in 1967, Earl Morrall of Baltimore in 1968 and Roman Gabriel of Los Angeles in 969.

Brodie led the Forty Niners to their first division title in the 25-year history of the franchise when he threw three touchdown passes in the regular season finale against Oakland last Sunday to nail down the crown.

The performance climaxed the best season of Brodie's career as he hit on 223 passes for 378 yards, for a 59 completion percentage.

JOHN BRODIE

Brodie, in his 14th season, was ranked as the fourth best active passer in the NFC and eighth on the all-time list when the 1970 season began. He has thrown 300 or more passes every season since 1962, except in 1963 when he was injured and missed 11 games.

Brodie's passing is one of the main reasons why the Forty Niners have the No. 1 offense in the NFC and are averaging 321 yards per game in total offense.

This will make an interesting contrast with Minnesota, since the Viking defense ranks No. 1. The Vikings, with Page spearheading the front four, have allowed only 200 yards a game and have gotten to the passer 49 times this season. The Forty Niner offensive line has let the opposing rushers get to the quarterback only eight times this year.

Page, who starred on Notre Dame's national championship team in 1966, stepped right into the Viking front four and is in his second year as an all-league standout.

Seals Get Another Gift From Finley

OAKLAND (UPI) —At the rate they're going, the California Golden Seals may wind up as the best dressed team in the National Hockey League.

Owner Charles O. Finley has come through with another generous monetary gift. From Chicago, Finley ordered $100 gift orders for the Seals after they clobbered the Chicago Black Hawks, 5-2, Tuesday. Earlier this season, Finley presented the team with $200 suits.

If the players wish, they can rush out into the holiday shopping mob and come up with some apparel for their next road trip which will keep them away from home on both Christmas and New Years.

The Seals open a five-game cross-country trip starting in Los Angeles Saturday and ending in Detroit Jan. 3.

From Southern California, the Seals will journey to New York, Toronto, Montreal and wind it up in the Motor City.

With their 11-19-2 record, the Seals trail fifth place Pittsburgh by just two points in the NHL West.

Streaking Marin Tars Win Again

Those streaking College of Marin Tars have done it again!

Last night, before a crowd of 500 at Marin's Kentfield gym, Coach John Panagakis' Tars whipped Cosumnes River College of Sacramento, 91-78, for their seventh straight pre-season basketball victory and 12th in 13 games.

"At times we played well, but it wasn't one of our better games," said Panagakis. "We go hot and cold. The kids seem to let down when they get a lead. Cosumnes got to within eight points of us in the second half, but then we pulled away."

Marin made only 23 of 40 foul shots, ". . .which is below par for us," the coach said.

Cosumnes, a first year school, came into Marin with an 8-2 won-lost record.

Rosevelt Green, the 6-foot-5 transfer from San Francisco City College, led Marin scoring with 22 points. He was ably assisted by Joe Smith with 20, Ed Herrnberger with 13 and Mike Peden with 11.

"It's going to be a good game Saturday night," Panagakis said, referring to Marin's meeting with strong Ohlone College of Hayward. The game will be played at Kentfield starting at 8 o'clock.

JACKSONVILLE SUFFERS 1ST CAGE DEFEAT

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)— Jim McDaniels poured in 46 points Wednesday night to lead 11th -ranked Western Kentucky to a 97-84 win over third-ranked Jacksonville before 17,492 fans at Freedom Hall.

The 7-foot McDaniels won his heralded battle with Jacksonville's 7-foot-2 Artis Gilmore as Gilmore tossed in 29 points, but Gilmore had the rebounding edge, 18-11.

McDaniels sparked Western streaks at the start of both halves, scoring 9 of Western's first 24 points in the game and 11 out of the first 13 points in the second half.

Stanford Gets Some Time Off

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)— Stanford football players, drilling for the Rose Bowl game against Ohio State, will work out this morning and then they'll be turned loose on their own until Christmas night.

The Ohio State players will have no such freedom but will remain under the watchful eyes of their coach Woody Hayes and his assistants. They'll have a Christmas party tonight at their hotel here.

"We may take a ride around the country," said Hayes. "I don't want them to get homesick."

Hayes, undefeated in three appearances in the New Year's Day game, runs a much tighter ship than his Stanford counterpart, John Ralston.

Ralston and his players had dinner out Wednesday night at the traditional Beef Bowl staged by Lawry's Prime Rib restaurant. In the past Big Ten teams ate there too and the pounds of beef consumed were measured by Hayes who doesn't allow his squad to participate any more.

Wednesday Ralston worked his squad in sweat suits at Cal State Long Beach.

"We worked on goal line offense and defense," he said. "I'm quite satisfied with the way things are coming."

Today's workout was scheduled for 9:45 a.m. to 11:15 a.m. Some of the Stanford players said they planned to fly north to spend time with their families.

Hayes, overseeing Buckeye drills at East Los Angeles College, said Wednesday, "We had our best practice session so far for two reasons—the field was in halfway decent shape although a bit spongy from the rains, and it's getting closer to game time."

Quarterback Rex Kern had a touch of the flu, Hayes said, but refused to stay at the hotel.

"He said he wanted to practice," said Hayes, "so I let him.

Niners Get Ready For Ice

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — The San Francisco Forty Niners may be in the market for an ice house the size of a field house. They need it to prepare for their National Football Conference playoff battle Sunday against the Vikings in frigid Minnesota.

While undergoing drills at their camp here Wednesday, the Forty Niners learned that the forecast for the game is for 28-degree temperature.

There shouldn't be any snow on the playing field, however. last year, in Minnesota's 10-7 victory, officials had to use brooms to clear off line markers.

But the Forty Niners, a division winner for the first time in their 25-year history, didn't sound overly concerned as they charged through their final preparation drills.

"I'd play in Saskatchewan," commented fullback Ken Willard on the importance of the game.

JIM GILMARTIN

Bigger And Better, Says Bruno Banducci

Good old Bruno Banducci, charter member of the San Francisco 49ers as a guard in 1946 and now the new head coach of Marin Catholic High School's varsity football team, was comparing pro football between his days and the present in a gabfest the other day.

"The only difference," he grinned, nudging Roland Lakes, the big defensive tackle for the champion Niners of 1970," is the size of the paychecks. A lineman in 1946 was paid $5,000 a season. That's peanuts to what they get today."

In speaking to the Marin 49er Goal Rushers Club Monday at the Holiday Inn, Terra Linda, Bandooch said, "The size of the players today is tremendous. Our center, Dutch Elston, for example, weighed only 190. Forrest Blue, the present 49er center, checks in at 266. Heck, I couldn't even make the ball club today because the players are just bigger and better."

Banucci, All-Pro in 1947, 1953 and 1954, said he was quite excited by the 49er champsionship victory over Oakland last Sunday. "For years we've been listening to how great the Raiders were and that we (the 49ers) were only the second best team in the Bay Area," he said. "Now we can say we're the best! And his is a young, talented team. I'm looking forward with enthusiasm to many years of championships."

Besides being a great guard, Banducci also was known around the pro leagues as quite an actor. An injury would stop the clock, so any time the Niners needed a time out or a little rest Bruno would do an injury fake swan dive that would put John Barrymore to shame. I think Bruno won an Academy Award in 1946, but he denies it.

Incidentally, Bandooch is the second 49er alumnus to coachat Marin Catholic. The aforementioned Elston tutored grid at the Kentfield parochial school several years ago.

THE MARIN GOAL RUSHERS this week also voted Forrest Blue at center and Bruce Taylor, the rookie corner back, as winners of their "Serendipity Awards." That means the team's most pleasant surprises of the season.

Blue beat out guard Randy Beisler and tackle Cas Banaszek on offense in the voting while Taylor was an easy winner over tackle Earl Edwards and end Tommy Hart on defense.

SHARON WALSH, the 18-year-old tennis queen from San Rafael, must be having a lovely time in perth, Australia where she is preparing for the Women's Tennis Federation Cup Championships which begin Saturday.

A news dispatch from Perth says blistering heat, a plague of bush flies and upset stomachs are hampering nearly all the competitors. It was 108 degrees at noon yesterday and there's worse to come, says the weatherman, perhaps up to 115 on the courts.

Also, millions of small bush flies, common in the West Australian capital in the summer months, are upsetting the players. The flies stick to their perspiring bodies and force the girls into repeated practicing errors as they wave their arms and racquets across their faces.

Oh swell. Tennis anyone?

SPEAKING OF WEATHER, there's no truth to the rumor that the 49ers are practicing in the meat freezers at the Del Monte Meat Co. for their Sunday showdown with the cold-blooded Vikings at frigid Minnesota.

I just have a hunch those fired up Niners will warm up the old Bloomington Stadium.

It's New Season For The Raiders

OAKLAND (UPI) —For the eight survivors of the National Football League's championship series, it's a new season.

"The season starts all over again this weekend," coach John Madden told his Oakland Raiders Wednesday as they made preparations to meet the Dolphins at the Oakland Coliseum Sunday.

"Eight teams are left and the current standings are zero-zero," he said. "After this, the losers go home and the winners go on."

The Raiders got good news when fullback Marv Hubbard returned to work. "My ankle feels a little tender," he said of the injury suffered two weeks ago. "I'll be ready."

On the other side of the ledger, however, reserve defensive back Jimmy Warren pulled a muscle. The seriousness of the injury was not immediately determined.

Tam Cagers Romp To Win Over Mills

Tamalpais High School's basketball team romped to an easy 52-42 victory over Mills High School yesterday in Milbrae in a non-league encounter.

John Earl Huff led the way for Tam with 22 points as the Indians increased their record to 7-2. Tam got off to an early 10-point lead and remained in front all the way.

Terra Linda High School's Cagers fell to a late surge by Crestmoor High School Tuesday in San Bruno, 56-54, in a non-league game.

The Trojans, now with a record of 6-3, led at the half 33-26 and at the three-quarter mark 45-39, but a 17-point final quarter by Crestmoor finished them.

Joe Casteel scored 15 and Bill Barry 14 for the Terra Linda Quint.

Drake High School's Pirates beat their Alumni team by a 56-54 margin last night in their annual pre-season basketball game at the San Anselmo school.

However, most of the scoring honors went to the alumni, including a 14-point performance by John Campbell who played at Drake in 1951-52. Rod Keener also had 14 points while Reg Carolan, the former professional football star, tallied 12 for the old grads.

None of the Pirates scored in double figures.

Gridders Visit Hospital

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Players from the East and the West teams knew that they were giving up their Christmases for today.

They visited the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children Wednesday and met the youngsters they will help by playing before a packed house Jan. 2 in the Oakland Coliseum.

"They cheer you up," said Santa Clara quarterback Dan Pastorini, holding six-month-old Greg, who had both his legs in casts.

"Instead of their thanking you for coming, it seems we should thank them."

Michigan tackle Dan Dierdorf, a fierce-looking 250-pounder, growled at Cassandra to make her laugh and later pushed Paul around the hospital, cheerfully taking orders from the little boy.

Leo Dillon of Dayton rocked six-month-old Melissa in his arms and talked softly to her.

"The way he handles her, I thought he must be married," said a nurse. "He isn't, but he's a real candidate."

Dillon put the infant down when the players switched sides in the hospital. She howled in displeasure until the wife of Grambling's Willie Armstrong came along to rock the infant to sleep.

Penn State's All-America linebacker, Jack Ham, helped a little girl with a coloring book. When nurses brought the children presents, the girl tried to give hers to Ham.

Barry Brink, a Bay Area native from Mill Valley who wound up at Dartmouth, said, "I've been watching this game for years. It's really a thrill to be playing in it. When you see these kids, you realize what a great thing it is. This visit makes it all worth while."

Clemente Suspended

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI) — Pittsburgh Pirate outfielder Roberto Clemente was suspended for a week Wednesday and fined $100 by the Puerto Rico professional baseball league for alleged disrespect toward umpire John Ross in a game last Saturday. Clemente is player-manager of the San Juan Senators in the island's winter baseball league.

John Brodie Wins NFL's Top Honor

NEW YORK (UPI) — San Francisco's John Brodie and Minnesota's Alan Page, who will be colliding Sunday at Metropolitan Stadium in Minnesota, finished 1-2 in the balloting for the United Press International National Football Conference "Player of the Year" in 1970.

Brodie became the fifth consecutive quarterback to win the award in voting by 36 sportswriters and broadcasters from the 13 NFC cities. The San Francisco quarterback received 12 votes to seven for Page while 10 other players received one or two votes each.

San Francisco plays Minnesota Sunday in an NFC playoff game in which Brodie will be trying to pass over the rush of the Minnesota front four, paced by the charging Page and Carl Eller.

Brodie is the third player from San Francisco to win the award since it was inaugurated in 1953. Joe Perry in 1954 and Y.A. Tittle in 957 were the other two.

The last time a running back took the award was in 1965 when Jimmy Brown of the Cleveland Browns received the accolade. Since then the winners have been Bart Starr of Green Bay in 1966, John Unitas of Baltimore in 1967, Earl Morrall of Baltimore in 1968 and Roman Gabriel of Los Angeles in 969.

Brodie led the Forty Niners to their first division title in the 25-year history of the franchise when he threw three touchdown passes in the regular season finale against Oakland last Sunday to nail down the crown.

The performance climaxed the best season of Brodie's career as he hit on 223 passes for 378 yards, for a 59 completion percentage.

JOHN BRODIE

Brodie, in his 14th season, was ranked as the fourth best active passer in the NFC and eighth on the all-time list when the 1970 season began. He has thrown 300 or more passes every season since 1962, except in 1963 when he was injured and missed 11 games.

Brodie's passing is one of the main reasons why the Forty Niners have the No. 1 offense in the NFC and are averaging 321 yards per game in total offense.

This will make an interesting contrast with Minnesota, since the Viking defense ranks No. 1. The Vikings, with Page spearheading the front four, have allowed only 200 yards a game and have gotten to the passer 49 times this season. The Forty Niner offensive line has let the opposing rushers get to the quarterback only eight times this year.

Page, who starred on Notre Dame's national championship team in 1966, stepped right into the Viking front four and is in his second year as an all-league standout.

Seals Get Another Gift From Finley

OAKLAND (UPI) —At the rate they're going, the California Golden Seals may wind up as the best dressed team in the National Hockey League.

Owner Charles O. Finley has come through with another generous monetary gift. From Chicago, Finley ordered $100 gift orders for the Seals after they clobbered the Chicago Black Hawks, 5-2, Tuesday. Earlier this season, Finley presented the team with $200 suits.

If the players wish, they can rush out into the holiday shopping mob and come up with some apparel for their next road trip which will keep them away from home on both Christmas and New Years.

The Seals open a five-game cross-country trip starting in Los Angeles Saturday and ending in Detroit Jan. 3.

From Southern California, the Seals will journey to New York, Toronto, Montreal and wind it up in the Motor City.

With their 11-19-2 record, the Seals trail fifth place Pittsburgh by just two points in the NHL West.

FISH AND GAME

Don't Forget New License

By AL GIDDINGS

A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all of you!

And don't forget to get your new year license for fishing in 1971. Sure hate to have you start the new year in the hoosegow!

Just to keep my family in line, I bought licenses for Mary, my wife, and for Andy and and Marylu, my two teen-agers who never seem to have $5 for the all around license! Then my daughter thought I should buy her boy friend a license too, just to start him out with a clean bill of health for 1971. I also bought one for myself!

THE STATE Department of Public Health called me to set up the mercury check for myself and perhaps Marty Medin, Bob Wilson and Sam Knoles, all fishermen friends who eat fish two or three times each week. The results should be most interesting. The tests are scheduled for just after the holidays. Maybe we'll all be labeled human thermometers!

I received a release from Ducks Unlimited the other day. William P. Elser of La Jolla, Calif., president of the 50,000 member conservation group, announced that the trustees of the Richard King Mellon Charitable Trusts of Pittsburg, Pa., have authorized a record contribution of $500,000 to Ducks Unlimited's Waterfowl Wetlands Projects.

The grant is programmed for annual installments of $100,000 over each of the next five years. These funds will be utilized during 1971 for the development of the Cadotte and Bridge Lakes projects, top waterfowl production areas with important shoreline areas totaling over 100 miles, located in western Canada's prime duck country. Now isn't that great?

Following this with further good duck news, it was reported by the Department of Fish and Game that waterfowl losses due to botulism in California totaled 23,000 birds this year. This compared with 117,000 birds in 1969 and is certainly a good improvement in keeping the birds healthy and alive.

CALIFORNIA'S waterfowl population reached a new high for this season with more than six million birds reported wintering in Northern California and the Central Valley. A survey flown on Dec. 9 produced a count of 5,982,650 ducks and 384,985 geese. The survey tallied the peak duck populations for this season and it is also higher than any of the duck populations recorded in last year's surveys.

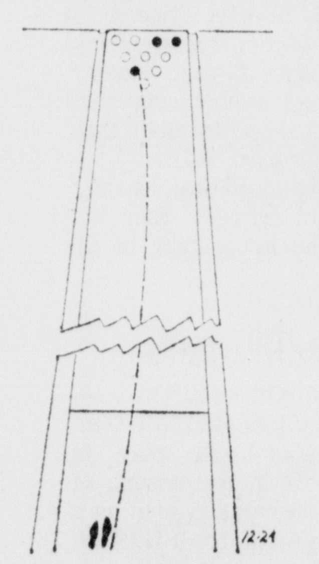
A large share of the birds were on the flooded bypasses. Some 121,00 ducks and 8,660 geese were counted on Tule and Lower Klamath refugees. The largest concentrations of birds are now in the Yolo Bypass where 2,371,825 ducks and 9,365 geese were counted. Other major concentrations were on the San Luis Refuge, the an Luis Reservoir, the Sacramento Refuge and the Butte Sink. Surveys are flown every two weeks during the fall and winter migration season, weather conditions allowing.

HUNTERS bagged a minimum of 21 elk including 10 bulls, 10 cows and one calf in the state's second hunt for Rocky Mountain Elk in the rugged Squaw Creek area of Shasta and Siskiyou counties. One-hundred permits were awarded for the special hunt in that area east and north of Shasta Lake. Originally 50 elk were transplanted to the area from Yellowstone National Park in 1916. Today's herd of an estimated 1,000 elk has grown from that plant.

THERE ARE two low tides over this coming weekend in the afternoon good enough for abalones and clams. Abalone season closes Jan. 14. The outgoing tides all this week are tops for bass and sturgeon.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG



In shooting spares it's a good idea to establish an imaginary spare "line" from the outside of your right foot to the place you wish to strike the pins before you roll. If you then get the usual amount of hook, you will get the spare if you use this system. It also works if you roll a straight ball.

A Great Switch For Briscoe

NEW YORK (UPI)—Marlin the Magician turned from an also-ran passer to the leading pass receiver in the American Football League Conference.

Marlin Briscoe, who broke into pro football as a quarterback, grabbed 57 passes this season for 1,036 yards and scored eight Buffalo touchdowns with some miraculous catches.

Floyd Little, bothered by a back injury in his last few games, won the conference rushing title with 901 yards on 209 carries. The Denver speedster's 80-yard touchdown run was the second longest from scrimmage among the top-20 ground gainers in the AFC.

Daryle Lamonica of Oakland took passing honors with 179 completions in 356 attempts for a 50.3 average and 2,516 yards gained, tops in the conference. His 22 touchdown passes was equaled by runnerup John Hadl of San Diego.

In scoring, Jan Stenerud's place kicking for Kansas City accounted for a conference-leading 116 points on 26 conversions and 30 field goals.

In other departments: Johnny Robinson of Kansas City topped the AFC in interceptions with 10 thefts and teammate Ed Podolak led the conference in punt returns with a 13.5-yard average. Jim Duncan of Baltimore had the best kickoff return average, 35.4, including a 99 yard runback for a touchdown, and Dave Lewis of Cincinnati had the best punting average, 46.2 yards.

49er Ticket Holders First

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Forty Niners today announced a plan whereby season ticket holders and fans who have made reservations to buy season tickets for next year can purchase tickets for the NFC championship game in the event the Forty Niners host the title battle Jan. 3.

They will be given first shot at the tickets Monday and Tuesday at the Cow Palace. There will be no public sale until later.

Boston's Wayne Cashman had the upper hand as he collided with Detroit Red Wing Ronnie Harris in front of the Wings' bench during last night's game at Olympia Stadium in Detroit. The Bruins won the game, 2-1, their ninth straight victory, and increased their hold on first place in the National Hockey League's East Division.

Brodie Tops In Passing Statistics

NEW YORK (UPI) — San Francisco fans cheered two "firsts" today and both could be traced to John Brodie's rifle arm.

The Forty-Niners won their first title since gaining a franchise when San Francisco captured the National Football Conference's Western Division crown last Sunday. Enroute, Brodie gained his first passing title in 14 seasons as a pro.

Brodie led in two of the four rating categories —24 touchdowns and a 2.6 interception percentage, He was second in the other two —a 59.0 passing percentage and 7.78 average yards gained per pass.

Larry Brown of Washington set a Redskin rushing record of 1,125 yards and it was enough to make him the National Football League's leading ground gainer this season.

Dick Gordon of the Chicago Bears was the NFC's top pass receiver with 71 catches for 1,026 yards and 13 touchdowns, while Fred Cox, Minnesota's kicking specialist, captured the scoring title with 125 points. Cox booted 35 extra points and 30 field goals for his total.

Dick LeBeau, veteran Detroit cornerback, intercepted nine passes to win that title and raise his career total of pass steals to 56; Julian Fagan of New Orleans led the conference punters with a 42.5-yard average; Bruce Taylor of San Francisco was the top punt returner with a 12.0 average and Cecil Turner of Chicago, who set a league record by returning four kickoffs for scores, led the department with a 32.7-yard return average.

Here's A Pick For The 49ers

By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK (UPI)—No, I don't care to bet so don't call me, I'll call you, but I keep seeing Cincinnati in the Super Bowl.

For that to ever happen the Bengals are going to have to beat Baltimore Saturday and I can see them doing that all right even though the Colts have Johnny Unitas and Earl Morrall going for them along with the odds in their own backyard.

I also see San Francisco upsetting Minnesota, Detroit developing into another disappointment for Dallas and Oakland taking care of Miami. Maybe now you're busting to know how Cincinnati makes out in the Super Bowl? I have to break down and admit I can't see that far.

The one thing you can count on is Cincinnati coming into Saturday's game well-coached. Paul Brown is the same kind of perfectionist with his players that Rembrandt was with his oils and I get a kick out of the way he compares his present Bengals with his old champion Cleveland Browns. He doesn't.

"The players on this team average only 2.8 years in professional football," Brown says. "They're not as mature as the Cleveland players were and that makes a lot of difference when it comes to championship games.

"You have to remember with Cleveland we had fellows like Graham, Motley, Speedie and others like that."

Paul Brown is right. The Bengals have no stars but there was a time when the Green Bay Packers didn't have any either and a man named Vince Lombardi turned them into a winner anyway. Paul Brown is the same kind of a man. The Bengals are an expansion club only three years old but watch 'em. They don't make many mistakes and have a way of knocking over teams they're not supposed to beat. I think they'll surprise the Colts.

The only way San Francisco is going to beat Minnesota on the Vikings' home ice is with short passes.

That's the way the New York Jets beat the Vikings four weeks ago. Al Woodall, the Jets' quarterback, did it with short passes. I imagine this hasn't escaped Dick Nolan's attention either. The Vikes have the best defense in the league but defending against those short flips is like trying to defend against the perfectly executed bunt. You can't. No matter how good you are.

Besides, the Forty Niners have the best possible man for those short tosses. John Brodie. Talk to the guys whose job it is to defend against his passes sometime. You know how on a good day you can see forever? On one of John Brodie's good days it seems like you're getting beat forever.

As far as the Detroit Lions are concerned they believe Saturday's ball game with Dallas amounts to their entire season.

"We feel Dallas is the key," says Mike Lucci, the Lions' fine linebacker. "If we can beat the Cowboys, we feel we can go to the Super Bowl and go all the way."

Mike Lucci doesn't say so but from what I gather the Lions feel they can cope with whichever team wins Sunday's Minnesota-San Francisco contest not withstanding the fact they lost two games to the Gikings this season.

I've always been a Tom Landry man and still am, but I've seen Dallas pull up short too often and Craig Morton still hasn't made a believer out of me. That's why I'm going with the Lions.

Which brings me to the three reasons I like Oakland over Miami Sunday —Linebacker Dan Connors, defensive tackle Tom Keating and defensive back Dave Grayson. They, even more than Daryle Lamonica and George Blanda, generally determine whether Oakland wins or loses.

Grayson is the "center fielder." The Raiders like to keep him roaming around free 80 or 90 per cent of the time and anytime they do, nothing gets by him. Nothing. Also, the Raiders have been in playoffs before; the Dolphins never.

"We hit people harder than they hit us," claims Howard Twilley, Miami's wide receiver. "We beat Oakland earlier this season and we think we can beat 'em again."

Miami won the game Twilley is talking about, 20-3, on a pair of spectacular catches by Paul Warfield.

Unsung Heroes In Miami

MIAMI (UPI)—It's now the unsung heroes bowl, the Shrine College All-Star game in the Orange Bowl Christmas night, and you can believe 56 players will clash with all the zeal of Notre Damers trying to upset the No. 1 Texas Longhorns.

Time was when the Shriners were able to sign up some of the brightest stars in college football to play for the benefit of crippled children. The Oakland Raiders' George Blanda, Sonny Jurgensen of the Washington Redskins, Alan Ameche of the Baltimore Colts, Mississippi's fabled Barney Poole were only a few of the big-name players participating in the 22 years past.

Now the dozens of post season bowl games tie down the big college performers. This gives a chance to some really good football players from the small colleges and the bowl runnerup teams to show their stuff before a national television (ABC) audience and, more important, a big battery of pro team scouts.

Take little Jim Lindsey of Sweeny, Tex. Few outside of his Southwest small college circuit have heard of him and at 5-11, 185 pounds he's not on many pro scouting lists as a quarterback.

But Lindsey has to have something on the ball for in his college career he has amassed a total of 8,721 yards passing to shatter all offense records on all college books. This season he averaged more than 300 yards per game while throwing for 25 touchdowns.

Lindsey will play for the South All-Stars.

On the North All-Stars bench is Lynn Dickey, who has been praised by many football players. He's the guy who set nine Big Eight Conference passing records and led Kansas State to upset victories over Oklahoma and Missouri.

But what about Ken Anderson of Augustana College in Illinois? His credentials are more impressive. In his career he has accounted for 6,333 yards and 50 touchdowns passing and has run for 22 more touchdowns. He also started kicking his junior year and accounted for 29 extra points and nine field goals. The scouts have their eyes on Anderson.

The heroics get underway at 4:30 p.m. Christmas Day. On the strength of some big and proven linemen from the big 10 teams not going to the Rose Bowl, the North All-Stars are favored to capture their fifth victory in a row. The series now stands 11-10-1 in favor of the South.

THE SKI SCENE

Sugar Bowl's Huge Expansion

By CHARLIE COANE

While other ski resorts in the Sierra Mountains held back major expansions this season, Sugar Bowl, located near Donner Summit, plunged into its 31st skiing campaign with a $1 million expansion program that can only be good news to skiers.

"There won't be any wait now to get in and out of Sugar Bowl," maintains vice president-general manager Don Schwartz. Even Schwartz admits that the hassel in and out on the magic carpet between the highway and the ski area has been a thorn in his side for some time. Now he's added the magic carpet double chairlift next to the gondola, and suddenly the two lifts can wisk 1,500 skiers hourly to the slopes — three times as many as in years past. Before this season, long lines with long waits would develop at the gondola and skiers even trudged across the snowy valley to avoid the wait.

"No longer," says Schwartz. "It's about eight minutes by gondola or four minutes on the lift, and you're ready to ski." Sugar Bowl now has seven double chairlifts, a four-passenger gondola, one T-bar and a rope tow — making it the fourth largest winter resort around these parts behind Squaw Valley, Heavenly Valley and Mammoth Mountain.

The second big "happening" at Sugar Bowl is the doubling of the size of its garage to accomodate 600 cars on three levels, two of which are covered — very unique, indeed, at a ski area.

Other improvements this season include a 10 x 14 foot map at the bottom of Mt. Lincoln outlining all lifts and trails. You'll notice considerable grooming of all trails on both Mt. Lincoln and Mt. Disney, and a powder run has been added to Mt. Crow's Nest.

"Our most exciting new run is California Street on Mt. Lincoln," says Schwartz. "Like the street in San Francisco, our run has all degrees of steepness and is now one of our most popular runs."

Sugar Bowl also offers free skiing to all youngsters under 12 on the 800-foot rope tow, and night skiing every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday on the Nob Hill chairlift. The weekend adult ticket rate is $8. If you're a student, in the military, a Far West Ski Association member, a stewardess or a Playboy Club bunny — half price rates apply during midweek.

Thought for the future: Arapahoe Basin near Denver takes reservations for skiing on weekends through various ski shops and other outlets. When their quota is filled, that's it. No reservation, no skiing — and no lift lines.

Pac-8 Basketballers Finally Turn Chilly

By United Press International

It figured that the Pacific Eight basketball teams could not keep up their hot early-season pre-season pace. And the big chill started Wednesday night.

Even mighty UCLA looked lackluster as the Bruins were only able to dispose of St. Louis' 79-65 at home Wednesday. The great Bruin front line of Curtis Rowe, Sidney Wicks and Steve Patterson hit 54 of the winners' points. UCLA is 6-0 this season and has won 11 straight since losing to USC last season. The win skein includes the NCAA tourney victories that made the Bruins national champ for the fourth year in a row.

Elsewhere, Wednesday night the Pac-8 lost three.

Idaho nipped Washington, now 4-4, 71-70 when Malcolm Taylor hit a 10-footer with three seconds left. Taylor had 21 and Steve Hawes of the losers scored 21.

Stanford hosted tough Villanova and fell 96-76 as Howard Porter scored 34 for the winners. Claude Terry hit 18 for the Indians.

And Oregon State called on unbeaten Tennessee and receipted for an 89-61 thumping despite Mike Kerk's 19 points.

Meanwhile, Long Beach State, probably the Coast's toughest team outside of the Pac-8, got the stiffest kind of fight at home from UC Riverside. The 49ers survived the visitors' slowdown tactics for a 58-50 win, with soph guard Ed Ratleff hitting 21 for the winners.

And UOP, early favorite to join UCLA and Long Beach State in post-season NCAA play, also got a surprisingly tough test before disposing of lightly-regarded cross-town rival San Jose State, 74-68. And the Spartans went without their top scorer, Johnny Skinner, who was benched by coach Danny Glines for missing a pre-game meal.

St. Mary's, 4-22 last year, is 4-5 this time around under new coach Bruce Hale after dumping Sonoma State 91-73. The losers are now 0-7.

FISH AND GAME

Don't Forget New License

By AL GIDDINGS

A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all of you!

And don't forget to get your new year license for fishing in 1971. Sure hate to have you start the new year in the hoosegow!

Just to keep my family in line, I bought licenses for Mary, my wife, and for Andy and and Marylu, my two teen-agers who never seem to have $5 for the all around license! Then my daughter thought I should buy her boy friend a license too, just to start him out with a clean bill of health for 1971. I also bought one for myself!

THE STATE Department of Public Health called me to set up the mercury check for myself and perhaps Marty Medin, Bob Wilson and Sam Knoles, all fishermen friends who eat fish two or three times each week. The results should be most interesting. The tests are scheduled for just after the holidays. Maybe we'll all be labeled human thermometers!

I received a release from Ducks Unlimited the other day. William P. Elser of La Jolla, Calif., president of the 50,000 member conservation group, announced that the trustees of the Richard King Mellon Charitable Trusts of Pittsburg, Pa., have authorized a record contribution of $500,000 to Ducks Unlimited's Waterfowl Wetlands Projects.

The grant is programmed for annual installments of $100,000 over each of the next five years. These funds will be utilized during 1971 for the development of the Cadotte and Bridge Lakes projects, top waterfowl production areas with important shoreline areas totaling over 100 miles, located in western Canada's prime duck country. Now isn't that great?

Following this with further good duck news, it was reported by the Department of Fish and Game that waterfowl losses due to botulism in California totaled 23,000 birds this year. This compared with 117,000 birds in 1969 and is certainly a good improvement in keeping the birds healthy and alive.

CALIFORNIA'S waterfowl population reached a new high for this season with more than six million birds reported wintering in Northern California and the Central Valley. A survey flown on Dec. 9 produced a count of 5,982,650 ducks and 384,985 geese. The survey tallied the peak duck populations for this season and it is also higher than any of the duck populations recorded in last year's surveys.

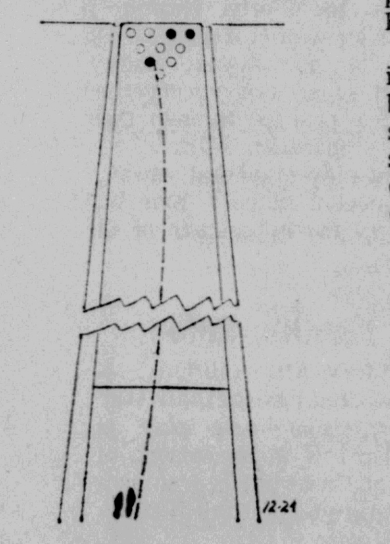
A large share of the birds were on the flooded bypasses. Some 121,00 ducks and 8,660 geese were counted on Tule and Lower Klamath refugees. The largest concentrations of birds are now in the Yolo Bypass where 2,371,825 ducks and 9,365 geese were counted. Other major concentrations were on the San Luis Refuge, the an Luis Reservoir, the Sacramento Refuge and the Butte Sink. Surveys are flown every two weeks during the fall and winter migration season, weather conditions allowing.

HUNTERS bagged a minimum of 21 elk including 10 bulls, 10 cows and one calf in the state's second hunt for Rocky Mountain Elk in the rugged Squaw Creek area of Shasta and Siskiyou counties. One-hundred permits were awarded for the special hunt in that area east and north of Shasta Lake. Originally 50 elk were transplanted to the area from Yellowstone National Park in 1916. Today's herd of an estimated 1,000 elk has grown from that plant.

THERE ARE two low tides over this coming weekend in the afternoon good enough for abalones and clams. Abalone season closes Jan. 14. The outgoing tides all this week are tops for bass and sturgeon.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG



In shooting spares it's a good idea to establish an imaginary spare "line" from the outside of your right foot to the place you wish to strike the pins before you roll. If you then get the usual amount of hook, you will get the spare if you use this system. It also works if you roll a straight ball.

A Great Switch For Briscoe

NEW YORK (UPI)—Marlin the Magician turned from an also-ran passer to the leading pass receiver in the American Football League Conference.

Marlin Briscoe, who broke into pro football as a quarterback, grabbed 57 passes this season for 1,036 yards and scored eight Buffalo touchdowns with some miraculous catches.

Floyd Little, bothered by a back injury in his last few games, won the conference rushing title with 901 yards on 209 carries. The Denver speedster's 80-yard touchdown run was the second longest from scrimmage among the top-20 ground gainers in the AFC.

Daryle Lamonica of Oakland took passing honors with 179 completions in 356 attempts for a 50.3 average and 2,516 yards gained, tops in the conference. His 22 touchdown passes was equaled by runnerup John Hadl of San Diego.

In scoring, Jan Stenerud's place kicking for Kansas City accounted for a conference-leading 116 points on 26 conversions and 30 field goals.

In other departments: Johnny Robinson of Kansas City topped the AFC in interceptions with 10 thefts and teammate Ed Podolak led the conference in punt returns with a 13.5-yard average. Jim Duncan of Baltimore had the best kickoff return average, 35.4, including a 99 yard runback for a touchdown, and Dave Lewis of Cincinnati had the best punting average, 46.2 yards.

The Forty-Niners won their first title since gaining a franchise when San Francisco captured the National Football Conference's Western Division crown last Sunday. Enroute, Brodie gained his first passing title in 14 seasons as a pro.

Brodie led in two of the four rating categories —24 touchdowns and a 2.6 interception percentage, He was second in the other two —a 59.0 passing percentage and 7.78 average yards gained per pass.

Larry Brown of Washington set a Redskin rushing record of 1,125 yards and it was enough to make him the National Football League's leading ground gainer this season.

Dick Gordon of the Chicago Bears was the NFC's top pass receiver with 71 catches for 1,026 yards and 13 touchdowns, while Fred Cox, Minnesota's kicking specialist, captured the scoring title with 125 points. Cox booted 35 extra points and 30 field goals for his total.

Dick LeBeau, veteran Detroit cornerback, intercepted nine passes to win that title and raise his career total of pass steals to 56; Julian Fagan of New Orleans led the conference punters with a 42.5-yard average; Bruce Taylor of San Francisco was the top punt returner with a 12.0 average and Cecil Turner of Chicago, who set a league record by returning four kickoffs for scores, led the department with a 32.7-yard return average.

Here's A Pick For The 49ers

By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK (UPI)—No, I don't care to bet so don't call me, I'll call you, but I keep seeing Cincinnati in the Super Bowl.

For that to ever happen the Bengals are going to have to beat Baltimore Saturday and I can see them doing that all right even though the Colts have Johnny Unitas and Earl Morrall going for them along with the odds in their own backyard.

I also see San Francisco upsetting Minnesota, Detroit developing into another disappointment for Dallas and Oakland taking care of Miami. Maybe now you're busting to know how Cincinnati makes out in the Super Bowl? I have to break down and admit I can't see that far.

The one thing you can count on is Cincinnati coming into Saturday's game well-coached. Paul Brown is the same kind of perfectionist with his players that Rembrandt was with his oils and I get a kick out of the way he compares his present Bengals with his old champion Cleveland Browns. He doesn't.

"The players on this team average only 2.8 years in professional football," Brown says. "They're not as mature as the Cleveland players were and that makes a lot of difference when it comes to championship games.

"You have to remember with Cleveland we had fellows like Graham, Motley, Speedie and others like that."

Paul Brown is right. The Bengals have no stars but there was a time when the Green Bay Packers didn't have any either and a man named Vince Lombardi turned them into a winner anyway. Paul Brown is the same kind of a man. The Bengals are an expansion club only three years old but watch 'em. They don't make many mistakes and have a way of knocking over teams they're not supposed to beat. I think they'll surprise the Colts.

The only way San Francisco is going to beat Minnesota on the Vikings' home ice is with short passes.

That's the way the New York Jets beat the Vikings four weeks ago. Al Woodall, the Jets' quarterback, did it with short passes. I imagine this hasn't escaped Dick Nolan's attention either. The Vikes have the best defense in the league but defending against those short flips is like trying to defend against the perfectly executed bunt. You can't. No matter how good you are.

Besides, the Forty Niners have the best possible man for those short tosses. John Brodie. Talk to the guys whose job it is to defend against his passes sometime. You know how on a good day you can see forever? On one of John Brodie's good days it seems like you're getting beat forever.

As far as the Detroit Lions are concerned they believe Saturday's ball game with Dallas amounts to their entire season.

"We feel Dallas is the key," says Mike Lucci, the Lions' fine linebacker. "If we can beat the Cowboys, we feel we can go to the Super Bowl and go all the way."

Mike Lucci doesn't say so but from what I gather the Lions feel they can cope with whichever team wins Sunday's Minnesota-San Francisco contest not withstanding the fact they lost two games to the Gikings this season.

I've always been a Tom Landry man and still am, but I've seen Dallas pull up short too often and Craig Morton still hasn't made a believer out of me. That's why I'm going with the Lions.

Which brings me to the three reasons I like Oakland over Miami Sunday —Linebacker Dan Connors, defensive tackle Tom Keating and defensive back Dave Grayson. They, even more than Daryle Lamonica and George Blanda, generally determine whether Oakland wins or loses.

Grayson is the "center fielder." The Raiders like to keep him roaming around free 80 or 90 per cent of the time and anytime they do, nothing gets by him. Nothing. Also, the Raiders have been in playoffs before; the Dolphins never.

"We hit people harder than they hit us," claims Howard Twilley, Miami's wide receiver. "We beat Oakland earlier this season and we think we can beat 'em again."

Miami won the game Twilley is talking about, 20-3, on a pair of spectacular catches by Paul Warfield.

Unsung Heroes In Miami

MIAMI (UPI)—It's now the unsung heroes bowl, the Shrine College All-Star game in the Orange Bowl Christmas night, and you can believe 56 players will clash with all the zeal of Notre Damers trying to upset the No. 1 Texas Longhorns.

Time was when the Shriners were able to sign up some of the brightest stars in college football to play for the benefit of crippled children. The Oakland Raiders' George Blanda, Sonny Jurgensen of the Washington Redskins, Alan Ameche of the Baltimore Colts, Mississippi's fabled Barney Poole were only a few of the big-name players participating in the 22 years past.

Now the dozens of post season bowl games tie down the big college performers. This gives a chance to some really good football players from the small colleges and the bowl runnerup teams to show their stuff before a national television (ABC) audience and, more important, a big battery of pro team scouts.

Take little Jim Lindsey of Sweeny, Tex. Few outside of his Southwest small college circuit have heard of him and at 5-11, 185 pounds he's not on many pro scouting lists as a quarterback.

But Lindsey has to have something on the ball for in his college career he has amassed a total of 8,721 yards passing to shatter all offense records on all college books. This season he averaged more than 300 yards per game while throwing for 25 touchdowns.

Lindsey will play for the South All-Stars.

On the North All-Stars bench is Lynn Dickey, who has been praised by many football players. He's the guy who set nine Big Eight Conference passing records and led Kansas State to upset victories over Oklahoma and Missouri.

But what about Ken Anderson of Augustana College in Illinois? His credentials are more impressive. In his career he has accounted for 6,333 yards and 50 touchdowns passing and has run for 22 more touchdowns. He also started kicking his junior year and accounted for 29 extra points and nine field goals. The scouts have their eyes on Anderson.

The heroics get underway at 4:30 p.m. Christmas Day. On the strength of some big and proven linemen from the big 10 teams not going to the Rose Bowl, the North All-Stars are favored to capture their fifth victory in a row. The series now stands 11-10-1 in favor of the South.

THE SKI SCENE

Sugar Bowl's Huge Expansion

By CHARLIE COANE

While other ski resorts in the Sierra Mountains held back major expansions this season, Sugar Bowl, located near Donner Summit, plunged into its 31st skiing campaign with a $1 million expansion program that can only be good news to skiers.

"There won't be any wait now to get in and out of Sugar Bowl," maintains vice president-general manager Don Schwartz. Even Schwartz admits that the hassel in and out on the magic carpet between the highway and the ski area has been a thorn in his side for some time. Now he's added the magic carpet double chairlift next to the gondola, and suddenly the two lifts can wisk 1,500 skiers hourly to the slopes — three times as many as in years past. Before this season, long lines with long waits would develop at the gondola and skiers even trudged across the snowy valley to avoid the wait.

"No longer," says Schwartz. "It's about eight minutes by gondola or four minutes on the lift, and you're ready to ski." Sugar Bowl now has seven double chairlifts, a four-passenger gondola, one T-bar and a rope tow — making it the fourth largest winter resort around these parts behind Squaw Valley, Heavenly Valley and Mammoth Mountain.

The second big "happening" at Sugar Bowl is the doubling of the size of its garage to accomodate 600 cars on three levels, two of which are covered — very unique, indeed, at a ski area.

Other improvements this season include a 10 x 14 foot map at the bottom of Mt. Lincoln outlining all lifts and trails. You'll notice considerable grooming of all trails on both Mt. Lincoln and Mt. Disney, and a powder run has been added to Mt. Crow's Nest.

"Our most exciting new run is California Street on Mt. Lincoln," says Schwartz. "Like the street in San Francisco, our run has all degrees of steepness and is now one of our most popular runs."

Sugar Bowl also offers free skiing to all youngsters under 12 on the 800-foot rope tow, and night skiing every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday on the Nob Hill chairlift. The weekend adult ticket rate is $8. If you're a student, in the military, a Far West Ski Association member, a stewardess or a Playboy Club bunny — half price rates apply during midweek.

Thought for the future: Arapahoe Basin near Denver takes reservations for skiing on weekends through various ski shops and other outlets. When their quota is filled, that's it. No reservation, no skiing — and no lift lines.

Pac-8 Basketballers Finally Turn Chilly

By United Press International

It figured that the Pacific Eight basketball teams could not keep up their hot early-season pre-season pace. And the big chill started Wednesday night.

Even mighty UCLA looked lackluster as the Bruins were only able to dispose of St. Louis' 79-65 at home Wednesday. The great Bruin front line of Curtis Rowe, Sidney Wicks and Steve Patterson hit 54 of the winners' points. UCLA is 6-0 this season and has won 11 straight since losing to USC last season. The win skein includes the NCAA tourney victories that made the Bruins national champ for the fourth year in a row.

Elsewhere, Wednesday night the Pac-8 lost three.

Idaho nipped Washington, now 4-4, 71-70 when Malcolm Taylor hit a 10-footer with three seconds left. Taylor had 21 and Steve Hawes of the losers scored 21.

Stanford hosted tough Villanova and fell 96-76 as Howard Porter scored 34 for the winners. Claude Terry hit 18 for the Indians.

And Oregon State called on unbeaten Tennessee and receipted for an 89-61 thumping despite Mike Kerk's 19 points.

Meanwhile, Long Beach State, probably the Coast's toughest team outside of the Pac-8, got the stiffest kind of fight at home from UC Riverside. The 49ers survived the visitors' slowdown tactics for a 58-50 win, with soph guard Ed Ratleff hitting 21 for the winners.

And UOP, early favorite to join UCLA and Long Beach State in post-season NCAA play, also got a surprisingly tough test before disposing of lightly-regarded cross-town rival San Jose State, 74-68. And the Spartans went without their top scorer, Johnny Skinner, who was benched by coach Danny Glines for missing a pre-game meal.

St. Mary's, 4-22 last year, is 4-5 this time around under new coach Bruce Hale after dumping Sonoma State 91-73. The losers are now 0-7.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Sell Bond Now, Investors Told

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We have 300 shares of Bond Industries, 200 of which were bought at 31 and 100 received through a stock split. Should we buy more at this low price, hold or sell? We can afford either. C.W.

A. Engaged in the apparel and clothing manufacturing field, Bond Industries has been squeezed by the same pressures affecting its entire industry. However, the current economic and industry slowdown is not responsible for Bond's past earnings performance which has been quite erratic.

For the past 10 years, company's earnings have vacillated as a result of limited sales growth and rising costs. For the fiscal year ended July, 1970, sales declined 1.8 per cent from the previous year; and net income per share fell to 18 cents from fiscal 1969's $1.04. The third and fourth quarters were deficit periods.

Near-term prospects remain clouded, with competition expected to increase and labor and other costs continuing to rise. In view of most recent operating results, Bond's dividend coverage is uncertain. Stock yields 7.3 per cent — well above the average — an indication of investor disinterest in Bond shares. Issue is unattractive at present; sale is justified.

Q. I can't afford to take a loss but I need more income than I am getting from my savings account. Is there risk in corporate bonds? Could you suggest a few? V.P.

A. There is, of course, some element of risk involved wherever you choose to place your money and this includes: banks, mattresses, and corporate or government bonds. The decision each investor must make for himself is at what point does the degree of risk outweigh the increased yield.

AAA or AA-rated bonds with a good margin of interest coverage are considered by most individuals seeking higher income to be ideal investments for their purposes. Two AAA-rated utility bonds, selling at a premium to return over 8 per cent to maturity, Cincinnati Gas & Electric 8-5/8s of 2000 and New Jersey Bell Telephone 9.35 per cent of 2010, would be suitable.

Nixon Pleased By Interest Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said the Nixon Administration was "pleased" about the cut in the prime rate from 7 to 6¾ per cent.

"We look at this as further evidence that the credit market is becoming easier and more conducive to economic expansion," he said.

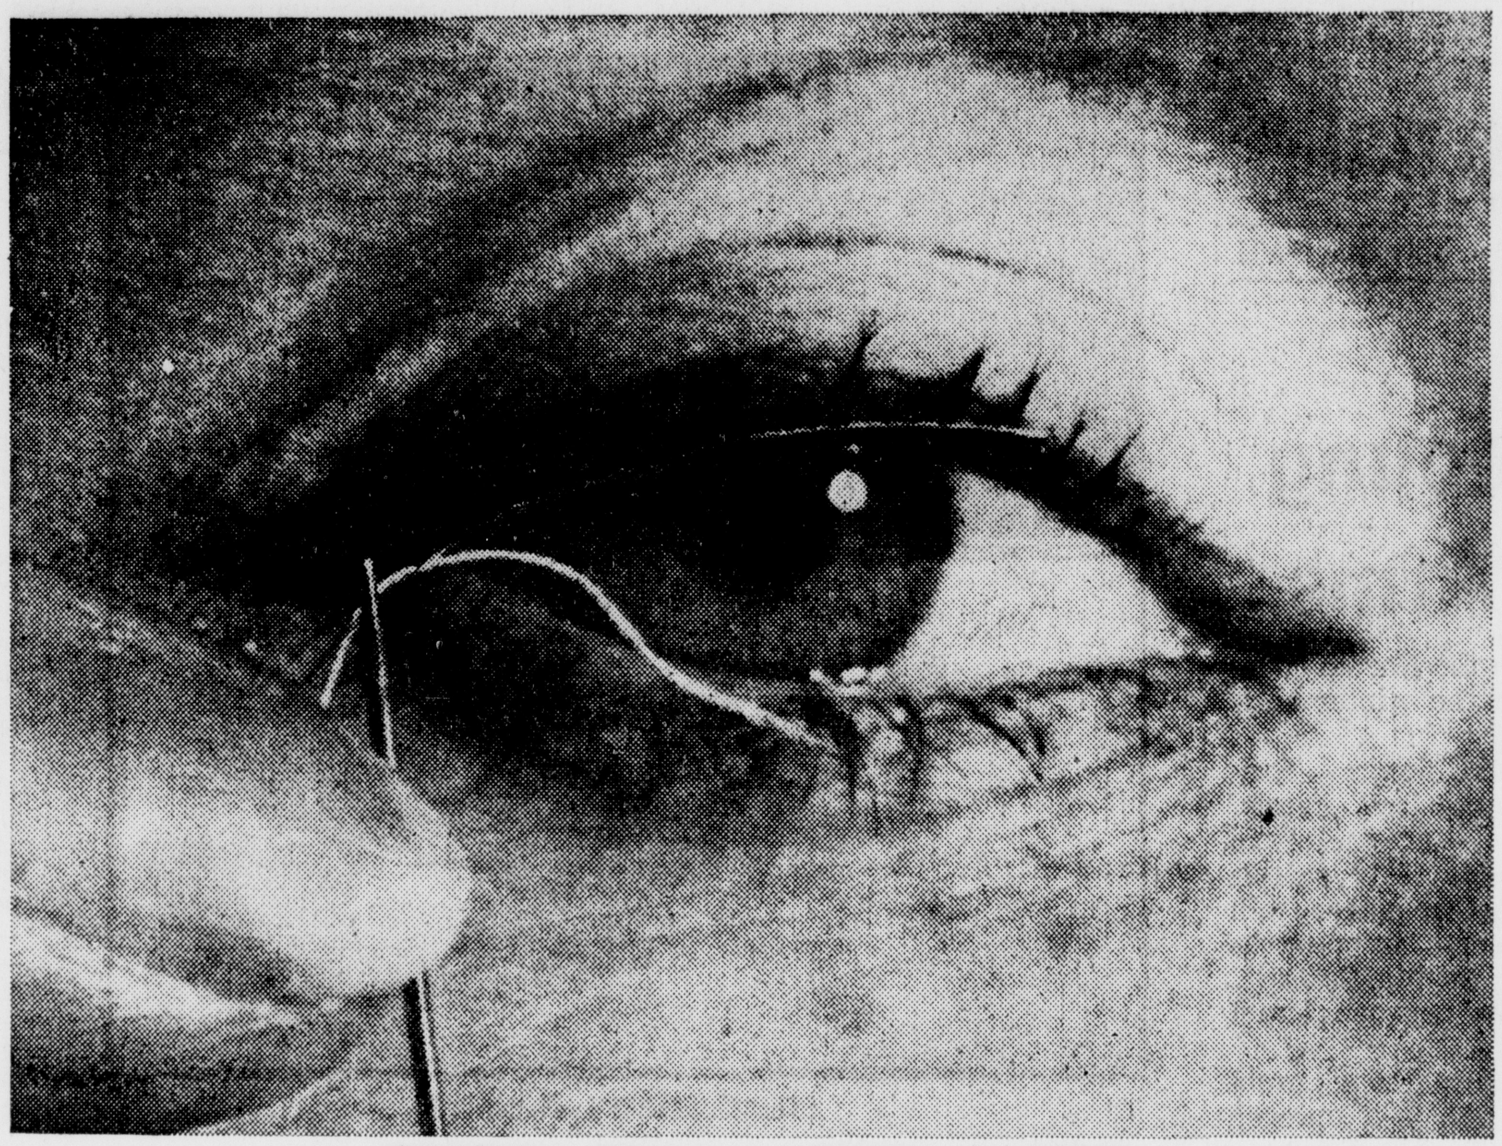
House Banking Committee Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., said "There is no economic reason why the banks can not lower the prime rate to six per cent."

"The action by Chase Manhattan is just one more example of the timid and inadequate approach of the big banks to the economic problems facing the nation," Patman said.

Durable Goods Up 2.4 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New orders for durable goods increased 2.4 per cent in November to a seasonally adjusted $29.2 billion, possibly indicating a future increase in industrial activity, the Commerce Department reported.

Shipments of manufactured durable goods totaled $29.2 billion in November, down 0.7 per cent from October. The backlog of unfilled orders remained virtually unchanged at $78.3 billion.



SUPER-THIN STEEL WIRE

Monsanto Co. has developed a process to spin steel into very fine continuous fibre. Shown in the picture is a wire three mils in diameter, compared with sewing thread. One mil equals one-thousandths of an inch. Until the development, drawn steel wire available for tire cord was 12 to 15 mils in diameter.

Nixon Signs Big Agricultural Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon has signed an $8 billion agriculture appropriations bill, but complained he did so reluctantly because it was $342.5 million more than he requested.

Part of the money to which he objected was $195.5 million for the agriculture conservation program. Nixon said he hoped now to be able to change the focus of the program more to environmental preservation rather than farm-related conservation programs such as pond building and tree planting.

Turbine Units

HOUSTON (UPI) — Copper Industries Inc. has received an order worth more than $6,750,000 for five gas turbine driven centrifugal compressor units from Great Lakes Gas Transmission Co.

$30 Million Deal

SYRACUSE (UPI) — Carrier Corp. has concluded $30 million three-year revolving credit with a nine-bank group led by Marine Midland Bank of New York, at the prime rate for the first year and one-quarter point over the prime rate thereafter.

Stocks Hold Firm On Good News

NEW YORK (UPI) — Socks continued to hold firm after more than three hours Thursday, with advances leading declines, 928 to 335. Turnover was moderate.

The Dow Jones industrial average of 30 selected blue chips was up more than four points. Turnover at 1 p.m. amounted to 8,320,000 shares, down from 8,970,000 shares traded at a comparable period on Wednesday.

Helping support the list was a government report that consumer prices rose in November at a sharply decreased rate from a month earlier.

Stocks on the most active list included Continental Oil off ½ on 183,900 shares, American Telephone up ¼ on 122,000 shares, and Penn Central unchanged on 82,400 shares.

Less active National Cash Register and Xerox rose 1¼ and 2¼, respectively. Polaroid added 1⅛, Natomas up 1⅛, First National City 2½ (ex-dividend) higher, and Bankers Trust ahead 1⅝.

Big Four Car Sales Reported Down Sharply

DETROIT (UPI) — The lingering effects of the strike against General Motors and one less selling day in the period reduced sales of big four passenger cars in the United States to 124,802 during the middle 10 days of December, the automakers reported.

During the comparable period of last year, General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co., Chrysler Corp. and American Motors Corp. sold 216,011 new passenger cars.

GM sold 36,963 new cars, compared with 108,281 in the same period of the previous year. Ford dealers handed over the keys to 52,657 cars during the span, compared with 63,815 in the same stretch of 1969. Chrysler sold 28,801 new cars between Dec. 11-20 this year, compared with 37,596 in the same span of last year. AMC, the smallest of the big four, was the only one to register a gain, with 6,381 new cars rolling out of the showrooms compared with 6,319 sold in the comparable period of the previous years.

THE WEEK'S BUSINESS

Security Pacific Opens 19th Office

Security Pacific National Bank, which opened its first Marin County branch in San Rafael recently, opened its second San Jose bank last week, increasing the number of its offices in Northern California to 19.

The bank has also announced the purchase of a 25-per cent interest in Tricontinental Corp., Ltd., a merchant bank in Melbourne, Australia. The transaction involved the purchase by Security Pacific of 548,667 newly issued $1 par value shares.

CENTRAL BANKING SYSTEM, INC., (Oakland) directors have approved an increase in the regular quarterly dividend to 20 cents per common share and have also declared a 5-per cent stock dividend. Both dividends are payable on Jan. 15.

PETROLANE, INC. (Long Beach) directors have voted approval of a three-for-two split of the common stock and to increase the new annual dividend rate from 60 cents (90 cents before the split) to 66 cents per common share. Shareholders will vote on the split at their annual meeting in February.

LFC FINANCIAL CORP., parent company of Equitable Savings and Loan Association and Santa Rosa Savings and Loan Association, has been merged into Great Western Financial Corp., which now counts assets of $3.4 billion. Equitable and Santa Rosa Savings are being merged into Great Western Savings and Loan Association.

PORTSMOUTH SQUARE, INC. (San Francisco) has elected Theodore A. de Lusignan president and chief executive officer, replacing Palmer York, Jr., who has been named chairman of the board and will devote his time to the development of Portsmouth Square's broker-dealer subsidiaries. For the past year de Lusignan has been executive vice president and chief administrative officer.

BLUE CHIP STAMPS has reported net earnings of $1,994,000, equivalent to 39 cents per share, for the quarter ended Nov. 28. This was slightly above last year's third quarter earnings of $1,910,000 or 37 cents per share. Earnings for the nine months ended Nov. 28 were $6.6 million ($1.30 per share), compared to $5.3 million ($1.09 per share) a year ago.

PHOENIX IRON WORKS, Oakland manufacturer of iron casings, has discontinued negotiations to purchase the 40-acre plant of American Standard, Inc. in Richmond. Phoenix, planning expansion, still seeks another location which it can occupy within the next year or so.

OMARK INDUSTRIES (Portland, Ore.) is withdrawing from the dental equipment field which it entered in 1968 through the acquisition of Power Brake Co. The dental equipment business, with assets of about $1.9 million, will be disposed of by sale or other means of liquidation. Its narrow line of products is not considered a natural fit for Omark's regular line of automotive brake and air controls equipment.

KAISER GYPSUM CO., INC. is phasing out its Rosario, New Mexico gypsum wallboard plant because of mounting operating losses due to reduced sales and poor prices. Production will cease by the end of the year. Its parent company, Kaiser Cement and Gypsum Corp., will form a new corporation with Bramalea Consolidated Developments, Ltd. of Toronto, Canada to engage in community and land development in the U.S. It will be known as Kaiser-Bramalea, Inc. and will be owned equally by the two companies.

THE WICKES CORP. net earnings for the third quarter of fiscal 1971 was $2,728,467 or 39 cents per share, compared with $2,479,054 or 36 cents a share, compared with $2,479,054 or 36 cents a share for last year's third quarter. Sales were $146 million compared with $134 million for the 1969 period. Nine month income was $7 million or $1.01 per share, compared to $9.3 million or $1.36 per share a year ago.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Sell Bond Now, Investors Told

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We have 300 shares of Bond Industries, 200 of which were bought at 31 and 100 received through a stock split. Should we buy more at this low price, hold or sell? We can afford either. C.W.

A. Engaged in the apparel and clothing manufacturing field, Bond Industries has been squeezed by the same pressures affecting its entire industry. However, the current economic and industry slowdown is not responsible for Bond's past earnings performance which has been quite erratic.

For the past 10 years, company's earnings have vacillated as a result of limited sales growth and rising costs. For the fiscal year ended July, 1970, sales declined 1.8 per cent from the previous year; and net income per share fell to 18 cents from fiscal 1969's $1.04. The third and fourth quarters were deficit periods.

Near-term prospects remain clouded, with competition expected to increase and labor and other costs continuing to rise. In view of most recent operating results, Bond's dividend coverage is uncertain. Stock yields 7.3 per cent — well above the average — an indication of investor disinterest in Bond shares. Issue is unattractive at present; sale is justified.

Q. I can't afford to take a loss but I need more income than I am getting from my savings account. Is there risk in corporate bonds? Could you suggest a few? V.P.

A. There is, of course, some element of risk involved wherever you choose to place your money and this includes: banks, mattresses, and corporate or government bonds. The decision each investor must make for himself is at what point does the degree of risk outweigh the increased yield.

AAA or AA-rated bonds with a good margin of interest coverage are considered by most individuals seeking higher income to be ideal investments for their purposes. Two AAA-rated utility bonds, selling at a premium to return over 8 per cent to maturity, Cincinnati Gas & Electric 8-5/8s of 2000 and New Jersey Bell Telephone 9.35 per cent of 2010, would be suitable.

Nixon Pleased By Interest Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said the Nixon Administration was "pleased" about the cut in the prime rate from 7 to 6¾ per cent.

"We look at this as further evidence that the credit market is becoming easier and more conducive to economic expansion," he said.

House Banking Committee Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., said "There is no economic reason why the banks can not lower the prime rate to six per cent."

"The action by Chase Manhattan is just one more example of the timid and inadequate approach of the big banks to the economic problems facing the nation," Patman said.

Durable Goods Up 2.4 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New orders for durable goods increased 2.4 per cent in November to a seasonally adjusted $29.2 billion, possibly indicating a future increase in industrial activity, the Commerce Department reported.

Shipments of manufactured durable goods totaled $29.2 billion in November, down 0.7 per cent from October. The backlog of unfilled orders remained virtually unchanged at $78.3 billion.

SUPER-THIN STEEL WIRE

Monsanto Co. has developed a process to spin steel into very fine continuous fibre. Shown in the picture is a wire three mils in diameter, compared with sewing thread. One mil equals one-thousandths of an inch. Until the development, drawn steel wire available for tire cord was 12 to 15 mils in diameter.

Nixon Signs Big Agricultural Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon has signed an $8 billion agriculture appropriations bill, but complained he did so reluctantly because it was $342.5 million more than he requested.

Part of the money to which he objected was $195.5 million for the agriculture conservation program. Nixon said he hoped now to be able to change the focus of the program more to environmental preservation rather than farm-related conservation programs such as pond building and tree planting.

Turbine Units

HOUSTON (UPI) — Copper Industries Inc. has received an order worth more than $6,750,000 for five gas turbine driven centrifugal compressor units from Great Lakes Gas Transmission Co.

$30 Million Deal

SYRACUSE (UPI) — Carrier Corp. has concluded $30 million three-year revolving credit with a nine-bank group led by Marine Midland Bank of New York, at the prime rate for the first year and one-quarter point over the prime rate thereafter.

Stocks Hold Firm On Good News

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks continued to hold firm after more than three hours Thursday, with advances leading declines, 928 to 335. Turnover was moderate.

The Dow Jones industrial average of 30 selected blue chips was up more than four points. Turnover at 1 p.m. amounted to 8,320,000 shares, down from 8,970,000 shares traded at a comparable period on Wednesday.

Helping support the list was a government report that consumer prices rose in November at a sharply decreased rate from a month earlier.

Stocks on the most active list included Continental Oil off ½ on 183,900 shares, American Telephone up ¼ on 122,000 shares, and Penn Central unchanged on 82,400 shares.

Less active National Cash Register and Xerox rose 1¼ and 2¼, respectively. Polaroid added 1⅛, Natomas up 1⅛, First National City 2½ (ex-dividend) higher, and Bankers Trust ahead 1⅝.

Big Four Car Sales Reported Down Sharply

DETROIT (UPI) — The lingering effects of the strike against General Motors and one less selling day in the period reduced sales of big four passenger cars in the United States to 124,802 during the middle 10 days of December, the automakers reported.

During the comparable period of last year, General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co., Chrysler Corp. and American Motors Corp. sold 216,011 new passenger cars.

GM sold 36,963 new cars, compared with 108,281 in the same period of the previous year. Ford dealers handed over the keys to 52,657 cars during the span, compared with 63,815 in the same stretch of 1969. Chrysler sold 28,801 new cars between Dec. 11-20 this year, compared with 37,596 in the same span of last year. AMC, the smallest of the big four, was the only one to register a gain, with 6,381 new cars rolling out of the showrooms compared with 6,319 sold in the comparable period of the previous years.

THE WEEK'S BUSINESS

Security Pacific Opens 19th Office

Security Pacific National Bank, which opened its first Marin County branch in San Rafael recently, opened its second San Jose bank last week, increasing the number of its offices in Northern California to 19.

The bank has also announced the purchase of a 25-per cent interest in Tricontinental Corp., Ltd., a merchant bank in Melbourne, Australia. The transaction involved the purchase by Security Pacific of 548,667 newly issued $1 par value shares.

CENTRAL BANKING SYSTEM, INC., (Oakland) directors have approved an increase in the regular quarterly dividend to 20 cents per common share and have also declared a 5-per cent stock dividend. Both dividends are payable on Jan. 15.

PETROLANE, INC. (Long Beach) directors have voted approval of a three-for-two split of the common stock and to increase the new annual dividend rate from 60 cents (90 cents before the split) to 66 cents per common share. Shareholders will vote on the split at their annual meeting in February.

LFC FINANCIAL CORP., parent company of Equitable Savings and Loan Association and Santa Rosa Savings and Loan Association, has been merged into Great Western Financial Corp., which now counts assets of $3.4 billion. Equitable and Santa Rosa Savings are being merged into Great Western Savings and Loan Association.

PORTSMOUTH SQUARE, INC. (San Francisco) has elected Theodore A. de Lusignan president and chief executive officer, replacing Palmer York, Jr., who has been named chairman of the board and will devote his time to the development of Portsmouth Square's broker-dealer subsidiaries. For the past year de Lusignan has been executive vice president and chief administrative officer.

BLUE CHIP STAMPS has reported net earnings of $1,994,000, equivalent to 39 cents per share, for the quarter ended Nov. 28. This was slightly above last year's third quarter earnings of $1,910,000 or 37 cents per share. Earnings for the nine months ended Nov. 28 were $6.6 million ($1.30 per share), compared to $5.3 million ($1.09 per share) a year ago.

PHOENIX IRON WORKS, Oakland manufacturer of iron casings, has discontinued negotiations to purchase the 40-acre plant of American Standard, Inc. in Richmond. Phoenix, planning expansion, still seeks another location which it can occupy within the next year or so.

OMARK INDUSTRIES (Portland, Ore.) is withdrawing from the dental equipment field which it entered in 1968 through the acquisition of Power Brake Co. The dental equipment business, with assets of about $1.9 million, will be disposed of by sale or other means of liquidation. Its narrow line of products is not considered a natural fit for Omark's regular line of automotive brake and air controls equipment.

KAISER GYPSUM CO., INC. is phasing out its Rosario, New Mexico gypsum wallboard plant because of mounting operating losses due to reduced sales and poor prices. Production will cease by the end of the year. Its parent company, Kaiser Cement and Gypsum Corp., will form a new corporation with Bramalea Consolidated Developments, Ltd. of Toronto, Canada to engage in community and land development in the U.S. It will be known as Kaiser-Bramalea, Inc. and will be owned equally by the two companies.

THE WICKES CORP. net earnings for the third quarter of fiscal 1971 was $2,728,467 or 39 cents per share, compared with $2,479,054 or 36 cents a share, compared with $2,479,054 or 36 cents a share for last year's third quarter. Sales were $146 million compared with $134 million for the 1969 period. Nine month income was $7 million or $1.01 per share, compared to $9.3 million or $1.36 per share a year ago.

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers said 11-month sales of home appliances rose 1 per cent from last year and that factory shipments rose 19 per cent in November. The association predicted full-year sales will be substantially higher than last year's record total.

And He Took The Young Children Up In His Arms...

Tomorrow we shall take a holiday, we editors and readers.

There will be a special feeling of happiness as we arise in the morning. We shall not be disturbed by petty thoughts and petty quarrels, but (for the moment) will be better persons as we snap the electric switch and survey the tinseled, lighted Christmas tree with presents piled beneath.

Around us will be the trappings of a festival merged from many sources.

THE CHRISTMAS TREE came to us from Germany — but was introduced there, we are told, by an English missionary, St. Boniface.

The Saxons added the holly; the Druids, the mistletoe.

Perhaps we will snap on a radio to have the music of Christmas carols while we begin handing out and unwrapping the gifts. The custom of singing carols at Christmas started in Italy, spread north through France, and came to us from England.

The children's stockings hung from a chairback or mantle go back to another land — to the wooden shoes of Dutch children, placed to be filled with gifts on St. Nicholas' Day — from whom came Santa Claus. But the bearer of gifts to children at Christmastime has born other names in other countries: Father Christmas, Kris Kringle, Yule Tomten, Papa Noel. No matter; he carries the same enchantment and the same symbolism whatever his name.

Some of us may have a Christmas feast in the afternoon — a custom begun long ago in the Nordic countries to celebrate the winter solstice.

BUT ALL THESE things — Santa Claus, Christmas tree, carols, feast, and the rest — are merely to embellish the holiday. Its reason came from yet another place: from the town of Bethlehem, in an oftenwartorn section of the Middle East, disputed even now between Israel and Jordan.

For there was born (though probably not on Dec. 25), in a manger built into the hillside, the baby Jesus, the Christ.

It is in memory of Him who gave so much of mankind a new hope that we exchange gifts. It is because of Him that we feel a bit happier, a bit better, a bit more worthy, as we awaken on Christmas day.

It is especially fitting that, because of Him, Santa Claus (or Father Christmas, or Papa Noel, or what you will) leaves presents for the children. For, as recorded by St. Luke:

"And they brought young children to him, that he should touch them: and his disciples rebuked those that brought them.

"But when Jesus saw it, he was much displeased, and said unto them, Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of God.

"Verily I say unto you, Whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child, he shall not enter therein.

"And he took them up in his arms, and put his hands upon them, and blessed them."

Fresh Milk?

How fresh is so-called fresh milk? This is the question increasing numbers of people in the Bay Area are asking.

Twenty-five years ag almost all milk was home-delivered. We were pretty sure it was not too time-distant from the cow. Today, however, more milk is purchased from the dairy case of our market and, with a few notable exceptions, dated in code so only your groceryman knows for sure. We understand this milk is regarded as fresh for eight days.

Just how far we have progressed from a rural society is illustrated by our experience buying milk in New Zealand last winter. It was four cents a pint and was ideal for the picnic lunches we had along the road. Several times we would go to buy milk at some little store, only to be told, with fine British manners, that it was sold out of fresh milk. We point-to the bottles in the dairy case. "But that's yesterday's milk. Surely, you don't want that!"

Yesterday's milk! If we could be sure we were getting it, we'd be happy.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Supervisors Ignore History In Opposing Medi-Cal Cuts

By HENRY C. MACARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The controversy between the state and the county supervisors' association over Medi-Cal, and who's to foot the bill, has little bearing on the case for the simple reason that whether state or county funds are used, it's the taxpayer who writes the checks.

Neither does it make much difference when the state knew there would be a shortage of funds. That was understood when the legislature adopted the medi-Cal program and instructed the administration to provide total services to all welfare recipients, and persons unable to foot their medical bills.

The important thing is not to recriminate as to "whose fault is it," but to attempt salvage of as much as the program as possible without bankrupting the taxpayers — a process that was commenced when the legislature adopted the ambitious program.

THE ADMINISTRATION of Gov. Ronald Reagan is attempting to retrench to the extent of some $140 million. Immediately, the county supervisors' association, through its president, Ralph P. Thiel of Tuolumne County decries the move as "regrettable."

Any time reductions are called for, it is "regrettable" in government parlance, particularly if there is a shift from one taxing agency to another.

But if it is agreed that the level of services must be maintained, someone must pay the bills. Whether that someone be the state or the county, it always ends up being the taxpayer.

IF THE SUPERVISORS think back a few years, they will remember that it wasn't many years ago the counties were responsible for all of the care given the sick and ailing.

Now that the state has discovered there isn't enough money in the kitty to carry out its expanded program, the supervisors' association in effect is suggesting the state raise the taxes of everyone to absolve the counties of responsibilities they have had since the beginning of time.

There is not much choice. The state can either cut its service to fit available funds, or it can raise taxes.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Name All Ships For Femmes Fatale

For many obvious and also abstruse reasons, all ships, of high or low degree, have always been affectionately (more or less) referred to as "she" or "her". And many old line sailing ships, private craft, and even pirate windjammers (naturally) have had "softer (?) sex" monikers. Whoever heard of any lubber but a landlubber making a faux pax by calling a mighty dreadnaught, cruiser, destroyer, or submarine, "he", "him", or "it"? Contrariwise, whoever heard of one named in honor of a famous amazon, grandame, courtesan, or secret agent femme-fatale, of which each and every "civilized" nation has more than their share? They are "deadlier than the male" in the double-agent nefarious games, for sinister and subtle reasons.

So, its high time the devious activists picket all S.S.T's, flattops, war ships, and tramp packet rust buckets, to be rechristened in honor of Delilah (surely their patron saintess), Pandora, Siren, Medusa, Medici, Xantippe, Salome, Judith, Bellona, Juno, Hera, Ma Barker, Mata Hari, Aphrodite, Shiva (the Destroyer), the Gorgon Family, Lady Macbeth, Lorelei, Daughter of Eve, Circe (the Enchantress), Sphinx (the Strangler), Witches' Sabbath (how come all witches and vampires are femmes?), Florinda (Count Julian's pawn — or badger game bait?), or countless other appellations. . .

Let Christmas Be For The Poor

I think that most of us in America experience Christmas every day of our lives. We have plenty to eat, beautiful clothes to wear, and enough entertainment to keep us smiling.

My pointis that I believe Christmas should be for the poor, and the aged, and anyone else who can't afford the pleasures we often take for granted.

I would like to suggest therefore that we, the more fortunate, instead of exchanging gifts with family and friends, give to charitable organizations so someone else can experience Christmas for a change. In Marin County, the Economic Opportunity Council is coordinating a drive called "Christmas for All Marin.'' For details, call Richard Nielsen at the Marin County EOC Youth Program, 1327 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

After all, 364 Christmases a year are enough for anybody.

Would Publicize Welfare Names

If the county would allow to publish the names and amount of welfare drawn by each recipient every week, I think the able would go to work rather than be embarrassed by their names being published.

I also believe the taxpayer has a right to know whom he is supporting and to what extent.

It would be no worse than listing the county employees' names and salary. After all most of them are overpaid also. Most of the teachers are more interested in how much they can tap the taxpayers for, than they are in teaching our children to be better citizens.

An able-bodied person on welfare should have no voting rights or have any say over bond issues or anything else pertaining to our government. The welfare laws should be more like our disability laws in Social Security. A person has to go to court and prove his disability, and most doctors are afraid to commit themselves, making it impossible to collect a disability even though one is disabled to the point he can only be on his feet two hours a day with much pain.

Would Suppress Juveniles' Names

Just finished reading tonight's edition of Dec. 9 and the article concerning "Youthful Burglary Rings Hit."

Why couldn't this story have been reported without releasing the names and addresses of the children involved? News is news, and gossip is gossip.

Any intelligent parent realizes he is not above having such a tragedy happen with one of his own. It's possible, regardless of how wonderful we think our "own" are.

How can a child be encouraged to overcome his unlawful behavior if he feels the whole world knows he is bad?

What a shame for the brothers and sisters of these children, who have to carry the family name. They might be over-compensating by their good conduct for the unlawful behavior of one member. However, that won't make news because young people are supposed to behave, regardless of the example set by adults.

I expect to get an editor's note claiming it is perfectly legal to print the names and addresses of minors. The question is: "Is it morally right?" Has it been proven this sort of publicity stops a child from commiting a crime? Does this balance off the harm done to other members of the family involved?

Fees Not Reason For Opposition

Your editorial (Dec. 16) unfairly criticizes several San Francisco personal injury trial lawyers for their opposition to the no-fault automobile insurance study proposed by the state insurance commissioner. You contend these lawyers and other lawyers practicing in the plaintiffs field are opposing the no-fault plan because 'from one-third to one-half of every claim goes into the pocket of an attorney for prosecuting it".

I, as a personal injury trial lawyer and former insurance company claims manager, submit that the compensation factor plays little, if any, importance in an attorney's decision to favor or oppose a no-fault automobile insurance plan. The reason is simple, namely, under any no-fault program proposed, including the original plan known as the Keeton-O'Connell plan, the lawyer would still be compensated for his services in a similar fashion to our present workmens compensation system.

The majority of insurance companies are in business to make a profit and as I was told when I was a claims adjustor, I am the trustee of the shareholder's money. Understanding this concept it is clear why there is such a need for plaintiff trial lawyers in the first instance. . .

If public opinion, after full disclosure of all aspects of the problem and not just a slanted editorial, decides that the no-fault plan is most feasible, then so be it.

To expand governmental bureaucracy (for the administration of automobile accident claims), to disallow the plaintiff's claim for pain and suffering, to compensate the injured drunk driver (all key provisions of the no-fault plan) in the name of reduced premium, is not the answer. We can look at the experience in the workmens compensation field, where no-fault insurance is the underlying philosophy, and see that few, if any, insurance companies are making money and further there is a gradual increase in cost of premiums to the employer. I feel confident the same problems would occur in the no-fault auto insurance plan.

Corrective steps can and should be taken such as: (1) abolition of the law of contributory negligence whereby a plaintiff is precluded from recovering because he is a one per cent negligent, notwithstanding the 99 per cent, egligence on the part of the defendant; (2) the insurance industry should take a more realistic attitude in settling claims, particularly those of $5,000 or less, directly with the injured person, thereby avoiding the necessity of plaintiff and defendant lawyers: (3) arbitration of claims of $5,000 or under, the present system of arbitration of uninsured motorist claims appears to be working satisfactorily. . . These are a few of a multitude of proposals to resolve an ever-increasing problem. The public should be made aware of all facets of the problem for ultimately it is their decision and they will be most affected.

Algerian 'Third World' Fragment Making Progress Realistically

ALGIERS — The so-called Third World is not only hard to define but any definition is of necessity false. The nations in Africa and Asia struggling to find an independent course, a separate identity, are a jigsaw puzlzle of hopes and aspirations, preducides and passions. This oddly assorted collection is far from being a "world" or even, for that matter, a force with anything like unity behind it.

The passions of the past more often than not dictate present policy. The conspicuous example is the Arab-Israeli conflict. Instead of getting on with the urgent tasks of development, trying to raise the level of impoverished peoples, the jehad — the holy war against Israel — is the all-absorbing preoccupation.

HERE ON the North African shore of the Mediterranean in three Arab countries — Morocco, Algeria and Tunisia — the Middle East conflict has a somewhat different look. The mere fact of geography separates these nations from the fires burning so fiercely at the heart of the war. A century of French domination was a modifying influence. And in Tunisia, President Habib Bourguiba persistently exercises restraint.

This is not to say that the Arabs of North Africa fail to give the Arabs of the Middle East at least outward support. That is particularly true of Algeria, where the guerrilla organization, Al Fatah, has an office on one of the main streets. If nothing else, it is a propaganda base.

After the six-day war between Egypt and Israel in 1967, Algeria sent a contingent of 2,000 troops to help Egypt in the fight to recover the lost territories. When Nasser accepted the Rogers peace initiative, those troops were withdrawn. The logic was, "If they are not there to fight, then they should return."

THE LOUD, angry-sounding noises out of this revolutionary government obscure what is really happening. The Algerians are getting down to the urgent tasks that need doing. This observer believes that Algeria has a better chance than perhaps any "Third World" nation to become a modern industrial society.

One reason is the dedicated, intelligent younger men in key positions. At 37, Abdellah Khodja, who got his Ph.D. in economics in Paris, is secretary-general of the four-year plan. It projects a growth of 9 per cent a year in gross national product. Outside observers believe that, if not the full achievement, at least 7 per cent is probable.

Ahmed Taleb, at 44, is minister of information. He was formerly minister of education. Although he has never practiced, Taleb got his degree in medicine in Paris and then spent seven years in Fresnes Prison as a leader of the revolt against French rule. He is pushing the use of television in education, especially in the teaching of Arabic.

Taleb cites French statistics to show that toward the end of their rule Algerians were 80 per cent illiterate, with only 300,000 children in school. Today two million children are in primary schools, 200,000 in secondary.

LIKE THESE younger men, President Houari Boumedienne is a realist. He is frank in his opposition to American policy in Vietnam and the Middle East. But he would not allow this opposition to stand in the way of resuming relations with the United States, which were broken at the end of the six-day war. That is important to Algeria, seeking capital investment from both private sources and the export-import and world banks.

An able, hard-working U.S. mission in Algiers is sheltered in the Swiss Embassy. It is headed by William L. Eagleton Jr., who has had an extensive background in the Arab world. Like the younger men in the Algerian government, Eagleton is a realist, fully aware of the limits imposed by past and present conditioning.

Pragmatist might be a better term for those seeking to guide this nation toward an independent destiny. So much depends on chance.

WINDOW OF THE WORLD

'Marriage Of Convenience' For Manila and Moscow

By ARNOLD DIBBLE

MANILA (UPI) — The Roman Catholic Philippines and Soviet Russia are flirting as never before, and it looks as if the attraction of opposites will lead to diplomatic marriages.

The two countries are expected to establish diplomatic relations sometime within the next year. For the Philippines, which once stood so anticommunist it banned a Yugoslav basketball team in 1962, it will mark the nation's first recognition of a Commmunist regime.

It has been some time in coming. The movement could perhaps be said to have started on Nov. 24, 1968, when President Ferdinand E. Marcos told a nationwide television audience that he hoped diplomatic relations with Socialist countries would be established before the end of his term. His second term ends in 1973.

Then in October this year his executive secretary, Alejandro Melchor — the "little president" — made a somewhat mysterious trip to Moscow after a visit to several West European capitals.

Three weeks ago two fairly well placed Russians arrived in Manila on an ostensible goodwill trip. They were Mrs. Valentina Lubomudrova, a member of the Presidium of the Union of Soviet Socieities for Friendship and Cultural Relations with Foreign Countries, and Nicolai Tsagolov, professor of economics of the Moscow state university.

The Philippine government and the visitors themselves made no effort to disguise the fact that the recognition issue had been thoroughly discussed. At the same time, Philippines Foreign Secretary Carlos P. Romulo, now attending the United Nations General Assembly, carried out parallel discussions in New York.

Even during the Philippines' flirtation with the Socialist countries of Europe, administration spokesmen have made it clear they have no intention of establishing relations of any kind with Red China. The Philippines has an internal Chinese problem, and Chinese of any ideology are not popular with the government or the masses.

Russia's wooing of the Philippines corresponds to similar moves in Malaysia, Singapore, Indonesia, Thailand and India —all designed to contain Red China.

For the economically-distressed Philippines, recognition of Russia offers a chance to end its almost total reliance on the states. Russia has let it be known favorable credit will be offered. Standard Soviet terms are 2.5 per cent interest on 10-12 year government credits; 4 per cent on 3-8 year commercial credits.

Fees Not Reason For Opposition

Your editorial (Dec. 16) unfairly criticizes several San Francisco personal injury trial lawyers for their opposition to the no-fault automobile insurance study proposed by the state insurance commissioner. You contend these lawyers and other lawyers practicing in the plaintiffs field are opposing the no-fault plan because 'from one-third to one-half of every claim goes into the pocket of an attorney for prosecuting it".

I, as a personal injury trial lawyer and former insurance company claims manager, submit that the compensation factor plays little, if any, importance in an attorney's decision to favor or oppose a no-fault automobile insurance plan. The reason is simple, namely, under any no-fault program proposed, including the original plan known as the Keeton-O'Connell plan, the lawyer would still be compensated for his services in a similar fashion to our present workmens compensation system.

The majority of insurance companies are in business to make a profit and as I was told when I was a claims adjustor, I am the trustee of the shareholder's money. Understanding this concept it is clear why there is such a need for plaintiff trial lawyers in the first instance. . .

If public opinion, after full disclosure of all aspects of the problem and not just a slanted editorial, decides that the no-fault plan is most feasible, then so be it.

To expand governmental bureaucracy (for the administration of automobile accident claims), to disallow the plaintiff's claim for pain and suffering, to compensate the injured drunk driver (all key provisions of the no-fault plan) in the name of reduced premium, is not the answer. We can look at the experience in the workmens compensation field, where no-fault insurance is the underlying philosophy, and see that few, if any, insurance companies are making money and further there is a gradual increase in cost of premiums to the employer. I feel confident the same problems would occur in the no-fault auto insurance plan.

Corrective steps can and should be taken such as: (1) abolition of the law of contributory negligence whereby a plaintiff is precluded from recovering because he is a one per cent negligent, notwithstanding the 99 per cent, egligence on the part of the defendant; (2) the insurance industry should take a more realistic attitude in settling claims, particularly those of $5,000 or less, directly with the injured person, thereby avoiding the necessity of plaintiff and defendant lawyers: (3) arbitration of claims of $5,000 or under, the present system of arbitration of uninsured motorist claims appears to be working satisfactorily. . . These are a few of a multitude of proposals to resolve an ever-increasing problem. The public should be made aware of all facets of the problem for ultimately it is their decision and they will be most affected.

Algerian 'Third World' Fragment Making Progress Realistically

ALGIERS — The so-called Third World is not only hard to define but any definition is of necessity false. The nations in Africa and Asia struggling to find an independent course, a separate identity, are a jigsaw puzlzle of hopes and aspirations, predudices and passions. This oddly assorted collection is far from being a "world" or even, for that matter, a force with anything like unity behind it.

The passions of the past more often than not dictate present policy. The conspicuous example is the Arab-Israeli conflict. Instead of getting on with the urgent tasks of development, trying to raise the level of impoverished peoples, the jehad — the holy war against Israel — is the all-absorbing preoccupation.

HERE ON the North African shore of the Mediterranean in three Arab countries — Morocco, Algeria and Tunisia — the Middle East conflict has a somewhat different look. The mere fact of geography separates these nations from the fires burning so fiercely at the heart of the war. A century of French domination was a modifying influence. And in Tunisia, President Habib Bourguiba persistently exercises restraint.

This is not to say that the Arabs of North Africa fail to give the Arabs of the Middle East at least outward support. That is particularly true of Algeria, where the guerrilla organization, Al Fatah, has an office on one of the main streets. If nothing else, it is a propaganda base.

After the six-day war between Egypt and Israel in 1967, Algeria sent a contingent of 2,000 troops to help Egypt in the fight to recover the lost territories. When Nasser accepted the Rogers peace initiative, those troops were withdrawn. The logic was, "If they are not there to fight, then they should return."

THE LOUD, angry-sounding noises out of this revolutionary government obscure what is really happening. The Algerians are getting down to the urgent tasks that need doing. This observer believes that Algeria has a better chance than perhaps any "Third World" nation to become a modern industrial society.

One reason is the dedicated, intelligent younger men in key positions. At 37, Abdellah Khodja, who got his Ph.D. in economics in Paris, is secretary-general of the four-year plan. It projects a growth of 9 per cent a year in gross national product. Outside observers believe that, if not the full achievement, at least 7 per cent is probable.

Ahmed Taleb, at 44, is minister of information. He was formerly minister of education. Although he has never practiced, Taleb got his degree in medicine in Paris and then spent seven years in Fresnes Prison as a leader of the revolt against French rule. He is pushing the use of television in education, especially in the teaching of Arabic.

Taleb cites French statistics to show that toward the end of their rule Algerians were 80 per cent illiterate, with only 300,000 children in school. Today two million children are in primary schools, 200,000 in secondary.

LIKE THESE younger men, President Houari Boumedienne is a realist. He is frank in his opposition to American policy in Vietnam and the Middle East. But he would not allow this opposition to stand in the way of resuming relations with the United States, which were broken at the end of the six-day war. That is important to Algeria, seeking capital investment from both private sources and the export-import and world banks.

An able, hard-working U.S. mission in Algiers is sheltered in the Swiss Embassy. It is headed by William L. Eagleton Jr., who has had an extensive background in the Arab world. Like the younger men in the Algerian government, Eagleton is a realist, fully aware of the limits imposed by past and present conditioning.

Pragmatist might be a better term for those seeking to guide this nation toward an independent destiny. So much depends on chance.

WINDOW OF THE WORLD

'Marriage Of Convenience' For Manila and Moscow

By ARNOLD DIBBLE

MANILA (UPI) — The Roman Catholic Philippines and Soviet Russia are flirting as never before, and it looks as if the attraction of opposites will lead to diplomatic marriages.

The two countries are expected to establish diplomatic relations sometime within the next year. For the Philippines, which once stood so anticommunist it banned a Yugoslav basketball team in 1962, it will mark the nation's first recognition of a Commmunist regime.

It has been some time in coming. The movement could perhaps be said to have started on Nov. 24, 1968, when President Ferdinand E. Marcos told a nationwide television audience that he hoped diplomatic relations with Socialist countries would be established before the end of his term. His second term ends in 1973.

Then in October this year his executive secretary, Alejandro Melchor — the "little president" — made a somewhat mysterious trip to Moscow after a visit to several West European capitals.

Three weeks ago two fairly well placed Russians arrived in Manila on an ostensible goodwill trip. They were Mrs. Valentina Lubomudrova, a member of the Presidium of the Union of Soviet Socieities for Friendship and Cultural Relations with Foreign Countries, and Nicolai Tsagolov, professor of economics of the Moscow state university.

The Philippine government and the visitors themselves made no effort to disguise the fact that the recognition issue had been thoroughly discussed. At the same time, Philippines Foreign Secretary Carlos P. Romulo, now attending the United Nations General Assembly, carried out parallel discussions in New York.

Even during the Philippines' flirtation with the Socialist countries of Europe, administration spokesmen have made it clear they have no intention of establishing relations of any kind with Red China. The Philippines has an internal Chinese problem, and Chinese of any ideology are not popular with the government or the masses.

Russia's wooing of the Philippines corresponds to similar moves in Malaysia, Singapore, Indonesia, Thailand and India —all designed to contain Red China.

For the economically-distressed Philippines, recognition of Russia offers a chance to end its almost total reliance on the states. Russia has let it be known favorable credit will be offered. Standard Soviet terms are 2.5 per cent interest on 10-12 year government credits; 4 per cent on 3-8 year commercial credits.

You Wish Me Merry Christmas — This Is Third, Final Notice

WASHINGTON — Our friends the Carbunkles really take their Christmas cards seriously. Perhaps it is because Mr. Carbunkle works in the credit office of a department store.

On Dec. 1 we received a card from the Carbunkles with a photograph of the family, and inside, "Warmest wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year from all the Carbunkles."

I remembered the card, because I had commented to my wife how well everyone in the Carbunkle family looked, though Carbunkle himself seemed to be putting on weight.

WE THOUGHT NOTHING of it until two weeks later when we received another card from the Carbunkles which had stamped on the envelope "Second Notice."

I opened it and inside there was a printed note which read: "Two weeks ago you were sent a Christmas card from the Carbunkles wishing you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. Probably due to the rush of the holiday season you were unable to acknowledge it. While we are very understanding of your situation, we would like to remind you that your Christmas card is one week past due, and we are hoping you will attend to this matter at your earliest convenience. Sincerely yours, the Carbunkles."

I meant to do something about it, but it slipped my mind. My wife, who is supposed to look after Christmas cards, also let it slip her mind, and three days later in a yellow envelope arrived a third card. This time all the holly and mistletoe decorations had been removed and in red letters stamped on the front was: "Third Notice." I opened it up and a note said, "Sir, it has been called to our attention that you are now two weeks in arrears on sending our family a return Christmas card. Nothing would please us more than to carry you right through the holiday season. But this would be impossible because if we carried you, then we would have to carry our other friends, and then we would soon be out of the holiday greeting business.

"When we sent you our Christmas card on Dec. 1, we assumed that you would send us one back by return mail.

"To put it bluntly, you owe us one season's greetings plus a 'Joy to the World' as interest. We are enclosing a self-addressed envelope for your convenience and would appreciate your remittance immediately."

MY WIFE BECAME very upset about the notice. I accused her of letting the first two slip by in her typical sloppy bookkeeping fashion. She said the Carbunkles were originally my friends, and I should have handled their return greetings through by office.

"Look," I said, "we don't have any cards left. They've waited this long, they can wait until New Year's. Besides, we owe our holiday respects to the Geyelins and the Krafts before we pay our greetings back to the Carbunkles."

JUST TWO DAYS ago we received a registered special delivery letter from the Miserecordia Collection Agency.

The letter read, "The Carbunkles have turned over your bad debt Christmas greetings to this office and have asked us to collect it for them immediately.

"We are hoping you give us no difficulty in this regard as we have methods of collecting holiday wishes that are not pleasant. It would be to your advantage to send to us not only your Christmas and New Year Best Wishes, but also to include several 'Peace on Earths' to compensate for all the trouble you have caused our client. Unless we hear from you by return special delivery registered mail, we will see to it that you will be listed as a bad Christmas card risk and will never receive another greeting. This is your last warning."

Balance Of Trade In Canada's Favor

By JOHN PRIME
London Financial Times

LONDON (UPI) — The special relationship that has long existed between Canada and its southern neighbor, the United States, is undergoing a change.

The change is a consequence of the major efforts now being made by the United States to reduce its balance of payments deficit. American thoughts are turning to a reduction of imports from Canada as one area where savings can be made.

The balance of trade between Canada and the United States is currently very much in Canada's favor. America would like to redress this balance by cutting down on the quantity of goods she buys from Canada; but the United States faces the prospect of a fuel shortage this winter and needs Canadian gas and oil to help stave off a shortfall in energy supplies.

This American need puts Canada in a fairly strong position in talks being held between the two countries.

There is one major difficulty to be overcome in any American trade dealings with its northern neighbor — protectionism in the United States. Whether the problem is the long-term one of achieving a better balance in American trade with Canada or, as now, the short-term one of opening the door a little wider to a specific range of products Canada can supply, Washington must be sensitive to the newly active protectionist lobby in Congress.

In 1969, Canada's exports totaled $14 billion. Of this the United States took 70 per cent, Britain 7.5 per cent and the Common Market six per cent. Therefore if the controversial Mills Bill is passed in the United States Congress and a trade war with Europe develops, well over 80 per cent of Canada's exports would be in the "war zone."

This is the card that the United States administration could play if Canada proves reluctant to make some effort to help reduce the American deficit.

One of the first items on the agenda is the pact which allows virtually duty free movement of new cars between the two countries. The pact was signed in 1965 to stave off measures threatened by Canada to protect its motor industry. But since then things have changed dramatically and the Canadian trade deficit in automotive products of $768 million at the time of the signing has developed into a surplus that stood at $130 million after the first seven months of this year.

Events in the auto industry this year have tended to accentuate the position. While United States plants have had to cut production, output at the Canadian plants has been running at a high level. Part of this was because Ford and Chrysler decided to produce two very popular cars, the Maverick and the Dart, in their Canadian plants.

While this situation could be reversed if the United States refused to renew the pact, exports of Canadian oil and gas are almost certain to increase. Oil reserves in the United States are estimated at enough for 11 years at present consumption rates compared with a global supply reserve of 30 years.

So there is the question of the Arctic oil finds. Any pipeline to the fields must run over Canadian territory and any tanker sailing to Prudhoe Bay in Alaska's North Slope must pass through waters over which Canada claims sovereignty.

A decision by the United States to accept all the crude oil Canada can sell in 1971 means that more pipelines will have to be built in Canada itself and it is by ensuring sovereignty over methods of transportation that Canada will be able to retain some influence over the United States-controlled industry.

Motor cars, oil and gas are not the whole problem. The United States is also running short of water and American interests have also tried, unsuccessfully, to win control of Canada's largest uranium deposits.

Canada's growing political independence has also irked the United States. The floating of the Canadian dollar, recognition of China and the cut-back in its NATO commitments have led to a distinct cooling in relations between the two countries.

Those Dental Tears Can Trace Diabetes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Those tears some patients shed in the dental chair can be put to good use, hleping in the diagnosis of diabetes.

Tears are put on a piece of paper and pressed for 15 seconds against another, specifically treated paper. A tinge ranging from blue to black on the paper indicates a positive reaction to diabetes.

"Since diabetes is an ever increasing diagnostic problem with many oral implications, we feel that the tear test with its ease of administration, low cost and high degree of accuracy is excellent for use in any situation where the dentist finds diabetes as a possible agent in oral disease," Dr. Edmond L. Truelove, of Indianapolis, reported at the 111th annual session of the American Dental Association.

Truelove is chairman of the Department of Clinical Oral Diagnosis and Oral Medicine at Indiana University-Purdue University School of Dentistry.

Other reports on what's new in dentistry, delivered at the meeting in Las Vegas, included the following:

—Laser welding may eventually replace conventional soldering of dental bridges and other dental appliances. Dr. Thomas E. Gordon Jr., of Orlando, Fla., said the advantages of laser welding include large savings in chair and laboratory time as well as an accurate fit of the fixed partial dental prothesis.

—More and more adults are going in for orthodontic treatment, having their teeth straightened via braces to lose the dental cripple look. Dr. Marvin C. Goldstein of Atlanta said that from his experience there appears to be no age limit for orthodontic treatment. He said the majority of the dental profession is not aware of the necessity of orthodontic treatment for the older patient or that it can be done.

—Persons who clench their teeth during sleep or during a confrontation while awake can damage teeth, gums, jaw joint and muscles, a Swiss dental scientist reported. Dr. Peter Schaerer of Berne, said grinding the teeth seems to be due to changes in central nervous activity, as in sleep, in states of nervous tension or in conflict situations. He said the damaging activity, called bruxism, can be observed in large segments of the population and in all age groups.

—Dizziness can be related to malocclusion or faulty bite. An eight-year study of 105 patients suffering from vertigo indicates a high percentage of the dizziness was caused by malocclusion and jaw hinge joint disorders which irritated and injured the adjacent structures of the ears. Dr. David J. Goodfriend of Philadelphia, Pa., said once the bite problems were corrected, the dizziness disappeared in 90 per cent of the patients.

—A University of California oral surgeon cited a bone grafting technique involving a metal implant as a possible aid to problem denture patients. Dr. Philip J. Boyne of Los Angeles said the method was used successfully on 10 patients by achieving regeneration of the grafted bone and acceptance by the host site.

For all afraid to go to the dentist, there's this word from a University of North Carolina dental educator. Dr. James H. McLeran of Chapel Hill said dentistry's image is changing from "pain producer" to "pain alleviator."

He said this changing image is reflected in, of all things, cartoons over the years.

"While the captions may have varied greatly, I think we find a significant difference in the drawing of these cartoons," he said.

"They show a change from the patient leaving the dental office holding his painful jaw (usually down a flight of stairs) to that period when a patient in pain is pictured climbing those stairs or sitting in the waiting room prior to seeing the dentist."

And then there's that other pain — in the pocketbook!

HEW Says Hospital Decision Not Made

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Secretary Elliot L. Richardson of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) has notified a House committee that no decision has been made on his reported plan to close down eight remaining public health service hospitals.

Richardson said Tuesday in a telegram to Rep. Edward A. Garmatz, D-Md., chairman of the House Merchant Marine Committee, that he would "fully discuss" the issue with Garmatz before a decision is made.

The telegram also carried Richardson's regrets that he was unable to meet Garmatz's "short notice" to appear before his panel Tuesday to testify.

Garmatz acknowledged the request only went out Monday and said he would give Richardson another chance to testify next week. "If he doesn't," Garmatz added angrily, "we have the power to subpoena him, regardless of his position in government."

Garmatz claimed that plans are under way in HEW to close down public service hospitals in Baltimore, Boston, Galveston, Norfolk, New Orleans, San Francisco, Seattle and Staten Island. His committee is concerned because Merchant Marine sailors and Coast Guardsmen are entitled to treatment in the hospitals.

Garmatz recalled that a similar move had been considered by HEW in 1965 and that hearings by his panel forced abandonment of the plans.

Rep. John M. Murphy, D-N.Y., denounced the planned Staten Island hospital closing in his congressional district, and said he would demand from Richardson "some explanation of what happened to the $12 million renovation program for the hospital which was planned five years ago."

Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., who originally disclosed the planned closings, said "this is a contemptuous way for the government to act toward those people."

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

May Peace and

PROFOUND JOY

Meaning Of Christmas

By LOUIS CASSELS

UPI Religion Writer

Routinely, we wish one another a "Merry Christmas."

It is a good wish, but not good enough.

Christmas is meant to be more than merely merry. It is meant to be joyous.

There is a difference between merriment and joy.

To be merry is to have fun; to be mirthful, convivial, jolly, festive. It is a pleasant and wholesome thing to be merry.

Joy is a rarer and grander emotion. To be joyful is to be profoundly glad, to experience a deep and abiding inner happiness. Joy is a feeling of exultation which has elements of peace and rapture and gratitude and wonder.

Joy has been associated with Christmas in a special way since the silent night when awe-stricken shepherds heard a choir of angels proclaim "glad tidings of great joy."

That was the first Christmas carol. And joy has renained the keynote of Christmas carols ever since.

"Joy to the world! The Lord is come ..."

"O come, all ye faithful, joyful and triumphant ..."

"Joyful, all ye nations, rise, join the triumph of the skies. . ."

"Good Christian men, rejoice, with heart and soul and voice ..."

Why is Christmas an occasion for joy?

The answer can be expressed in many different ways.

For some, there is comfort and security in repeating the familiar verbal formulas. Christmas represents the coming of the Messiah, the birth of Christ, the event in which the Eternal God became incarnate in a human life in order to save men from the bondage of sin.

But the joy of Christmas need not be confined to those who are able to understand and accept orthodox theological definitions of its significance.

"I bring good news of a great joy which will come to ALL people," said the Herald Angel.

"ALL people" surely includes those who boggle at the claim that "the Word was made flesh."

Perhaps the best way to phrase the good news for them is simply to say that Christmas signifies that God loves us enough to dwell among us incognito, sharing our pains and frustrations, striving with us and through us to bring about peace on earth and good will among men.

Some, of course, cannot accept even that, because they have been persuaded that belief in God is an archaic superstition.

If they are to experience the joy of Christmas, they will have to let go the checkreins which a skeptical culture has placed on their minds, and allow their hearts to run freely toward the rapturous hope that maybe, just maybe, it is all true.

The good news of Christmas is that God is, and that He cares. Neither His reality nor His love are contingent on our awareness of them. He goes right on existing and caring, however little attention we pay to Him, and He loves the militant atheist no whit less than the devout believer.

To believe this is to be joyous. To acknowledge it as a possibility is to approach the threshhold of joy.

U.S. Denies POWs List Is Complete

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Pentagon officials said today they are certain Hanoi left at least 26 names off its latest list of Americans held prisoner in North Vietnam. It is possible, they said, that even more were omitted.

Officials said they were puzzled by the omissions from a list the North Vietnamese described as final and complete. Some of those left off have appeared in prisoner of war photographs released by North Vietnam.

Because of this the Defense Department refuses to accept the new list as official and complete, said Brig. Gen. Daniel James Jr., deputy assistant secretary of defense for public affairs.

James refused to name the men who failed to appear on the list because "we do not

Spies Put Under Civilian Control

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has ordered the Pentagon's spy operation to report directly to him, in an effort to put armed forces intelligence activities under stronger civilian control.

A Pentagon spokesman, in announcing the changes Wednesday, denied the shakeup was a response to charges the Army had spied on national political figures; it did appear, however, that the change was at least partly motivated by evidence the Army's surveillance of racial organizations had gotten out of hand.

Laird ordered the head of the Defense Intelligence Agency (DIA) to report directly to him after Feb. 1 instead of to the Joint Chiefs of Staff. And he ordered the joint chiefs not to establish another intelligence gathering organization of their own.

"These activities must be conducted in a manner which recognizes and preserves individual human rights," Laird said in his order. "Policy determinations governing such activities must be retained under civilian cognizance and control."

Laird said he was particularly concerned about intelligence operation "involving the use of investigative and counter-intelligence personnel."

"Actions have been taken to eliminate some of the past

Coldest Day Of Season

Clear, crisp weather sent the thermometer dipping into the 20s in some areas of Marin today, ending a week of sporadic rainfall. It was the county's coldest day of the season.

Icicles were reported at some Northern and Central Marin locations, while commuters broke from their usual early morning routine to scrape ice from windshields.

National Weather Service promised today the crisp, fair weather would continue through Christmas day with only early morning and late evening fog.

Marin's lowest temperature was reported in Novato, where the mercury fell to 27 degrees. In Southern Sonoma, Petaluma reported its coldest reading thus far this season at 28 degrees. Elsewhere in California clear, cold weather also is expected to prevail. The Sierra Nevada will be clear and cold through Friday with lows tonight at Lake Tahoe expected to range between 10 below zero and 10 above.

Southern movement of a high pressure system over the Pacific Northwest was credited for the fair weather by the weather bureau.

San Rafael's 35 degree temperature equalled the low for the season set on Sunday.

Angela Davis Due Visit From Family

To Have A Yule Dinner

By MARY LEYDECKER

Black revolutionary Angela Y. Davis is expecting a Christmas visit tomorrow in the Marin County Jail from her family, sheriff's officers said today.

She will also dine on a special holiday menu which includes turkey and all the trimmings and will be given, along with other jail inmates, a Christmas package from the Salvation Army.

Sheriff's Capt. Harvey Teague said today that Miss Davis has made arrangements by phone for her family to come tomorrow from Alabama, and that he believed her father, mother, brother and sister would be here.

Although Fridays are not visiting days at the jail, (visiting is allowed on Thursdays and Sundays), Teague said it is standard jail procedure for inmates to be allowed to visit with relatives who have come a long distance, regardless of the day.

Miss Davis was partially arraigned yesterday by Superior Court Judge E. Warren McGuire on charges of murder, kidnapping and conspiracy stemming from the Aug. 7 shootout at the Hall of Justice.

She is accused of providing the guns which were used in the abortive escape attempt in which Judge Harold J. Haley and three others died.

The 26-year-old former philosophy instructor was returned to Marin from New York Tuesday after her efforts to block extradition failed. Her next court appearance will be on Jan. 5 when her co-defendant, San Quentin convict Ruchell Magee, will be brought to court with her.

Teague today expressed anger over statements made by attorneys that Miss Davis has been mistreated by Marin officials.

San Francisco attorney Terence Hallinan claimed yesterday that Miss Davis was returned to Marin "in an old propellor plane with 25 armed male guards and a couple of

Cost Of Living Goes Up Slightly, At Lower Rate

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The inflationary pace of the cost of living slowed slightly in November but still showed an increase of 0.3 per cent, the government reported today.

The Labor Department said the rise in the consumer price index was half the rate of climb in October and about equal to that recorded in June, July and August when the administration expressed belief that inflation had been checked.

Food prices declined in November but the cost of consumer services, clothing, shelter and automobiles advanced.

The index for November stood at 137.8 per cent of the 1957-59 average. That meant it cost $13.78 to buy the same goods and services that could have been obtained for $13.74 in October and $10 a little more than a decade ago.

The national cost of living showed a 5.6 per cent increase over a year ago.

Morhouse Free

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller Wednesday commuted the prison sentence of former state Republican Chairman L. Judson Morhouse, central figure in a bribery scandal involving a liquor license for the New York City Playboy Club.

Rockefeller said he was commuting Morhouse's sentence only because he is in poor health and prison might hasten his death. The governor emphasized that Morhouse's conviction still stood.

Morhouse in 1966 was sentenced to two to three years in prison for his part in a $100,000 bribery in connection with the Playboy license involving Martin C. Epstein, then chairman of the state Liquor Authority.He lost his final appeal last month in the Court of Appeals.

Seattle 7 Bail

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Ninth Circuit Appeals court has ruled that the defendants in the Seattle Seven conspiracy case must be set free on bail.

U.S.DistrictJudgeGeorgeH. Boldt had jailed the seven on contempt charges after he declared a mistrial Dec. 10 because of their outbursts in his courtroom.

Bail will be set by Judge Boldt when he receives a copy of the order, the three-man panel said Wednesday.

The seven went on trial in Tacoma, Wash., on charges of conspiring to damage Seattle federal buildings during a riot Feb. 17.

Art Returned

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two stolen works by Pablo Picasso, valued at $110,000, were returned by mail Wednesday to the Guggenheim Museum.

One, an ink study "Woman with an Open Fan," was torn in half. But museum director Thomas M. Messer told anews conference he believed it could be patched up and displayed again.

The other, a watercolor titled "Table Before the Window," was not damaged and was put back on display.

Berlin's Signal

BERLIN (UPI)—West Berliners placed lighted candles in the windows of their homes tonight to show their ties to relatives in East Berlin whom the Communists would not let them visit.

For the fifth consecutive year the East German government refused to open the wall to allow Christmas reunions for families split by the wall. About 500,000 West Berliners have close relatives in East Berlin.

The candles flickered in the windows in response to a call by West Berlin Mayor Klaus Schuetz to demonstrate their solidarity.

Chavez Released

SALINAS (UPI) —Farm Labor leader Cesar Chavez was released Wednesday night from the jail cell he occupied for 20 days after defying a judge's order to halt a boycott against lettuce grower Bud Antle.

About 400 persons, many of them participants in a vigil carried on since Chavez was sentenced, greeted him when he was released.

The State Supreme Court in San Francisco earlier Wednesday ordered his release pending that panel's hearing into his appeal of contempt of court charges.

Boat Capsizes

JAKARTA (UPI) —A 90-ton service vessel bringing 44 foreign and Indonesian offshore oil workers home for Christmas, capsized and sank early today in a collision in the Java Sea with 26 dead or missing.

Eighteen persons were rescued and 14 bodies had been recovered by late afternoon. The 12 others missing were feared drowned in the disaster area 30 miles northeast of Jakarta harbor.

Aspokesman for the U.S. Embassy reported six Americans were aboard the boat, the Northern Star, and three had been rescued. The bodies of two others were recovered and one is listed as missing, he said.

Pope To Ask World Peace

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI is likely to call for church-state collaboration in the cause of world peace when he officiates Christmas Eve mass for the diplomatic corps in the Sistine Chapel tonight, Vatican sources said.

The mass for diplomats will be the first of three Christmas services officiated by the Pope. The Vatican has said he will say another mass in his private chapel early Friday and descend into St. Peter's Basilica at 11 a.m. for the day's main mass, followed one hour later by a televised address and blessing "to the city and the world" from the Basilica's main balcony.

Swordfish Imports Halted, Stocks Banned: Mercury Found

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Most stocks of swordfish will be removed from grocery shelves because the government found samples to contain poisonous mercury.

The Food and Drug Administration said the discovery of mercury in swordfish, coupled with earlier similar findings for tuna, constituted no immediate health hazard, but as a safety measure all contaminated shipments were being recalled.

Shipments of swordfish from Japan, a major supplier, have been halted pending an arrangement for pretesting swordfish before it is sent to this country.

More than a million cans of tuna were recalled earlier.

The FDA said 62 samples of frozen whole swordfish steaks, filets and chunks were found to contain an average of 0.93 parts per million (ppm) of mercury, ranging from 0.18 to 2.4 ppm.

The maximum allowed by the FDA is 0.5 ppm.

The FDA said there was no health hazard from eating a reasonable amount of contaminated swordfish, which accounts for only a small part of American food consumption. Total annual swordfish consumption is 25 million pounds with 400,000 pounds produced domestically.

However, the amount of mercury found in the swordfish was much higher than that found in tuna.

"Irrespective of the source of the mercury and the relatively small amount of swordfish consumed in the United States, it is considered that the regular consumption of foods known to contain mercury above guideline levels is an unnecessary and avoidable risk," the FDA said.

The immediate task now facing the FDA, the fishing industry and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration is to analyze the rest of the stock on hand — about 2 million pounds —and to begin regular testing at U.S. ports and fisheries.

Then would come a testing program for other types of fish to determine how widespread mercury contamination has become.

Registration will close Jan. 22. Brochures listing all classes will be mailed next week to households in Sonoma County. Registration may be made weekdays in Bailey Hall from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The spring semester begins on Feb. 3. The evening college is open to Sonoma residents over the age of 18 who are high school graduates and have been out of school for at least one semester.

Colleges Raise $491 Million

NEW YORK (UPI)—The American Associetion of Fund-Raising Council says 117 colleges raised a total of $491.6 million drives this year, compared with $443 million in 1969.

The University of Cincinnati was the most successful, the organization said Wednesday, exceeding its goal of $26.5 million by $7.5 million,or 28 per cent.

The colleges included in the report—those with projects of $10 million or more have raised $2.25 billion of their long-range goals of $4.17 billion.

Plenty of Hogs

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Agriculture Department says hog production this year reached its highest level since 1943, indicating that pork supplies will continue to be heavy well into 1971.

Poles See Gains In Riots' Wake

WARSAW (UPI) — Poles hailed today the ouster of Premier Jozef Cyrankiewicz and party chief Wladyslaw Gomulka as a positive outcome of the Baltic coast riots.

"We have to thank those who sacrificed their lives in Gdynia and Szczecin," a Warsaw woman said. "If only the tragedy could have been avoided."

The government shakeup Wednesday, following close on the heels of a major reshuffle in the Communist party, helped to restore a Christmas mood burdened by the bitterness of last week's riots.

Piotr Jaroszewicz, a former schoolteacher and army general with experience in economics, took over as premier from Cyrankiewicz, who moved up to the largely honorary position of president.

Changes in the cabinet laid emphasis on economic and technological abilities, an encouraging sign for Poles that the new leadership team is keen to put right the economic discontent that bred the worker's revolt.

Edward Gierek, the rugged former coalminer who took over leadership of the party Sunday, promised a two-year freeze on the food prices which were put up by 20 per cent on Dec. 13, setting off the violent battles between shipyard workers and police in the seaports of Szeczecin, Gdansk and Gdvnia.

Gierek made it clear, however, the increase would not be rescinded.

He told the Polish Parliament at a session approving the cabinet changes there would be meetings in plants and factories throughout the country, starting today, to give workers and trade unions a change to discuss pay increases.

The Szczecin shipyard workers have already won a pay increase of 15 per cent by holding out with their occupation of the shipyards in the face of an Army siege, well-informed sources said.

Jaroszewicz said the new regime will seek better relations between church and state —a move interpreted by some diplomatic observers as a sign that the authorities are anxious about the reaction of the church toward the bloodshed on the Baltic coast, where feelings ran high on both sides during the fighting.

Labor Union Locals Guilty Of Contempt

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A U.S. District Court judge yesterday found three labor union locals and their officers guilty of criminal contempt for secondary boycotts against Independent-Journal advertisers.

The judge also found a fourth union local and an official of San Francisco Typographical Union Local 21 guilty of civil contempt for the secondary boycotts. The typographical union struck the I-J last Jan. 7.

Judge William T. Sweigert's decree came after almost eight weeks of trial on complaints by the National Labor Relations Board that the unions had violated three of the court's injunctions prohibiting secondary boycott activities.

Judge Sweigert set compliance fines in the civil contempt decree at $7,500 a day against International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union Local 10, and $100 a day against John De Martini of Mill Valley, vice president of Local 21. The fines will be imposed under the decree if either fails again to comply with the injunction against secondary boycotts.

The judge set Jan. 21 for setting fines or sentences in the criminal complaints. He also will hear motions on both the civil and criminal decisions that date.

The typographical union local also was found guilty of criminal contempt, as was its organizer, Don Abrams. Others found guilty of criminal contempt were Teamsters Union Local 70 of Oakland and its president, James R. Muniz, and Teamsters Union Local 85 of San Francisco, Timothy J. Richardson, its business manager and recording secretary.

The NLRB said that the secondary boycott activity by the unions was "aimed at forcing various neutral employers to cease doing business with the Independent-Journal."

The NLRB complaints grew out of picketing Marin stores in October and threatening drivers of delivery trucks going to the stores.

The NLRB's complaints cited 28 specific instances in which truck drivers in Marin were harassed or threatened or where I-J advertisers were illegally picketed. During the hit-run intimidation of drivers, tires on trucks and other vehicles were slashed, including tires on the cars of two U.S. marshals serving notices on members of the Teamsters Union ordering them to cease their activities.

San Francisco labor officials have announced their intention to file complaints with President Richard M. Nixon and California congressmen about alleged "bias" of the NLRB against the unions in connection with the strike against the I-J.

Pentagon Cites 26 Names Missing From Hanoi's List

want them (the North Vietnamese) to know who we know or think they have."

"It could endanger the lives and safety of men they might hold that we don't know about," James said.

Another Pentagon official said if the United States made public a list of all the men the Pentagon believes are prisoner of war, then North Vietnamese jailers might tell other prisoners not on the list "your government doesn't know you exist."

"They could bring tremendous pressure this way to get those men to talk. They might even kill them and never say anything about it," he said.

There were 368 names on the list given Tuesday in Paris to representatives of Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., and Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark. Of these, 339 were listed as alive and 20 as dead. The other nine have been released

The Pentagon believes North Vietnam has captured 378 Americans and that at least 20, and possibly 22 of these have died in the hands of their captors. Most of those captured were pilots of U.S. fighters or fighter-bombers shot down over North Vietnam –aircraft that carry one or two men.

In addition to the 378 identified as prisoners, another 412 are listed by the Pentagon as missing in action in North Vietnam.

Officials said this means the ultimate fate of these 412 men is unknown; they may have been captured, or they may have died in the crash of their aircraft.

"We don't know how many of the missing were captured," one official said. "But of the 20 dead on the new list, only 13 were among those we listed as definitely prisoners. The other 7 were on our missing in action list."

In addition the North Vietnamese government told New York pacifist Cora Weiss in 1969 that 2 men had died in captivity, but relayed word through the Swedish government in November that this was a mistake and those two men had never been captured.

Pentagon officials tend to believe these men really were captured and died, and that the North Vietnamese later accidentally left their records.

Neither of their names was on the latest list.

"I don't think they would lie about this," one official said. "I personally think their records system was pretty loose and that somewhere along the way they lost the cards on these men."

Added up, the 26 omitted names include:

—The two men Hanoi first said had died in captivity and later denied knowledge of.

—Seven men the Pentagon is sure died while in captivity, but whose names were not anywhere on the latest list.

—Another 17, the Pentagon has identified as captured and presumed still alive through various intelligence methods of its own.

"There may be more," one official said. "The fact that they identified as captured seven men we carried only as missing indicates this possibility."

The Pentagon has identified 331 of the 378 men on its own list through letters they have written home. The others were identified through studying photographs of prisoners made public by Hanoi and by interviewing the nine prisoners North Vietnam has released to find out what men they saw as fellow prisoners while in captivity.

reported that the purchasing power of the nation's factory workers declined last month because of the increase in the cost of living and a drop of average hours worked.

Gross weekly earnings of production and nonsupervisory workers fell off 66 cents between October and November to $121.07.

When adjusted for price increases, purchasing power was 0.8 per cent below October and 2.3 per cent below the level a year ago.

The report showed that food prices declined 0.5 percent. Prices declined for beef, pork and poultry. Prices of fruits and vegetables also declined instead of increasing as they usually do in November.

Yet prices of restaurant meals and other food consumed away from home increased 0.4 per cent.

The cost of consumer services increased 0.6 per cent. The biggest increases in services were for gas, water and sewage.

Medical costs continued to advance, increasing 0.5 percent. The cost of transportation increased 0.7 per cent, mostly because of increases in auto insurance premiums and local transit fares.

On a seasonally adjusted basis, the cost of living rose at an average rate of 0.5 per cent a month for the first five months of this year. The rate of increase declined to 0.3 per cent to June and July and to 0.2 per cent in August. But it escalated again to 0.5 per cent in September and October before dipping back to the 0.3 per cent mark in November.

Louis Cervantes, 39, of Petaluma, who suffered two self-inflicted wounds Tuesday, is not employed by Pacific Gas and Electric Co., as reported yesterday in the Independent-Journal, but by a janitorial service that serves the company.

Community Hospital of Sonoma County reported today that Cervantes remained in poor condition. Sonoma County sheriff's deputies said he shot himself in the head and chest because of reported despondency over low wages.

No Marriage Plans For Tricia Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Tricia Nixon plans to spend a good part of the Christmas weekend with her beau of six years, Ed Cox, but the White House said today there is "no clearcut" indication that they will soon be going down the aisle together.

There definitely is no engagement announcement in the offing during the Christmas holiday period, a spokesman for Miss Nixon's mother said.

But White House denials of any imminent announcement notwithstanding, there is little or no doubt that there will be another White House wedding before President Nixon's first term ends.

There have been persistent reports that Tricia and Edward Finch Cox will marry, and Knight Newspapers reported in today's editions that an announcement of their engagement would be made during the holidays,

To this, one of Mrs. Nixon's aides said; "We absolutely deny it. There is no imminent engagement to announce."

Speaking of Miss Nixon's and Cox's long-time dating, Connie Stuart, the first lady's staff director, said "If and when it happens" —referring to a possible engagement —"it will be announced by President and Mrs. Nixon."

"At this time I see no clearcut announcement of an engagement for these two young people," she added. "I don't see any announcement this holiday season."

abuses incident to such activities," he added, "but further corrective actions are necessary as a matter of urgent priority."

An example of action that has already been taken, a spokesman said, was that last June 9 the Army ordered its spy files on radical organizations destroyed. The Defense Department felt these files were "not appropriate for the Department of Defense and the Department of the Army to retain," the spokesman said.

Laird said that in the new set-up the head of the DIA would be able to delegate various types of investigations and counter intelligence—combatting foreign intelligence activities—to the individual military services.

"This delegation will be accomplished on a function-by-function basis," said Laird, who also ordered a full public report on his new plans after they are established.

"The secretary's studies (already conducted) into this whole field have indicated that in some cases there is a lack of clear-cut responsibility and authority—in some cases there is some fragmented responsibility and there is duplication, and that it may be possible to achieve further economy (by the changes)," the spokesman added. "One of the things he wants to do is strengthen civilian control of military intelligence."

Protection Due Reef Area

Beginning March 1, Agate Beach and Dubury Reef in Bolinas will be protected by state law against souvenir hunters who have been depriving the area of plants and fishlife.

Pierre W. Joske, director of county parks and recreation, said protection of the areas was being written into the state fish and game code and will become law on March 1.

The county parks and recreation commission had worked for a year to get state protection. The state fish and game commission, meeting in Los Angeles earlier this month, agreed to add a section in the fish and game code to protect Duxbury and Agate Beach.

Under the new law, no fish or wildlife may be removed from the area except abalone, market crabs, mussels, rockfish and other sports-fish normally taken by hook and line.

matrons."

Teague said there were seven male officers and two matrons who accompanied Miss Davis on the flight from New Jersey aboard an Air National Guard plane.

One of the matrons on the flight said that Miss Davis was quiet but pleasant on trip and that she was not handcuffed until just before the plane landed.

She said that Miss Davis was airsick but added that several of the others on the plane also were.

Hallinan also said that Miss Davis was placed in solitary confinement after she arrived in Marin. Jailers said a young woman, serving a sentence for sex perversion, was in the cell unit with Miss Davis, although both are in separate cells.

Teague said he has spoken to Miss Davis several times and that she had not expressed any dissatisfaction.

He said the Christmas menu also would include mashed potatoes and gravy, a vegetable, porterhouse rolls and butter, pickles and olives, cranberry sauce, pumpkin and mince pie and milk and coffee.

Each inmate also will be given little cups of candy and nuts, he said. The gift packages provided by the Salvation Army will include a toothbrush, tooth paste, comb and candy, as well as reading material.

The jail will provide cigars, cigarettes and candy canes for thos who want them.

Supporters of Miss Davis have said they plan a "Christmas vigil" outside the Hall of Justice tomorrow.

Shortly after Miss Davis's arraignment yesterday, the sheriff's office received a threat a bomb would go off at noon in the Hall of Justice. No device was found.

Miss Davis and other county jail inmates remained in their cells, but County employees were evacuated during the search.

Convicted Felon Is Found Sane

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — A 26-year-old Alameda County man, convicted of nine felonies in a 1966 crime spree which included a Marin auto chase in pursuit of a topless dancer, has been found to be sane by the same jury which convicted him of the crimes.

The jury returned its verdict in the case of James Reece Tuesday in Alameda Superior Court. Judge George W. Phillips set Jan. 12 for sentencing.

Reece, who attended the two-and-a-half-week trial under heavy sedation, was ordered to stand trial by Phillips after psychiatrists found him capable of participating in his defense.

The charges on which he was convicted included two counts of kidnapping, three robberies, two burglaries and two escapes.

During an escape from Highland Hospital in Oakland in June of 1967, he was recaptured after pursuing the car of San Francisco entertainer Yvonne D'Angier of Fairfax into Marin County. The pursuit, in a stolen car, ended in a two-car crackup into Fairfax Creek.

Russia A-Bomb Blast Detected

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Atomic Energy Commission says it has detected seismic signals indicating an apparent underground nuclear blast in the Soviet Union.

Pay Hike For Water District Employees

The Marin Municipal Water District yesterday granted a 7.3 per cent across-the-board pay hike to water district employees, effective Jan. 1.

It was the highest increase since a 6.5 per cent raise in 1956. Last year's increase was 6 per cent.

The increase will hike the total district payroll from almost $1.8 million to $1.92 million.

The raises, voted unanimously for the district's 197 employees, were determined by comparison with wage increases in Bay Area industries and municipalities.

The industry wage was found to have risen 7.5 per cent while the municipal rate had increased 7.2 per cent. The water district normally determines its increase by averaging the two percentages, Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger said.

The wage report used as a basis for the increases 16 jobs in various industries surveyed in October by the Bay Area Salary Survey Committee.

The committee surveys 259 private firms and 38 public agencies, but only 16 of the jobs were considered comparable for determining salary increases, Seeger said.

The district traditionally grants increases in December instead of at the beginning of the fiscal year.

The Marin Municipal Water District board also:

PRAISES — Passed resolutions commending retiring directors William A. Marcus and dr.Leo L. Sanley for their long service on the board. Marcus joined the board in 1944. Stanley followed in 1947.

HIKE — Approved a request by a teacher at Bernard Hoffman School in San Rafael to lead a field trip of30 students and five adults to Kent Lake Jan. 21.

CALCULATOR — Approved purchase for $506 of a calculator manufactured by Singer.

RIGHT-OF-WAY — Accepted a right-of-way for construction of a fireline extension at Kappas Yacht Harbor in Sausalito.

FIRELINE — Agreed to a new plan for installation of a fireline extension at Centro East and Centro West streets in Tiburon that will be financed by $6,010 from the water district and $9,734 from Tiburon. The project had to be altered when it was learned Centro West Street recently had been resurfaced.

JUMPIN' BEAN — Heard a report that termination-of-lease papers have been served on the Jumpin' Bean Restaurant at Second Street and Grand Avenue, San Rafael, giving the restaurant until Jan. 15 to pay almost $7,000 in back rent and $9,000 in back taxes owed Marin County. If the sum is not paid, the lease will be terminated, according to a letter from the district's attorney, Robert W. Elliott.

Candles Shine For E. Berlin

BERLIN (UPI) — Mayor Klaus Schuetz asked West Berliners to place lighted candles in their windows tonight as a sign of solidarity with Germans on the other side of the wall.

For the fifth successive Christmas the East Germans refused to open the wall and West Berliners could not make holiday visits to their East Berlin friends and relatives.

Schuetz asked them to put candles in their windows again to show the wall has not made them forget those on the other side,

"In this way we will show our ties to each other and to those who can not be with us tonight," Schuetz said. "The candles will be a light of hope that expresses the desire for more humanity."

2 Highway Contracts Awarded

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Construction contracts totaling more than $750,000 have been awarded two firms for highway improvements in Marin and Southern Sonoma counties, the state Department of Public Works has announced.

The biggest job, to widen four miles of Highway 116 at Petaluma, was awarded Arthur B. Siri Inc. of Santa Rosa. It totals $705,881.

The department said the two-lane highway will be widened to 40 feet. Bridges over Adobe and Stage Gulch creeks also will be widened, while crossings at Ellis and Wheat creeks will be replaced. The project, expected to take six months, is scheduled for completion during fall 1971, the department said.

E. A. Forde Co. of Greenbrae was awarded a $44,474 contract to install new and modify existing guardrails along Highway 101 between Novato and Rohnert Park. The project will take about 50 days, the department reported.

Minor Delays In Airport Slowdown

LONDON (UPI)—Airline passengers experienced only minor delays in flights from London's Heathrow Airport Wednesday despite a decision by union leaders to continue a nine-day old rulebook slowdown by airport workers.

Many of the workers ignored the call to work to the rule and to refuse overtime because they needed the extra cash for Christmas spending.

Opera Star Mimi Benzell Dies At 47

MANHASSET, N.Y. (UPI)—Mimi Benzell, who went from the Metropolitan Opera to her own radio show and to a starring role in a long running Broadway musical, died at North Shore Hospital Wednesday after a lengthy illness. She was 47.

Miss Benzell joined the Met as a lyric coloratura while in her early 20s in 1945 and continued with the renowned opera company for five seasons. She began appearing in supper clubs in the late 1940s and in 1951 started a weekly radio program.

She debuted on Broadway in a featured role in "Milk and Honey," a 1961 musical set in Israel which starred Molly Picon and Robert Weede.

Miss Benzell returned to radio in 1964 to host a daily radio talk program on WNBC, "The Mimi Benzell Show." She was director of the Nassau County Office of Performing and Fine Arts until August, when she resigned.

Regardless of her other show business appearances, Miss Benzell was known primarily for her operatic roles with the Met, the biggest of which was that of Gilda in Verdi's "Rigoletto." She also was Musetta in Puccini's "La Boheme" and Philine in Thomas' "Mignon."

She once said of her youth, "Long before I had any idea of singing for a living I earned my first dollar singing Christmas carols at the First Presbyterian Church. Six months later I won a scholarship for singing."

Miss Benzell did not sing at the Met after 1949 but continued to bill herself as a "Metropolitan Opera star." She was sued in 1956 by the opera company which denied she had been a star there and asked that she cease advertising herself as such. The Met won the case.

Born in Bridgeport, Conn., Miss Benzell moved with her family to Brooklyn when she was 13. She attended Hunter College before getting a scholarship to the Mannes School of Music where she did her major vocal study.

She married concert manager Walter Gould in 1949 and had two children, a daughter Jennifer, and a son Jonathan.

Riot Trial May Go To Jury By Jan. 4

I-J Special Report

FAIRFIELD — Trial of seven persons on 34 charges arising from the violent Feb. 14 rally outside the Independent-Jornal has been recessed until Tuesday.

Judge William E. Jensen told the Solano Superior Court jury yesterday that it probably will not begin deliberating the case until Jan. 4. He said prosecution and defense attorneys expected to take all of Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday to present their summation arguments, reviewing evidence and testimony in the 10-week-old trial.

Jensen warned the jury that once it does begin deliberations it will be sequestered. He suggested that jurors make arrangements to be absent from home at least three or four days.

Attorneys for both sides spent most of yesterday in the judge's chambers arguing legal matters. The jury sat in the courtroom only a few minutes during the afternoon.

Marin County Deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua W. Thomas had said Tuesday he might reopen the prosecution to present one more witness, but decided against it yesterday. The defense had rested late Tuesday.

The trial began Oct. 20 as a result of Marin County Grand Jury indictments against seven of the 12 persons arrested at the anti-I-J rally on Valentine's Day.

The rally was organized to support San Francisco International Typographical Union 21, which struck the I-J Jan. 7. During the rally, most of the I-J's windows were shattered by sticks or thrown objects, a delivery truck was set afire, stinkbombs were hurled, and demonstrators battled police and pelted them with picket signs and missiles. Fourteen persons were injured.

Auto, Credit Cards Stolen

A 38-year-old Ross man has been robbed of his auto, credit cards and $10 in cash by two houseguests he met the day before at a San Francisco bar.

Ross police said James Edward French told them he met two men late Monday in the Tenderloin and invited them to spend the night at his Laurel Grove Avenue home after they expressed interest in attending a rally in behalf of Angela Davis in Marin.

French told police that between midnight and noon yesterday, the two men took his black and white Toyota, credit cards and the cash. A .22-caliber rifle was in the trunk of the auto, police said.

War Halts; U.S. Deaths Hit New Low

SAIGON (UPI)—The Vietnamese War halted today under a Christmas cease-fire, and the U.S. command announced the lowest American death toll last week in five years of fighting—23 men. But in Cambodia Communist rockets and mortars smashed into the city of Kompong Cham with deadly effect.

The U.S. Command said Communist forces killed two Americans and wounded three others in an assault on a northern outpost in Vietnam early today less than one hour before the Communists began a three-day cease-fire. The Americans and South Vietnanese were observing a 24-hour truce.

Journalist Francis Bailly, reporting for UPI, said 82mm mortars and 122mm rockets hit Kompong Cham, 50 miles northeast of Phnom Penh and Cambodia's third largest city, Christmas Eve. The night before 82mm mortars hit Roka Thom, a ferry landing on the Mekong River.

Bailly said the attack on Kompong Cham killed nine persons and wounded 21 others. The Cambodians said 1,800 to 2,400 North Vietnamese are in the area surrounding the city, a provincial capital of 35,000 persons.

The Christmas truces did not apply to Laos or Cambodia, and Phnom Penh reports said there were brief clashes within 14 miles of the capital and that aircraft bombed Communist troops 12 miles northwest of Phnom Penh today. There were other clashes along the Mekong River.

Shortly before the 24-hour U.S. and South Vietnamese holiday truce was to begin, only the one incident involving U.S. forces had been reported. But the South Vietnamese Command said there had been two violations by the Communists of their unilateral three-day standdown. One government militiaman was killed in the fighting, the officials reported.

The 72-hour Communist truce began at 1 a.m. Saigon time (noon EST Wednesday), 17 hours before that of the allies. The cease-fire was the 17th of the Indochina conflict since 1965.

U.S. military spokesmen said a reconnaissance team of the American Division came under small arms and hand grenade fire just after midnight near Duc Pho, 307 miles north-northeast of Saigon. The brief attack cost the unit of the 11th brigade two dead and three wounded. Communist losses were not determined, the spokesmen said.

The weekly casualty report issued on Christmas Eve showed that American war deaths last week dropped to their lowest level in more than five years.

The U.S. Command said 23 American servicemen were killed and 160 wounded in the seven-day period ending Dec. 19. The toll was the lowest since early in the massive U.S. troop buildup when 14 Americans were reported slain in the week ending Oct. 23, 1965.

Since Jan. 1, 1961, command records showed, 44,167 Americans have been killed in the Indochina conflict and 293,077 wounded. Another 8,950 U.S. servicemen have died from "non-hostile" causes.

South Vietnamese casualties last week were 266 dead and 886 wounded while Communist losses were placed at 1,404 dead.

Monitor Editor Wins Zenger Award

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—Erwin D. Canham, editor in chief of the Christian Science Monitor, has been selected as the 1970 winner of the University of Arizona's annual John Peter Zenger Freedom of the Press award.

More than 85 editors and publishers throughout the nation participated in the selection, said Donald Carson, acting head of the UA journalism department.

Driver Overpowers Would-Be Robbers

A pizza delivery driver knocked out two would-be robbers, left them senseless on a Northgate curb and drove off, the driver told San Rafael police.

Allen Lee Gragg, 22, a Nike missile base crewman working part-time for a pizzeria, said he was accosted by two long-haired men when he walked back to his truck at 10 p.m. Tuesday after delivering a pizza in the 900 block of Del Ganado. One produced a switchblade knife and demanded money, Gragg said. He said he felled them both with his fists, then drove off. Police found nothing at the scene.

Soldier's Christmas Gift From Army: Early Release

A soldier from Lagunitas who left his post early in hopes of being discharged in time to spend Christmas with his family unexpectedly got his wish yesterday.

Sp—4 Gerald E. Sharpe, who has not been home for Christmas in three years, was discharged after the Army overlooked a little rule-bending on his part and also ignored one of its own regulations.

Perhaps moved by the Christmas spirit, the base commander at the Army Transfer Service, Fort Hamilton, N.Y., released the 21-year-old soldier, who was not technically eligible for release until Tuesday.

The commandant, Lt. Col. Charles Wood, had obtained permission from the Pentagon and authorized the release yesterday, Army officials said.

Sharp did not know of Wood's move and was anticipating a lonely Christmas at an unfamiliar base.

His mother, Mrs. Joanne Sharpe of 7220 Sir Francis Dake Boulevard, said he called Tuesday to say his chances of being home for Christmas were "very slim" although "he had been standing in the processing room for two or three days hoping."

Although soldiers due to get out in late December are routinely discharged before Christmas, Sharpe and several others at the base were technically ineligible for pre-Christmas release, the Army said.

Sharpe, originally due to be discharged March 29, had his duty time sliced three months to return to school, the Army said. He was therefore ineligible for any further reduction, officials said.

According to the Army, Sharpe was to have remained with his supply unit near Milan, Italy, until Dec. 29, but, instead, he had wrapped up his duties there and flown to New York.

There is a regulation against packing up early, but men are seldom punished for doing so, the officials said. However, they are not usually given early releases either, they said.

The early release will mean Sharpe can spend Christmas with his entire family in Fresno instead of watching television in a noncommissioned officers club, his mother said.

"We are all going up to my mother's. We haven't been together in three years," Mrs. Sharpe said.

Donat's Debut

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Peter Donat, son of the late Oscar-winner Robert Dobert Donat, will make his motion picture debut in "The Old Man's Place" for Cinerama.

Agnew Award To Greek Coed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —An 18-year-old Athens University student has been named winner of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's second annual scholarship award to a resident of the Greek town of Gargalianoi.

Agnew announced Wednesday the $1,600 college scholarship will go to Angelika Krithara. She is a student of literature and philosophy.

Agnew established the Spiro Anagostopoulos Memorial Scholarship in 1969 in honor of his grandfather, who was a notary public in Gargalianoi. Winners of the four-year scholarships are selected by the Gargalianoi Society, a Chicago-based Greek-American organization.

Improvement

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., "improved slightly" Tuesday but doctors at University Hospital said he remained in serious condition with his heart and some other vital organs performing less than efficiently.

WISH GRANTED — Mrs. Joanne Sharpe of Lagunitas looks at a photo of her son, Sp/4 Gerald E. Sharpe, who won an early release from the Army for Christmas after hopes looked dim.

Ominous Sound From Volcano

MANILA (UPI)—Filipino volcanologists warned today activity was building up in Taal volcano, 40 miles south of Manila. They said a major eruption might be imminent.

Since Wednesday morning, 1,669 volcanic tremors accompanied by rumbling sounds have been recorded by seismograph on the 15-square mile volcano island situated on the middle of Taal lake in nearby Batangas province, according to the volcanology commission.

The commission said "it is held likely that this crisis would lead to a resurgence of Taal's eruptive activities within a short while." It said the point of eruption could come from the main crater of the 984-foot high volcano.

Federal Deficit Tipped By Nixon

By NORMAN KEMPSTER

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon, who less than a year ago spoke almost reverently of the virtues of a balanced budget, has now adopted the "full employment budget" concept, a sure sign his next spending program will show a deficit.

The full employment budget idea enjoys a steady popularity with some economists but it seems to attract politicians mostly when they face red ink spending.

In brief, the full employment budget counts as revenue the amount the nation's tax system would yield if the economy were running at full blast. When business is sluggish —as it is today —the actual tax yield is substantially less.

Suppose, for example, that the tax structure yields $220 billion a year when the nation is experiencing full employment —currently defined as meaning that 4 per cent or less of those actively seeking work are without jobs.

But also suppose that unemployment is running at 5.6 per cent, as it did last month. In that case, the same levies would produce $205 billion.

Now assume the federal government plans to spend $218 billion during the fiscal year in question to provide necessary services —defense, welfare, farm subsidies, education, health and so on. With income at $205 billion, that would mean a deficit of $13 billion. Full employment would produce a $2 billion surplus.

On the surface, that doesn't sound much different from conventional economic theory which holds that the federal budget should be in balance when business is good and show a deficit when times are bad to stimulate the economy.

The full employment budget concept refines that approach by indicating how much red-ink spending is in order; that is, the difference between actual revenues and what your tax system would produce under full employment.

Politicians usually are less enthusiastic about the full employment budget because hey realize they will be held responsible for any deficit, regardless of what they call it or how it came about.

The federal deficit for the current fiscal year which ends next June 30 may run as high as $15 billion, mostly because of he business slump. But there probably will be a full employment surplus.

The President has referred in recent speeches to his determination to keep spending below the potential yield of the ax system. George P. Shultz, he former economics professor vho heads the Office of Management and Budget, is an advocate of the full employment budget.

When he sudmitted this year's budget to Congress last February, Nixon said: "I have pledged to the American people hat I would submit a balanced budget for (fiscal year) 1971. This is particularly necessary because the cost of living has been rising rapidly for the past five years. The budget I send to you today —the first for which I bear full responsibility as President — fulfills that pledge."

He has not repeated that pledge recently.

The full employment budget was first advocated in 1947 by the private committee for Economic Development (CED). The concept was stressed in the economic reports of the Kennedy Administration when it was used to explain unbalanced budgets.

But the concept fell out of favor in 1965 when the economy heated up to full employment. When spending topped revenue by $25.16 billion in the 1968 fiscal year —the largest deficit since World War II —the full employment deficit was virtually the same.

Although Nixon has endorsed the full employment budget, the administration has never revealed its estimates of full employment revenues.

Arthur M. Okun, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers during the Johnson Administration and now a senior fellow at the Brookings Institution in Washington, recently estimated full employment revenue for this fiscal year at $217.5 billion.

Okun's estimate would provide a substantial full employment surplus over spending which the administration estimates at $205.6 billion. The spending total probably will turn out higher than that estimate, which has not been revised since May, but it is almost sure to be less than $217.5 billion.

Job Policy Suit Is Filed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Five San Francisco Chinese filed suit Tuesday charging the federal government with job discrimination because it will not hire aliens.

The federal court suit named various agencies of the U.S. government and said that the Chinese have been denied employment solely because they are not citizens of the United States.

It said that aliens are denied most federal jobs despite the fact they may be required to serve in the American armed forces.

The suit also alleged that the citizenship requirement for most federal jobs violates an executive order of President Richard Nixon.

The five asked that the various federal agencies be ordered to stop discriminating against aliens.

PLANNING THEIR traditional Christmas Eve buffet dinner, Mrs. Delmar Friedrichsen, right, and her grandmother, Mrs. Emily Kissmann, left, set out the special German stollen, Pfeffkuchen and Pfeffernuesse at the Friedrichsen ranch in Petaluma. The children are eager for a visit from the Christmas Man, or Santa Claus. Both Mr. and Mrs. Friedrichsen are of German parentage and combine both German and American Christmas traditions.

LYNN AND her father, Delmar Friedrichsen, are busy daily making a check on their ewe, which just had triplet lambs at their Petaluma ranch home. Since Christmas time is also lambing time, the Friedrichsens are kept busy through the holidays running their ranch, adding more excitement for the two young daughters.

Christmas Is Exciting On The Farm

THE EXCITEMENT of Christmas is reflected in the eyes of Lynn, left, as her mother, Hanne Friedrichsen, reads the Christmas story from the "Children's Bible," and explains the advent wreath to Debbi, 2. Christmas is a holiday that the Friedrichsens prepare for months in advance. After their big dinner, served in the afternoon, some 25 friends come by to visit and enjoy group singing and sampling Henne's special fruitcake baked from an old and treasured recipe.

By DYANNE FORTNER

"Preparations for our favorite holiday, Christmas, began months and months ago," said the young woman. The fatted hog, the garden potatoes ("which my Daddy can make pop out of the ground," says the bubbly five-year-old) and the pumpkins planted in a patch and cultivated by the same youngster all substantiate that Christmas is a well planned, carefully prepared-for holiday for this farm family.

Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Friedrichsen of Petaluma agree that the only last minute thing to be done is more baking and wrapping packages.

Owners of 16,000 laying hens and 48 acres of land, the Friedrichsens expect their chickens to produce 25 cases of eggs daily, to meet the contract they have with Santa Rosa Feed. Holidays are no exception and because there is a minimum of hired help. "Our relatives and guests seem to enjoy helping us whenever they visit," says Delmar.

MISTLETOE, an advent, calendar and the advent wreath are but a few of the parts of Hannelore Friedrichsen's childhood Christmases in Germany she cares to remember. Born in Stettin on her father's ranch in what is now a part of East Germany, she found that the war rudely interruped any pleasant memories she and her family might have had during that time. Soon her family became refugees, separated from the father, a soldier on the Russian front.

After the war her father searched frantically for his family. Bicycling the entire length of Germany for more than a year, he financed his quest by doing whatever work he could find. When reunited their ranch was gone, and they realized they would always by branded as refugees.

"You cannot imagine the stigma of being a refugee," Hanne says softly. Soon the family found a sponsor in the Elim Lutheran Church in Petaluma and relocated in the United States.

"A position was waiting for my father at George Nielsen's ranch on Chileno Valley Road and our family settled in Sonoma County," relates Mrs. Friedrichsen. At this point she exclaimed, her bright blue eyes flashing with excitement, "That was our most thrilling Christmas! On Christmas Eve afternoon church members arrived at our home with a tree, boxes of ornaments and what seemed like hundred of packages . . . something for each of us. I thought they would never empty their cars. Dresses, all new, more than I had ever possessed in my whole life, were given to me. I was a sixth grader at the time and just beginning to become clothes conscious." Asked if she missed her homeland and the answer was an emphatic, "No! Not at all. I was never homesick. However, my mother missed Germany for many years.

"Very vaguely I can remember only one German Christmas," she remarked. "My older brother and I walking through the snow for the annual church program on Christmas Eve. I was wearing a pastel pink dress with embroidery across the bodice . . ., my 'good' Sunday and holiday dress. When we returned home the tree was decorated and everyone anxiously awaited the Weihnachtsman (Christmas Man). Upon his arrival, before any gifts were handed out we each had to recite: 'Lieber guter Weihnachtsman schau mich nicht so boese an packe Deine. Rute ein, ich will auchymmer schoen artig sein.' (Dear good Christmas Man, don't look at me so mad. Put away your stick and I'll promise to be good.)"

IN CONTRAST, Delmar, also born of German parentage but in Petaluma, remembers an entirely happy childhood full of many contented and gay Christmas holidays. Each was spent at the ranch where he lives today.

"It was always the happiest time. We sang carols with relatives and friends all day long doing what work which had to be done, but not letting it interfere with holiday pleasures. Highlight of the entire day was the Christmas dinner," he said.

This handsome couple have blended so well their backgrounds and are earnest in passing their happy and joyous anticipation of this holiday on to their children. The only area of disagreement is when to begin the festivities . . . Hanne prefers the old German custom . . . the element of surprise on Christmas Eve. However, her husband likes to cut the tree and display the household decorations as soon after Thanksgiving as feasible. "All the more time to enjoy what they represent," he says with a broad smile.

Following a traditional candle light service at their church on Christmas Eve the family visits her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Kehr, who live in Cotati. All is ready for the Christmas Man or as Lynn, 5 and Debbi, 2, know him, Santa Claus. Mrs. Kehr and her mother, Mrs. Emily Kissman, bake especially for this particular evening's buffet dinner the popular stolen, Pfefferkuchen, and Pfeffernuesse.

THE FOLLOWING day,

OWNER OF 16,000 laying hens, Delmar Friedrichsen gets help from daughters Debbi, 2, left, and Lynn, 5, as he runs the egg collection cart through the chicken house. Such work doesn't stop even on holidays, as the Friedrichsens have a contract to supply 25 cases of eggs daily to a feed company. Their Christmas dinner will be replete with pork, garden potatoes and pumpkins from their own farm. "Our relatives and guests seem to enjoy helping us whenever they visit," Delmar says about the work through the holiday season.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Now Quiet Students Blamed By Editorial For Being Apathetic

DEAR HELEN:

Last year adults were beating their little pointy heads against boarded-up buildings and wondering what youth was coming to — all this thrashing and violence on campus and off.

Seems they were scared out of their skins by the long-haired dope fiends and anti-war freaks with their bombs and torches, etc.

Yesterday I read in our paper an editorial titled "Return to Apathy?" It took out after students because they "weren't interested" again. It likened them to the "Flop-eared Fifties" when nobody squeaked and the most excitement any college could expect was an over-stuffed telephone booth.

The writer said we didn't even take interest in the recent elections, and we seem to react with a general shrug when once-hot issues are mentioned. Then he wondered, "Have drugs caused this apathy?"

Ye Gods! Can't we do anything right? Maybe, just maybe, we've learned that violence only hurts our causes — as in the few shoutdowns and egg-throwings that happened during October political speeches. Maybe we figure we've won the war against war, what with Vietnamization and troop pull-outs (though I question that). So now we're working more quietly toward other goals, but we need time to re-group and get our breath.

Instead of accusing us of apathy, why don't adults recognize we're coming into the Sensible Seventies, and hand out a little credit? — ANOTHER STUDENT

DEAR STUDENT:

Given a chance to get their breath— they will . . . they will.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm in love with Ann. But Betty, Ann's best friend, fell in love with me. Ann and Betty are still good griends, but now Ann won't speak to me because she apparently blames me for Betty's misery. Believe me, Helen, I had nothing to do with it.

Betty is still trying hard to get me to the altar, and I'm trying to get Ann there, with no luck. When even your own girl won't help you keep the competition down, who will? — JEFF

DEAR JEFF:

If your girl is more loyal to her friend than she is to you, think twice about this marriage thing. — H.

their immediate family which numbers 12 gather at the Friedrichsen home for dinner. Ham is the usual entree, accompanied with the fresh, garden grown vegetables, potatoes and pumpkins. After dinner, served early in the afternoon, they are usually visited by more than 25 friends, a custom Delmar and Hanne like, and she serves a special fruitcake, baked from an old recipe which she cherishes.

"Enjoying our friends, group singing and playing with my childrens' toys is how the day passes," Delmar said.

"Because this is lambing season it is not surprising for any holiday plans to be interrupted by a dash outside to check on a lamb who might have wandered off or to assist a ewe in birth of twins! One year it was so intensely cold we kept the babies inside all during Christmas. And this year we have triplets on hand!" Hanne explained. "And," interjects Lynn, "don't forget Liz!'' — the family sheepdog who just had her second litter . . . all roly, poly pups quite content to miss anything but a meal.

One of young Lynn's most important contributions this year is the catchy limerick she just learned at the Two Rock School kindergarten she attends.

"I just took a lick of my peppermint stick and I thought it tasted yummy. It used to be on my Christmas tree, 'cept it tasted better in my tummy."

Christmas is an exciting event for the Friedrichsens and the enthusiasm generated by this couple has spread to the children. As I prepared to leave them Lynn could not contain herself any longer and whispered in my ear, "Guess what Daddy bought Mommy for Christmas — bib overalls!" Hanne is tall and svelte and should look smashing.

"HAVING MY family together," says Delmar solemnly, "is what brings me the most satisfaction during Christmas. Petaluma is my home, the ranch is our life style and we hope to establish new traditions and remember the old."

The bride is the former Mrs. Harry V. Crotty. A graduate of California College of Arts and Crafts, she teaches jewelry at College of Marin. She made her own wedding ring, which is gold with rubies, sapphires and emerald in an unusual cut out design resembling a stained glass window but very durable, according to the bride.

Attending the couple during the brief ceremony were Dr. E. Muriel Bennett of Kentfield and Dr. Guthrie's son, Joseph. Also at the wedding and reception which followed at the country club were the bride's mother, Mrs. James E. Stewart of San Rafael, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Joseph A. They have lived in Paris for two years.

URSULA McCARTHY and six of her seven children will be sightseeing and spending Christmas in New York. She and her four youngest Brian, Sharon, Chris and Regina left San Rafael Tuesday to meet Paul and Rob McCarthy in New York. They came up from Orlando, Fla., where both are working on the new Disney World. All plan to go to midnight mass at St. Patrick's Cathedral on Christmas Eve after seeing the holiday show at Radio City Music Hall. They plan Christmas dinner at the Central Park apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Daley and ice skating in the park on Christmas Day.

The McCarthys will visit friends in Philadelphia and Washington, D.C., and Williamsburg, Va., before traveling on to Orlando, Fla., to preview the progress of Disney World.

Sean McCarthy, Urula's oldest son who is due home from Vietnam this spring, will, of course, miss the holiday. Ursula plans to return Jan. 4.

A RECEPTION honoring Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Anderson was held at his parents' home in San Anselmo Saturday. Theresa Sayles and Thomas were married May 25 in Hawaii while he was in the Navy stationed on the USS Oriskany. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Anderson and he is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School. He also attended the College of Marin and is the brother of Mrs. Pamela Galetti of Novato.

Theresa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sayles of St. Joseph, Mo. The couple will take a wedding trip to Missouri before making their home in Fairfax.

THE ROBERT Dinsmores of the Marin Country Club Estates entertained 75 guests from the Marin County and the Bay Area at a buffet dinner Friday night. Mr. Dinsmore greeted the guests at the door in a formal Korean outfit that he brought back from Korea. The costume of silk organza had a flowing floor length coat in ice blue, lavendar pants, pink shirt, royal purple vest and black toe slippers and hat.

MR. AND Mrs. James Prudden and their 11 month-old son, Joseph, are visiting Mr. Prudden's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Prudden in Loma Verde for three weeks. He is a geologist and mining engineer in the British Solomon Islands. While they are here, Joseph, who was born in Melbourne, Australia, will be christened at St. Francis Episcopal Church in Novato.

MR. AND MRS. John Pritchard are visiting their parents during the Christmas holiday and will return to Oklahoma where John will be stationed in the Air Force. John's parents live in Lucas Valley and Holly's parents live in Lafayette. John's grandparents Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Lindauer entertained at a cocktail party prior to going to the Marin Country Club for dinner Sunday night.

MENORAH MAKERS

Day campers at the Marin Jewish Community Center, from left, Craig Levin, Judy Kimmelman, Lori Hoffmann, counselor; Paul Kimmelman, Gary Cole and Debbie Kotz, make menorahs of their own design out of potters clay to use as candle holders during the eight-day Jewish holiday of Chanukah. On the first night (the 25th day of the Hebrew month of Kislev, which this year coincided with Dec. 22) one candle is lighted in the menorah, two the second and on until the eighth night when all are lighted, commemorating the rededication of the Temple of Jerusalem defiled by Antiochus of Syria more than 2,100 years ago.

Women Gain In Capitol

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Be it liberation or whatever, women are invading some male sanctuaries in the nation's capital.

Items:

— Paulette Desell, 16, of suburban Alexandria, Va., has been selected by Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) to be the first girl page in the history of the Senate.

— At the White House, there now are four policewomen and five female military social aides.

In a spirit of solidarity, the policemen have welcomed females to the ranks because as one of them observed, "they can help the first family in ways that we can't."

THE MALE military presidential aides, who are required to be bachelors, also are saying that the young women in uniform have added a touch of charm to the White House parties where they stand and serve the President and the First Lady.

Mrs. Nixon also seems to particularly enjoy having the female social aides in uniform at her afternoon teas and receptions, helping to steer the hundreds of guests in the right direction.

N.Y. Taxpayer's Check Returned

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—State Comptroller Arthur Levitt has returned a $140 check to an upstate taxpayer concerned about the state's reported $100,000,000 budget deficit.

Levitt said Wednesday while he appreciated the intent of Robert P. Einsel of Syracuse, no word on the exact size of the deficit will be available until spring.

Therefore, Levitt announced the check was being returned with instructions to enjoy the holiday season but be prepared to do his part next year to make up whatever deficit exists in the state's $7.1 billion budget.

Mexico's Labor Czar In Power Struggle

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Mexican labor czar Fidel Velazquez and a small electrical workers union with undisguised Marxist leanings appear to be heading for a clash in which Velazquez' 30-year reign may be at stake.

The Union of Mexican Electrical Workers (STERM), which has about 2,000 rank and file members, has launched an all-out attack against Velazquez, who was acclaimed "leader for life" of the Confederation of Mexican Workers (CTM) in 1966.

The STER began to critize Velazquez and the leadership of Mexico's labor movement last January in the pages of its official publication, "Solidarity."

"Solidarity" often includes texts and studies of Marx and Lenin and its editorials dwell on the concept of the "class struggle" and "the enemies of our class". Well-known Mexican leftists contribute articles.

It was only in recent weeks however, that Velazquez ordered a counter-attack. Within days 12 CTM unions had "broken relations" with the STERM, one of three unions representing electrical workers.

Prominent labor leaders called the STERM's attacks "divisionist" and said they "undermined the unity of the Mexican labor movement." Some inferred that the STERM's secretary general Rafael Galvan, a former senator, was personally ambitious.

The CTM convoked a special session of its labor congress Nov. 27 in Mexico City to analyze and decide what to do about the rebellious STERM.

In an interview, Galvan spoke of "democratizing" the labor movement, called the condition of Mexican workers "every day more deplorable", and added that the main reason workers don't rebel is because they "know their leaders would side with their employers".

But Velazquez and his "Mafia" were Galvan's real targets. "Velazquez subordinates the interests of the workers to the political convenience of the leaders," Galvan contended.

If the national stability has to rest on a labor movement controlled by Fidel Velazquez "we had better get ready for the funeral dirge of that stability," he said. Velazquez has been credited for Mexico's remarkable labor stability.

Asked about Galvan's affirmation that his days were numbered, Velazquez retorted: "We are the leaders of the workers and when they withdraw their support we wili leave, but while we have that support, here we stay."

For Galvan, a veteran of Mexico's labor movement and leader of the STERM since 1960, it was not his first power struggle. He was accused by Michoacan state Gov. Augustin Arriaga in 1966 of helping instigate student disorders in the capital of Morelia.

Galvan, who was then senator from Michoacan, survived the accusation and finished out his term. Arriaga hasn't been heard from since he was replaced as governor.

The STERM was founded in San Luis Potosi in 1960 and includes among its members employes of the federal electricity commission (CFE). The union recently concluded a widely-praised new work contract with the CFE.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Parent's Magazine unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"Aristocats" — Very clever, delightful musical animated feature in the best Disney tradition about a high society cat who inherits a fortune and the villainous butler and his plans.

"Boy Named Charlie Brown" — Delightful story of Peanuts, the comic strip character enhanced by outstanding music and unusual creative animation.

"Cockeyed Cowboys of Calico County" — Amusing comedy about a "mail-order-bride" who fails to arrive and the clever hoax devised by the cowboys to make a happy ending.

"Scrooge" — Modern musical interpretation of Dicken's "A Christmas Carol". Even sophisticated viewers who know the story backwards will find this sumptuous British production in bright new wrappings with inspired talent and wit, clever songs and dance numbers a delight.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Dirty Dingus Magee" — Satirical bawdy western about a bad man who steals money from an old friend. His capture, escapes and double-double crosses along the way is the sum total of the plot. (Boxoffice Magazine).

"Kelly's Heroes" — A preposterous World War II satirical melodrama about a group of misfits who follow their leader in a theft of $16 million in gold bullion from the Germans.

"Monte Walsh" — That time in history when Eastern progress came rolling over the old West. Work for the cowboy disappears and hungry men turn to violence. It is a serio-comic study of two cowboys in this situation.

"Patton" — Excellent characterization by George C. Scott who portrays an indomitable spirit that could achieve its destiny onlyin wartime. A strong film makes use of violence and frequent profanity.

"Tell Me That You Love Me Junie Moon" — Three people with crippling defects meet as patients in a hospital and decide to share a house when released and attempt to adjust to the world. Well acted.

"Rio Lobo" — Atypical John Wayne vehicle, the story of an ex-Union Colonel out to uncover men under him who informed of Union activities to Rebel soldiers, causing several of his troops to be killed. Plenty of beatem-up, shoot-em down violence. (Motion Picture Daily).

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Catch 22" — Unusually biting antiwar film that graphically depicts the immorality and unreason war breeds. Grotesque details, bizarre, morbid and gruesome sequences show, in a series of flashback and flashforwards that adds to the confusion.

"Little Fauss and Big Halsy" — Contemporary motorcycle drama. Fast pace covers shallow content. Lots of nude girls, a Johnny Cash soundtrack and a predictable ending.

"Love Is A Funny Thing" — Very well done, sophisticated tale of a French actress and a musician, who fall in love, while away from their respective mates and families, during the making of a motion picture in America. English subtitles.

"There's A Girl In My Soup" — A kooky young girl moves in on a sophisticated gourmet columnist and disrupts his life.

ADULTS ONLY

"Diary Of A Mad Housewife" — Acidly funny look at the disintegration of a modern marriage. Good comedy with sex and dialogue very frank.

"Five Easy Pieces" — A compassionate and uncompromising story of a man's restless search for roots with no resolution. Acting, direction and photography very good. Explicit sex and frank dialogue.

"Tristana" — A study of corrupted innocence. The cynical development of a 16-year-old orphan who becomes the mistress of the man who pretends to be her protector. English subtitles.

Christmas Card Deal Draws Ire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission accused four firms today of illegally inducing children to sell their Christmas cards.

The FTC said the firms advertised extensively in children's magazines, sent unordered shipments of cards to many children, demanded payment for them and threatened to sue youths who did not pay.

The FTC complaint cited Sunshine Art Studios, Inc.; Junior Sales Club of America, Inc.; Sales Leadership Club, Inc.; and Trans-American Collection Agency, Inc., all located in Springfield, Mass. It also cited Ryland E. Robbins, whom it identified as an officer of all four firms.

Rivers Better

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S. C., showing "significant improvement" in his recovery from heart surgery, was "comfortable" today after a peaceful night in the intensive care unit of University of Alabama hospital.

Riles Recipe For Better Teaching

WILSON C. RILES
Teacher changes

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

SACRAMENTO — California's superintendent of public instruction-elect believes the tenure law should be amended to make the first three years of a teacher's employment an actual probationary period.

That is one of the first things needed to put the doctrine of accountability into the state's public schools, Supt.-elect Wilson C. Riles said today.

"I believe the probationary period should be a real probationary period," Riles said. "A person should not be assumed to be a perfect teacher just because he has been graduated in education."

Under existing California law, dismissal of probationary teachers is so hedged with legal requirements that it often necessitates court action, which may drag on for years.

The new education graduate should not be "put cold" into a roomful of children and told, "Here you are — teach them," Riles believes.

"Some arrangements should be made for the probationary period to be served under a master teacher, or under close supervision — an apprenticeship period," he said in an interview at the temporary office he will occupy until becoming state superintendent on Jan. 4. "If, after a reasonable length of time, he can't cut it, he should be released. We must not freeze into the system those who are not cut out to be teachers."

Riles said he believed such an approach could mean greater security for qualified teachers, and better teaching for the children.

He emphasized that tenure revision is but part of the recipe for improving teaching. Also needed, he said, is improved teacher training, "with greater opportunity to serve as a teacher's aide or teaching assistant early during college education" — such an approach as is included in Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan's teacher licensing law, which was enacted by the Legislature this year to become effective in 1973. It is unfair to the teacher trainee and to the children when student teaching experience comes too late in the college career for the trainee to change his mind if he finds he does not like classroom teaching, Riles held.

Riles hopes to present his own legislative proposals jointly with the state Board of Education. He does not plan to seek many changes in the law this year.

"Sometime in January we will put forth some priorities as we see them," he said. "I'm going to try to get the board of education to agree on bills so we can support them together."

Some of his proposals will seek ways to put his doctrine of accountability to work, he indicated. He described this doctrine as being in two parts:

"First, we ought to get together on what our schools are expected to do, at the local level — just what is expected in student performance, both in behavior and subject matter. I don't mean day by day; but at least by the end of the third year of school, the pupils should be able to read, to compute, to perform at certain levels.

"Second, once we have set the goals, teachers and administrators should work out what is needed to meet the objectives.

"Then the teacher will be free to teach as he sees fit, knowing what results he is expected to get.

"Occasionally, you have a weak person. You try to rescue them. If you can't do that, you have to get rid of them.

"We can't afford to keep dead wood on the staff. It's not fair to the children."

To Superior Court On Pot Possession

Robert Costello Lakin, 20, of Mill Valley has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on a charge of possessing marijuana. Arraignment was set for Jan. 4.

Lakin was arrested Dec. 8 after Marin County sheriff's deputies said he attempted to hide a bag of suspected marijuana outside the Hall of Justice before being searched upom entering the building.

Uranium Cost Plan 'Excessive'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., said Wednesday that a proposed increase in the cost of enriching uranium for use in nuclear powerplants is "excessive."

Holifield, chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, said the panel probably would hold hearings early next year on the Atomic Energy Commission proposal to increase the price to $32 per unit.

"Frankly, I think this is excessive," Holifield said. "I wonder if those who pressed for this increase met with the people in the administration responsible for controlling inflation."

Holifield noted that the new price increase would follow one announced in August. The earlier increase, not yet in effect, would raise the enrichment cost from $26 to $28.70 per kilogram unit.

In addition to enriching uranium for use in nuclear power plants, the AEC also provides enriched uranium for weapons and research reactors. Under a recent law, the AEC is supposed to charge prices that will recover the government's cost of providing the service.

The cost increase was approved by the AEC on Dec. 14, with Commissioner James T. Ramey dissenting. Ramey said prices for enrichment services should not be changed more than once a year to make it easier for electric utilities to plan their operations.

Crovello's Global Outlook

LONDON (UPI) William Crovello is one of the serious American artists who are quietly enhancing the reputation of the United States as the cultural birthplace of creative people with an international outlook.

He was born in New York City, studied in the United States and in Japan, lives in Madrid and exhibits in several cities. His most recent exhibition was at the Grosvenor Galleries here where his nonobjective sculptures and paintings drew much interest.

The first sale was to another important gallery which paid $750 for a black marbie disc described as a study for a sun dial.

After the celebrities and critics who attended the opening night reception had departed Crovello explained that Japanese calligraphy was an important influence on his work. He joined the U.S. Air Force in 1952 and after his demobilization in 1956 he spent a year studying Japanese at Columbia.

"For the next four years I lived in Japan", he said, "painting, teaching and studying classical calligraphy with Taiun Yanagida. Calligraphy is a way of thinking about space and lines. At first the eye is drawn to the line, then it sees that it encloses space.

"Although my way of visualizing space and construction is founded on calligraphy, I don't want to do calligraphy. But it gives my work a different twist than it would get from strictly Western sources."

Hospital Plans Up In Petaluma

Plans for a 200-bed hospital and medical center in East Petaluma will be presented next month to the Petaluma Planning Commission.

Young America Homes Inc. plans to seek the rezoning of 37 acres behind McDowell school from single family residential to profession-medical zoning to provide the hospital.

The multimillion dollar complex is being planned in cooperation with Quantas Development Co., according to city officials. The rezoning request is expected to be heard by the commission on Jan. 5.

Petaluma Planning Director William C. McGivern said that only the rezoning request and a very rough set of plans have been submitted to his office. He said the planning commission would probably schedule a public hearing when full plans are submitted.

Joseph Horner, Hillcrest Hospital administrator, said he hoped a rezoning decision would be delayed until full details are made known and the total health care picture clarified.

He said the health facilities planning commission has gone on record as supporting the concept of one large hospital facility in Petaluma, rather than several. On that basis, Hillcrest Hospital expansion plans were approved and money is presently being sought from the Hill-Burton Act funds.

Horner said that recent studies have shown that Petaluma needs no additional hospital facilities, except to replace the aging Petaluma General Hospital.

Marinero Unit Gets Approval

Plans for a 23-unit apartment development on Tiburon's Marinero Circle, tabled Nov. 18 because the city's design review board could not justify the requested density increase, won approval last night.

Planning Director Wayne E. Moody said the applicant, Kurt Heath, submitted new drawings showing that views from uphill apartments would not be blocked and that the apartments would blend in with the hillside and other nearby structures.

Because of these factors, Moody said, the board granted Heath 23 units where the city's zoning ordinance permitted 20 units on the 1.5-acre parcel.

The Tiburon Design Review board also:

ECOLOGY — Approved a sign for the Tiburon Ecology Committee's recycling depot at Mar West Street and Paradise Drive. The depot will open Jan. 9.

HOMES — Approved two single-family homes to be built on Sugarloaf Drive.

DUPLEXES — Praised the design of two duplexes planned for 2310 and 2312 Mar East Street, but told applicant Raymond Handley to apply for a variance for sideyard setback requirements. The board will reconsider the plans Jan. 19.

More Americans

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Census Bureau says the U.S. population on Nov. 1 stood at 206.2 million—an increase of 1.5 million since the official 1970 census was taken April 1.

The Nov. 1 figure was an estimate. The official April 1 figure was 204,765,770.

Marinwood Fire Chief, Fireman Granted Raises

The Marinwood Community Services District board has granted Fire Chief Gaylord E. Bonfield a 5 per cent pay increase to $1,138 a month.

Directors also granted fireman Kenneth Fowlers a 5 per cent step increase to $828 a month at their Tuesday night meeting, reported Genevieve T. Bolding, district business manager.

Directors reappointed Boyd F. Wells, Kenneth Katz and alternate member Kirk Beales to the Marinwood Fire Commission.

There is an opening on the commission since Commissioner Dale Schmid didn't wish to be reappointed, Mrs. Bolding said.

Ralph E. Tischbern and Leland Spencer were reappointed to the Marinwood Park and Recreation Commission, but Henry Rugua wasn't reappointed, leaving one opening on the commission.

The Marinwood Community Services District board also:

EQUIPMENT — Approved purchase of equipment for the fire department at a cost of $850, and a swing set for Las Gallinas playground at $300.

STREET LIGHT — Denied a request for an additional street light at Mulberry and Kernberry drives.

RETIREMENT — Approved a study on the costs of utilizing the state retirement system, and scheduled a discussion at its February meeting on the Marin County and state retirements systems.

SPENDING — Amended the purchasing procedure to allow the fire and parks and recreation commissions to spend up to $200 an item, with a maximum of $400 a month, double the previous limits.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned until 8 p.m. Jan. 26 at the community center.

CARPETING — Agreed to check into the possibility of carpeting the community center lobby, office and women's lounge, with the cost estimated between $400 and $700.

Friends Petition President For Total Vietnam Pullout

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — An outline for peace in Southeast Asia presented President Richard M. Nixon today calls for complete American withdrawal of men, money and supplies from the war during 1971.

Drafted by the American Friends Service Committee, the report maintains that peace will prevail in South Vietnam only when the United States has disengaged and when President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky have stepped down from office in Saigon.

The report, outlined today for newsmen by Philip Drath of San Rafael at the committee enter in San Francisco, claims that elections now projected for fall 1971 in South Vietnam would be "controlled by the Thieu-Ky regime" in the presence of a massive U.S. military force.

Drath, a Marin County contractor and one-time candidate for Congress, took part in the 1967 Phoenix voyage to deliver medical supplies to North Vietnam.

The 27-page Quaker document entitled "Indochina 1971" charges that the American government has both obscured and distorted the truth in order to "elicit public support for the war." It states Senate committees have disclosed that "our country's allies are hired, its official humanitarian agencies are fronts for clandestine military aggressions, and its statistics are calculated untruths."

The report says Filipino, Thai, and Korean troops, "widely hailed as a symbol of voluntary support . . ., " have been from the start secretly and expensively financed by the United States.

The report, divided into sections dealing with various aspects of the war, concentrates heavily on statistics: 50,000 American lives and $125 billion lost, U.S. armed forces have killed more civilians every six months that the other side has in 15 years, and since the U.S. invasion of Cambodia, approximately 1.5 million people have become refugees.

In South Vietnam, which the committee says is "the most militarized country in the world," one of every nine people is in the army, 75 per cent of the country's gross national product stems from war-related service industries with more than 70 per cent of the country's budget going to the military.

The report also charges that the Nixon Administration has exploited American fears of a bloodbath in Vietnam with the departure of U.S. troops and charges of cruel treatment of U.S. military men held captive for political purposes.

The implication of the Nixon policy, it says, is "let Asians fight Asians."

"On January 15, 1969," the report continues, "former Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford told Congress that 'an Asian soldier costs about 1/15 as much as his American counterpart.'This may appear to some to be good economics but it reflects the moral bankruptcy of present policy."

It concludes that Nixon's "persistent support for Thieu and Ky and his refusal to establish a timetable for complete U.S. withdrawal" makes continuation of the war inevitable.

Peace in Vietnam, it says, cannot be achieved by a decisive military defeat by one side or the other. If peace is to come to Vietnam — "esential for peace elsewhere in Indochina" — it will have to be a negotiated political settlement among the Vietnamese, the report says.

In addition to calling on the president to set a timetable for complete withdrawal, the reports asks Americans to "extricate ourselves from our involvement in this war. Regardless of how and when the government withdraws, let us each withdraw now as we are able."

Committee members and supporters were expected today to stand outside the White House in a silent vigil protesting the administration's policy in Indochina. They plan to maintain their watch until after midnight.

Maheu Firing May Get Appeal

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)— Robert A. Maheu, whose ouster as head of Howard Hughes' Nevada empire was upheld in court, will decide whether to appeal the firing "immediately following the Christmas holiday."

Maheu's attorney, Morton Galane, said Wednesday, "we have been in continual conference" since the ruling last Saturday.

"I have recommended further intensive study of all phases of litigation," Galane said. "Mr. Maheu will decide upon a firm course of action immediately following the Christmas holiday."

Maheu's firing by Hughes Tool Co. executives, based on a proxy signed by Hughes, was upheld by Judge Howard Babcock after a bitter, nine-day court fight.

WAITING FOR ANGELA

Watched by sheriff's deputies, newsmen wait outside a Marin Superior Courtroom in a roped-off area reserved for members of the press. They were on hand yesterday to witness a court appearance by Angela Y. Davis, charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy stemming from the Aug. 7 shoot-out at the Civic Center which left Judge Harold J. Haley and three others dead. The stringent security measures included two body searches and use of a metal detector.

Viet War Vet Asks Support With Lights

A Vietnam War veteran has called for Marin residents to leave their outdoor Christmas lights lit through next month in a show of support for the "men in Vietnam and the President's policy."

Chad Reichman of 29 Medway Road, San Anselmo, said the lights would be a "visual expression of the feeling" of support for the troops with hope they return as soon as possible.

The lights of Marin could be the first thing seen by servicemen returning from Vietnam as they headed for a landing at Travis Air Force Base, Reichman said.

Servicemen heading for Vietnam would see them as a show of support "to carry on," he said.

Reichman recalled that when he returned to Marin for Christmas leave in 1968, he "Felt no support" on the home front.

The idea to have Christmas lights remain on for another month occurred to him several days ago when he realized the warmth of feeling they generate.

Christmas season is the "peace season," he said.

"Why just one season for peace? Why shouldn't it be extended, starting now?"

Reichman said he had an estimate from Pacific Gas and Electric Co. that the cost of leaving outdoor Christmas lights on for another 30 days would be less than $5 for the average display.

Dismissal Plea Under Submission

A Marin Superior Court judge has taken under submission a motion asking that charges against three men arrested in connection with a $350,000 drug raid in January 1969 be dismissed because the district attorney's office failed to prosecute the case within a reasonable time.

A fourth person arrested in the raid was Robert Franklin Black, 29, of Forest Knolls, who was sentenced Saturday in Greece to 10 years in prison for smuggling hashish.

Black's attorney, did not join in the motion, heard by Judge Joseph G. Wilson. A bench warrant is out for Black in the Marin Case.

Seeking dismissal of the charges are Richard Conrad Pace, 24, owner of the Resh Gallery in Tamalpais Valley where the raid took place; Richard Raymond Argento, 22, and Frederick Martin Engelhardt, 29. Another man, Charles Noel Hess, 27, was dismissed from the case earlier when it was ruled that there was not enough evidence to hold him for trial.

The district attorney's office said the long delay was due to a lack of being notified of a higher court decision on an appeal surrounding quashing of evidence in the case.

Sing Sing prison in New York was built by convicts in 1826.

Probation, Damages Fine For Beating

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A 39-year-old San Francisco man, who pleaded guilty earlier this month in superior court to beating a cocktail waitress from Mill Valley, was placed on three year's probation yesterday.

Lloyd J. Hartman, arrested in July after clubbing Patty Nolan, 32, with a tire iron during an early morning fracas outside a San Francisco bar, also was ordered by Judge Walter J. Calcagno to pay $1,000 restitution for damages and a $250 fine.

Hartman was told by Judge Calcagno the assault with a deadly weapon charge would be reduced to a misdemeanor upon satisfactory completion of the probation.

Police reported Hartman had been ejected from the bar but apparently waited outside until Miss Nolan, of 31 Millay Place, left shortly after 2 a.m.

Bandits Flee Food Store Empty

Two young men wearing stocking masks held a Petaluma grocer at gunpoint Tuesday, but left empty-handed.

Petaluma police said today that two men in their late teens entered Starns Grocery Store, 501 Petaluma Boulevard South, at 2:23 p.m. and pointed a .22 caliber revolver at owner M.R. Starns.

Starns told police he thought it was a joke until one of the men ordered, "open the cash register and stand away." Instead, Starns pressed a buzzer connected to his son's home next door.

Believing the device had alerted police, the men fled in a 1962 Chevrolet. Sgt. William Reed said a car matching that description later was found abandoned on Bantam Way and may have been stolen earlier in the day.

Health Directors Boost Mental Center's Rates

Rate increases of between $3.50 and $24 per day for partial care and 24-hour private patients at the Marin Community Mental Health Center have been approved by the Marin Hospital District board.

The increases, based on the amount of time patients spend at the center, were requested by the county, Jules Becker, hospital publicist, said.

Under a contract signed two years ago between the county and hospital district, the county agreed to pay the cost of treating county-referred patients and to make up any financial deficit incurred by the center.

At that time, Becker said, a $70 daily rate for 24-hour patients was established to cover private patient care.

The approved increase will hike that figure to $94 per day, Becker explained, adding the hike is needed to meet increased costs.

Other rate changes, he said, include an increase from $40 to $54 per day for eight-hour overnight patients, $20 to $27 for three-hour patients and from $10 to $13.50 for patients spending 90 minutes or less each day at the center.

Rates at other Bay Area mental centers, Becker noted, range from $72.50 per day at Ross General Hospital to $105 per day at Langley-Porter Clinic in San Francisco.

The Marin Hospital District board also:

OFFICERS — Reelected Dr. Gwendolyn M. Campion as board president; Thomas K. Procter, vice president, and George H. Folsom, secretary.

APPOINTMENT — Appointed Dr. William L. Clark of San Rafael as chief of staff for Marin General Hospital, replacing Dr. Bradford Simmons who has resigned.

PROGRAM — Approved two program changes at the Community Mental Health Center requiring private psychiatrists treatung county patients to forward patient reports to the center and participate in reviews of patients, and deleted an unfilled social worker position and added a secretarial slot. The board tabled discussion on a third recommendation for personnel exchanges between center staff and other social agencies.

DIVORCE — Authorized the mental health center to apply to the Zellerbach Foundation for $14,900 grant to operate the center's divorce program.

REMODELING — Heard a report that remodeling of the hospital's laboratory was complete and that the intensive care unit and X-Ray room may be operational by February.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Less Than Half Of Marin's Dineries Open On Christmas

Probably less than half of Marin County's dineries will serve Christmas dinners tomorrow - and most of those planning to be open on New Year's Eve have been taking reservations for several weeks.

In previous columns we have named a number of places and their holiday schedules. A few more are listed here today.

We suggest that you do not wait to make your own arrangements until the last moment when table space will be difficult to get.

ONE OF THE BIG PLACES that is open tomorrow is Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael. Advance reservations are recommended.

Be sure to put down Dominic's on your New Year's Eve list. It will be open and eserving its regular menu. Make reservations either with manager Mario Brenta or assistant manager Tom Sailus.

SHIPWRECK PETE'S at the Sportsman's Lodge in Novato will not serve tomorrow - but reservations are now being taken for the big New Year's Eve party to be held in the upstairs banquet room.

Principal offering is a package arrangement for overnight at $50. (This is for two.). It includes steak dinner. Ten drinks per couple, champagne at midnight, dancing to 1 a.m., hotel room and brunch the following morning. Check out time is 1 p.m. After 2 a.m. New Year's Eve a "hospitality room" will be open, serving hors d'oeuvres.

Since only 50 hotel rooms will be available for this combination, the price is reduced to $40 per couple without the room and New Year's Day brunch.

Regular dinner will be served New Year's Eve in the downstairs dining room.

LE CHALET BASQUE in Santa Venetia is one of the dineries that is open for Christmas dinner this year. I'd make reservations tonight.

And it is also open New Year's Eve. Don't look for a riotous program. Merry - but on the quieter side.

HERE'S ANOTHER RESTAURANT and a good one that's open for dinner tomorrow - Kublai Khan in Strawberry Town and Country Village.

Featured is a complete Christmas turkey dinner at $3.95. And with a coupon, if you're holding one, you can get two filet mignon or New York steak dinners for $6.95. Also Chinese food, of course.

LOUIS PEPPRAS, who made a name for himself when he was the last chef at Bob's of Marin before it went back into the hands of Compton's, is now heading the food operation at the Oakview in the Meadows, Terra Linda.

Don't look for a Christmas affair here tomorrow night, but count it in as a good New Year's Eve possibility. For that night or other nights you can get an introductory guest card from Lou by calling for reservations - and perhaps you'll even want to become a member of the club and enjoy its privileges.

New Year's Eve dinner will be from 9 or 10 p.m. After that there will be buffet service from 11 p.m.

Ordinarily dinners are from 6 p.m. - Sundays from 4 p.m., with an 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. brunch. Lou's menu includes New York and pepper steaks, top sirloins, medallions, tournedos and seafoods.

INNKEEPER-MANAGER R. J. (Dick) Immel is leaving Holiday Inn at Terra Linda next week. He's accepted a position as general manager of the hotel division of Fred Harvey Co., which presently has four hotels. These are Airport Marinas in San Francisco, Los Angeles and Fresno and the Ranch Inn in Valencia, Southern California. It's a good opportunity and he couldn't turn it down. He'll be based in San Francisco and live in Burlingame.

Replacing him, at the Terra Linda hostelry and restaurant will be Tom Devaus, who has been at the Carmel Holiday Inn and has had an extensive background in the hotel business.

TRADITIONALLY, Sausalito's haute dinery Ondine closes on Christmas and serves dinners New Year's Eve. The same will hold true again this year.

Although a big party is never planned on New Year's Eve, tables are always booked and advance reeservations are necessary. It's a place where end of the year fanfare is subordinated to chef Alfred Roblin's good food, served elegantly. The general mood is that of subdued gaiety.

CHRISTMAS DAY AND NEW YEAR'S DAY are always closing days for San Rafael Joe's, as Hector and Nancy Rubini and Guido and Teresa Farina have families of their own and like to be with them.

New Year's Eve, however, is always a busy one for this restaurant and a gala spirit pervades lounge and dining room. The practice here is to accept advance reservations until it's not practical to book up any more table space. After that you take your chances on a long wait. But the food is worth it.

Marin Dining And Wining

RUBINI'S in Fairfax will have a special New Year's Eve dinner menu with eight entree choices. Dinners will be served on regular schedule, although hats and favors are planned for midnight. I would certainly make advance reservations.

Lowell Hawk will provide the entertainment, accompanied by the guests, during the evening.

ROMULUS in downtown San Rafael will be open tonight - but not tomorrow. It will be open New Year's Eve and New Year's Day from 2 p.m.

Regular menu will be served in its traditional style - plus weekend attractions of prime rib and crab cioppino.

THE LITTLE FRENCH RESTAURANT, Chez Madeleine out at Point Reyes Station has been closed since Dec. 14 and won't open again until Jan. 14.

LE TONNEAU in Corte Madera (formerly Gregory's) is now taking reservations for its New Year's Eve party, starting at 9 p.m.

From 5 to 8 p.m. that night the regular menu will be served. Then at 9 there's a special six-course dinner with favors and dancing to a three-piece combo. This runs $12.50 per person.

Le Tonneau will be closed tonight and tomorrow, but open Saturday and Sunday - and it will close on New Year's Day.

FLEUR DE FRANCE in San Rafael has reactivated its dinners with George Wills in charge of the food department. He's an experienced chef and has been at several Marin spots.

Dinners are being served from 5 to 10 p.m. Closing day is Monday.

No Christmas dinner will be served tomorrow. New Year's Eve is another matter. Champagne dinner will be served starting at 6 p.m. with a choice, I believe, of New York steak, prime rib or lobster. There will be live music and dancing - and an after-hours breakfast in the early hours of 1971.

Price for all this is $24.60 per couple.

OAK TREE INN at San Geronimo will be closed tomorrow but will have a New Year's Eve party and will be open New Year's Day.

Ray and Dee Brunal will have a champagne dinner New Year's Eve at $15 per couple with music, entertainment and favors and things should be lively here. Special menu will be served. Regular menu will be in force New Year's Day.

School Board Member Nabbed

FRESNO (UPI) —Robert Trotter, 22, California's youngest elected official, was arrested Monday night on a charge of reckless driving following a chase at speeds up to 100 miles per hour.

Trotter, elected to the Fresno County School Board last June, also was charged with driving without a valid license and carrying an open container of rum in his car.

Police said the car was spotted westbound on Shields Avenue at a high rate of speed and an officer gave chase.

Withdrawal Of Plea Allowed

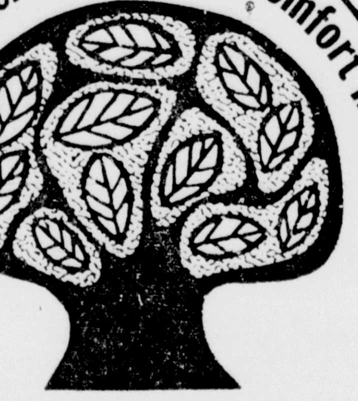
Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court has allowed Peter Alphonse La Rocca, 19, of San Francisco, to withdraw his earlier plea of guilty to a car theft charge.

That decision was made after a probation officer recommended a nine-month jail sentence, saying that La Rocca had had three adult convictions. La Rocca had been promised a sentence not to exceed three months when he entered the guilty plea.

A jury trial was set for the week of March 15.

Lights Vandalism

Akira Sonomura of 136 Fernwood Drive, complained to San Rafael police Tuesday that vandals pulled three strings of lights off an outdoor Christmas tree and smashed them.



A new atmosphere with family comfort in mind.

Measuring The Tilt To Predict Quakes

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Scientists say that within "one or two years".. instruments measuring the tilt of the earth may be able to warn of impending earthquakes.

Dr. M. Darroll Wood of the Geological Survey's National Center for Earthquake Research reported Wednesday on research carried out during earthquakes last June at Danville, Calif.

He said computerized data analyzed after the quakes revealed the Hayward and San Andreas faults showed signs of movement 25 hours before the shake.

The regional slope wobbled normally until 29 hours before the temblor, Wood and center colleague Rex V. Allen reported.

The tilt then suddenly decreased and swung toward Danville where it increased until ten hours before the quake.

The tilt reversed when the mild earthquake struck, indicating the area had been relieved of strain.

Wood and Allen said the tilt was the first time such a phenomenon had been observed here.

They said Stanford computer science graduate student Stephen R. Levine ran data from survey sub stations into a computer and showed the movement on a TV-like screen.

Little X's, signifying minor temblors, showed up as expected on the screen.

What surprised the scientsts was the change of the "tilt vector," a measurement of the slant of the general earth mass, as recorded at the Berkeley and Presidio stations.

'The instruments indicated the entire bay area was involved in the quake," Wood said and predicted that within "one or two years" instruments could translate the tilt changes into warnings.

Angel Named As Killer By Witness

OAKLAND (UPI) —A prosecution witness has testified he saw Alan David Passaro stab Meredith Hunter during a Rolling Stones rock festival at the Altamont Speedway a year ago.

Paul Cox nervously testified Wednesday that he saw the accused Hells Angel come out of the huge crowd and leap on Hunter, who was "trying to catch his balance."

Cox told the jury that the 18-year-old victim did not have a gun out at the moment of the attack, but Cox added that when Passaro "brought the knife down," Hunter had a gun in his hand.

The Hells Angels were assigned to protect the stage during the concert.

But under cross-examination, the defense brought out statements Cox had made last March to the Alameda County Grand Jury describing his view of Hunter's last moments and also an interview he gave with Rolling Stone magazine.

Asked about seeming discrepancies, Cox said, "I was very nervous." He called the magazine interview "irrelevant."

A defense attorney asked him if he had been using drugs during the festival. He said, "no, but some people shared food with me."

Information on Cox's personal life is being withheld because he fears reprisals by the Hells Angels.

The defense hammered at details of Cox's testimony and once again ran portions of a movie allegedly showing the crime.

In 1930 the U.S. recognized the breeder of new plants as an inventor and gave him patent rights.

Students Haul Gifts To Mexican Orphans

TIJUNA, Mexico (UPI) —A group of 75 college and high school students from Oregon concluded a hard but successful trip Tuesday when they delivered Christmas presents to the door of Faith Orphanage.

Wrapped gifts, clothing, food, candy, toys and paint were given to the orphans to climax a trip of more than 1,000 miles.

"This is a statewide effort," Harry Detweiler, a special education teacher and one of 12 adult chaperones with the group, said.

Plans for the trip started last June when a group of handicapped children got together at Ashland, Ore., and it spread throughout the state. Fund-raising events such as car washes, clothing collections and baby-sitting were started.

"The kids themselves planned the whole thing," Detweiler said. "It was their summer project—to do something spectacular to prove they are not handicapped and to break down some of those myths about mental retardation."

They left Oregon in three buses, but one broke down 250 miles later and they squeezed into two.

A second bus blew out two tires near Santa Ana, Calif., Sunday and the youths were shuttled to the San Diego' Calif., YMCA where they waited for the bus to rejoin them.

Their trip was halted by heavy rains which made the roads from here to the orphanage a veritable quagmire.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Dec. 24, the 358th day of 1970 with 7 to follow. This is Christmas Eve.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Venus, Jupiter and Mars. The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1814 a peace treaty between the United States and Great Britain was signed, bringing to an end the War of 1812.

In 1865 six men, most of them veterans of the Confederate Army, organized a secret fraternal society in Pulaski, Tenn., known as the Ku Klux Klan.

In 1942 Adm. Darlan, French administrator of North Africa, was assassinated there as a sympathizer of the French Vichy regime.

In 1949 the song "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" swept the country.

A thought for the day: James Thurber said, "You might as well fall flat on your face as lean over too far backward."

Use Your Holiday Gift For Best Return For The Season

"I'll give you this trick out of pure Christmas spirit," South announced during the play of the hand shown today. Since Stingy Stephen was declarer, his opponents took time out for a second look at the gift he was offering.

THROUGH DUMMY

Stephen won the first trick in dummy with the queen of hearts in order to try a finesse with the queen of clubs. West won and led another heart.

Declarer won with the king of hearts, cleared the ace of clubs out of the way and led a heart to dummy's jack to knock out the jack of clubs.

East returned a spade to the king, and South led the queen of diamonds with his little speech about Christmas spirit.

FOR NINTH TRICK

East saw that taking the ace of diamonds would allow South to get to dummy with the king of diamonds. Then South could cash the ten of clubs as his ninth trick.

East took a second look and decided to refuse the first diamond trick. When South continued diamonds, East could take two diamond tricks and get out with a spade. South eventually gave up a spade trick for down one.

EARLY START

South tried to give away the wrong gift in the wrong suit. He should make an early start by taking the first trick with the king of hearts, cashing the ace of clubs and then giving up the queen of clubs to the king.

The heart return goes to dummy's jack, and declarer leads the nine of clubs to the jack. South wins the spade return, leads a heart to dummy's queen to cash the ten of clubs, and then leads a diamond to make sure of nine tricks.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 2 no-trump (22 to 24 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠- J 9 8 5
♥- 7 6
♦- A J 9
♣- J 8 7 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three clubs, the Staymen Convention, asking partner to bid a major suit of four or more cards.

If he bids three spades, you will raise to four spades. If he bids anything else, you will go to three no-trump.

Suspended Jail Sentence Given

William Donald Collins, 19, of Novato, has been given a 45-day suspended jail sentence and a $25 fine by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin Municipal Court for possessing barbiturates and reckless driving.

The judge also placed Collins on probation for 18 months.

'Red Power' Movement Growing

BY ROBERT STRAND

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — For American Indians, 1970 has been the year of the discovery of "red power." For many of their fellow Americans, it's been a year of discovery of the most invisible of the "invisible poor."

With Indians on Alcatraz thumbing their noses at the federal government since late 1969, numerous similar occupations occurred in 1970 at other sites.

And more can be expected in 1971, as can more Indian demands for the return of vast quantities of land, some held by the white man for nearly 200 years.

The land demands are enormous—the Pit River Tribe in California alone wants an area the size of Connecticut. The demands involve millions and millions of acres, plus millions of dollars for their development.

The Indians first attracted the attention of many Americans to their current plight with the invasion Nov. 20, 1969, of Alcatraz, the abandoned federal prison island in San Francisco Bay.

The Alcatraz adventure dramatized such facts as that among 700,000 Indians the average yearly income is $1,500; infant mortality is three times the national average, and the average life span is 42, one third less than the national average.

Jane Fonda was arrested in a demonstration seeking Indian possession of the surplus Ft. Lawton in Seattle, Wash.

Indians staged invasions of Rattlesnake Island in Clear Lake, Calif., Lassen National Park, a Pacific Gas & Electric Co. campground near Burney, Calif., and a couple of surplus federal installations.

Some of the invasions were speedily repelled, and the invaders prosecuted on various charges. Other occupations continued without interference, on grounds no harm was occurring.

A stream of lawsuits on behalf of Indians began in the federal courts. In Denver one suit attacks allotment of 72 million acres to non-Indian cattle and sheep growers.

In Omaha, Neb., the Winnebagos are fighting condemnation of Missouri River land for recreation purposes. In Reno, Nev., an Indian suit seeks to prevent diversion of water from Pyramid Lake for white man's irrigation.

"I believe we will see many more demonstrations by Indian groups next year," says Dr. Jack Forbes, a University of California professor who is also a Powhaten Indian.

Forbes is a leader in a group of Indians and Mexican-Americans seeking to establish a university of their own at a 640-acre surplus Army site near Davis, Calif., currently the scene of an occupation by 50 persons. The new institution would be called Deganawidah-Quetzalcoatl University, or D-QU for short. The name honors an Iroquois and an Aztec leader of the past.

Demands of Indians, exercising new-found "red power," include more self-determination on reservations where they now are wards of the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Also sought are dramatically improved health and education on the reservation, and the making good of government promises of job training for Indians who leave the reservation at the government's urging.

But a lawyer fighting the Indians' cause in court doubts the judges will rule much in their favor in efforts to regain land.

"What the court cases do—like all the occupations—is sharpen up the issue," he says. "Then I can see political solutions."

In this he echoed the words of a young Mohawk, Peter Blue Cloud, early in the Alcatraz invasion. He said, "We have shown Indians around the country and even in Latin America what can be done."

No small encouragement was given Indians in December by President Nixon's signing of a bill giving back 48,000 acres of Carson National Forest to the Taos Pueblo tribe of New Mexico.

Nixon said that when the land was seized in 1920 "an injustice was done and after all these years Congress returns the land."

The area included BLUE Lake sacred to the Taos who believe spirits dwell in the water, and a Taos religious leader, Juan de Jesus Romero, 90, told Nixon "A new day begins not only for the Indians, but for all Americans."

Glenn Plans Gala Fund Party

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Former astronaut John Glenn, who went into debt in his losing campaign for the U.S. Senate, will try to cancel his bills next March with a gala party here.

Mrs. Ethel Kennedy, widow of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and a personal friend of Glenn's, is expected to appear in his behalf, as well as singer Andy Williams.

Glenn lost the Democratic Senatorial nomination last May to Howard Metzenbaum, who in turn lost the general election to Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio.

Guilty Plea To Reduced Charge

James Kardis Jr., 21, of Mill Valley has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to a reduced misdemeanor charge of being drunk in public.

Judge David Menary Jr. referred him to the probation department for a report Feb. 5.

Kardis had earlier been charged with burglarizing a Sausalito residence Nov. 24.

Instructions to Land Buyers

First see the land which thou intend'st to buy
within the seller's title clearly lye,

And that no woman to it doth lay claime
by dowry, joynture, or some other name.

That may incumber, know if bond or fee
The tenture stand, and that for each feoffee

It be released, that th' sellers be soe old
That he may lawful sell, thou lawful hold.

Have special care that it not mortgaged lye,
Nor be entailed upon posterity.

Then if it stand in statute bound or noe,
Be well advised what quitt rent out must goe,

What custome service hath been done of old
By whose who formerly the same did hold.

And if a wedded woman put to sale
Deal not with her unless she bring her male,

For she doth under covert barren goe,
Although sometimes some traffique soe
we know

Thy bargain made and all this be done,
Have special care to make thy charter run

To thee, thy heirs, executors' assigns,
For that beyond thy life securely binds.

These things foreknow and done, you may prevent,
Those things rash buyers many time repent,

And yet when you have done all you can,
If youle be sure, deal with an honest man.

ASIA'S SEPARATISTS

Far East Dissent Has Long History

MANILA (UPI)—Separatist movements comparable to that of the French-speaking Canadians, who fight for a Quebec state separate from the rest of Canada, abound in Asia.

Asia's separatists, sometimes by shrill voices, occasionally by violence, are seeking their own states in which they hope to find their interests not taking second place to a ruling majority and their heritage not forgotten.

Pakistan, separated from INDIA WHEN THE SUBcontinent got independence from the British in 1947, has been faced almost from birth with political as well as geographical splits.

In a country divided by 1,000 miles of India, separatism has grown in Bengali-dominated East Pakistan, where its leaders claim government and business have been concentrated in the less densely-populated and Punjab-dominated west wing.

General Yahya Khan, president since Ayub Khan was forced to resign in March, 1969, amidst violence in the east, has tried to heal the political divisions with a series of steps which culminated in national elections on a one-man, one-vote basis this month.

Tribesmen in the northwest frontier provinces of Sind and Baluchistan further weaken Pakistan's political fabric by agitating for a separate Pakhoonistan state.

After India was torn with the formation of Pakistan, it has had some separatist problems, but none severe. A few insurgents demanding a separate nation for Nagaland,a hilly, jungled area of eastern India, still cause trouble. But the government has quelled the movement with military might and millions of rupees in economic aid to the area.

Within the predominantly Roman Catholic population (84 per cent of about 37 million) of the Philippines, the Moslem minority has found a loud voice in Datu (Chieftain) Udtog Matalam, who styles himself as leader of the Moslem independence movement.

Matalam claims his self-declared non-violent secessionist state in the southern Philippines encompasses 3 million people. But to date, no responsible government official has taken the movement seriously.

A Moslem separatist movement also operates in Thailand's southern provinces of Yala, Pattani, Narathiwat and Satul with a total population of about 1 million, mostly of Malay origin.

The separatists want an independent state linked with the neighboring Federation of Malaysia. The Kuala Lumpur government has disowned any ties with the dissidents.

Crack police units have been moved into the southern provinces to combat a resurgence of the separatist movement coupled with stepped up activities of bandits and Chinese guerrillas.

Burma is troubled by dissident tribes on its borders with Thailand, Laos and Communist China. The government estimates the total of dissidents at no more than 10,000, who generally support their aims for statehood with small guerrilla operations but control no territory.

As a nation created out of 3,000 islands and an estimated 300 different language groups, Indonesia has faced separatist uprisings since independence 25 years ago.

A group of bright young soldiers, intellectuals and administrators began a two-year revolt against the central government in 1957 and tried to found an independent nation. They complained the government used virtually all Sumatran produce earnings for projects in Java, returning nothing to help Sumatra's development.

The government has had to face a separatist movement among Papuan tribesmen in West Irian (Indonesian New Guinea), where natives armed with bows and arrows and stone axes have staged rebellions against Indonesian rule several times in the past five years. The tribesmen have been no match for the automatic weapons of paratroopers and bomber aircraft.

The longest-running separatist movement is the "Republic of the South Moluccas," a movement sponsored by colonial Dutch in 1948 as a last-minute effort to foil Indonesian nationhood and provide a retreat for Indonesians who supported the Dutch during revolution.

The "Republic" is based on Ambon Island. Young rebels captured world headlines earlier this year when they seized the Indonesian embassy in the Hague and killed a policeman on the eve of a state visit by President Suharto.

An estimated 30,000 Indonesians, many of whom support the "Republic," live in exile in the Netherlands.

Both Chinas —Nationalist and Communist —have separatist movements but in both cases they are relatively ineffectual and operate from bases abroad.

The most publicized is the band of Tibetan rebels still loyal to the exiled Dalai Lama, the Buddhist god king of the former Himalayan kingdom who fled to India in 1959 when Communist troops crushed a revolt by his followers.

Unconfirmed reports indicate some armed resistance is still being conducted by the Dalai Lama's followers.

The second most important involves the Mongolians, who keep their movement alive in Outer Mongolia and the Soviet Union. The inner Mongolian region of China is rapidly being colonized by the Han Chinese with the Mongolians being overwhelmed by sheer numbers.

Chinese radio broadcasts have made references to dissident movements among the Mongolians during the past several years, often accusing the Russians of fomenting them.

The Chinese also occasionally accuse the Soviet Union of aiding and abetting dissident movements among the minority groups in the Sinkiang region — site of China's nuclear and missile testing facilities —many thousands of whom have fled to the Soviet Union in the past

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

'Act Of God' Hard To Prove

Where Charles Frost lived winter temperatures often fell below zero. One day he scraped the frost from his windshield and headed to work. Near a bridge, he saw a car coming toward him. Braking to a slow down, he skidded his car into the oncoming car which Shirley was driving.

Shirley sued. Charles told the court that ice had made the road slick and through no fault of his own, he lost control of his car.

But the court awarded Shirley damages for her injuries. While in legal terms, ice, wind, and rain are "acts of God," winter ice where Charles lived was so common he should have allowed for it. Besides, Charles had often crossed the bridge and should have been prepared for a slick road. He'd have to pay for Shirley's injuries

For a defense of "act of God" to stand up in court, the defendant must show that the cause of the accident was extraordinary and unforeseeable, a hard thing to prove.

A hurricane where they are unheard of, an earthquake where they are unknown, a heavy snowfall where snow has been unknown before, might well be a defense against a suit for damages brought about by the "act of God."

Likewise, sometimes a person can claim "unavoidable accident" to defend a law suit. An apparently healthy young man who has a sudden heart attack and drives his car into another car is not likely to be held liable if he lives.

Sometimes, things are so unusual that no one could foresee an accident. In one case a woman was waiting on the platform to board a train near the scales Some distance away, trying to help a man catch a train, a conductor shoved him as he boarded a crowded train. The shove dislodged a package of fireworks from under the passenger's arm. When they landed the fireworks blew up and overturned the scales which fell and injured the waiting women.

The woman sued and lost. No one could possibly have foreseen such a chain of events, the court said. Plaintiff—poor woman was a victim of an "unforeseeable accident." Nobody was to blame. Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Many Schools Cited For Lunch Plan Lag

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin said Wednesday at a year-end news conference that long strides have been made toward President Nixon's goal of eliminating hunger.

"Never in the history of mankind has any nation made as massive an attack on malnutrition as this administration in its first two years," Hardin said. Monthly spending on family food relief programs rose from $43 million in May 1969 to $146 million last October, he said.

The number of needy children getting free or token-priced lunches rose from three million two years ago to about six million at the latest count — still short of the goal of reaching all such youngsters.

"Yes, there are still areas that need major improvement ... still people not being reached," said Hardin. But he said complete victory over hunger can be won.

Hardin agreed, under questioning, that schools in "a great many areas" are not yet complying with his department's standards for qualifying needy children for free lunches. He said he planned to rely primarily on tactics of persuasion to close the gap.

Hardin also told the news conference the administration had made progress in environmental improvement, consumer services and rural development and development of a new farm support program.

Some farm groups have criticized the administration's new price support programs, but Hardin said he believes most farmers will feel it is "fair and constructive and will enhance farm income."

Hardin said he expected some big farmers probably would look for "loopholes" in a new $55,000 per crop ceiling on farm subsidies. "It is our responsibility to close as many of these loopholes as possible," he said.

Hardin also said he hoped Congress would enact the compromise food stamp bill, even though it includes some features more restrictive than the administration's original plans.

Algeria was known in ancient times as Numidia.

JIM GILMARTIN

Bigger And Better, Says Bruno Banducci

Good old Bruno Banducci, charter member of the San Francisco 49ers as a guard in 1946 and now the new head coach of Marin Catholic High School's varsity football team, was comparing pro football between his days and the present in a gabfest the other day.

"The only difference," he grinned, nudging Roland Lakes, the big defensive tackle for the champion Niners of 1970," is the size of the paychecks. A lineman in 1946 was paid $5,000 a season. That's peanuts to what they get today."

In speaking to the Marin 49er Goal Rushers Club Monday at the Holiday Inn, Terra Linda, Bandooch said, "The size of the players today is tremendous. Our center, Dutch Elston, for example, weighed only 190. Forrest Blue, the present 49er center, checks in at 266. Heck, I couldn't even make the ball club today because the players are just bigger and better."

Banucci, All-Pro in 1947, 1953 and 1954, said he was quite excited by the 49er champsionship victory over Oakland last Sunday. "For years we've been listening to how great the Raiders were and that we (the 49ers) were only the second best team in the Bay Area," he said. "Now we can say we're the best! And his is a young, talented team. I'm looking forward with enthusiasm to many years of championships."

Besides being a great guard, Banducci also was known around the pro leagues as quite an actor. An injury would stop the clock, so any time the Niners needed a time out or a little rest Bruno would do an injury fake swan dive that would put John Barrymore to shame. I think Bruno won an Academy Award in 1946, but he denies it.

Incidentally, Bandooch is the second 49er alumnus to coachat Marin Catholic. The aforementioned Elston tutored grid at the Kentfield parochial school several years ago.

THE MARIN GOAL RUSHERS this week also voted Forrest Blue at center and Bruce Taylor, the rookie corner back, as winners of their "Serendipity Awards." That means the team's most pleasant surprises of the season.

Blue beat out guard Randy Beisler and tackle Cas Banaszek on offense in the voting while Taylor was an easy winner over tackle Earl Edwards and end Tommy Hart on defense.

SHARON WALSH, the 18-year-old tennis queen from San Rafael, must be having a lovely time in perth, Australia where she is preparing for the Women's Tennis Federation Cup Championships which begin Saturday.

A news dispatch from Perth says blistering heat, a plague of bush flies and upset stomachs are hampering nearly all the competitors. It was 108 degrees at noon yesterday and there's worse to come, says the weatherman, perhaps up to 115 on the courts.

Also, millions of small bush flies, common in the West Australian capital in the summer months, are upsetting the players. The flies stick to their perspiring bodies and force the girls into repeated practicing errors as they wave their arms and racquets across their faces.

Oh swell. Tennis anyone?

SPEAKING OF WEATHER, there's no truth to the rumor that the 49ers are practicing in the meat freezers at the Del Monte Meat Co. for their Sunday showdown with the cold-blooded Vikings at frigid Minnesota.

I just have a hunch those fired up Niners will warm up the old Bloomington Stadium.

It's New Season For The Raiders

OAKLAND (UPI) —For the eight survivors of the National Football League's championship series, it's a new season.

"The season starts all over again this weekend," coach John Madden told his Oakland Raiders Wednesday as they made preparations to meet the Dolphins at the Oakland Coliseum Sunday.

"Eight teams are left and the current standings are zero-zero," he said. "After this, the losers go home and the winners go on."

The Raiders got good news when fullback Marv Hubbard returned to work. "My ankle feels a little tender," he said of the injury suffered two weeks ago. "I'll be ready."

On the other side of the ledger, however, reserve defensive back Jimmy Warren pulled a muscle. The seriousness of the injury was not immediately determined.

Tam Cagers Romp To Win Over Mills

Tamalpais High School's basketball team romped to an easy 52-42 victory over Mills High School yesterday in Milbrae in a non-league encounter.

John Earl Huff led the way for Tam with 22 points as the Indians increased their record to 7-2. Tam got off to an early 10-point lead and remained in front all the way.

Terra Linda High School's Cagers fell to a late surge by Crestmoor High School Tuesday in San Bruno, 56-54, in a non-league game.

The Trojans, now with a record of 6-3, led at the half 33-26 and at the three-quarter mark 45-39, but a 17-point final quarter by Crestmoor finished them.

Joe Casteel scored 15 and Bill Barry 14 for the Terra Linda Quint.

Drake High School's Pirates beat their Alumni team by a 56-54 margin last night in their annual pre-season basketball game at the San Anselmo school.

However, most of the scoring honors went to the alumni, including a 14-point performance by John Campbell who played at Drake in 1951-52. Rod Keener also had 14 points while Reg Carolan, the former professional football star, tallied 12 for the old grads.

None of the Pirates scored in double figures.

Gridders Visit Hospital

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Players from the East and the West teams knew that they were giving up their Christmases for today.

They visited the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children Wednesday and met the youngsters they will help by playing before a packed house Jan. 2 in the Oakland Coliseum.

"They cheer you up," said Santa Clara quarterback Dan Pastorini, holding six-month-old Greg, who had both his legs in casts.

"Instead of their thanking you for coming, it seems we should thank them."

Michigan tackle Dan Dierdorf, a fierce-looking 250-pounder, growled at Cassandra to make her laugh and later pushed Paul around the hospital, cheerfully taking orders from the little boy.

Leo Dillon of Dayton rocked six-month-old Melissa in his arms and talked softly to her.

"The way he handles her, I thought he must be married," said a nurse. "He isn't, but he's a real candidate."

Dillon put the infant down when the players switched sides in the hospital. She howled in displeasure until the wife of Grambling's Willie Armstrong came along to rock the infant to sleep.

Penn State's All-America linebacker, Jack Ham, helped a little girl with a coloring book. When nurses brought the children presents, the girl tried to give hers to Ham.

Barry Brink, a Bay Area native from Mill Valley who wound up at Dartmouth, said, "I've been watching this game for years. It's really a thrill to be playing in it. When you see these kids, you realize what a great thing it is. This visit makes it all worth while."

Clemente Suspended

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI) — Pittsburgh Pirate outfielder Roberto Clemente was suspended for a week Wednesday and fined $100 by the Puerto Rico professional baseball league for alleged disrespect toward umpire John Ross in a game last Saturday. Clemente is player-manager of the San Juan Senators in the island's winter baseball league.

John Brodie Wins NFL's Top Honor

NEW YORK (UPI) — San Francisco's John Brodie and Minnesota's Alan Page, who will be colliding Sunday at Metropolitan Stadium in Minnesota, finished 1-2 in the balloting for the United Press International National Football Conference "Player of the Year" in 1970.

Brodie became the fifth consecutive quarterback to win the award in voting by 36 sportswriters and broadcasters from the 13 NFC cities. The San Francisco quarterback received 12 votes to seven for Page while 10 other players received one or two votes each.

San Francisco plays Minnesota Sunday in an NFC playoff game in which Brodie will be trying to pass over the rush of the Minnesota front four, paced by the charging Page and Carl Eller.

Brodie is the third player from San Francisco to win the award since it was inaugurated in 1953. Joe Perry in 1954 and Y.A. Tittle in 957 were the other two.

The last time a running back took the award was in 1965 when Jimmy Brown of the Cleveland Browns received the accolade. Since then the winners have been Bart Starr of Green Bay in 1966, John Unitas of Baltimore in 1967, Earl Morrall of Baltimore in 1968 and Roman Gabriel of Los Angeles in 969.

Brodie led the Forty Niners to their first division title in the 25-year history of the franchise when he threw three touchdown passes in the regular season finale against Oakland last Sunday to nail down the crown.

The performance climaxed the best season of Brodie's career as he hit on 223 passes for 378 yards, for a 59 completion percentage.

JOHN BRODIE

Brodie, in his 14th season, was ranked as the fourth best active passer in the NFC and eighth on the all-time list when the 1970 season began. He has thrown 300 or more passes every season since 1962, except in 1963 when he was injured and missed 11 games.

Brodie's passing is one of the main reasons why the Forty Niners have the No. 1 offense in the NFC and are averaging 321 yards per game in total offense.

This will make an interesting contrast with Minnesota, since the Viking defense ranks No. 1. The Vikings, with Page spearheading the front four, have allowed only 200 yards a game and have gotten to the passer 49 times this season. The Forty Niner offensive line has let the opposing rushers get to the quarterback only eight times this year.

Page, who starred on Notre Dame's national championship team in 1966, stepped right into the Viking front four and is in his second year as an all-league standout.

Seals Get Another Gift From Finley

OAKLAND (UPI) —At the rate they're going, the California Golden Seals may wind up as the best dressed team in the National Hockey League.

Owner Charles O. Finley has come through with another generous monetary gift. From Chicago, Finley ordered $100 gift orders for the Seals after they clobbered the Chicago Black Hawks, 5-2, Tuesday. Earlier this season, Finley presented the team with $200 suits.

If the players wish, they can rush out into the holiday shopping mob and come up with some apparel for their next road trip which will keep them away from home on both Christmas and New Years.

The Seals open a five-game cross-country trip starting in Los Angeles Saturday and ending in Detroit Jan. 3.

From Southern California, the Seals will journey to New York, Toronto, Montreal and wind it up in the Motor City.

With their 11-19-2 record, the Seals trail fifth place Pittsburgh by just two points in the NHL West.

Streaking Marin Tars Win Again

Those streaking College of Marin Tars have done it again!

Last night, before a crowd of 500 at Marin's Kentfield gym, Coach John Panagakis' Tars whipped Cosumnes River College of Sacramento, 91-78, for their seventh straight pre-season basketball victory and 12th in 13 games.

"At times we played well, but it wasn't one of our better games," said Panagakis. "We go hot and cold. The kids seem to let down when they get a lead. Cosumnes got to within eight points of us in the second half, but then we pulled away."

Marin made only 23 of 40 foul shots, ". . .which is below par for us," the coach said.

Cosumnes, a first year school, came into Marin with an 8-2 won-lost record.

Rosevelt Green, the 6-foot-5 transfer from San Francisco City College, led Marin scoring with 22 points. He was ably assisted by Joe Smith with 20, Ed Herrnberger with 13 and Mike Peden with 11.

"It's going to be a good game Saturday night," Panagakis said, referring to Marin's meeting with strong Ohlone College of Hayward. The game will be played at Kentfield starting at 8 o'clock.

Cosumnes River	29	78

JACKSONVILLE SUFFERS 1ST CAGE DEFEAT

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)— Jim McDaniels poured in 46 points Wednesday night to lead 11th -ranked Western Kentucky to a 97-84 win over third-ranked Jacksonville before 17,492 fans at Freedom Hall.

The 7-foot McDaniels won his heralded battle with Jacksonville's 7-foot-2 Artis Gilmore as Gilmore tossed in 29 points, but Gilmore had the rebounding edge, 18-11.

McDaniels sparked Western streaks at the start of both halves, scoring 9 of Western's first 24 points in the game and 11 out of the first 13 points in the second half.

Stanford Gets Some Time Off

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)— Stanford football players, drilling for the Rose Bowl game against Ohio State, will work out this morning and then they'll be turned loose on their own until Christmas night.

The Ohio State players will have no such freedom but will remain under the watchful eyes of their coach Woody Hayes and his assistants. They'll have a Christmas party tonight at their hotel here.

"We may take a ride around the country," said Hayes. "I don't want them to get homesick."

Hayes, undefeated in three appearances in the New Year's Day game, runs a much tighter ship than his Stanford counterpart, John Ralston.

Ralston and his players had dinner out Wednesday night at the traditional Beef Bowl staged by Lawry's Prime Rib restaurant. In the past Big Ten teams ate there too and the pounds of beef consumed were measured by Hayes who doesn't allow his squad to participate any more.

Wednesday Ralston worked his squad in sweat suits at Cal State Long Beach.

"We worked on goal line offense and defense," he said. "I'm quite satisfied with the way things are coming."

Today's workout was scheduled for 9:45 a.m. to 11:15 a.m. Some of the Stanford players said they planned to fly north to spend time with their families.

Hayes, overseeing Buckeye drills at East Los Angeles College, said Wednesday, "We had our best practice session so far for two reasons—the field was in halfway decent shape although a bit spongy from the rains, and it's getting closer to game time."

Quarterback Rex Kern had a touch of the flu, Hayes said, but refused to stay at the hotel.

"He said he wanted to practice," said Hayes, "so I let him.

Niners Get Ready For Ice

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — The San Francisco Forty Niners may be in the market for an ice house the size of a field house. They need it to prepare for their National Football Conference playoff battle Sunday against the Vikings in frigid Minnesota.

While undergoing drills at their camp here Wednesday, the Forty Niners learned that the forecast for the game is for 28-degree temperature.

There shouldn't be any snow on the playing field, however. last year, in Minnesota's 10-7 victory, officials had to use brooms to clear off line markers.

But the Forty Niners, a division winner for the first time in their 25-year history, didn't sound overly concerned as they charged through their final preparation drills.

"I'd play in Saskatchewan," commented fullback Ken Willard on the importance of the game.

FISH AND GAME

Don't Forget New License

By AL GIDDINGS

A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all of you!

And don't forget to get your new year license for fishing in 1971. Sure hate to have you start the new year in the hoosegow!

Just to keep my family in line, I bought licenses for Mary, my wife, and for Andy and and Marylu, my two teen-agers who never seem to have $5 for the all around license! Then my daughter thought I should buy her boy friend a license too, just to start him out with a clean bill of health for 1971. I also bought one for myself!

THE STATE Department of Public Health called me to set up the mercury check for myself and perhaps Marty Medin, Bob Wilson and Sam Knoles, all fishermen friends who eat fish two or three times each week. The results should be most interesting. The tests are scheduled for just after the holidays. Maybe we'll all be labeled human thermometers!

I received a release from Ducks Unlimited the other day. William P. Elser of La Jolla, Calif., president of the 50,000 member conservation group, announced that the trustees of the Richard King Mellon Charitable Trusts of Pittsburg, Pa., have authorized a record contribution of $500,000 to Ducks Unlimited's Waterfowl Wetlands Projects.

The grant is programmed for annual installments of $100,000 over each of the next five years. These funds will be utilized during 1971 for the development of the Cadotte and Bridge Lakes projects, top waterfowl production areas with important shoreline areas totaling over 100 miles, located in western Canada's prime duck country. Now isn't that great?

Following this with further good duck news, it was reported by the Department of Fish and Game that waterfowl losses due to botulism in California totaled 23,000 birds this year. This compared with 117,000 birds in 1969 and is certainly a good improvement in keeping the birds healthy and alive.

CALIFORNIA'S waterfowl population reached a new high for this season with more than six million birds reported wintering in Northern California and the Central Valley. A survey flown on Dec. 9 produced a count of 5,982,650 ducks and 384,985 geese. The survey tallied the peak duck populations for this season and it is also higher than any of the duck populations recorded in last year's surveys.

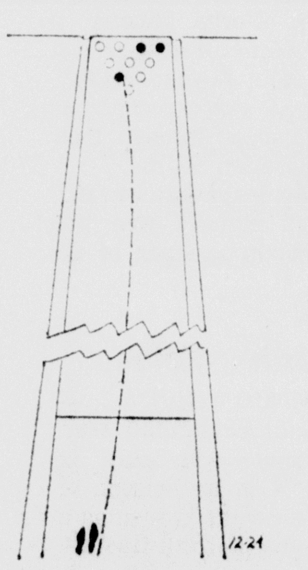
A large share of the birds were on the flooded bypasses. Some 121,00 ducks and 8,660 geese were counted on Tule and Lower Klamath refugees. The largest concentrations of birds are now in the Yolo Bypass where 2,371,825 ducks and 9,365 geese were counted. Other major concentrations were on the San Luis Refuge, the an Luis Reservoir, the Sacramento Refuge and the Butte Sink. Surveys are flown every two weeks during the fall and winter migration season, weather conditions allowing.

HUNTERS bagged a minimum of 21 elk including 10 bulls, 10 cows and one calf in the state's second hunt for Rocky Mountain Elk in the rugged Squaw Creek area of Shasta and Siskiyou counties. One-hundred permits were awarded for the special hunt in that area east and north of Shasta Lake. Originally 50 elk were transplanted to the area from Yellowstone National Park in 1916. Today's herd of an estimated 1,000 elk has grown from that plant.

THERE ARE two low tides over this coming weekend in the afternoon good enough for abalones and clams. Abalone season closes Jan. 14. The outgoing tides all this week are tops for bass and sturgeon.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG



In shooting spares it's a good idea to establish an imaginary spare "line" from the outside of your right foot to the place you wish to strike the pins before you roll. If you then get the usual amount of hook, you will get the spare if you use this system. It also works if you roll a straight ball.

A Great Switch For Briscoe

NEW YORK (UPI)—Marlin the Magician turned from an also-ran passer to the leading pass receiver in the American Football League Conference.

Marlin Briscoe, who broke into pro football as a quarterback, grabbed 57 passes this season for 1,036 yards and scored eight Buffalo touchdowns with some miraculous catches.

Floyd Little, bothered by a back injury in his last few games, won the conference rushing title with 901 yards on 209 carries. The Denver speedster's 80-yard touchdown run was the second longest from scrimmage among the top-20 ground gainers in the AFC.

Daryle Lamonica of Oakland took passing honors with 179 completions in 356 attempts for a 50.3 average and 2,516 yards gained, tops in the conference. His 22 touchdown passes was equaled by runnerup John Hadl of San Diego.

In scoring, Jan Stenerud's place kicking for Kansas City accounted for a conference-leading 116 points on 26 conversions and 30 field goals.

In other departments: Johnny Robinson of Kansas City topped the AFC in interceptions with 10 thefts and teammate Ed Podolak led the conference in punt returns with a 13.5-yard average. Jim Duncan of Baltimore had the best kickoff return average, 35.4, including a 99 yard runback for a touchdown, and Dave Lewis of Cincinnati had the best punting average, 46.2 yards.

Boston's Wayne Cashman had the upper hand as he collided with Detroit Red Wing Ronnie Harris in front of the Wings' bench during last night's game at Olympia Stadium in Detroit. The Bruins won the game, 2-1, their ninth straight victory, and increased their hold on first place in the National Hockey League's East Division.

Brodie Tops In Passing Statistics

NEW YORK (UPI) — San Francisco fans cheered two "firsts" today and both could be traced to John Brodie's rifle arm.

The Forty-Niners won their first title since gaining a franchise when San Francisco captured the National Football Conference's Western Division crown last Sunday. Enroute, Brodie gained his first passing title in 14 seasons as a pro.

Brodie led in two of the four rating categories —24 touchdowns and a 2.6 interception percentage, He was second in the other two —a 59.0 passing percentage and 7.78 average yards gained per pass.

Larry Brown of Washington set a Redskin rushing record of 1,125 yards and it was enough to make him the National Football League's leading ground gainer this season.

Dick Gordon of the Chicago Bears was the NFC's top pass receiver with 71 catches for 1,026 yards and 13 touchdowns, while Fred Cox, Minnesota's kicking specialist, captured the scoring title with 125 points. Cox booted 35 extra points and 30 field goals for his total.

Dick LeBeau, veteran Detroit cornerback, intercepted nine passes to win that title and raise his career total of pass steals to 56; Julian Fagan of New Orleans led the conference punters with a 42.5-yard average; Bruce Taylor of San Francisco was the top punt returner with a 12.0 average and Cecil Turner of Chicago, who set a league record by returning four kickoffs for scores, led the department with a 32.7-yard return average.

PRO PLAYOFFS

Here's A Pick For The 49ers

By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK (UPI)—No, I don't care to bet so don't call me, I'll call you, but I keep seeing Cincinnati in the Super Bowl.

For that to ever happen the Bengals are going to have to beat Baltimore Saturday and I can see them doing that all right even though the Colts have Johnny Unitas and Earl Morrall going for them along with the odds in their own backyard.

I also see San Francisco upsetting Minnesota, Detroit developing into another disappointment for Dallas and Oakland taking care of Miami. Maybe now you're busting to know how Cincinnati makes out in the Super Bowl? I have to break down and admit I can't see that far.

The one thing you can count on is Cincinnati coming into Saturday's game well-coached. Paul Brown is the same kind of perfectionist with his players that Rembrandt was with his oils and I get a kick out of the way he compares his present Bengals with his old champion Cleveland Browns. He doesn't.

"The players on this team average only 2.8 years in professional football," Brown says. "They're not as mature as the Cleveland players were and that makes a lot of difference when it comes to championship games.

"You have to remember with Cleveland we had fellows like Graham, Motley, Speedie and others like that."

Paul Brown is right. The Bengals have no stars but there was a time when the Green Bay Packers didn't have any either and a man named Vince Lombardi turned them into a winner anyway. Paul Brown is the same kind of a man. The Bengals are an expansion club only three years old but watch 'em. They don't make many mistakes and have a way of knocking over teams they're not supposed to beat. I think they'll surprise the Colts.

The only way San Francisco is going to beat Minnesota on the Vikings' home ice is with short passes.

That's the way the New York Jets beat the Vikings four weeks ago. Al Woodall, the Jets' quarterback, did it with short passes. I imagine this hasn't escaped Dick Nolan's attention either. The Vikes have the best defense in the league but defending against those short flips is like trying to defend against the perfectly executed bunt. You can't. No matter how good you are.

Besides, the Forty Niners have the best possible man for those short tosses. John Brodie. Talk to the guys whose job it is to defend against his passes sometime. You know how on a good day you can see forever? On one of John Brodie's good days it seems like you're getting beat forever.

As far as the Detroit Lions are concerned they believe Saturday's ball game with Dallas amounts to their entire season.

"We feel Dallas is the key," says Mike Lucci, the Lions' fine linebacker. "If we can beat the Cowboys, we feel we can go to the Super Bowl and go all the way."

Mike Lucci doesn't say so but from what I gather the Lions feel they can cope with whichever team wins Sunday's Minnesota-San Francisco contest not withstanding the fact they lost two games to the Gikings this season.

I've always been a Tom Landry man and still am, but I've seen Dallas pull up short too often and Craig Morton still hasn't made a believer out of me. That's why I'm going with the Lions.

Which brings me to the three reasons I like Oakland over Miami Sunday —Linebacker Dan Connors, defensive tackle Tom Keating and defensive back Dave Grayson. They, even more than Daryle Lamonica and George Blanda, generally determine whether Oakland wins or loses.

Grayson is the "center fielder." The Raiders like to keep him roaming around free 80 or 90 per cent of the time and anytime they do, nothing gets by him. Nothing. Also, the Raiders have been in playoffs before; the Dolphins never.

"We hit people harder than they hit us," claims Howard Twilley, Miami's wide receiver. "We beat Oakland earlier this season and we think we can beat 'em again."

Miami won the game Twilley is talking about, 20-3, on a pair of spectacular catches by Paul Warfield.

Unsung Heroes In Miami

MIAMI (UPI)—It's now the unsung heroes bowl, the Shrine College All-Star game in the Orange Bowl Christmas night, and you can believe 56 players will clash with all the zeal of Notre Damers trying to upset the No. 1 Texas Longhorns.

Time was when the Shriners were able to sign up some of the brightest stars in college football to play for the benefit of crippled children. The Oakland Raiders' George Blanda, Sonny Jurgensen of the Washington Redskins, Alan Ameche of the Baltimore Colts, Mississippi's fabled Barney Poole were only a few of the big-name players participating in the 22 years past.

Now the dozens of post season bowl games tie down the big college performers. This gives a chance to some really good football players from the small colleges and the bowl runnerup teams to show their stuff before a national television (ABC) audience and, more important, a big battery of pro team scouts.

Take little Jim Lindsey of Sweeny, Tex. Few outside of his Southwest small college circuit have heard of him and at 5-11, 185 pounds he's not on many pro scouting lists as a quarterback.

But Lindsey has to have something on the ball for in his college career he has amassed a total of 8,721 yards passing to shatter all offense records on all college books. This season he averaged more than 300 yards per game while throwing for 25 touchdowns.

Lindsey will play for the South All-Stars.

On the North All-Stars bench is Lynn Dickey, who has been praised by many football players. He's the guy who set nine Big Eight Conference passing records and led Kansas State to upset victories over Oklahoma and Missouri.

But what about Ken Anderson of Augustana College in Illinois? His credentials are more impressive. In his career he has accounted for 6,333 yards and 50 touchdowns passing and has run for 22 more touchdowns. He also started kicking his junior year and accounted for 29 extra points and nine field goals. The scouts have their eyes on Anderson.

The heroics get underway at 4:30 p.m. Christmas Day. On the strength of some big and proven linemen from the big 10 teams not going to the Rose Bowl, the North All-Stars are favored to capture their fifth victory in a row. The series now stands 11-10-1 in favor of the South.

THE SKI SCENE

Sugar Bowl's Huge Expansion

By CHARLIE COANE

While other ski resorts in the Sierra Mountains held back major expansions this season, Sugar Bowl, located near Donner Summit, plunged into its 31st skiing campaign with a $1 million expansion program that can only be good news to skiers.

"There won't be any wait now to get in and out of Sugar Bowl," maintains vice president-general manager Don Schwartz. Even Schwartz admits that the hassel in and out on the magic carpet between the highway and the ski area has been a thorn in his side for some time. Now he's added the magic carpet double chairlift next to the gondola, and suddenly the two lifts can wisk 1,500 skiers hourly to the slopes — three times as many as in years past. Before this season, long lines with long waits would develop at the gondola and skiers even trudged across the snowy valley to avoid the wait.

"No longer," says Schwartz. "It's about eight minutes by gondola or four minutes on the lift, and you're ready to ski." Sugar Bowl now has seven double chairlifts, a four-passenger gondola, one T-bar and a rope tow — making it the fourth largest winter resort around these parts behind Squaw Valley, Heavenly Valley and Mammoth Mountain.

The second big "happening" at Sugar Bowl is the doubling of the size of its garage to accomodate 600 cars on three levels, two of which are covered — very unique, indeed, at a ski area.

Other improvements this season include a 10 x 14 foot map at the bottom of Mt. Lincoln outlining all lifts and trails. You'll notice considerable grooming of all trails on both Mt. Lincoln and Mt. Disney, and a powder run has been added to Mt. Crow's Nest.

"Our most exciting new run is California Street on Mt. Lincoln," says Schwartz. "Like the street in San Francisco, our run has all degrees of steepness and is now one of our most popular runs."

Sugar Bowl also offers free skiing to all youngsters under 12 on the 800-foot rope tow, and night skiing every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday on the Nob Hill chairlift. The weekend adult ticket rate is $8. If you're a student, in the military, a Far West Ski Association member, a stewardess or a Playboy Club bunny — half price rates apply during midweek.

Thought for the future: Arapahoe Basin near Denver takes reservations for skiing on weekends through various ski shops and other outlets. When their quota is filled, that's it. No reservation, no skiing — and no lift lines.

Pac-8 Basketballers Finally Turn Chilly

By United Press International

It figured that the Pacific Eight basketball teams could not keep up their hot early-season pre-season pace. And the big chill started Wednesday night.

Even mighty UCLA looked lackluster as the Bruins were only able to dispose of St. Louis' 79-65 at home Wednesday. The great Bruin front line of Curtis Rowe, Sidney Wicks and Steve Patterson hit 54 of the winners' points. UCLA is 6-0 this season and has won 11 straight since losing to USC last season. The win skein includes the NCAA tourney victories that made the Bruins national champ for the fourth year in a row.

Elsewhere, Wednesday night the Pac-8 lost three.

Idaho nipped Washington, now 4-4, 71-70 when Malcolm Taylor hit a 10-footer with three seconds left. Taylor had 21 and Steve Hawes of the losers scored 21.

Stanford hosted tough Villanova and fell 96-76 as Howard Porter scored 34 for the winners. Claude Terry hit 18 for the Indians.

And Oregon State called on unbeaten Tennessee and receipted for an 89-61 thumping despite Mike Kerk's 19 points.

Meanwhile, Long Beach State, probably the Coast's toughest team outside of the Pac-8, got the stiffest kind of fight at home from UC Riverside. The 49ers survived the visitors' slowdown tactics for a 58-50 win, with soph guard Ed Ratleff hitting 21 for the winners.

And UOP, early favorite to join UCLA and Long Beach State in post-season NCAA play, also got a surprisingly tough test before disposing of lightly-regarded cross-town rival San Jose State, 74-68. And the Spartans went without their top scorer, Johnny Skinner, who was benched by coach Danny Glines for missing a pre-game meal.

St. Mary's, 4-22 last year, is 4-5 this time around under new coach Bruce Hale after dumping Sonoma State 91-73. The losers are now 0-7.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Sell Bond Now, Investors Told

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We have 300 shares of Bond Industries, 200 of which were bought at 31 and 100 received through a stock split. Should we buy more at this low price, hold or sell? We can afford either. C.W.

A. Engaged in the apparel and clothing manufacturing field, Bond Industries has been squeezed by the same pressures affecting its entire industry. However, the current economic and industry slowdown is not responsible for Bond's past earnings performance which has been quite erratic.

For the past 10 years, company's earnings have vacillated as a result of limited sales growth and rising costs. For the fiscal year ended July, 1970, sales declined 1.8 per cent from the previous year; and net income per share fell to 18 cents from fiscal 1969's $1.04. The third and fourth quarters were deficit periods.

Near-term prospects remain clouded, with competition expected to increase and labor and other costs continuing to rise. In view of most recent operating results, Bond's dividend coverage is uncertain. Stock yields 7.3 per cent — well above the average — an indication of investor disinterest in Bond shares. Issue is unattractive at present; sale is justified.

Q. I can't afford to take a loss but I need more income than I am getting from my savings account. Is there risk in corporate bonds? Could you suggest a few? V.P.

A. There is, of course, some element of risk involved wherever you choose to place your money and this includes: banks, mattresses, and corporate or government bonds. The decision each investor must make for himself is at what point does the degree of risk outweigh the increased yield.

AAA or AA-rated bonds with a good margin of interest coverage are considered by most individuals seeking higher income to be ideal investments for their purposes. Two AAA-rated utility bonds, selling at a premium to return over 8 per cent to maturity, Cincinnati Gas & Electric 8-5/8s of 2000 and New Jersey Bell Telephone 9.35 per cent of 2010, would be suitable.

Nixon Pleased By Interest Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said the Nixon Administration was "pleased" about the cut in the prime rate from 7 to 6¾ per cent.

"We look at this as further evidence that the credit market is becoming easier and more conducive to economic expansion," he said.

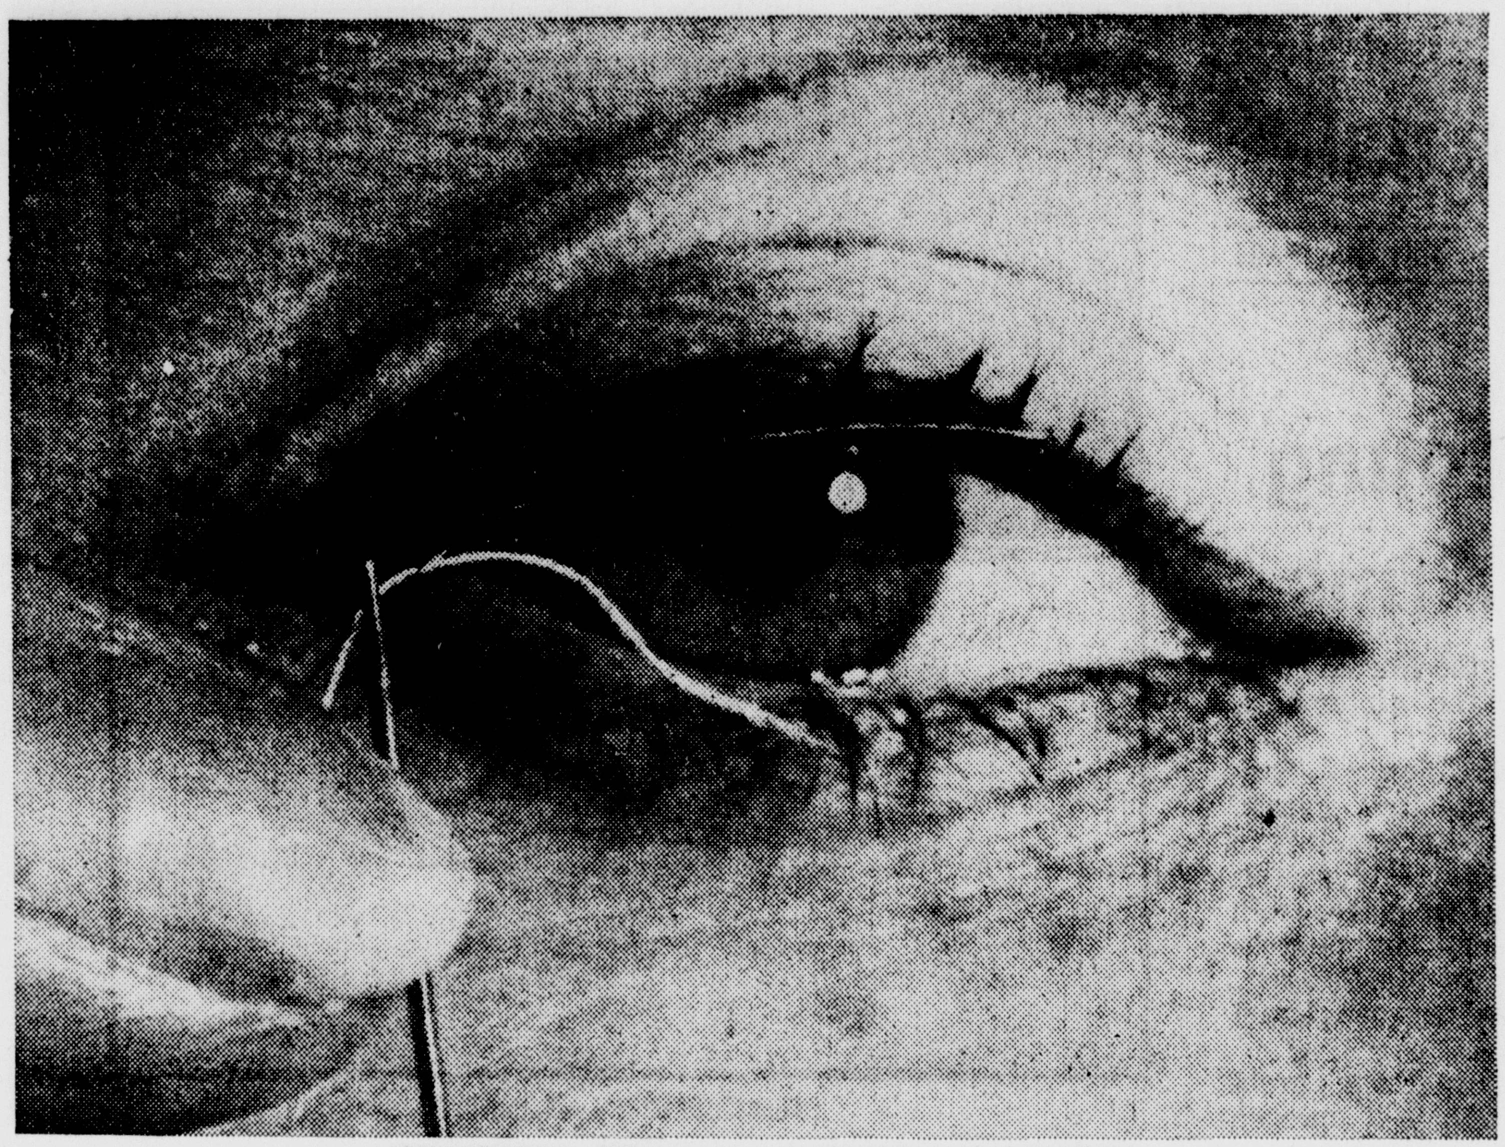
House Banking Committee Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., said "There is no economic reason why the banks can not lower the prime rate to six per cent."

"The action by Chase Manhattan is just one more example of the timid and inadequate approach of the big banks to the economic problems facing the nation," Patman said.

Durable Goods Up 2.4 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New orders for durable goods increased 2.4 per cent in November to a seasonally adjusted $29.2 billion, possibly indicating a future increase in industrial activity, the Commerce Department reported.

Shipments of manufactured durable goods totaled $29.2 billion in November, down 0.7 per cent from October. The backlog of unfilled orders remained virtually unchanged at $78.3 billion.



SUPER-THIN STEEL WIRE

Monsanto Co. has developed a process to spin steel into very fine continuous fibre. Shown in the picture is a wire three mils in diameter, compared with sewing thread. One mil equals one-thousandths of an inch. Until the development, drawn steel wire available for tire cord was 12 to 15 mils in diameter.

Nixon Signs Big Agricultural Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon has signed an $8 billion agriculture appropriations bill, but complained he did so reluctantly because it was $342.5 million more than he requested.

Part of the money to which he objected was $195.5 million for the agriculture conservation program. Nixon said he hoped now to be able to change the focus of the program more to environmental preservation rather than farm-related conservation programs such as pond building and tree planting.

Turbine Units

HOUSTON (UPI) — Copper Industries Inc. has received an order worth more than $6,750,000 for five gas turbine driven centrifugal compressor units from Great Lakes Gas Transmission Co.

$30 Million Deal

SYRACUSE (UPI) — Carrier Corp. has concluded $30 million three-year revolving credit with a nine-bank group led by Marine Midland Bank of New York, at the prime rate for the first year and one-quarter point over the prime rate thereafter.

Stocks Hold Firm On Good News

NEW YORK (UPI) — Socks continued to hold firm after more than three hours Thursday, with advances leading declines, 928 to 335. Turnover was moderate.

The Dow Jones industrial average of 30 selected blue chips was up more than four points. Turnover at 1 p.m. amounted to 8,320,000 shares, down from 8,970,000 shares traded at a comparable period on Wednesday.

Helping support the list was a government report that consumer prices rose in November at a sharply decreased rate from a month earlier.

Stocks on the most active list included Continental Oil off ½ on 183,900 shares, American Telephone up ¼ on 122,000 shares, and Penn Central unchanged on 82,400 shares.

Less active National Cash Register and Xerox rose 1¼ and 2¼, respectively. Polaroid added 1⅛, Natomas up 1⅛, First National City 2½ (ex-dividend) higher, and Bankers Trust ahead 1⅝.

Big Four Car Sales Reported Down Sharply

DETROIT (UPI) — The lingering effects of the strike against General Motors and one less selling day in the period reduced sales of big four passenger cars in the United States to 124,802 during the middle 10 days of December, the automakers reported.

During the comparable period of last year, General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co., Chrysler Corp. and American Motors Corp. sold 216,011 new passenger cars.

GM sold 36,963 new cars, compared with 108,281 in the same period of the previous year. Ford dealers handed over the keys to 52,657 cars during the span, compared with 63,815 in the same stretch of 1969. Chrysler sold 28,801 new cars between Dec. 11-20 this year, compared with 37,596 in the same span of last year. AMC, the smallest of the big four, was the only one to register a gain, with 6,381 new cars rolling out of the showrooms compared with 6,319 sold in the comparable period of the previous years.

And He Took The Young Children Up In His Arms...

Tomorrow we shall take a holiday, we editors and readers.

There will be a special feeling of happiness as we arise in the morning. We shall not be disturbed by petty thoughts and petty quarrels, but (for the moment) will be better persons as we snap the electric switch and survey the tinseled, lighted Christmas tree with presents piled beneath.

Around us will be the trappings of a festival merged from many sources.

THE CHRISTMAS TREE came to us from Germany — but was introduced there, we are told, by an English missionary, St. Boniface.

The Saxons added the holly; the Druids, the mistletoe.

Perhaps we will snap on a radio to have the music of Christmas carols while we begin handing out and unwrapping the gifts. The custom of singing carols at Christmas started in Italy, spread north through France, and came to us from England.

The children's stockings hung from a chairback or mantle go back to another land — to the wooden shoes of Dutch children, placed to be filled with gifts on St. Nicholas' Day — from whom came Santa Claus. But the bearer of gifts to children at Christmastime has born other names in other countries: Father Christmas, Kris Kringle, Yule Tomten, Papa Noel. No matter; he carries the same enchantment and the same symbolism whatever his name.

Some of us may have a Christmas feast in the afternoon — a custom begun long ago in the Nordic countries to celebrate the winter solstice.

BUT ALL THESE things — Santa Claus, Christmas tree, carols, feast, and the rest — are merely to embellish the holiday. Its reason came from yet another place: from the town of Bethlehem, in an oftenwartorn section of the Middle East, disputed even now between Israel and Jordan.

For there was born (though probably not on Dec. 25), in a manger built into the hillside, the baby Jesus, the Christ.

It is in memory of Him who gave so much of mankind a new hope that we exchange gifts. It is because of Him that we feel a bit happier, a bit better, a bit more worthy, as we awaken on Christmas day.

It is especially fitting that, because of Him, Santa Claus (or Father Christmas, or Papa Noel, or what you will) leaves presents for the children. For, as recorded by St. Luke:

"And they brought young children to him, that he should touch them: and his disciples rebuked those that brought them.

"But when Jesus saw it, he was much displeased, and said unto them, Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of God.

"Verily I say unto you, Whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child, he shall not enter therein.

"And he took them up in his arms, and put his hands upon them, and blessed them."

Fresh Milk?

How fresh is so-called fresh milk? This is the question increasing numbers of people in the Bay Area are asking.

Twenty-five years ago almost all milk was home-delivered. We were pretty sure it was not too time-distant from the cow. Today, however, more milk is purchased from the dairy case of our market and, with a few notable exceptions, dated in code so only your groceryman knows for sure. We understand this milk is regarded as fresh for eight days.

Just how far we have progressed from a rural society is illustrated by our experience buying milk in New Zealand last winter. It was four cents a pint and was ideal for the picnic lunches we had along the road. Several times we would go to buy milk at some little store, only to be told, with fine British manners, that it was sold out of fresh milk. We point-to the bottles in the dairy case. "But that's yesterday's milk. Surely, you don't want that!"

Yesterday's milk! If we could be sure we were getting it, we'd be happy.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Supervisors Ignore History In Opposing Medi-Cal Cuts

By HENRY C. MACARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The controversy between the state and the county supervisors' association over Medi-Cal, and who's to foot the bill, has little bearing on the case for the simple reason that whether state or county funds are used, it's the taxpayer who writes the checks.

Neither does it make much difference when the state knew there would be a shortage of funds. That was understood when the legislature adopted the medi-Cal program and instructed the administration to provide total services to all welfare recipients, and persons unable to foot their medical bills.

The important thing is not to recriminate as to "whose fault is it," but to attempt salvage of as much as the program as possible without bankrupting the taxpayers — a process that was commenced when the legislature adopted the ambitious program.

THE ADMINISTRATION of Gov. Ronald Reagan is attempting to retrench to the extent of some $140 million. Immediately, the county supervisors' association, through its president, Ralph P. Thiel of Tuolumne County decries the move as "regrettable."

Any time reductions are called for, it is "regrettable" in government parlance, particularly if there is a shift from one taxing agency to another.

But if it is agreed that the level of services must be maintained, someone must pay the bills.Whether that someone be the state or the county, it always ends up being the taxpayer.

IF THE SUPERVISORS think back a few years, they will remember that it wasn't many years ago the counties were responsible for all of the care given the sick and ailing.

Now that the state has discovered there isn't enough money in the kitty to carry out its expanded program, the supervisors' association in effect is suggesting the state raise the taxes of everyone to absolve the counties of responsibilities they have had since the beginning of time.

There is not much choice. The state can either cut its service to fit available funds, or it can raise taxes.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Name All Ships For Femmes Fatale

For many obvious and also abstruse reasons, all ships, of high or low degree, have always been affectionately (more or less) referred to as "she" or "her". And many old line sailing ships, private craft, and even pirate windjammers (naturally) have had "softer (?) sex" monikers. Whoever heard of any lubber but a landlubber making a faux pax by calling a mighty dreadnaught, cruiser, destroyer, or submarine, "he", "him", or "it"? Contrariwise, whoever heard of one named in honor of a famous amazon, grandame, courtesan, or secret agent femme-fatale, of which each and every "civilized" nation has more than their share? They are "deadlier than the male" in the double-agent nefarious games, for sinister and subtle reasons.

So, its high time the devious activists picket all S.S.T's, flattops, war ships, and tramp packet rust buckets, to be rechristened in honor of Delilah (surely their patron saintess), Pandora, Siren, Medusa, Medici, Xantippe, Salome, Judith, Bellona, Juno, Hera, Ma Barker, Mata Hari, Aphrodite, Shiva (the Destroyer), the Gorgon Family, Lady Macbeth, Lorelei, Daughter of Eve, Circe (the Enchantress), Sphinx (the Strangler), Witches' Sabbath (how come all witches and vampires are femmes?), Florinda (Count Julian's pawn — or badger game bait?), or countless other appellations. . .

Let Christmas Be For The Poor

I think that most of us in America experience Christmas every day of our lives. We have plenty to eat, beautiful clothes to wear, and enough entertainment to keep us smiling.

My pointis that I believe Christmas should be for the poor, and the aged, and anyone else who can't afford the pleasures we often take for granted.

I would like to suggest therefore that we, the more fortunate, instead of exchanging gifts with family and friends, give to charitable organizations so someone else can experience Christmas for a change. In Marin County, the Economic Opportunity Council is coordinating a drive called "Christmas for All Marin." For details, call Richard Nielsen at the Marin County EOC Youth Program, 1327 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

After all, 364 Christmases a year are enough for anybody.

Would Publicize Welfare Names

If the county would allow to publish the names and amount of welfare drawn by each recipient every week, I think the able would go to work rather than be embarrassed by their names being published.

I also believe the taxpayer has a right to know whom he is supporting and to what extent.

It would be no worse than listing the county employees' names and salary. After all most of them are overpaid also. Most of the teachers are more interested in how much they can tap the taxpayers for, than they are in teaching our children to be better citizens.

An able-bodied person on welfare should have no voting rights or have any say over bond issues or anything else pertaining to our government. The welfare laws should be more like our disability laws in Social Security. A person has to go to court and prove his disability, and most doctors are afraid to commit themselves, making it impossible to collect a disability even though one is disabled to the point he can only be on his feet two hours a day with much pain.

Would Suppress Juveniles' Names

Just finished reading tonight's edition of Dec. 9 and the article concerning "Youthful Burglary Rings Hit."

Why couldn't this story have been reported without releasing the names and addresses of the children involved? News is news, and gossip is gossip.

Any intelligent parent realizes he is not above having such a tragedy happen with one of his own. It's possible, regardless of how wonderful we think our "own" are.

How can a child be encouraged to overcome his unlawful behavior if he feels the whole world knows he is bad?

What a shame for the brothers and sisters of these children, who have to carry the family name. They might be over-compensating by their good conduct for the unlawful behavior of one member. However, that won't make news because young people are supposed to behave, regardless of the example set by adults.

I expect to get an editor's note claiming it is perfectly legal to print the names and addresses of minors. The question is: "Is it morally right?" Has it been proven this sort of publicity stops a child from commiting a crime? Does this balance off the harm done to other members of the family involved?

Fees Not Reason For Opposition

Your editorial (Dec. 16) unfairly criticizes several San Francisco personal injury trial lawyers for their opposition to the no-fault automobile insurance study proposed by the state insurance commissioner. You contend these lawyers and other lawyers practicing in the plaintiffs field are opposing the no-fault plan because 'from one-third to one-half of every claim goes into the pocket of an attorney for prosecuting it".

I, as a personal injury trial lawyer and former insurance company claims manager, submit that the compensation factor plays little, if any, importance in an attorney's decision to favor or oppose a no-fault automobile insurance plan. The reason is simple, namely, under any no-fault program proposed, including the original plan known as the Keeton-O'Connell plan, the lawyer would still be compensated for his services in a similar fashion to our present workmens compensation system.

The majority of insurance companies are in business to make a profit and as I was told when I was a claims adjustor, I am the trustee of the shareholder's money. Understanding this concept it is clear why there is such a need for plaintiff trial lawyers in the first instance. . .

If public opinion, after full disclosure of all aspects of the problem and not just a slanted editorial, decides that the no-fault plan is most feasible, then so be it.

To expand governmental bureaucracy (for the administration of automobile accident claims), to disallow the plaintiff's claim for pain and suffering, to compensate the injured drunk driver (all key provisions of the no-fault plan) in the name of reduced premium, is not the answer. We can look at the experience in the workmens compensation field, where no-fault insurance is the underlying philosophy, and see that few, if any, insurance companies are making money and further there is a gradual increase in cost of premiums to the employer. I feel confident the same problems would occur in the no-fault auto insurance plan.

Corrective steps can and should be taken such as: (1) abolition of the law of contributory negligence whereby a plaintiff is precluded from recovering because he is a one per cent negligent, notwithstanding the 99 per cent, egligence on the part of the defendant; (2) the insurance industry should take a more realistic attitude in settling claims, particularly those of $5,000 or less, directly with the injured person, thereby avoiding the necessity of plaintiff and defendant lawyers: (3) arbitration of claims of $5,000 or under, the present system of arbitration of uninsured motorist claims appears to be working satisfactorily. . . These are a few of a multitude of proposals to resolve an ever-increasing problem. The public should be made aware of all facets of the problem for ultimately it is their decision and they will be most affected.

Algerian 'Third World' Fragment Making Progress Realistically

ALGIERS — The so-called Third World is not only hard to define but any definition is of necessity false. The nations in Africa and Asia struggling to find an independent course, a separate identity, are a jigsaw puzlzle of hopes and aspirations, predudices and passions. This oddly assorted collection is far from being a "world" or even, for that matter, a force with anything like unity behind it.

The passions of the past more often than not dictate present policy. The conspicuous example is the Arab-Israeli conflict. Instead of getting on with the urgent tasks of development, trying to raise the level of impoverished peoples, the jehad — the holy war against Israel — is the all-absorbing preoccupation.

HERE ON the North African shore of the Mediterranean in three Arab countries — Morocco, Algeria and Tunisia — the Middle East conflict has a somewhat different look. The mere fact of geography separates these nations from the fires burning so fiercely at the heart of the war. A century of French domination was a modifying influence. And in Tunisia, President Habib Bourguiba persistently exercises restraint.

This is not to say that the Arabs of North Africa fail to give the Arabs of the Middle East at least outward support. That is particularly true of Algeria, where the guerrilla organization, Al Fatah, has an office on one of the main streets. If nothing else, it is a propaganda base.

After the six-day war between Egypt and Israel in 1967, Algeria sent a contingent of 2,000 troops to help Egypt in the fight to recover the lost territories. When Nasser accepted the Rogers peace initiative, those troops were withdrawn. The logic was, "If they are not there to fight, then they should return."

THE LOUD, angry-sounding noises out of this revolutionary government obscure what is really happening. The Algerians are getting down to the urgent tasks that need doing. This observer believes that Algeria has a better chance than perhaps any "Third World" nation to become a modern industrial society.

One reason is the dedicated, intelligent younger men in key positions. At 37, Abdellah Khodja, who got his Ph.D. in economics in Paris, is secretary-general of the four-year plan. It projects a growth of 9 per cent a year in gross national product. Outside observers believe that, if not the full achievement, at least 7 per cent is probable.

Ahmed Taleb, at 44, is minister of information. He was formerly minister of education. Although he has never practiced, Taleb got his degree in medicine in Paris and then spent seven years in Fresnes Prison as a leader of the revolt against French rule. He is pushing the use of television in education, especially in the teaching of Arabic.

Taleb cites French statistics to show that toward the end of their rule Algerians were 80 per cent illiterate, with only 300,000 children in school. Today two million children are in primary schools, 200,000 in secondary.

LIKE THESE younger men, President Houari Boumedienne is a realist. He is frank in his opposition to American policy in Vietnam and the Middle East. But he would not allow this opposition to stand in the way of resuming relations with the United States, which were broken at the end of the six-day war. That is important to Algeria, seeking capital investment from both private sources and the export-import and world banks.

An able, hard-working U.S. mission in Algiers is sheltered in the Swiss Embassy. It is headed by William L. Eagleton Jr., who has had an extensive background in the Arab world. Like the younger men in the Algerian government, Eagleton is a realist, fully aware of the limits imposed by past and present conditioning.

Pragmatist might be a better term for those seeking to guide this nation toward an independent destiny. So much depends on chance.

WINDOW OF THE WORLD

'Marriage Of Convenience' For Manila and Moscow

By ARNOLD DIBBLE

MANILA (UPI) — The Roman Catholic Philippines and Soviet Russia are flirting as never before, and it looks as if the attraction of opposites will lead to diplomatic marriages.

The two countries are expected to establish diplomatic relations sometime within the next year. For the Philippines, which once stood so anticommunist it banned a Yugoslav basketball team in 1962, it will mark the nation's first recognition of a Commmunist regime.

It has been some time in coming. The movement could perhaps be said to have started on Nov. 24, 1968, when President Ferdinand E. Marcos told a nationwide television audience that he hoped diplomatic relations with Socialist countries would be established before the end of his term. His second term ends in 1973.

Then in October this year his executive secretary, Alejandro Melchor — the "little president" — made a somewhat mysterious trip to Moscow after a visit to several West European capitals.

Three weeks ago two fairly well placed Russians arrived in Manila on an ostensible goodwill trip. They were Mrs. Valentina Lubomudrova, a member of the Presidium of the Union of Soviet Socieities for Friendship and Cultural Relations with Foreign Countries, and Nicolai Tsagolov, professor of economics of the Moscow state university.

The Philippine government and the visitors themselves made no effort to disguise the fact that the recognition issue had been thoroughly discussed. At the same time, Philippines Foreign Secretary Carlos P. Romulo, now attending the United Nations General Assembly, carried out parallel discussions in New York.

Even during the Philippines' flirtation with the Socialist countries of Europe, administration spokesmen have made it clear they have no intention of establishing relations of any kind with Red China. The Philippines has an internal Chinese problem, and Chinese of any ideology are not popular with the government or the masses.

Russia's wooing of the Philippines corresponds to similar moves in Malaysia, Singapore, Indonesia, Thailand and India —all designed to contain Red China.

For the economically-distressed Philippines, recognition of Russia offers a chance to end its almost total reliance on the states. Russia has let it be known favorable credit will be offered. Standard Soviet terms are 2.5 per cent interest on 10-12 year government credits; 4 per cent on 3-8 year commercial credits.

You Wish Me Merry Christmas — This Is Third, Final Notice

WASHINGTON — Our friends the Carbunkles really take their Christmas cards seriously. Perhaps it is because Mr. Carbunkle works in the credit office of a department store.

On Dec. 1 we received a card from the Carbunkles with a photograph of the family, and inside, "Warmest wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year from all the Carbunkles."

I remembered the card, because I had commented to my wife how well everyone in the Carbunkle family looked, though Carbunkle himself seemed to be putting on weight.

WE THOUGHT NOTHING of it until two weeks later when we received another card from the Carbunkles which had stamped on the envelope "Second Notice."

I opened it and inside there was a printed note which read: "Two weeks ago you were sent a Christmas card from the Carbunkles wishing you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. Probably due to the rush of the holiday season you were unable to acknowledge it. While we are very understanding of your situation, we would like to remind you that your Christmas card is one week past due, and we are hoping you will attend to this matter at your earliest convenience. Sincerely yours, the Carbunkles."

I meant to do something about it, but it slipped my mind. My wife, who is supposed to look after Christmas cards, also let it slip her mind, and three days later in a yellow envelope arrived a third card. This time all the holly and mistletoe decorations had been removed and in red letters stamped on the front was: "Third Notice." I opened it up and a note said, "Sir, it has been called to our attention that you are now two weeks in arrears on sending our family a return Christmas card. Nothing would please us more than to carry you right through the holiday season. But this would be impossible because if we carried you, then we would have to carry our other friends, and then we would soon be out of the holiday greeting business.

"When we sent you our Christmas card on Dec. 1, we assumed that you would send us one back by return mail.

"To put it bluntly, you owe us one season's greetings plus a 'Joy to the World' as interest. We are enclosing a self-addressed envelope for your convenience and would appreciate your remittance immediately."

MY WIFE BECAME very upset about the notice. I accused her of letting the first two slip by in her typical sloppy bookkeeping fashion. She said the Carbunkles were originally my friends, and I should have handled their return greetings through by office.

"Look," I said, "we don't have any cards left. They've waited this long, they can wait until New Year's. Besides, we owe our holiday respects to the Geyelins and the Krafts before we pay our greetings back to the Carbunkles."

JUST TWO DAYS ago we received a registered special delivery letter from the Miserecordia Collection Agency.

The letter read, "The Carbunkles have turned over your bad debt Christmas greetings to this office and have asked us to collect it for them immediately.

"We are hoping you give us no difficulty in this regard as we have methods of collecting holiday wishes that are not pleasant. It would be to your advantage to send to us not only your Christmas and New Year Best Wishes, but also to include several 'Peace on Earths' to compensate for all the trouble you have caused our client. Unless we hear from you by return special delivery registered mail, we will see to it that you will be listed as a bad Christmas card risk and will never receive another greeting. This is your last warning."

Balance Of Trade In Canada's Favor

By JOHN PRIME
London Financial Times

LONDON (UPI) — The special relationship that has long existed between Canada and its southern neighbor, the United States, is undergoing a change.

The change is a consequence of the major efforts now being made by the United States to reduce its balance of payments deficit. American thoughts are turning to a reduction of imports from Canada as one area where savings can be made.

The balance of trade between Canada and the United States is currently very much in Canada's favor. America would like to redress this balance by cutting down on the quantity of goods she buys from Canada; but the United States faces the prospect of a fuel shortage this winter and needs Canadian gas and oil to help stave off a shortfall in energy supplies.

This American need puts Canada in a fairly strong position in talks being held between the two countries.

There is one major difficulty to be overcome in any American trade dealings with its northern neighbor — protectionism in the United States. Whether the problem is the long-term one of achieving a better balance in American trade with Canada or, as now, the short-term one of opening the door a little wider to a specific range of products Canada can supply, Washington must be sensitive to the newly active protectionist lobby in Congress.

In 1969, Canada's exports totaled $14 billion. Of this the United States took 70 per cent, Britain 7.5 per cent and the Common Market six per cent. Therefore if the controversial Mills Bill is passed in the United States Congress and a trade war with Europe develops, well over 80 per cent of Canada's exports would be in the "war zone."

This is the card that the United States administration could play if Canada proves reluctant to make some effort to help reduce the American deficit.

One of the first items on the agenda is the pact which allows virtually duty free movement of new cars between the two countries. The pact was signed in 1965 to stave off measures threatened by Canada to protect its motor industry. But since then things have changed dramatically and the Canadian trade deficit in automotive products of $768 million at the time of the signing has developed into a surplus that stood at $130 million after the first seven months of this year.

Events in the auto industry this year have tended to accentuate the position. While United States plants have had to cut production, output at the Canadian plants has been running at a high level. Part of this was because Ford and Chrysler decided to produce two very popular cars, the Maverick and the Dart, in their Canadian plants.

While this situation could be reversed if the United States refused to renew the pact, exports of Canadian oil and gas are almost certain to increase. Oil reserves in the United States are estimated at enough for 11 years at present consumption rates compared with a global supply reserve of 30 years.

So there is the question of the Arctic oil finds. Any pipeline to the fields must run over Canadian territory and any tanker sailing to Prudhoe Bay in Alaska's North Slope must pass through waters over which Canada claims sovereignty.

A decision by the United States to accept all the crude oil Canada can sell in 1971 means that more pipelines will have to be built in Canada itself and it is by ensuring sovereignty over methods of transportation that Canada will be able to retain some influence over the United States-controlled industry.

Motor cars, oil and gas are not the whole problem. The United States is also running short of water and American interests have also tried, unsuccessfully, to win control of Canada's largest uranium deposits.

Canada's growing political independence has also irked the United States. The floating of the Canadian dollar, recognition of China and the cut-back in its NATO commitments have led to a distinct cooling in relations between the two countries.

Those Dental Tears Can Trace Diabetes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Those tears some patients shed in the dental chair can be put to good use, hleping in the diagnosis of diabetes.

Tears are put on a piece of paper and pressed for 15 seconds against another, specifically treated paper. A tinge ranging from blue to black on the paper indicates a positive reaction to diabetes.

"Since diabetes is an ever increasing diagnostic problem with many oral implications, we feel that the tear test with its ease of administration, low cost and high degree of accuracy is excellent for use in any situation where the dentist finds diabetes as a possible agent in oral disease," Dr. Edmond L. Truelove, of Indianapolis, reported at the 111th annual session of the American Dental Association.

Truelove is chairman of the Department of Clinical Oral Diagnosis and Oral Medicine at Indiana University-Purdue University School of Dentistry.

Other reports on what's new in dentistry, delivered at the meeting in Las Vegas, included the following:

—Laser welding may eventually replace conventional soldering of dental bridges and other dental appliances. Dr. Thomas E. Gordon Jr., of Orlando, Fla., said the advantages of laser welding include large savings in chair and laboratory time as well as an accurate fit of the fixed partial dental prothesis.

—More and more adults are going in for orthodontic treatment, having their teeth straightened via braces to lose the dental cripple look. Dr. Marvin C. Goldstein of Atlanta said that from his experience there appears to be no age limit for orthodontic treatment. He said the majority of the dental profession is not aware of the necessity of orthodontic treatment for the older patient or that it can be done.

—Persons who clench their teeth during sleep or during a confrontation while awake can damage teeth, gums, jaw joint and muscles, a Swiss dental scientist reported. Dr. Peter Schaerer of Berne, said grinding the teeth seems to be due to changes in central nervous activity, as in sleep, in states of nervous tension or in conflict situations. He said the damaging activity, called bruxism, can be observed in large segments of the population and in all age groups.

—Dizziness can be related to malocclusion or faulty bite. An eight-year study of 105 patients suffering from vertigo indicates a high percentage of the dizziness was caused by malocclusion and jaw hinge joint disorders which irritated and injured the adjacent structures of the ears. Dr. David J. Goodfriend of Philadelphia, Pa., said once the bite problems were corrected, the dizziness disappeared in 90 per cent of the patients.

—A University of California oral surgeon cited a bone grafting technique involving a metal implant as a possible aid to problem denture patients. Dr. Philip J. Boyne of Los Angeles said the method was used successfully on 10 patients by achieving regeneration of the grafted bone and acceptance by the host site.

For all afraid to go to the dentist, there's this word from a University of North Carolina dental educator. Dr. James H. McLeran of Chapel Hill said dentistry's image is changing from "pain producer" to "pain alleviator."

He said this changing image is reflected in, of all things, cartoons over the years.

"While the captions may have varied greatly, I think we find a significant difference in the drawing of these cartoons," he said.

"They show a change from the patient leaving the dental office holding his painful jaw (usually down a flight of stairs) to that period when a patient in pain is pictured climbing those stairs or sitting in the waiting room prior to seeing the dentist."

And then there's that other pain — in the pocketbook!

HEW Says Hospital Decision Not Made

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Secretary Elliot L. Richardson of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) has notified a House committee that no decision has been made on his reported plan to close down eight remaining public health service hospitals.

Richardson said Tuesday in a telegram to Rep. Edward A. Garmatz, D-Md., chairman of the House Merchant Marine Committee, that he would "fully discuss" the issue with Garmatz before a decision is made.

The telegram also carried Richardson's regrets that he was unable to meet Garmatz's "short notice" to appear before his panel Tuesday to testify.

Garmatz acknowledged the request only went out Monday and said he would give Richardson another chance to testify next week. "If he doesn't," Garmatz added angrily, "we have the power to subpoena him, regardless of his position in government."

Garmatz claimed that plans are under way in HEW to close down public service hospitals in Baltimore, Boston, Galveston, Norfolk, New Orleans, San Francisco, Seattle and Staten Island. His committee is concerned because Merchant Marine sailors and Coast Guardsmen are entitled to treatment in the hospitals.

Garmatz recalled that a similar move had been considered by HEW in 1965 and that hearings by his panel forced abandonment of the plans.

Rep. John M. Murphy, D-N.Y., denounced the planned Staten Island hospital closing in his congressional district, and said he would demand from Richardson "some explanation of what happened to the $12 million renovation program for the hospital which was planned five years ago."

Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., who originally disclosed the planned closings, said "this is a contemptuous way for the government to act toward those people."
